

in a black satin dress trimmed with white lace. She wears a miniature crown, and the blue sash of the Order of the Garter. Dr. Anthony H. Corley, President of the College, read an address, to which the Lord Lieutenant made a suitable reply. In the evening Dr. Corley entertained a large and distinguished company at dinner in the Albert Hall. Among those present were the Lord Lieutenant, the Lord Chief Justice, the President of the Royal Academy of Medicine in Ireland (Dr. Robert McDonnell, F.R.S.), Lord Justice Fitzgibbon, the Provost of Trinity College, the Lord Chancellor, Dr. Fitzgibbon, Colonel Sir West Ridgway, Sir Robert Ball (Astronomer Royal), and Sir George Porter. The only toasts proposed were "The Queen," "The Prince and Princess of Wales," "The Lord Lieutenant of Ireland," "The President of the Royal College of Surgeons," and "The Universities and the Medical Corporations of Ireland." The company then proceeded to the board-room, where some excellent singing was listened to. The evening passed off brilliantly.

PRESENTATION TO DR. A. H. CORLEY, PRESIDENT OF THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS.

ON Monday last a number of the pupils, past and present, of the Carmichael College of Medicine met to present an address to Dr. Corley, President of the College of Surgeons, and Lecturer on Surgery in the Carmichael School. The address was accompanied by a silver salver and a pair of handsome claret jugs. Dr. Gordon, who occupied the chair, bore testimony to Dr. Corley's popularity and eminence. Dr. Corley made a suitable reply.

THE AMALGAMATION OF DUBLIN SCHOOLS.

ON Friday, May 18th, a special meeting of the Fellows of the College of Surgeons was held, pursuant to requisition, for the purpose of considering the question of amalgamation of schools. Dr. Corley presided. The subject was introduced by Mr. Thomson, who pointed out the disadvantages which resulted from a multiplicity of schools in Dublin, and concluded by moving: "That, having regard to the interests of medical education in Dublin, it is desirable to diminish, as far as possible, the number of private schools, and that, with a view to carrying out this principle, it be an earnest recommendation to the Council to take such steps as may be necessary to effect, on equitable terms, an amalgamation of the existing private schools with those of the Royal College of Surgeons." Dr. Kidd seconded the motion, which was supported by Dr. McDonnell, Professor Thornley Stoker, Mr. Barton, and Mr. Wm. Stoker, and opposed by Professors R. Macnamara and Hamilton, and Mr. Wharton. A division then took place, with the result that the motion was carried by 39 to 16. It was further directed that a special meeting of the Fellows should be summoned to examine any scheme of amalgamation. The schools which it is thus sought to unite with the College School are the Carmichael and the Ledwich. The difficulties in carrying out such a union are great, but they are by no means insurmountable. Certain professors and lecturers would, of course, retire, and for a time there would be more than one occupant of several of the professorships; but seeing that the three schools have about 500 pupils altogether, and that the majority of these would still be retained, the pecuniary result would be satisfactory even at once. As the staff diminished the value of the chairs would be considerable. Mr. Thomson, in his speech, very properly urged the necessity of having such subjects as anatomy and physiology taught by men whose whole time could be devoted to them, and he pointed out that it was only in this way that the scientific reputation of the Dublin School could be raised. The subject has now made a distinct advance, the proposal having for the first time been approved at a meeting of the Fellows, and it is to be hoped that nothing will interfere to prevent its being examined in a fair spirit.

GIBSON AND WIFE V. JEFFRIES AND HILLS.

MAY we appeal to the readers of the JOURNAL on behalf of Messrs. W. C. Jeffries and A. P. Hills, the defendants in an action tried last July at Guildford before Mr. Justice Cave, and reported in your issue of August, 13th? Damages to the amount of £500 were then sought to be recovered on the ground of alleged negligence and unskillfulness in the use of forceps during the confinement of Mrs. Gibson, one of the plaintiffs. The jury found for the defendants, and no medical man can read the report of the trial without feeling that the action ought never to have been brought, and that any practitioner who applies the forceps and accidentally ruptures the perineum, or any medical man who is compelled by illness to employ a locum tenens is liable to be treated as were Messrs. Hills and Jeffries.

Although costs were given against the plaintiffs, the latter not being in a position to pay, Messrs. Jeffries and Hills will have to pay their own law costs, amounting to £150, and are just now being pressed for payment by the solicitors. There are special and personal reasons known to us that make this a particularly deserving case, and, while it is impossible to remedy the injury, anxiety, and worry through which Messrs. Hills and Jeffries have had to go, we hope that the law costs will be met by subscription among their medical brethren. We would further suggest that this is a case which would be most appropriately dealt with by small subscriptions from a large number of medical men, as it is one deserving such widespread sympathy. The trustees of the "Bower and Keats Fund" have just contributed £50 towards the expenses of Messrs. Jeffries and Hills, but a balance of £100 still remains to be provided.

Subscriptions will be acknowledged in the JOURNAL, and may be sent to Mr. Keetley, 10, George Street, Hanover Square, W.

Dinner.—After the meeting, seventeen members and visitors dined together.

