Salicylate of Lithia.—New Purgatives.—Recent Researches on Broncho-Pneumonia.—General News.

M. VULPIAN has read before the Académie de Médecine a summary of the results of his experiments with salicylate of lithia in articular rheumatism. He states that his experiments indicate that lithia salts are not so poisonous as they are believed to be. Salicylate of lithia is not more dangerous than salicylate of soda, and can be administered in almost equally strong doses. In acute articular rheumatism, salicylate of lithia relieves the pain which often remains in the joints after the swelling has disappeared; whereas colchicum and salicylate of soda have no effect. M. Vulpian believes that salicylate of lithia is especially beneficial in fibrous rheumatism. In progressive subacute rheumatism, M. Vulpian has seen salicylate of lithia produce great improvement. Salicylate of soda has also been successful in such cases, and produced amelioration of the patient's condition; but both greater and more lasting benefit is obtained by salicylate of lithia. In chronic articular rheumatism M. Vulpian has found salicylate of soda useless, whereas salicylate of lithia has had a marked effect on the joints, which become less swollen and less painful than before the treatment. In order to obtain evident results, four grammes, sometimes four and a half or five grammes, must be given daily. Larger doses are followed by toxic symptoms. This drug sometimes induces headache and deafness, but is never followed by the distressing noises which characterise treatment by salicylate of soda. The headache and deafness disappear quickly.

A few years ago, Dr. Noël Gueneau de Mussy communicated to the Academy of Medicine Professor Rutherford's researches on different medicinal substances. M. Desnos has tested these experiments on four different bodies—baptisin, sanguinarin, juglandin, and phytolaccin. They are all resinous extracts from American plants. They are brown red powders, very hygrometric, and have a saltish taste. M. Desnos used them in the form of pills of from five to ten centigrammes. Baptisin was administered to fourteen patients; sanguinarin to four; juglandin to thirteen; and phytolaccin to seventeen. The patients did not remain in bed all day, in order not to encourage constipation. The general dose was thirty centigrammes (about 4.6 grains) daily, administered in two separate doses. If more were given, a third dose was taken at eight o'clock at night. The patients generally had a stroll the following day or night. In the case of patients habitually constipated, they gradually had regular motions. Baptisin in doses of thirty centigrammes was regular in its action, but frequently provoked colic. Sanguinarin, considered by Professor Rutherford as a never failing cholagogue and purgative, was perfectly inert, though given in doses of sixty centigrammes. The action of juglandin, Dr. Desnos says, is the same as that of baptisin. In two patients, after it had been administered, the stools contained etiquette? would, in reply, venture to define it, simply and literally, as a conscientious, practical observance, in the daily walk of professional life, of the divinely impressive command, 'Whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you, even so do ye also unto them.'

MEDICAL USAGE.

SIR,—I would be glad if you or any member of the profession would tell me if it is customary to charge for medical attendance on clergymen, who are fathers of the medical men in practice. One medical man, of large experience, told me that he never made any charge in such cases, and another told me that he charged clergymen as ordinary patients, whether they were the fathers of medical men or not. I would be glad to know the rule in such cases.—Your obedient servant,

MENHER, IRELAND.

*A clergyman, simply as "the father of a medical man," is not entitled to the gratuitous services of the profession; nor, indeed, even for himself in his purely clerical capacity, excepting under the circumstances specified in the following rule, parenthetically introduced in the new edition of the Mode of Medical Ethics, under the head of "The duties of practitioners in reference to professional charges," page 79, chapter ii, section 7. "[Doubt and misconception having long existed in regard to the question of professional charges to the clergy, it will not, it is hoped, be deemed foreign to the subject of medical ethics, or otherwise inexpedient, to remark in respect to charges for professional attendance on the clergy, benefited or unbenefited, and their families, that there is no special general rule other than the simple 'unwritten' one (a time-honoured, and true Samaritan principle, alike applicable to other classes) by which the faculty have long been self-guided: namely, although fully and justly entitled to a commensurate remuneration for professional services, accordant to the patient's position in life, nevertheless to make a greater or less reduction, according to the circumstances of the individual case, to such as may fairly be classed among the 'poor clergy' (benefited or unbenefited)—so called—in contradistinction to the well endowed and independent clergy; which latter should be charged as ordinary and not exceptional patients.]"

