BIRMINGHAM AND MIDLAND COUNTIES BRANCH: ORDINARY MEETING.

THE third meeting of the session 1879-80 was held at Queen's College on December 11th. Present: The President, Dr. JAMES JOHNSTON, in the chair, and thirty-four members.

New Members.—The following members of the Association were elected members of the Branch: D. B. Walford, Esq., the Guest Hospital, Dudley; John Whitehouse, Esq., the Queen's Hospital.

Council.—Mr. H. R. Ker of Cradley was elected a county member of Council in the place of Dr. G. F. Bodington, appointed Chairman of the Pathological and Clinical Section.

Specimens.—The following were shown.

1. Mr. LAWSON TAIT exhibited two Cysts which he had removed in a state of gangrene, due to twisting of the pedicle from rotation of the tumour. Both patients recovered, though one of them was in the fourth month of pregnancy.
2. Mr. W. C. GORMAN showed a number of Biliary Calculi which had been passed per anum by a pony; the largest measured nine inches in circumference.
3. Mr. T. F. CHAVASSE showed, for Mr. MARTIN of Alcester, a specimen of Epithelioma of the Penis, and made some remarks thereon.
4. Mr. JOHN GREENE showed a fine Steel Pin, called a pivot-brooch, and mentioned its usefulness in passing through occluded subcutaneous needles.

Branch Secretaries and the Committee of Council.—Mr. SOLOMON brought forward the resolution passed by the Committee of Council of the Association in reference to the attendance of Branch Secretaries at the meetings of that body.—Dr. MALINS said that the Secretaries were in receipt of a communication from the General Secretary on the subject, which would be brought before the meeting of the Branch Council.

Paper.—Mr. J. F. WEST read a paper on Sayre's Treatment of Spinal Affections, in which he recalled Dr. Sayre's visit to Birmingham in 1877, and the valuable plan of treatment he then introduced for angular and lateral curvature of the spine, by means of suspension and the application of the poroplastic jacket. Mr. West insisted upon the importance of early diagnosis and treatment of the disease, giving illustrative cases, and eulogising the principles on which Sayre's plan is founded. He discussed the various methods of treatment which have been subsequently introduced, e.g., that of Dr. Walker of Peterborough, for the application of the plaster-jacket without suspension; the novel method of applying the jacket by Dr. Miller of Dundee; and, lastly, the poroplastic jacket so recommended by Mr. Fisher. From his own experience of upwards of one hundred cases, Mr. West preferred Dr. Sayre's plan, especially in cases of Pott's curvature, though he believed that the poroplastic jacket would be found useful in many cases of lateral curvature.—A discussion followed, in which Mr. W. C. Gorman, Mr. T. W. Williams, Mr. Freer, Mr. F. E. Manby, and Mr. Yates took part.

SOUTH-EASTERN BRANCH: EAST KENT DISTRICT.

METROPOLITAN COUNTIES BRANCH: EAST LONDON AND SOUTH ESSEX DISTRICT.

A MEETING of this District was held in the London Hospital Medical College on December 18th; ALEXANDER GRANT, M.D., in the Chair.

Legal Status of Medical Practitioners.—A paper was read on the legal status of medical practitioners by R. H. S. CARPENTER, L.R.C.P.Lond., wherein it was stated that the opinion expressed by Dr. Waters and others, that the Medical Act of 1858 had established complete reciprocity of practice, was contradicted by decisions in County Courts, where registered medical men had been refused a verdict because they did not possess an English medical qualification. The ruling of Vice-Chancellor Wood in the famous case of the Apothecaries' Company versus the College of Physicians was also quoted, where it was laid down that the thirty-first section of the Medical Act did not give to any corporation increased power, but merely enacted that every medical man should be "entitled according to his qualification" to practise in any part of Her Majesty's dominions. He was to be entitled according to his qualification, not according as he possessed a medical or surgical qualification from any of the corporations named in the Act, but according to the qualification the charter of the corporation empowered it to give. There was no new power given. A Scotch corporation had no power conferred upon it to grant a qualification to practise in England; an English corporation had no power conferred upon it to grant a qualification to practise in Scotland. Further, since the Medical Act did not repeal any previous Act, the penal clauses of the English corporations could still be enforced against medical men practising in England who held Scotch, Irish, or foreign qualifications only.—A discussion followed on the unsatisfactory state of medical law.

MILITARY AND NAVAL MEDICAL SERVICES.