METROPOLITAN COUNTIES BRANCH: WESTERN DISTRICT. A MEETING was held on Wednesday, May 16th, at the St. George's Union Infirmary, Fulham Road, Brompton, S.W. Dr. CHARLTON BASTIAN, F.R.C.S., Vice-President of the district, was in the chair, and about twenty members and visitors were present. The minutes of the preceding meeting were read and confirmed.

Chronic Ulcer of the Tongue.—Mr. BUTLIN, F.R.C.S., read notes of three cases of chronic ulcers of the tongue, in which the disease had resisted all medicinal treatment, and even scraping and freshening the edges. The ulcer was removed in each case by the knife by incisions passing deep into the substance of the tongue. The disease had existed for from eighteen months to three or more years. The author recommended the adoption of this method of treatment in cases of long-standing lingual ulcers in which other measures failed to cure.—A discussion ensued, in which Drs. BASTIAN, JAMIESON, and Mr. NOBLE SMITH took part.

Orthopædic Appliances.—Mr. NOBLE SMITH gave a demonstration of his more recent modifications of appliances in orthopædic surgery. Light splints in place of heavy instruments; the substitution of metal rods, which could be bent by the surgeon, for the highly-tempered irons usually made; the simplification of joints in instruments used after operations for club-foot, to save complication and expense; and the limitation of the restraining influence of all apparatus to the parts absolutely requiring restraint, were among the more noticeable points referred to. The treatment of contracted and relaxed joints and the application of fixation apparatus to diseased spines were also included in this practical demonstration.—A discussion followed, in which Drs. BASTIAN, JAMIESON, SHELDON, and Messrs. BUTLIN, S. BURTON, and STEELE joined.

Cases.—Dr. WEBSTER, the medical superintendent of the Infirmary, then exhibited patients suffering from diseases of much clinical interest, including a marked case of pseudo-hypertrophic paralysis, lateral sclerosis, and a rare form of skin disease.

Votes of Thanks.—The proceedings closed with the usual votes of thanks.

SOUTH-EASTERN BRANCH: WEST KENT DISTRICT. A MEETING of the above district was held at the Hospital, Gravesend, on April 27th, R. J. BRYDEN, Esq., in the chair.

Next Meeting.—It was decided that the next meeting should be held at Maidstone in November, and that Dr. Shaw should be requested to preside on the occasion.

Election of Honorary Secretary.—A. W. Nankivell, F.R.C.S., was unanimously re-elected Honorary Secretary of the District for the ensuing year.

volunteers shall be eligible as members, and that all medical officers retiring with the right to wear the uniform of their regiments, and surgeons holding combatant commissions in the above forces may become (or remain) members of the Association." Surgeon E. L. Freer was re-elected Honorary Secretary.

The question of amalgamation with the Volunteer Medical Association was discussed, and it was decided that the President and Secretary (both members of the Council of the Volunteer Medical Association) should lay the subject before that Council at their next meeting, and report to the members at a special general meeting. The Royal Warrant for a reserve of medical officers was also discussed, opinions being somewhat divided, though it was generally considered to be an unsatisfactory result of the promises foreshadowed.

It was decided to bring the subject again forward at the special general meeting, and in the meantime for members to elicit the feeling of officers of the Medical Staff and the volunteer and medical press upon it as far as possible. The subscription to this Association is 5s. per annum, payable to Edward L. Freer (Honorary Secretary), 7, Newhall Street, Birmingham.

MEDICO-LEGAL AND MEDICO-ETHICAL.

THE L.S.A. AND SURGICAL FEES.

M. and L.S.A.L.—An L.S.A. reduces a fracture of leg; the case terminates quite satisfactorily; the patient disputes the payment (£3 3s.), being thus advised by a new medical practitioner in the town, as the L.S.A. is not also a M.R.C.S. Is not the L.S.A. entitled to his fee?

 In reply to our correspondent's special question we are constrained to admit that, although he is indisputably morally entitled thereto, he cannot legally enforce payment of his fee of £3 3s. in the case in question, inasmuch as a person registered with a medical qualification only cannot recover for professional attendance in a surgical case, and vice versa. For any medicines, however, which he may have prescribed as subservient to the surgical attendance, he is entitled to charge for and recover. Comment on the new medical practitioner's reputed advice to the patient is unnecessary.

A HYPOTHETICAL CASE.

J. E. C. writes: A., B., and C. are practising in the same district (residing, say, within a mile of each other). A. is desirous of removing, and succeeds in securing a purchaser (D.) for his practice. Are B. and C. committing any breach of professional honour or etiquette in competing for appointments held by A., and which they know A. is using his influence to have transferred to D. as his successor? The case is a hypothetical one; consequently, there are no attendant conditions to be taken into consideration.

 In the absence of knowledge of the attendant essential conditions of the "hypothetical case" submitted, we are not in a position to advise J. E. C. thereon further than that, if the vacancy of the appointment alluded to is advertised, or otherwise publicly made known, and there are no surrounding circumstances which dictate abstinence from opposition to D. as the proposed successor to A., we see no valid ethical objection to B. and C. competing for the appointment.