INDIA AND THE COLONIES.

INDIA.

MEDICAL AID FOR THE WOMEN OF INDIA.—The Countess of Dufferin's National Fund has already begun to assume shape, and the first public meeting in the Central Provinces, held on Wednesday, December 2nd, at Nagpore, was attended by a large and representative body of native gentlemen. The objects of the fund had been made extensively known by circulars, letters, and articles in the vernacular newspapers. The first appeal for contributions now made was most successful. Upwards of 12,000 rupees were subscribed on the spot by a few of the chief persons present. The Central Provinces Branch propose to commence business by establishing a school for nurses at Nagpore, and the municipality have promised to make such additions to the Mayo Hospital as may be necessary. The next step will be to engage the services of a lady doctor, and to establish a school for the instruction of female hospital assistants. The expenditure, it is thought, will amount to at least 1,000 rupees a month.

A HOSPITAL FOR WOMEN AT MADRAS.—The temporary buildings for the Victoria Hospital for caste and Goshia women at Madras, of which the Queen is the patroness, were opened on December 7th by Mrs. Grant Duff. Mrs. Scharlieb, who graduated as Bachelor of Medicine at the University of London, and took a scholarship and a gold medal for midwifery and honours in medicine, and is also Bachelor of Surgery, has been appointed Lady Superintendent, on a salary of 500 rupees per month, with an assistant lady superintendent. Mrs. Grant Duff, in declaring the hospital opened, said that the object of the promoters was to benefit a most meritorious class of persons, namely, the women precluded by religious feeling or social custom from profiting by the various hospitals opened to others of lower caste or different faith, and referred to the fact that it was nearly eleven years since Surgeon-General Balfour initiated a school of medicine for women in Madras, under the auspices of Lord Hobart.

FEMALE VACCINATORS.—At a special meeting of the Municipal Commissioners for the town of Calcutta, the proposal of Babu Omir-tonath Mitter, approving of the vaccination of native females by female vaccinators, has been adopted.

OBITUARY.

SAMUEL SUMNER DYER, M.D., OF RINGWOOD, HANTS.

SAMUEL SUMNER DYER, M.D., of Ringwood, Hants, was the embodiment in a marked degree of many admirable and attractive qualities. His death, at the age of 61, was sudden and deeply deplored. After apprenticeship to his father at Ringwood, Samuel Dyer went to King's College, entering at the same time as his brothers-in-law, Mr. Henry Smith and Dr. Stephen Monckton, whose death at Maidstone we had recently to deplore. Samuel Dyer's career at King's College gave much promise of distinction in consulting practice in London; but the state of his health compelled him reluctantly to leave London and join his father in his native town. Here he rapidly gained the confidence and affection of all classes. He was rapid and accurate in diagnosis. As an operative surgeon, he was worthy to be reckoned among the most distinguished pupils of Ferguson, and he could reckon many brilliant cases of lithotomy, amputation, resections of joints, ligature of main arteries, etc. His charm of manner, gentleness, and delicacy gave him an unusual hold upon the affections of women and children. As a physician, his experience, corrected and supplemented by the continuous study of medical literature, made his opinion much sought for in consultation by his professional brethren. He was President of the Dorset Branch of the British Medical Association at the time of his death.

Perhaps the most salient features of Dr. Dyer's character were his sweet untroubled temper, and his large-hearted respect for, and tolerance of, the opinions of others. A zealous churchman, and for eighteen years churchwarden, he was always ready to assist in all religious and useful movements, by whomsoever initiated. Too unselfish to have amassed a large fortune, his purse was always open to the dictates of a large-hearted benevolence. His professional advice and assistance were literally given to those whose means did not enable them to reward him otherwise than by gratitude and affection. He was interred in the cemetery at Ringwood on Christmas Eve, his body being followed by a large number of old pupils, assistants, and medical friends from all parts of England. No higher testimony to his worth, and the heartfelt sorrow caused by his loss, could have been rendered than that spontaneously offered by the enormous crowd of genuine mourners who followed him to the grave, the peer and the peasant uniting in deploring their common loss of a true and trusted friend.

MEDICAL TREATMENT IN WORKHOUSE FEVER HOSPITAL WARDS.

