CORRESPONDENCE.

URINARY FEVER.

SIR,—In the detailed report, which you were good enough to give, of my remarks on Urinary Fever, at the Medical Society of London, there is a slight verbal error, which is, however, of so much importance, that I cannot let it pass without requesting you to correct it.

Let me premise that I stated that the various febrile phenomena which occur in connection with disturbance of the urinary organs might be conveniently designated, for clinical purposes, as belonging to three distinct classes:

1. The transient attack of urinary fever;
2. The acute recurring form of urinary fever;
3. The continuous form of urinary fever, which may be either chronic or subacute.

It is respecting the first or "transient" form, that I am reported as saying, "it occurs in persons who have not the most healthy urinary organs." The word "not" is the error; the exact reverse is that which I desired to express. This transient attack may, and commonly does, happen in persons who have no sign whatever of renal disease, or of inadequate excreting power. It is thus unlike to the second or "recurring" form, which is associated, in many cases, with some affection of the kidney, but one which is not necessarily severe. On the other hand, the recurring attacks may prove to be the signs of a septicæmic infection, or a prelude to uræmic poisoning. It is unlike also to the third or "continuous" form, in which the renal organs are mostly considerably diseased.

The "transient" form arises at any age after puberty, often, probably, as the result of absorption of a minute quantity of urine after a very slight injury to the urethra. Possibly the attack may be due sometimes to a temporary disturbance of the nervous system, without local lesion; but inasmuch as there is reason to believe that the minutest recent lesion suffices to give occasion to absorption, when an act of micturition subsequently takes place, it is difficult to determine the cause of the phenomena in all cases.

The foregoing classification does not, of course, include the slight "shock" or fainting, which occurs to some individuals when a catheter is passed; nor the fatal "shock," which, in excessively rare instances, succeeds to simple catheterism, death occurring in twenty-four hours or so, with suppression of urine, the renal function appearing to be suddenly arrested. Such occurrences cannot be ranked as examples of "febrile" action.

I may be permitted to add that I have adopted the term "urinary" fever and not "urethral" because, although the urethra is generally the point of departure, the whole of the urinary organs are implicated in the pathological manifestation which results; moreover, the term corresponds with the fièvre urinaire of French authors.—I am, sir, yours obediently,

HENRY THOMPSON.

Wimpole Street, December 22nd, 1883.

CATHETER-FEVER.

SIR,—No doubt there are such things as urethral fever, as well as fever due to vitiated urine, but I have a conviction that most of the cases to which Sir A. Clark refers are caused by the point of the catheter pressing against the apex of the bladder in a man of one of those types of constitution, whether due to age, intemperance, renal disease, or any other cause, in which a weak form of inflammation is easily set up. Imagine a patient of this sort going to a surgeon who passes, often with impetus, a catheter up to its hilt, or as far as it will go, i.e., until it is pressed strongly against a lowly vitalised, if not diseased, mucous membrane; then, the urine being drawn off, the mucous membrane is still further compressed against the point of the instrument by all those forces (increased by the erect posture), which empty the organ—can one be at all surprised at evil consequences occasionally occurring, and if ending fatally to find, as in Sir A. Clark's second case, "the mucous lining congested, and in parts eroded, and everywhere covered with a greyish-white stinking mucus," in fact, sloughing? It is evident, too, that different degrees of injury, and different amounts of constitutional tendency to asthenic inflammation, might result in producing the varieties described by Velpeau, ranging from irritability of the bladder and early recovery, to low suppurative nephritis or pyæmia. For a long time past, and on this very account, I have been in the habit of putting two rings of paint around all my urethral instruments, one at six inches from the point, to mark the entrance through the triangular ligament, and the other at nine inches, to show when the bladder is reached. As these instruments are made of variable length, and never graduated, I have used this expedient so that I may know exactly where the point is; and I never, except in certain cases, as in using staff or sound, etc., push the catheter in more than half an inch or so beyond the second ring of paint, i.e., just within the bladder, and nothing more. I have recently had under my care a gentleman, scarcely middle-aged, but of somewhat broken constitution, in whom unpleasant bladder-symptoms arise when he pushes on the bougie as far as it will readily go. I would strongly urge on the profession the advantage of using graduated urethral instruments, of only passing the point of a catheter or bougie just within the bladder, and, when giving a patient an instrument to use on himself, to put a ring of paint around it at the distance of nine inches from the point, and urge on him the importance of not pushing it onwards after the ring has disappeared within the meatus.—Yours sincerely,

WILLIAM HARVEY, F.R.C.S., London.

