with the payment of his substitute in case of sickness, and emphatically refused to pay Dr. Teevan, or any other person they might appoint, one farthing. The guardians had to submit; and notice of motion was given that the board reconsider their decision of paying two guineas per week to Dr. Teevan, as it was an exceptional case.

CHRISTMAS AT THE BELFAST HOSPITALS.

DURING Christmas Day, the wards of the Belfast Royal Hospital were decorated, in a very attractive manner, by evergreens, pictures, mottoes, etc.; and those patients who were permitted by the medical staff enjoyed a substantial dinner of turkey, ham, pudding, and fruit. At the Children's Hospital and Convalescent Home, on the Throne Lands, the corridor, which runs along the entire length of both hospitals, was festooned with branches of laurel, ivy, holly, and mistletoe; whilst the "Martin" Memorial Window at one end added to the attractions, and an appropriate motto ("Kind hands make happy hearts") was inscribed in silver letters on a red ground, and placed in a prominent position. The Belfast Hospital for Sick Children, Queen Street, also presented a very animated appearance; and so liberal was the interest taken in the institution, that not a penny of the funds was expended on toys or other sources of amusement. The children in the Ulster Hospital for Children, Fisherwick Place, were entertained to a dinner on Christmas Day, the expense of which was generally borne by Dr. and Mrs. Martin.

BELFAST WORKHOUSE.

THE Local Government Board recently appointed two inspectors, Drs. Brodie and Mr. Bourke, to hold an inquiry into the condition and management of this institution; and, last week, the board of guardians received a communication from the Local Government Board in reference to the inquiry held. They state that they learn with much satisfaction that most important statements which had been made regarding the state of the workhouse have not been sustained; and are also glad to observe, from the report of their inspectors, that they found the house in a satisfactory condition in many respects; but they request the careful and immediate attention of the guardians to some defects in the internal arrangements and administration of the establishment, which have been described in the report. The overcrowding is especially a matter which requires prompt action on the part of the guardians; and the board will communicate again with them on the subject of the misunderstanding which appears to have arisen as to the accommodation in the nursery buildings. The Master of the Workhouse, Captain Whittle, is requested to tender his resignation, as the board are not prepared to permit him to remain any longer in such an important and responsible post.

INTERNATIONAL MEDICAL CONGRESS.

THE following subjects are those proposed for discussion in Section III. : Pathology and Morbid Anatomy. 1. BIRMINGHAM AND MIDLAND COUNTIES BRANCH: ORDINARY MEETING.

THE third meeting of the session was held on December 9th, at the Medical Institute: Present, Mr. R. PROSSER, the President, in the chair, and thirty-two members.

New Member.—Mr. MALE (West Bromwich) was elected a member of the Branch.

The Case of Mr. O'Brien Jones.—The PRESIDENT called attention to the case of Mr. O'Brien Jones, and said that he should be glad to receive any contributions to the fund.

Communications.—The following communications were made.

1. Dr. SAUNDBY showed two cases of Hemianesthesia; one a man aged 45, the other a woman aged 28. In both cases, the affection appeared suddenly, and had not so far yielded to treatment.

2. Mr. WEST showed a case of Excision of the Wrist-Joint. The patient was a girl aged 17. He had removed a great deal of bone, and had found a pair of stump-forceps, as used by dentists, most useful in doing this. The patient was going on very well.

3. Dr. DEWES showed a substance, about the size of a pigeon's egg, which was either Desibrinated Clot or a piece of Placenta. It had been expelled from the uterus in the case of a patient confined two months previously, and had occasioned protracted haemorrhage.

4. Mr. LLOYD OWEN read a paper on Colour-Blindness, illustrated by diagrams and apparatus.—Mr. Eales, Dr. Johnston, and Mr. Tait, took part in the discussion which followed; and Mr. Owen replied.

5. Mr. WEST read a paper on the Treatment of Empyema by Excision of a portion of Rib. He narrated two cases, and formed very unsatisfactory conclusions as to the desirability of this operation from his own experience.—Dr. WELCH exhibited a patient about five years old, in whom this operation had been performed thirteen months previously, with very good results.—Dr. FOSTER condemned the operation.—Dr. Joy, Mr. Yates, Dr. Simon, and Dr. Dewes also took part in the discussion which followed; and Mr. West replied.

A MEETING of the above was held at the Greyhound Hotel, Croydon, on Thursday, December 9th; ALFRED CARPENTER, Esq., M.D., President of the Council of the British Medical Association, in the chair.