SIR,—As the letter of "M.D." in your issue of December 5th, relating to "Medical Treatment in Workhouse Fever Wards" refers to what has recently transpired between Dr. Jackson and myself, I do not hesitate in openly laying before you the circumstances of the cases as they occurred, and I do so without fear of disingenuousness, as we were parties to the proceedings, instead of asking your opinion anonymously, as has been done.

The statement that, on two previous occasions, patients have been admitted to the fever wards, and attended to by Dr. Jackson, is not strictly correct, as, whilst only on one occasion has a patient been attended by him in these wards, the circumstances were so different, that I cannot understand Dr. Jackson for a moment comparing the case which has led to this correspondence with that which occurred some years ago, much less in stating that there had been two other cases under parallel circumstances.

The case which occurred more than six years ago was that of a daughter of a respectable tradesman in Hexham suffering from fever. Her father had seen the governor of the workhouse, and arranged with him, without my knowledge or consent, for the admission of the girl into the fever hospital, and for Dr. Jackson to attend her. It was not until, by a mere accident, that, twenty-four hours afterwards, the existence of that case, and Dr. Jackson's attendance upon it, came to my knowledge; and there and then I told the governor of the workhouse that although, under the mistaken responsibilities of myself with regard to all patients admitted to the house or fever wards, this case had been admitted by him, on no future occasion would such a breach of the regulations of the workhouse be permitted by me. Dr. Jackson was allowed to attend to this patient and send medicines, the parent sending the food and stimulants from his own residence, and also sending and paying for a nurse, and nothing was provided by the governor at the expense of the guardians. In a few days, the girl died; and, until the present case arose, nothing has since transpired to bring Dr. Jackson into connection with the fever-wards of the union. You will therefore at a glance see that the circumstances attending the present case are altogether different from those connected with the former; and that, while the previous patient was admitted without my knowledge or consent, the latter was admitted as a pauper with the order of the relieving officer and consent of the clerk, and with my knowledge, and at once taken over and attended to by me, as in duty bound by the regulations of the Local Government Board.

I was not aware that Dr. Jackson had sent any medicine for the patient until acquainted thereof by the governor of the workhouse, who at the same time informed me he had returned it.—I am, sir, yours faithfully,

THOMAS STAINTHORPE, M.D., F.R.C.S., President of the North of England Branch of the British Medical Association.

SANITARY SCIENCE CERTIFICATES AND PUBLIC HEALTH APPOINTMENTS.

SIR,—It is generally believed that the value of sanitary science certificates is very little understood by vestries and local boards who have the gift of public health appointments in their hands, and as the number of practitioners holding the certificates is getting larger, an impression generally exists that something should be done to draw the attention of the Local Government Board to this matter. I therefore, through your columns, will ask every medical man who possesses a degree or certificate in sanitary science to write directly to the Secretary to the Local Government Board, Whitehall, London, S.W., drawing his attention to the fact that there are as many medical men now who train especially for sanitary science certificates, and who possess certificates guaranteeing efficiency to hold public health appointments, that he would be pleased to give the matter his especial consideration, and recommend vestries and other local bodies, on the vacation of public health appointments, to observe that all candidates for future election possess, if possible, a guarantee of efficiency; that is, a sanitary science certificate or degree.

If every one possessing a certificate or degree will, on perusing this, write direct to the authorities as stated above, we will, I trust, in one week have done some good to this cause; and surely Dr. Hubert Airy, who is an examiner for the Sanitary Science Certificate, Cambridge, with the other twelve sanitary medical men attached to the Local Government Board, will be only too glad to further any good cause in the interests of sanitary science.—I am, sir, yours faithfully,
S. SC. CERT. CAMB.

HEALTH OF ENGLISH TOWNS.