Telgmouth, Devon, December 22nd, 1883.

BRITISH MEDICAL BENEVOLENT FUND.

SIR,—In the few days which have passed since the publication of my letter in the BRITISH MEDICAL JOURNAL, I have received the following donations and subscriptions, which I desire to acknowledge with warm and sincere thanks:—from John Colebrook, Esq., William Street, Lowndes Square, £10 10s. (making, with previous donations, a total of 50 guineas); Gerald Crécy Parnell, Esq., Forest Hill, 10s.; Frank Smith, Esq., Plumstead, £1 1s.; Dr. Turner, Finsbury Square, £5 5s.; Dr. Dukes, Sunnyside, Rugby, £1 1s.; Dr. Henry Castle, Newport, £1 1s.; W. Eddowes, Esq., Shrewsbury, £1 1s.; Mrs. Evans, Matron, City of London Lying-in Hospital (sub.), £1 1s.; don., £1; Dr. Sheldon, Wells, 5s.

Three shillings, for the purchase of the coveted fowl, have been sent by Mrs. Doubleday, and forwarded to the writer of the letter copied in my last communication, who has also been supplied with a ton of the best coal by Mrs. Coulson.

I should like to add that, besides the £2,200 given during the year in donations, more than £1,000 derived from investments has been distributed among fifty annuitants, most of whom receive £20 a year, which is augmented, in the case of a certain number of worn-out members of the profession, from a special fund, to £26, or 10s. a week.

The charity has no paid officers; so that, except a small percentage upon such subscriptions, etc., as are paid through the collector, and the expenses of printing and postage, all the money received goes to those for whom it is intended.

The committee meets once a month to receive applications, which must be supported by the testimony of medical men who vouch for the accuracy of the statements made. If, after careful sifting, and, when practicable, reference to an honorary local secretary or personal investigation by a member of the committee, a case be considered worthy of relief, a grant is at once made; but is usually distributed in weekly or monthly instalments.

Annuitants are elected twice a year. All applicants over the age of sixty are considered eligible, and a list of them is drawn up by the honorary secretary for cases; this is carefully gone over, with all the information which can be obtained, by a small subcommittee appointed ad hoc, which reports to the general committee, with whom the election rests. There are more than fifty eligible candidates; but, as they have no canvassing to do, and for the most part do not even know when their cases are under consideration, they have not the heart-sickness of hope deferred, and they are, moreover, relieved from the donation fund from time to time.

These are the characteristics of the fund which have commanded the increasing confidence and support of the profession, and will, we trust, continue to do so.—I remain, your obedient servant,

W. H. BROADBENT, M.D.

34, Seymour Street, Portman Square, Christmas Day, 1883.

MEDICO-LEGAL NOTES AND QUERIES.

MEDICAL SUPERINTENDENTS OF ASYLUMS AND GENERAL PRACTICE.

SIR,—When a medical man undertakes the duties of medical superintendent of a lunatic asylum, are the regulations so that he must give his services entirely to the asylum-work, or is he at liberty to cultivate a general practice outside? I shall feel much obliged for the information.—Faithfully yours,

MEDICUS.

*.* The duties of medical superintendents of public lunatic asylums are defined by general rules, prepared by the committee of visitors, and submitted to the Home Secretary for his approval (16 and 17 Vict., c. 97, s. 53). These rules vary considerably in different asylums, but they almost without exception declare that the medical superintendent shall devote his whole time to the duties of his office, and shall not engage in any business or occupation save that of the asylum. In a few cases, medical superintendents have been permitted to act as consultants in cases of mental disease occurring in the neighbourhood of the asylum, but in no instance that we are aware of has a medical superintendent been allowed to engage in general practice. The Commissioners in Lunacy have always discountenanced extra-mural work of any kind on the part of medical superintendents of asylums, except when their special knowledge and skill may assist in the administration of justice; and, as the general rules of asylums, when they require revision, as they do from time to time, are, as a matter of practice, submitted to their judgment, it is certain that the restrictions in this matter will become more and more stringent. The policy of the Commissioners is certainly sound, as, considering the very large salaries now paid to medical superintendents, and the importance of constant supervision over the establishments under their care, there can be neither necessity nor justification for their entering into competition with their unsubsidised brethren. If the prestige and experience which are obtained by service in those large institutions for the insane which are maintained at the public expense, are to be used as passports to practice, then it is clear that their medical organisation must be altered and assimilated to that of a general hospital.