Guy's Hospital.—The following resolution was unanimously passed: "That this meeting desires to express, to Dr. Habershon and Mr. Cooper Forster, its sympathy in the painful circumstances which have led to their withdrawal from the staff of Guy's Hospital; and its appreciation of the manly spirit which has induced them to resign their respective appointments, sooner than submit to a loss of professional dignity, or sanction changes which they believed to be detrimental to the interests of the patients entrusted to their care."

The Case of Mr. O'Brien Jones.—A letter was read from Dr. Alexander Henry, directing favourable attention to the fund which had been opened by a committee, to defray the necessarily large expenses incurred by Mr. A. O'Brien Jones of Epsom, in his defence in the case of Howell v. West and Jones.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

ROME.

[FROM AN OCCASIONAL CORRESPONDENT.]

Commencement of Winter Session.—Health of Rome.—Cremation.—The Eucalyptus and Malaria.

THE winter session of 1880-1 was formally opened last month in the Medical Faculty of the University. The number of students shows no falling off from last year, but if anything, a slight increase. Professor Bacelli has commenced his clinical course for the winter at the Hospital of Santo Spirito; his medical lectures draw perhaps a larger audience than those of any other teacher in Rome. Residents here have been somewhat surprised to see sundry notices which have appeared from time to time in a few English journals, regarding the health of the city. The truth is, Rome has never been healthier or more free from zymotic disease than it is at this moment. The autumn has been unusually dry and mild all over central Italy, while at Rome itself the usual inundation of the Tiber has this year, contrary to what generally happens, been a merely nominal affair. On this occasion the river rose not more than a few feet above its banks, and confined its ravages entirely to the streets immediately along its course. A few inches of mud were deposited in the neighbourhood of the Pantheon and the Temple of Vesta; but, so far as I have been able to learn, the health of these quarters has not in any way suffered thereby. As a matter of fact, neither the medical practitioners nor the older residents know anything of the unhealthiness with which the city is at this moment credited. In a capital such as Rome, where there is a large floating population, sporadic cases of zymotic disease will of necessity occur from time to time with more or less frequency. There have been a few such cases, chiefly of small-pox, among the poorer classes, but nothing whatever to justify alarm. On the contrary, comparing one average season with another, the present is probably one of the healthiest known at Rome for many years past.

A warm discussion took place recently in the Municipal Council relative to the official recognition of cremation. A petition had been received from the Society for promoting this method of disposal of the dead, asking permission to erect a furnace and other necessary appliances in the public cemetery. A good deal of sentiment was of course imported into the matter by several speakers, but finally, chiefly owing to the clear and temperate address of Dr. Bacelli, the motion to grant the request was carried by a substantial majority. Cremation therefore is now legalised at Rome, as at Milan, Florence, and other towns.

The singularly mild weather which has prevailed since October has been very favourable to the growth of the eucalypti in the Campagna. I lately had occasion to visit the monastery of the Tre Fontane, which is at present the chief nursery whence these plants are sent out. The monastery has of late years been in the occupation of French Trappists. From one of the monks I learned that the malaria which had hitherto at this spot been singularly pernicious, has of late years become comparatively mild in type. This improvement is attributed entirely to the growth of the eucalyptus trees, which to the number of 25,000 have been planted within the grounds of Tre Fontane. The shrubs are protected by wicker-work against injury, during the first few years of growth, after which they are left to care for themselves. Those planted ten years ago have now reached a height of over thirty feet. The Trappists prepare a spirituous extract and an elixir from the leaves, both of which are strongly redolent of the odour and acrid taste of the eucalyptus. The extract they are accustomed themselves to take daily as a preventive rather than as a remedy forague. When the attack is actually imminent, nothing is found to answer so well as quinine combined with some purgative. My informant was evidently himself thoroughly saturated with malarial poison, the virulence of which in this particular locality may be judged of by the fact, that it proved fatal to all the eighteen friars who first attempted to plant the eucalyptus in the district. As it is, the health of the fraternity has so far improved, that all thoughts of abandoning the monastery and the work have now been given up.

CORRESPONDENCE.

GUY'S HOSPITAL.

SIR,—The carefully worded resolution passed by the South London District on this subject will, I hope, cease to appear mysterious to your correspondent "An Old Guy's Man", when he is told that, in any action originated by the Metropolitan Counties Branch with regard to Guy's Hospital, a leading part would necessarily be taken by an official whose conduct, in respect to York Road Hospital, is at present the subject of investigation by a committee of the Branch Council.