A MEMBER.—The prolonged and evidently deliberate omission of the resident medical practitioners to return "A Member's" call of courtesy, constitutes a regrettable breach of professional etiquette, and, to our mind, indicates but too clearly a feeling of other than fraternal regard for the newcomer, whose advent must necessarily more or less interfere with their respective practices.

INDIA AND THE COLONIES.

INDIA.

WE regret to hear from Madras the sad intelligence of the death of Surgeon-Major John Prendergast, from drowning, at Kirkee. The deceased officer and a subaltern of artillery, Lieutenant Falkiner, were out together in a small boat on the Moola Mootha river, when the light craft was capsized by a sudden gust of wind, both the occupants being precipitated into the water. Both lives were lost. Dr. Prendergast's commission dated from March 31st, 1874. He was promoted to the rank of Surgeon-Major when stationed at Quetta, two or three years ago; thence he was transferred to Purandhur, going to Poona in January last, to act as Brigade-Surgeon for Dr. Gaye. Dr. Prendergast received a spear wound in the lungs at Tel-el-Kebir, while in attendance on the wounded, and was for a time dangerously ill at the hospital at Suez. He was stationed at Wanowrie in 1878.

THE Surgeon-General Moore Memorial Fund is, we learn from Bombay, making satisfactory progress. The subscription list, which already shows a substantial sum, includes 500 rupees from His Highness the Gaekwar of Baroda. It has been provisionally determined that the memorial will take the form in the first instance of a bust or portrait, and that any other funds available shall be used to found a medical scholarship or prize; the question, however, will be submitted to a general meeting of the subscribers.

In the list of the Queen's birthday honours, consisting of promotions in and appointments to the Most Distinguished Order of St. Michael and St. George, in the London Gazette of Thursday, occur the names of William Raymond Kynsey, Esq., Principal Civil Medical Officer and Inspector-General of Hospitals of the Island of Ceylon, and Anthony Colling Brownless, M.D., Chancellor of the University of Melbourne, who have been appointed Ordinary Members of the Third Class, or Companions of the Most Distinguished Order.

year, but that the only limitation will be that of failing to pass the examination?

The signatures of nearly 300 medical men have already been sent in to the Senate, but as fresh signatures keep arriving, it will be necessary to forward another batch towards the end of the month, and names will be gladly received by me until that date.

PROPOSED ANNUAL LICENCE TO PRACTICE.

LOCUM writes: At a time when medical men are disturbed in their minds by the proposed tax on horses, it may appear unseasonable to suggest another tax on incomes reduced by agricultural, manufacturing, and trade depressions. However, whereas the horse tax is undoubtedly a grievance, the tax I would beg to propose would be a protection, and would not necessitate the elaborate discussions of the Medical Council concerning unqualified practice, at the same time being much more effective.

If each qualified registered man paid a yearly tax—a nominal one—anything from half a guinea upwards, and if the collection of such tax devolved upon the excise, the excisemen in each district would have a list of all so paying, and should they discover any man practising in their district not having paid his tax, and therefore presumably not registered, they could take legal proceedings against him.

At present, when an unqualified man is in practice, although the medical men in his neighbourhood often find him a formidable opponent, no individual cares to "bell the cat."

Considering the late enormous additions to the Medical Register, the number of qualified men unemployed, and the number of men who, never having set foot in a hospital or ever having attended a lecture, hold good assistances or act as principals keeping qualified assistants, it is time something more sweeping should be done than picking out isolated cases, and after a long and expensive investigation letting transgressors off with a caution.

. The principal objection which occurs to us is that the proposal leaves out of account the expense which prosecutions of unqualified practitioners involve. Where successful, the prosecutor frequently has to bear the costs in full, through the insolvent circumstances of the defendant, and the consequent loss of the penalty recovered. Under the arrangement proposed, which we notice gives an option to the Government to prosecute or not, the Government would be only very indirectly interested in suppressing unqualified practice; they would only be interested in doing so so far as its suppression would increase the number of registered men, and so augment the tax. Now the cost of suppressing unqualified practice would, it seems to us, very far exceed any benefit of this kind, and, if that were so, the Government would prefer to leave unqualified persons unmolested. The nation would get the tax, but the profession who are to bear it would derive no advantage in return.

On the other hand, even if the Government were to undertake, in return for the tax, to prosecute all cases of unqualified practice, the tax, reduced by the costs of prosecutions, would provide the Chancellor of the Exchequer with a poor substitute for the horse tax.

ACETIC ERGOT.

DR. C. R. ILLINGWORTH (Accrington) writes: Permit me to thank Dr. Francis most heartily for the boon he has conferred upon the profession by drawing attention to the value of acetic ergot. I have used the drug according to his formula, and I have found it to prevent collapse in a marvellous manner. The patient remains strong, and the face is flushed instead of pale, as is generally the case with ordinary treatment. There is less hemorrhage, also, and a more firm uterine contraction. Those who use the mixture prescribed by Dr. Francis will never use an ammoniated preparation again, I think; for what is rapidity of action with subsequent tendency to collapse, compared with rather less rapid action with the complete absence of that dangerous symptom?