The medical witnesses were of opinion that sufficient narcotic poison had been taken by the deceased, who was apoplectic, to accelerate his death.

SOUTH AFRICA AS A FIELD FOR MEDICAL PRACTITIONERS.

SIR,—Some time ago, I noticed a question asked in the medical papers regarding South Africa as a field for medical men. As a wellwisher of all my medical brethren, I think it is no more than my duty to give a warning to those who come to South Africa in expectation of making their fortune.

When I came to this land, nothing was so discouraging to me as the tale from every medical man I met. His book-debts perhaps showed £1,000 per annum, and his actual income perhaps one-half of this sum.

For any one compelled to leave the home-country on account of health, I should certainly recommend South Africa if its climate be of a nature suited to him, as he may be fortunate in getting on a farm where his services will be recompensed by a sufficiency from his neighbours to enable him to live without much exertion. And then his life must be a muscular existence. The fact is, South Africa is overstocked with medical practitioners, and this has taken place within a few years. There is a town in the colony, near the Free State border, where one of three practitioners died lately. Six have come to take his place; and I may mention that two practitioners are almost sufficient for the town and its district.

A good "all round" man prepared to do work of all sorts and with a thorough experience, hospital and private, at home (for experience cannot be gained here very readily, owing to the few patients a medical man sees, and these few perhaps he sees only once in an illness) can do well, as he would most probably do well at home; but for any man whose practical knowledge of his profession is not ripened by years of experience, I should say that he had better remain in the mother-country, for he is much more likely to lose anything he has gained from practice than to gain anything he has not previously learned.

Practice out here is so entirely different from practice at home, that it is well perhaps that I should give some idea of it. Living as I am in the Free State, whose population of whites a year and a half ago was 62,000, I am amazed to hear of the number of qualified practitioners. At that time, the list of those licensed by the Free State (for which licence a man has to pay £20 yearly) amounted to forty. Licences are not required, except for the purpose of suing for fees, which many believe a bad policy; and the probability is that at that time there were as many or more practising without a licence as with it. Since that time, the population of the Free State cannot have increased more than 1,000 (I fear it has decreased, from collapse of diamond-fields), or one-sixtieth; while the medical practitioners have doubled their number. The natives have their own "doctors," and no amount of reasoning would persuade them to employ a white man.

If you get two or three patients, or say five patients, in a week in your district here you may consider yourself lucky, as these might be worth perhaps £10 to £12 (that is to say if they paid), as fees out here go. No doubt, if work were so plentiful as to give a man opportunity to live pretty much in the saddle, he would make his fortune; but a paying journey, especially now when the work is so much cut up, is a windfall to most men. Add to this the fact that it requires for this country a man who can accommodate himself to any circumstance, and your readers who are ambitious to seek their fortune here will, I think, pause ere they think of running the risk of a spoiled life, seeing what is before them.

However, if a man be prepared to rough it in many senses of that term, and to live absolutely without any social advantages; if he have been engaged in all the branches of the profession, such as a country practice in a colliery district in England or Scotland affords; and if, besides having these recommendations, he be thoroughly sober and patient, and able to acquire the Dutch language (which is easy to a German or even a Scotchman, but difficult to an Englishman), then he will, in South Africa, do well. There are men here in South Africa making £2,000 annually, according to their books; while in the same town all the other practitioners, perhaps three or four in number—good men, too—are unable to get more than the bare necessities of life by their profession alone.

A few years ago, when money was so plentiful, every one "got on," and many made small fortunes; but the rush of men here, even if the times were the same as formerly, has made a world of difference to many a well-established and good man. The total collapse of business over all South Africa, and the absence of rains for months, have reduced the land almost to one of famine at the present moment, for medicals as well as for others; and, should this fearful collapse be recovered from in a few years hence, and the population become wealthier and more numerous, the land will scarcely be sufficient decently to support the medical men already here who will manage to struggle through the awful times in store for everybody. I am, sir, yours faithfully,

A SOUTH AFRICAN MEDICAL PRACTITIONER.

ALCOHOLIC STIMULANTS IN WORKHOUSES.

SIR.—I would esteem it a favour if some of your correspondents could favour me with information as to the amount expended in alcoholic stimulants in a few of the workhouses, having an average of 400 or 500 (sick) under the care of the medical officer.