Agreeing most fully with your correspondent as to the main objects of our Association and Branch being to promote professional dignity and maintain professional concord, it appeared to our District members that it would be unsatisfactory, if the arrangements for taking action on a subject involving such nice ethical questions, as the recent dispute at Guy's, were entrusted to the hands of one whose conduct is under investigation in reference to charges arising out of somewhat a similar matter.

For the information of those of your readers who do not reside in town, I ought, perhaps, to add, that our special interest in the matter arises from the fact, that both Guy's and the York Road Hospitals are situate within the South London District.—Faithfully yours,

H. NELSON HARDY, Honorary Secretary, South London District, Metropolitan Counties Branch.

Dulwich, December 27th.

THE EDINBURGH COLLEGES.

SIR,—There may be a few Fellows of the Edinburgh College of Physicians who wish to adhere to the system of admission by testimonial or certificate to membership and fellowship which has hitherto prevailed; but they are very few. The only real question is, Is examination the best test of qualification and mode of admission to them? And to this not a few answer in the negative, for the following (among other) reasons.

1. When a man has passed the examination of the licensing bodies (including the universities), he has done all that is requisite for entitling him to practise; and no further examinations are or should be necessary, except in the case of such services as the Army and Navy, where they are essentially competitive. It has happened that in these the supply has sometimes not equalled the demand; but that is the fault of the administration, and does not remove the examinations from the list of "competitive".

2. The membership and fellowship have nothing to do with practice; all men practise for some time without them. They are purely honorary; and, therefore, admission to them should be given only to those who, after licence or degree has been obtained, have done something, either in the way of original investigation or practical work, to entitle them to them. A graduate of Edinburgh, for example, has passed through all the examinations that a well-qualified practitioner can pass through; any other to which he may be subjected can only be a

APPEARANCES IN BLOOD AFTER STARVATION.—DR. P. H. Van der Weyde (Medical Tribune, August 15th, 1880), says that he examined the blood of Dr. Tanner at or near the conclusion of his fast. He had expected to find the corpuscles normal in appearance, but fewer in number; in this he was mistaken. There was scarcely a sound corpuscle in the blood examined. Instead of showing the normal round flat discs, with a depression in the centre, and of an average diameter of one thirty-six hundredth part of an inch, they were diminished in size so as scarcely to measure one forty-five hundredth part of an inch in diameter. They had a ragged irregular appearance, and were covered with fungoid spores over their whole surface. The length of the spores averaged about one tenth of the diameter of the corpuscle, or about one fifty thousandth part of an inch in diameter or length. None of the corpuscles were smooth; all had somewhat of the jagged appearance that blood corpuscles have when dried upon the slide. But these were examined while still floating in the blood-plasma, and had not had a chance to dry. The ragged discs were examined with a Hartnack number ten immersion-objective. It appeared that those corpuscles that were most nearly covered with the spores, were the most shrunken, thus rather favouring the idea that the parasitical growth flourished at the expense of the corpuscle itself! The number of white corpuscles at the end of the fast was about one in one hundred, while, at the end of three days after breaking the fast, the number was nearly normal. At the third day after the fast the red corpuscles were in much better health, only about ten per cent. appearing at all damaged, and only about two per cent. showing the fungoid spores. It is not alleged that these pathological appearances are new. On the contrary, similar appearances are found in the blood of typhus fever patients, in the blood of persons dying from consumption, and in the blood of persons of a decided scrofulous taint, but in a smaller proportion than was found in Tanner's case.

THE CONTAGIOUS DISEASES ACTS.