DURING the week ending Saturday, December 19th, 5,835 births and 3,918 deaths were registered in the twenty-eight large English towns, including London, dealt with in the Registrar-General's weekly return, which have an estimated population of 3,906,446 persons. The annual rate of mortality, which had been 20.2 and 20.3 per 1,000 in the two preceding weeks, further rose during the week under notice to 23.0. The rates in the several towns, ranged in order from the lowest, were as follow: Brighton, 16.4; Blackburn, 16.7; Bradford, 18.5; Birkenhead, 18.5; Huddersfield, 18.5; Sunderland, 18.7; Norwich, 18.9; Wolverhampton, 19.1; Bristol, 19.6; Hull, 20.7; Leicester, 21.5; Cardiff, 21.5; London, 22.0; Salford, 22.2; Birmingham, 22.7; Sheffield, 23.2; Derby, 23.8; Halifax, 23.6; Leeds, 23.8; Newcastle-upon-Tyne, 23.8; Preston, 24.0; Portsmouth, 26.3; Manchester, 26.5; Liverpool, 26.8; Oldham, 28.9; Bolton, 30.3; Nottingham, 33.8; and the highest rate during the week, 41.2, in Plymouth. The death-rate in the twenty-seven provincial towns averaged 23.7 per 1,000 and exceeded by 1.7 the rate recorded in London, which, as before stated, did not exceed 22.0 per 1,000. The 3,918 deaths registered during the week under notice included 419 which were referred to the principal zymotic diseases, against 385 and 352 in the two preceding weeks; of these, 140 resulted from measles, 124 from whooping-cough, 49 from "fever" (principally enteric), 43 from scarlet fever, 33 from diarrhoea, 30 from diphtheria, and not one from small-pox. These 419 deaths were equal to an annual rate of 2.5 per 1,000. The zymotic death-rate in London was equal to 2.4 per 1,000, while in the twenty-seven provincial towns it averaged 2.5, and ranged from 0.5 and 0.6 in Cardiff and Huddersfield, to 4.7 in Bolton, 5.7 in Nottingham, and 6.2 in Plymouth. The deaths referred to measles, which had been 123 and 109 in the two preceding weeks, rose again to 140, and showed the largest proportional fatality in Oldham, Nottingham, and Plymouth. The fatal cases of whooping-cough, which had been 111 in each of the two previous weeks, increased to 124 during the week under notice, and caused the highest death-rates in Brighton and Bolton. The 49 deaths referred to "fever" showed an increase of 17 upon the number returned in the preceding week; this disease was proportionally most fatal in Birmingham and Manchester. The fatal cases of scarlet fever, which had been 40 and 42 in the two previous weeks, further rose to 43, and caused the highest death-rates in Sunderland and Leicester. The deaths referred to diphtheria, which had been 26 and 29 in the two preceding weeks, were 30 during the week under notice, and included 21 in London, 2 in Brighton, and 2 in Leicester. No death from small-pox was registered either in London or in any of the twenty-seven provincial towns. The number of small-pox patients in the Metropolitan Asylum Hospitals, which had steadily declined in the six preceding weeks from 90 to 56, further fell to 50 on Saturday, December 19th; the admissions, which had been 13 and 6 in the two previous weeks, rose again to 13. The death-rate from diseases of the respiratory organs in London during the week was equal to 6.4 per 1,000, and was slightly below the average. The causes of 87, or 2.2 per cent., of the 3,918 deaths registered during the week in the twenty-eight towns were not certified, either by registered medical practitioners or by coroners.

HEALTH OF SCOTCH TOWNS.

DURING the week ending Saturday, November 21st, 842 births and 553 deaths were registered in the eight principal Scotch towns, having an estimated popula-

Petersburg was 24.5, showing a further slight increase upon the rates in previous weeks; the deaths included 15 from scarlet fever, 8 from "fever," and 7 from diphtheria. In three other northern cities—Copenhagen, Christiania, and Stockholm—the death-rate averaged 21.0, ranging from 20.3 in Christiania to 21.4 in Copenhagen; diphtheria and croup caused 12 deaths in Christiania and 7 in Copenhagen, and scarlet fever 4 in Christiania. In Paris the death-rate was equal to 20.0, and lower than in any recent week; the deaths included 22 from diphtheria and croup, 17 from measles, and 14 from typhoid fever. The 212 deaths in Brussels gave a rate of 21.3, and included 6 from "fever," and 5 from diphtheria. The rate in Geneva was 21.2, one of the 20 deaths being referred to "fever." In the three principal Dutch cities—Amsterdam, Rotterdam, and the Hague—the mean death-rate was 21.7, the highest rate being 21.9 in Amsterdam, where the deaths included 9 from diphtheria and croup, and 3 from scarlet fever. The Registrar-General's table includes nine German and Austrian cities, in which the death-rate averaged 24.4, and ranged from 18.5 in Dresden and 20.8 in Berlin, to 27.1 in Breslau and 28.7 in Prague. Small-pox caused 17 deaths in Vienna, 7 in Prague, 5 in Budapest, and 2 in Munich; diphtheria showed the greatest mortality in Berlin, and typhoid fever caused 7 of the 77 deaths in Trieste. The death-rate was equal to 24.0 in Turin, and to 31.1 in Venice; the deaths in Turin included 5 from typhoid fever and 5 from diphtheria and croup, and 13 of the 87 deaths in Venice were fatal cases of small-pox. In four of the largest American cities, the recorded rate averaged only 19.9, the highest rate being 21.9 in New York. Diphtheria mortality showed considerable excess in each of these American cities; and typhoid fever caused 10 deaths in Philadelphia, and 6 both in Brooklyn and in Baltimore.