THE NEW PRINCIPAL MEDICAL OFFICER OF THE MADRAS ARMY.—Surgeon-General Thomas Crawford, M.D., ranking with major-generals of the army, who has been appointed principal medical officer of the Madras Army, vice Surgeon-General C. A. Gordon, M.D., C.B., took his M.D. degree at Edinburgh University in 1845, and became a licentiate of the Royal College of Surgeons in the same year. In 1848, he entered the medical service of the army as assistant-surgeon, and served with the 51st Light Infantry throughout the Burmese War of 1852-3. He was on board the Honourable East India Company's steam-frigate Ferooz during the naval action and destruction of the enemy's stockades in the Rangoon river, and served during the succeeding three days' operations in the vicinity and at the storm and capture of Rangoon, including the storming of the White Horse Redoubt. He also took part in the storm and capture of Bassein, on May 10th; was present at various skirmishes at Promé; and during the advance on Meaday; receiving the medal with clasp for Pegu. He was promoted to be surgeon in February 1855, serving with the 18th Royal Irish in the Crimea from the 9th of that month, and receiving the medal with clasp for Sebastopol and the Turkish medal. He became a surgeon-major in February 1858; a deputy surgeon-general in February 1870; and surgeon-general in December 1876.

PROMOTIONS IN THE MEDICAL DEPARTMENT OF THE NAVY.—The undermentioned Surgeons have been promoted to the rank of Staff-Surgeon in Her Majesty's Fleet, with the seniorities stated against their names: M. U. Creany, M.D., W. H. Putsey, G. B. Murray, St. Lawrence Ffrench Mullen, M.D., R. A. Mowll, M.D., with seniority of December 24th; J. Robertson, J. K. Conway, M.D., H. Clarke, W. Galloway, M.D., A. G. Delmege, M.D., with seniority of December 25th; R. Turner, T. L. Horner, S. Sexton, with seniority of December 26th; S. Evans, with seniority of December 27th; W. P. M. Boyle, with seniority of December 28th.

THE ZULU REWARDS AND THE ARMY MEDICAL DEPARTMENT.
SIR,—In your issue of the 27th December, 1879, you announce that Deputy Surgeon-General Woolfryes, C.B., the principal medical officer during the Zulu war, has received a C.M.G. I would venture to draw your attention to the utter inadequacy of the reward. Should it not be supplemented by promotion to the grade of Surgeon-General? Deputy Inspector-General Woolfryes was occupied in Natal for many months before the declaration of war in making preparations for the coming campaign under considerable local difficulties, and was uninterruptedly in medical charge, both during the anxious time of disaster and defeat, and when the subsequent arrival of reinforcements rendered him responsible for the medical care of nearly 20,000 men. While, therefore, brevet promotions, knighthoods, and various decorations are being served out on some principle intelligible only to those in high places, it cannot be held that more than a year's continuous and successful labour on the part of the principal medical officer of the whole expedition is adequately rewarded by the bestowal of that humblest of orders, a C.M.G.—Yours, JUSTICE.

UNIVERSITY INTELLIGENCE.

UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE.

GONVILLE AND CAIUS COLLEGE.—OPEN SCHOLARSHIPS.—An examination will be held at Gonville and Caius College, beginning on Saturday, March 13th, 1880, when six scholarships at least (three of £60, and three at least of £40) will be offered for competition to students intending to begin residence in October 1880. In cases of special merit, the College is prepared, on the recommendation of the examiners, to increase the value of a scholarship to £80 or £90. These scholarships are limited to persons who have not yet begun residence in the University, and have not yet been elected to a scholarship at any college. They will be awarded for proficiency in classics, or in mathematics, or in natural science, or in any of these branches of study combined. Each will be tenable for a year, after which the holder will be eligible to an ordinary scholarship. Candidates in classics will be examined in Latin and Greek translation, and composition, both prose and verse. Candidates in mathematics will be examined in Euclid, algebra, plane trigonometry, geometrical and analytical conic sections, the subjects being treated without the aid of the differential calculus. Candidates in natural science will be examined in chemistry, chemical physics (including light, heat, and electricity), zoology and comparative anatomy, and physiology. Excellence in one or two of the above subjects will be preferred to less perfect acquaintance with a greater number. Each candidate will be required to furnish a list of those of the above subjects in which he requires to be examined, at least three weeks before the examination. He will also be required to satisfy the tutors that he possesses such knowledge of elementary Latin, Greek, and mathematics as will enable him to pass the University previous examination. The natural science part of the examination will be held on Saturday and Monday, March 13th and 15th. The classical on Tuesday and Wednesday, March 16th and 17th. The mathematical on Thursday and Friday, March 18th and 19th. During the examination, rooms in College will be provided for the candidates as far as possible. A post-card should be sent to the College porter two or three days before. Candidates are required to send their names, with certificates of age and testimonials of good conduct, to the Rev. N. M. Ferrers, Senior Tutor of Gonville and Caius College. The successful candidates will be required to enter their names at the College, and to begin residence in October next. Those who acquit themselves creditably in the examination will, if they enter at the College, be admitted without entrance examination. The entrance examinations will begin severally on March 16th, June 9th, and October 9th.