SIR.—My attention was drawn last Friday to a paragraph, in your impression of the 27th Nov., headed "The Contagious Diseases Acts at Colchester", in which these words occur: "The courageous and public spirited course pursued by Mr. Laver, in exposing the misstatements in which these 'deputations' are wont to indulge, has had the satisfactory result of showing that, when the true facts are put before audiences, even of a mixed class, the result is the utter discomfiture of the agitators". At the public meeting referred to, I was the "deputation"; but permit me to say, my statements were not contradicted or discussed by Mr. Laver or Dr. Wallace, but supplemented by the figures you publish, with other matter, so that no attempt was made in the direction of "exposing the misstatements". That I made a misstatement or exaggeration, I emphatically deny; and, with all respect, I protest against this insinuation as to my veracity. "The true facts", if put comprehensively before any audience, whether professional or lay, would greatly astonish many of the friends of these Acts, and would, I am confident, clearly convince all intelligent minds of the complete failure of the system. They are, in the "protected stations", briefly as follows. 1. As to primaries—a very much greater annual average improvement before the passing of the Acts than since their full application. 2. As to secondaries—(the admissions to hospital not being published for the separate sets of stations) the constantly sick have increased, but chiefly in the "protected stations", since the Royal Commission reported, in 1871, that there was "no distinct evidence" of the success of the Acts. 3. As to gonorrhœa—the Army Medical Report distinctly admits that no benefit has accrued from the Acts. The pleas set up for single stations, small bodies of troops, and short periods, when examined and compared with counter cases, break down entirely. The detailed proofs of the above, with authorities, I will gladly supply, either privately to any medical gentleman, or for publication in your valuable JOURNAL. In the local prints, I have invited and requested the gentlemen mentioned above to meet me for fair, equal, and exhaustive discussion of this important question. I am, sir, very faithfully yours,

J. H. LYNN.

5, Osborne Road, Forest Gate, Essex, December 14th, 1880.

. Our correspondent claims to have been himself "a deputation" to the meeting lately held at Colchester concerning the Contagious Diseases Acts. If he produced no better evidence than the three statements contained in his letter, we do not wonder that the good people of Colchester declined to discuss them, as the absurd variance from the truth of similar assertions has been exposed time after time in this JOURNAL, as well as elsewhere.

MEDICAL MEN AND THEIR BILLS.

SIR.—I beg to enclose you a paragraph, which I have cut out of the Leeds Express, for yesterday, for your perusal. It is as follows:

"At the Oldham County Court, a curious point was raised. Dr. Thomson sued a person for professional attendance. The judge looking at the bill, said no items were furnished. Dr. Thomson replied that was not the habit of the profession to supply items. The judge replied that the items ought to be supplied, else how could a man tell whether he had had the medicine and attendance or not. His Honour allowed only one-half of the amount claimed."

I think you will agree with Dr. Thomson, that "it is not the habit of the profession to supply items," unless asked for by the dissatisfied patient; but I am at a loss to understand how the judge came to decide on allowing only half the costs.—I am etc.

PARS PRO TOTO.

Leeds, December 9th 1880.

. We agree with our correspondent "Pars pro toto," that it is difficult to understand the grounds on which the judge based his decision. If the claim was beyond the means of the party sued, it should have been so stated in the judgment. County Court judges very frequently assume towards medical claimants a sort of slippshod mode of procedure, mainly as the humour moves them! To our knowledge, every variety of conclusion is come to in giving judgment. Some say all the items must be supplied; others are bored by having to read them. Our profession is oftentimes blamed for its difference of opinion as to the most abstruse points that can engage the mind of man. Lawyers, and the outcomes thereof, County Court and other judges, are permitted, to the injury of suitors, to differ indefinitely on what appears to outsiders to be no more than the merest moonshine; but then such differences of opinion carry costs. Shall we ever arrive at a rational mode of dealing with the matter?

CREMATION OF DISEASED CATTLE.

SIR.—I am glad the investigations of Pasteur has called forth an article in this week's JOURNAL on the danger to health and life from the present mode of disposing of the carcasses of diseased cattle; and in which cremation is advocated instead of interment. Fourteen years ago, when the cattle-plague raged in Cheshire and other parts of the country, and diseased animals were being buried by thousands, I called (through the press) the attention of the cattle-plague commissioners to the dangers.

I hope the more scientific evidence of Pasteur, Lord, and Mr. Spencer Wells, will induce the authorities to forbid the burial of slaughtered or dead cattle, and order their cremation; preventing the probable infection of future generations.

It has occurred to me that, until proper means for cremation are supplied, the gas-works of town could be made available, by severing the animals into pieces and throwing them into the retorts, when almost instant combustion would take place, and the products be utilised.—I am, etc.,

NASO-PHARYNGEAL CATARRH.

SIR.—Having seen a good many cases of naso-pharyngeal catarrh, and having had the troublesome complaint myself, I recommend "A Suffering Member" to have a Turkish bath, and then take 10 to 15 drops of hydrobromic acid three times a day in a glass of cold water.

C. G. LOGIE, M.D., late Royal Horse Guards.

47, Queensborough Terrace, Kensington Gardens.