REPORTS OF MEDICAL OFFICERS OF HEALTH.

CARLTON URBAN DISTRICT.—Mr. Knight has to record a death-rate of 18.96 per 1,000 for this district in 1884, which is a higher rate than that for the previous year. This was owing mainly to an increased mortality from diarrhoea and measles, the former causing 13 and the latter 7 deaths. The diarrhoea prevalence Mr. Knight considers to have been greatly due to the exceptionally hot weather during the summer, but injudicious feeding, and other avoidable causes, had also their influence. The sanitary circumstances of the district were greatly improved during the year by the extension of the water mains of the Nottingham corporation, and by the completion of an effectual scheme of drainage. The means for the isolation of infectious disease seem to be very imperfect, and the health-officer has done well in calling special attention to the defect. The Basford Workhouse Hospital is a very broken reed to trust to, independently of the fact that non-pauper cases cannot legally be taken into such a hospital. The local board will be well advised if they take the question into consideration, and secure, either by their sole effort or by combination with adjoining sanitary authorities, the necessary hospital-accommodation for all classes of inhabitants in their district.

CHELSEA.—Dr. Seaton records a death-rate of 21.8 per 1,000 of the population of this parish, but he is at some pains to determine the actual mortality by distributing the deaths in the many public institutions of Chelsea among the districts in which the various patients previously resided, and thus diminishes the death-rate by 1.0 in the 1,000. Zymotic diseases caused 360 deaths, or 3.8 per 1,000, 20 of which were from small-pox, 31 from diphtheria, and 21 from typhoid fever, while an epidemic of measles proved fatal in 112 cases. There were 88 fatal cases of diarrhoea, 3 of which were registered as due to English cholera. Under pressure of the aroused public opinion on the subject of cholera, much useful sanitary work was carried out, notably, the cleansing of cisterns, and providing for an efficient water-supply to about 380 closets. Dr. Seaton advocates a more thorough house to house inspection for the discovery of these and other nuisances, and calls attention to some cases of untrapped sinkstones in direct communication with the sewer, admitting sewer-gas into the houses, to the difficulty in dealing with them, more especially as experts on drainage were seldom agreed as to what was the proper remedy. He also refers to the useful work of the vestry in the removal of bodies to the Chelsea mortuary as a "boon to the parish," and a certain relief to the horrors of overcrowding.

WEST FIRLE RURAL DISTRICT.—Dr. Sanger has little beyond statistics of purely local interest to record in his annual report for 1884. There was no serious outbreak of epidemic disease during the year. Whooping-cough was prevalent in the earlier months amongst young children, of whom 3 died. An isolated case of erysipelas and one of spasmodic croup complete the list of deaths from zymotic diseases. A few cases of a light type of scarlatina occurred without serious result. The death-rate from all causes was 15 per 1,000, and the general health of the population was good. The abatement of some nuisances in various parts of the district is also recorded in the report.

WAVERTREE.—In Dr. H. Harvey's scanty report, it is stated that the death-rate last year was 18.4, and the birth-rate 39.5. Dr. Harvey gives some detailed statistics, of which the value is but small, except to those who chance to know the people of his district, their numbers, and their doings. We record, therefore, in his own words: "There were from diarrhoea and dysentery 22 deaths, from diphtheria 9, from croup 5, from measles 6, from scarlet fever 4, from whooping-cough 4, from enteric fever 3, from bronchitis or pneumonia 31, from phthisis 22, from heart-disease 13, and from all other causes 102 deaths."