VANILLA AS A FLAVOURING MATTER.—The Pharmaceutical Journal notes some recent experiments on the action of artificial vanilla by Mr. L. Wolff, who has found that in one-grain doses taken for three weeks it produces no bad results whatever. The vanilla experimented with was Dr. J. M. Haarmann's. He therefore concludes that it is not to artificial vanilla that the reported poisonous effects of vanilla ice-cream must be attributed, but rather to the other ingredients. He recommends vanilla for disguising the taste of chlorate of potash in lozenges, and recommends it to be used in the following proportions: Chlorate of potash, lb. iv; powdered sugar, lb. xvi; vanilla, gr. xv; mucilage of gum acacia, q.s.; made into lozenges weighing twenty-five grains each.

PUBLIC HEALTH.—During last week, the last week of 1879, 4,742 deaths were registered in London and twenty-two other large towns of the United Kingdom. The mortality was at the average rate of 29 deaths annually in every 1,000 persons living. The annual death-rate was 24 in Edinburgh, 23 in Glasgow, and 43 in Dublin. The annual rates of mortality in the twenty English towns were as follow: Sunderland 20, Portsmouth 21, Oldham 22, Norwich 23, Bradford 23, Newcastle-upon-Tyne 23, Sheffield 23, Wolverhampton 24, Leicester 24, Hull 26, Birmingham 27, Bristol 28, Manchester 28, Leeds 28, Nottingham 30, Liverpool 31, Brighton 31, London 32, Salford 32, and the highest rate 35 in Plymouth. The annual death-rate from the seven principal zymotic diseases averaged 4.3 per 1,000 in the twenty towns, and ranged from 0.0 and 0.8 in Wolverhampton and Portsmouth, to 5.3 and 9.1 in Liverpool and Plymouth. Scarlet fever showed the largest proportional fatality in Newcastle-upon-Tyne, Leicester, and Bristol; measles in Plymouth, Hull, Liverpool, Bristol, and Nottingham; and whooping-cough in Salford, Newcastle-upon-Tyne, and London. Of the 27 deaths from diphtheria in the twenty towns, 16 occurred in London, 3 in Birmingham, 3 in Liverpool, and 3 in Manchester. Small-pox caused 4 more deaths in London, but not one in any of the nineteen large provincial towns. In London, 2,188 deaths were registered, which exceeded the average by 304, and gave an annual death-rate of 31.5. The 2,188 deaths included 4 from small-pox, 39 from measles, 69 from scarlet fever, 16 from diphtheria, 165 from whooping-cough, 20 from different forms of fever, and 13 from diarrhoea—being altogether, 326 deaths, which were 45 above the average, and equal to an annual rate of 4.7 per 1,000. The deaths referred to diseases of the respiratory organs, which had been 799 and 652 in the two preceding weeks, were 672 last week, and exceeded the corrected weekly average by 152; 426 resulted from bronchitis, and 154 from pneumonia. Different forms of violence caused 93 deaths; 87 were the result of negligence or accident, including 32 from fractures and contusions, 16 from burns and scalds, 5 from drowning, and 25 of infants under one year of age from suffocation. At Greenwich, the mean temperature of the air was 45.7°, and 7.4° above the average. The general direction of the wind was south-west, and the horizontal movement of the air averaged 24.4 miles per hour, which was 11.6 above the average. Rain fell on four days of the week, to the aggregate amount of 0.44 of an inch. The duration of registered bright sunshine in the week was equal to 14 per cent. of its possible duration. The amount of ozone recorded during last week showed a considerable increase upon that in recent weeks.