SIR.—If your correspondent in last week's number, signing himself "A Suffering Member" from naso-pharyngeal catarrh, will communicate with Dr. Ball, he will have pleasure in recommending a non-medical treatment, which enables him (a bronchitic sufferer) to venture out this winter and defy even the north and east winds.

SMALL-POX.

SIR.—In reference to the recent small-pox returns, I cannot but think that much might be done against small-pox by more stringent isolation and disinfection. May I call your attention to two recent cases in this parish?

H. W., age 26, died on November 2nd, and was buried on the 5th, after a week's illness from small-pox. He had lived in a four-roomed house; there were five adults in it, and a boy of ten years. Some disinfecting fluid was sprinkled about the house, and sulphur was burnt in the room in which the woman died. This was the only disinfection to which the bedding was subjected, and the flock mattress was not unpicked. The disinfecter said his ovens were out of order. The boy was attacked on the 14th, and I urged isolation; but the parents provided themselves with a certificate from the medical man in charge of the case, stating that this was not a case of necessary removal. Our medical officer of health was powerless to act without a certificate from the medical man to the effect that the boy could be removed without danger. I obtained this certificate on the 16th, and on the next day the ambulance was sent; but the parents took their stand on the first certificate, and revoked the verbal permission for removal which I had obtained from them. I visited the house on the 26th, and found the boy convalescent, and his mother pursuing her business of dressmaking. There had not been any second disinfection.

In another case, a boy of two years old was attacked. The grandmother went to the medical officer of health to get him removed, but he was unable to interfere, as Highgate refuses to admit a child under six years, so he referred her to the relieving officer. The relieving officer refused to remove the case because they were not paupers. After two days, through the help of a guardian, the case was removed by the parish. There were six other children in the house,—in this case one of three rooms.—I am, Sir, yours obediently, JAMES MAHOMED,

EASY TESTS FOR ARSENIC IN FABRICS.

SIR.—I notice that, under this heading, an editorial comment is made in last week's JOURNAL on a communication by Dr. Henry Barnes to the Practitioner. The test he recommends is a very good one, and I have been in the habit of applying it to suspected articles for some time past, having first learnt its application from that valuable little work of the late Dr. Tanner's, entitled Memoranda on Poisons (edition of 1878, page 61). I give the directions as contained in Dr. Tanner's book. "A simple method for roughly detecting arsenic of copper in these fabrics is as follows. A small portion of the suspected material is to be put into a test-tube with strong ammonia. If a blue tint be produced, a salt of copper is shown to be present. Withdraw the object, and drop a small piece of ordinary caustic (nitrate of silver) into the ammonia; if arsenic be there, the nitrate of silver will be covered with a yellow coating of arsenite of silver, which will disappear on stirring." The test-tube recommended in the above extract is rather better than the plate or saucer which is often used instead. I have used this test to detect the presence of arsenic in a wall-paper in my own house. In the early part of this year, I suffered for some time from dyspeptic symptoms (colicky pains, nausea, and loss of appetite), and frontal headache. It occurred to me one day that my troubles might be caused by arsenic, and on testing the paper in my dining-room, by the above described plan (corroborating the test later on by others), I found it loaded with the poison. The walls were stripped and repainted, and my health returned.—I am, etc. H. A. LATIMER.

"CRAB-YAWS" IN JAMAICA—WHAT IS IT?

SIR.—The following, somewhat novel case, is, I think, of sufficient interest to deserve a place in the BRITISH MEDICAL JOURNAL. At a negro settlement, about nine miles from Kingston, Jamaica, a brown man, named Samuel Ricket, suffering from "Crab-Yaws," placed himself under the especial treatment of a black man, named Joseph Samuels, who professed to cure such cases. The evidence of this "Crab-Yaws" doctor, given at the inquest, speaks for itself.