NEWTON ABBOTT RURAL, AND WOLBOROUGH AND DAWLISH URBAN DISTRICTS.—Mr. Harvey, the new medical officer of health for these districts, seems to be working con amore with his sanitary authorities. He has taken "purity" as his motto—purity of food, of air, of drinking-water, and of personal and domestic habits. His report for 1884, after a year's work in his new district, shows that he has kept the importance of this motto before his authorities; and he takes the opportunity of offering some general advice on sanitation, as well as in regard to particular sanitary defects throughout his district. Ventilation, even of the simplest character, of the dwelling, especially of the bedroom, he regrets to find is sadly neglected, and he seems to be inclined to leave a great deal of the responsibility for the prevalence of consumption at the door of imperfect ventilation. He also strongly advocates purity of water-supply, and records several instances of disease caused by contaminated water. He condemns the extent to which pigs are kept in the more populous parts of his district, as well as the manner in which they are housed, and points out the various directions in which his sanitary authorities are taking and should take action for the sanitary improvement of their districts. Mr. Harvey remarks on the great importance of suppressing zymotic diseases, especially among the young. He justly observes that it is not only the actual number of deaths that should be looked at, but also the fact that those who recover from an attack have received shocks to their systems which in most cases leave "an evil impress on the materials that compose the infantile form." Scarlet fever would seem to be considered endemic in Wolborough for years past. It prevailed in the district during the past year, but not in a fatal form. The death-rate in the Newton Abbott Rural District was 16.4 per mille (including 1.0 zymotic); in Wolborough, it was 13.8 (including .7 zymotic); and in Dawlish it was 17.7 (including .2 zymotic).

ABORTION AND OTHER MALPRACTICES.—The county magistrates at Stonehouse are investigating a remarkable series of charges against a carpenter, named Charles Baldwin, and several other persons, who are alleged to have been guilty of malpractices which have had fatal results. About three weeks since, Baldwin was first charged with attempting an illegal act, and with causing the death of a woman named Bengy, and on the same charge William Henry Bengy was also arrested. As a result of subsequent inquiries made by the police, the case has assumed so serious an aspect, that the other arrests have been made. The Treasury have taken up the prosecution, and on Monday Baldwin was charged with having in October last murdered a child whose name is unknown; and three other persons, named Ellen Osborne, William Henry Medland, and Frances Ellen Medland, his wife, were charged with having conspired with Baldwin in the murder of this child. A further remand was applied for by Mr. Stanbury, and granted, until Monday next. Medland and Bengy were admitted to bail. The greatest possible interest is evinced in connection with the case. As Mrs. Medland was leaving the court, she threatened, now that she had been arrested, to expose other parties. Baldwin appeared thunderstruck when charged with the capital offence. The police state that they shall prove that the child was got rid of after being naturally born. Baldwin's house is situated on the banks of a millstream, and the bodies of about a dozen infants have been found in the stream during the past two years.

LETTERS, NOTES, AND ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

COMMUNICATIONS respecting editorial matters should be addressed to the Editor, 161A, Strand, W.C., London; those concerning business matters, non-delivery of the JOURNAL, etc., should be addressed to the Manager, at the Office, 161A, Strand, W.C., London.

In order to avoid delay, it is particularly requested that all letters on the editorial business of the JOURNAL be addressed to the Editor at the office of the JOURNAL, and not to his private house.

AUTHORS desiring reprints of their articles published in the BRITISH MEDICAL JOURNAL, are requested to communicate beforehand with the Manager, 161A, Strand, W.C.

CORRESPONDENTS who wish notice to be taken of their communications, should authenticate them with their names—of course not necessarily for publication. CORRESPONDENTS not answered, are requested to look to the Notices to Correspondents of the following week.

PUBLIC HEALTH DEPARTMENT.—We shall be much obliged to Medical Officers of Health if they will, on forwarding their Annual and other Reports, favour us with Duplicate Copies.

WE CANNOT UNDERTAKE TO RETURN MANUSCRIPTS NOT USED.

CUCAINE IN PROSTATIC DISEASE.

SIR,—I shall feel much obliged if any of your readers can kindly tell me the best way to use cucaine in a case of enlarged prostate, necessitating the use of the catheter nearly every hour. There is also great bearing-down pain and prolapsus of the rectum. The patient is 75 years old. As he lives in the country, he will have to apply it himself. I would be thankful for any suggestion that would benefit the patient, as he has had all the ordinary remedies, and nothing seems to have benefited him except morphine-suppositories.—Yours faithfully,

LEEDS.

SMALL CHILDREN.

SIR,—In answer to Dr. S. J. Scott's inquiry (BRITISH MEDICAL JOURNAL, November 14th), I may tell the following case.

One of my sisters was delivered of twins, both females, in August, 1858, before term. One of these twins weighed about 2½ ounces; her hand, forearm, and arm, could easily pass through my mother's wedding ring—an unusually small one. The other twin weighed twice as much.

Both are still living. The larger one is married, and the mother of two children. She was delivered without great difficulty. The smaller did not marry; she remained small, but she is not a dwarf. She is very strong; her functions are quite right. I do not remember that she has been ever ill, but her catamenia came every third week. Bromide of potassium, taken every day for the week previous to the period, postponed them to the right time.—Yours truly,

A FOREIGN PHYSICIAN.

URIC ACID DIATHESIS.

SIR,—In reply to "L.R.C.P.'s" request for suggestions as to the best dietetic and medicinal treatment for a case of uric acid diathesis, I would state that, in treating cases similar to the one he describes, I have found that the excess of uric acid in the system is diminished by the judicious use of aperients; a daily morning dose of Friedrichshall water is one of the most suitable purgatives. The skin should be stimulated by daily rubbing with cold water, which may (to commence with) be mixed with a fourth part of strong acetic acid. The patient should take plenty of outdoor exercise; he should live sparsely; his food should contain only a limited amount of nitrogenous matter, and he must avoid red and effervescent wines, and malt liquors; but although a spare diet is suitable, he should take frequent small meals. A liberal use of water, or a mildly alkaline mineral water, is of the highest importance. As much as two quarts of pure water may be drunk daily for at least a fortnight with advantage. Its action in promoting the elimination of uric acid, and, at the same time, preventing it forming concretions in the renal tubules, or any part of the urinary tract, is obvious. From eight to ten ounces of water should be drunk at bedtime, and whenever a longer interval than usual has elapsed since the last meal.—Yours faithfully,

JAMES CRAIG, M.B.

THE DURHAM DEGREE.

SIR,—Could any of your readers oblige me with information as to the best books to read for the practitioner's degree of Durham? also as to the class of questions asked, and the nature of the clinical examination?—Yours, etc.,

W. A. R.

INCONTINENCE OF URINE.

IN reply to a "Country Member," I am attending a little girl, aged 7, who, until now, has never retained her urine by night nor day. When first consulted, on November 5th, she was ordered a quarter of a grain of extract of belladonna with a grain of sulphate of zinc three times a day. The belladonna was gradually increased until grain-doses were reached. At the end of three weeks, the nocturnal incontinence had ceased. At the end of four weeks, there continued still frequent escapes by day. Belladonna was now withdrawn, and three minims of liquor strychnie with eight minims of liquor ferri perchloridi substituted. Three weeks more have now expired, and, on seeing the child on December 18th, I was assured that there had been no escape of urine by night, and only twice during the last week in the daytime. She is to continue the medicine. Belladonna seldom disappoints me when carried, for a time, to the maintenance of dilatation of the pupil.—I am, yours obediently,

EDWARD GARRAWAY.

BOOKS FOR THE KYRLE SOCIETY.

SIR,—May I ask for a few lines in your valuable journal to make known a want, which I believe many of your readers would gladly supply, if brought to their notice in your pages?

The Kyrle Society, through its Literature Distribution Branch, has frequent demands made upon it for books on hygiene, anatomy, and kindred subjects, for libraries, for the use of nurses, etc. Many works used by students during the earlier years of their medical studies are, on leaving the hospital, thrown aside or sold for a trifling sum. These would be most valuable to persons who are anxious to study, but have not the means to buy books, and who apply to the Kyrle Society for them. Though, through your columns, I would ask first for works of a scientific character, I may add that all books are welcome, good novels especially so.

Information can be obtained from the Honorary Secretary, Literature Distribution Branch of the Kyrle Society, 14, Nottingham Place, W. I enclose my card, and have the honour to remain, sir, yours faithfully,

A MEMBER OF THE KYRLE SOCIETY.