The post mortem examination, which I performed a few hours after death, conclusively proved that the man died from embolism; a large clot being found, blocking up the pulmonary artery. The man (light-brown in colour) presented a most extraordinary mottled appearance; just like veined marble, every superficial vein was visibly mapped out and gorged with blood. The viscera were all more or less congested, and the heart was exceedingly fatty. I had no hesitation in stating, that I considered the very trying ordeal to which the man was subjected contributed to his death, having in view his condition. Racket was an intemperate anaemic man, with a very fatty, weak heart. He was made to sit on a chair for five days and nights, with tapes tied tightly below both knees, with his feet immersed in hot fluid. A coal-fire was constantly kept up, to prevent the fluid from becoming cold. He ate his meals, attended to the calls of nature, and slept in the chair; never, for one moment, taking his feet out of the pot. At the end of the five days, his feet were rubbed with salt and lime-juice. He was suddenly placed in the upright position, and the tapes from the legs being cut, he was made to walk. His sudden death was not at all an extraordinary event, under all the circumstances. With regard to the "Crab-Yaws," a few words here will not be out of place. The perpetuation of an error is often the means of establishing what may be called a false fact. Dr. James Maxwell, in his prize-essay on Yaws, written as far back as 1839, says, "Crab Yaws" is an affection of the soles of the feet, occurring as sequelæ of the disease ("Frambnesia"), and others, who have written on the subject since, content themselves with quoting his opinion. Now, I have seen a good deal of this so-called "Crab-Yaws," as well as "Frambnesia," and I have never been able to connect one with the other. My last case was a well-to-do Barbadian (black), who had never had "Frambnesia". It was a typical case of "Crab-Yaws". He was being treated by an old woman, with salt pork locally applied, which of course was doing much harm. I poulticed the feet, and applied strong carbolic acid lotion, and, after a time, iodoform, which in a few weeks apparently cured him. In "Crab-Yaws", the soles of the feet swell and crack. The fissures often radiate from a centre, exuding a creamy ichor. The edges of these cracks are everted and ragged. In bad cases, the whole foot becomes hypertrophied, never returning to its natural size, and the ulcerated mass assumes an anaesthetic character. The toes, in time, become involved, and sometimes ulcerate and fall off. The cuticle becomes so thick, that I have seen negroes pare off deep slices, without reaching any sensitive structure. All this would lead me to associate the disease, with anaesthetic leprosy, than with "Frambnesia". In making these observations on an affection, which does not appear to have attracted the attention of many writers on African diseases, I shall be glad, if I can induce others to throw some light on a disease, which, in Jamaica, seems to be handed over, in ninety-nine cases out of one hundred, to the "Yaws-Doctor" and his oleat pot.—Yours faithfully,

Monathic, Jamaica, Sept. 1880.

DEATHS FROM ALCOHOLISM.

SIR.—It has often occurred to me that we are at a loss for suitable terms in which to certify the cause of death when it has been caused by alcohol. In giving certificates to friends of deceased persons whose sad end has been brought about by intemperance, we do not like to put "chronic alcoholism", and have to resort to "cirrhosis", "Bright's disease", etc., when our consciences suggest "brandy", "whiskey", or "gin". I am sure, if we had some technical term to express death from such causes, the total deaths registered from drink would be greatly augmented, and the death-register be made more complete.—I am, etc., M. B. M. A.

In consequence of press of matter, Dr. A. P. Stewart's letter is postponed till next week.

DR. STALLARD (San Francisco).—The extract sent is only an ordinary example of the sort of sensational fallacies with which his subject is often surrounded. A prick may cause tetanus, supposing that the child died of tetanus, or a silent injury of any kind. Some will pretend to doubt that it is possible such a case may occur, but against it may be set the saving of life of untold thousands and for the protection of great cities from a pestilential plague, which in former times was an abiding pest of civilized communities, is only kept in check by the prophylactic practice of vaccination.

TIGHT RINGS.

SIR.—May I add one other suggestion to those on the above subject in the JOURNAL of the 15th inst.? The quickest and easiest way of getting off a tight ring is by means of a pair of bone-forceps. Many of the cases which come under notice are those in which girls have put on common rings, and, therefore, there is no harm in cutting them; but if it be a valuable ring it generally requires enlarging, and must be cut on or off the finger.

The process of filing a ring is tedious and painful, not to say awkward; the use of the bone forceps instantaneous.

Besides the pain to which the patient is put to, the time of the surgeon is more valuable. The ring can be reunited by a jeweller for a few pence. J. PARETTE.

A FAVOURABLE OPENING.

A CORRESPONDENT writes: There is a most favourable opening for an energetic medical man, to reside in Charlwood, Surrey, equidistant from Horley and Crawley. The parish numbers 1,500 inhabitants, about 600 of whom live in or close to, the village. There are two churches, three clergymen, and good society. The nearest medical man is four miles off. A gentleman, well-qualified, with some means, would, after a time, secure a good practice, embracing within an area of sixteen miles, parts of Sidlow, Leigh, Newdigate, Rusper, Ifield, and Lowfield Heath. Many residents in Charlwood would willingly supply particulars on personal application. There is now vacant a small house, with stabling, low-rented, and conveniently and pleasantly situated.