The information is wanted in connection with the city parish pothouse, Glasgow; some of the managers of the poor (myself among the number) being of opinion that some investigation is wanted.—I am, sir, yours truly,

A DOUBTFUL EXPERIMENT.

SIR.—I have just concluded an experiment which I think may be of service, or may lead to some observations which may be of use, in the prevention and cure of disease. I have discontinued the use of food most for nearly two years; but, on October 19th, I left off the use of all animal products, such as milk, butter, cheese, eggs, and honey. My weight was then 9 stones 8 ounces. In a month's time (the time my experiment lasted), my weight was 9 stones 3 pounds 12 ounces, or a gain of 3½ pounds. The change was not pleasant at first, as I gave up the use of salt and pepper as well; my food tasted rawish, and I was soon satisfied; but a week's practice soon made me relish my food, and new salt tastes distasteful. My usual exercise is from ten to fifteen miles a day, and I went on the same as ever, and I seemed none the worse; for my change of diet. I even lost my mild bilious feelings which butter and cheese give rise to, and only broke my experiment once, and that was on November 14th, when I had a piece of cake which had an egg in it, but no butter. I calculated I took then a sixteenth of an egg.

My food was, as follows: Breakfast, at 9 A.M., consisted of porridge made from equal parts of oatmeal and wheatmeal. This was followed by a cup of hot water, flavoured with fruit syrup and sweetened with sugar. At the same time, I had some bread fried in refined cotton-seed oil, or vegetable haggis fried in the same, the haggis being composed of oatmeal, wheatmeal, tapioca, mixed herbs, and Spanish onion, boiled in a cloth like a pudding. Dinner was taken at 2 or 3 P.M., and consisted of a thick vegetable soup, eaten with wholemeal bread, or potato and onion pie, savoury pie, vegetarian pie, vegetable stew, stewed rice and tomatoes, etc. This was followed by a bread plum pudding, stewed figs, prunes, or raisins, and bread, or stewed rice and these fruits, etc. Tea meal, at 5.30 P.M., consisted of some fruit syrup and water, or a cup of cocoa. I had with it some bread and jam, stewed fruit, or green stuff, as celery, tomatoes, watercress, etc. Frequently I had only two meals a day, and a cup of cocoa and a biscuit at 8 P.M. The cost of my diet was a little over 6d. a day, and I could easily live for less. The quantity was not more than my usual amount. Now I have again returned to milk, butter, eggs, and cheese, when out visiting; but rarely are they seen on my own table.

I think the diet-cure will be found the philosopher's stone of medicine; by diet we can in a great measure prevent seven-tenths almost of our present diseases; or, if disease has set in, then, simple food will allow the patient to recover most quickly. Most of our modern diseases can be traced to dietetic errors; excessive flesh-food, and want of active outdoor exercise and fresh air must be blamed for our diseases. All stomach-complaints, as indigestion, dyspepsia, gastric catarrh, biliousness, congestion of liver, jaundice, gastro-enteritis, hemorrhoids, etc., are due to excess or wrong kinds of food; whilst biliary calculi, urinary calculi, rheumatism, gout, atheroma, Bright's disease, and apoplexy, all point to excess of nitrogenous material, which the system cannot get rid of, and so it remains and produces disease. The kidney being blocked up, more work is thrown on the heart, which then hypertrophies or becomes enlarged, the lungs share in the back-working, and thus the whole system becomes affected. Most of these diseases can be cured, or at least relieved, by a non-flesh diet. Epilepsy is often cured, and always relieved, by such a diet; and even cancer's wasting hand may be partially stopped. Most chronic cases can be relieved by our diet; and I have known some severe cases of general eczema cured by it alone.

The study is well worthy of the study of our scientists; and, if possible, I intend showing by experiment how urinary calculi may be dissolved by diet, and so the operation of lithotripsy and lithotomy be avoided in many cases. The great secret of medicine must be, first, prevention; and, second, where disease already exists, its cure. If anyone would like to try this diet, I shall be glad to forward them a cookery-book containing over ninety recipes, on receipt of two stamps for postage, etc. It contains many dishes suitable for invalids, convalescents, those in delicate health, and others.—Yours truly,
T. R. ALLINSON, L.R.C.P. Ed.

TINEA ON THE EYEBROWS.

SIR.—Can any of your readers give me a hint in the treatment of an obstinate case of tinea on the eyebrows of a young lady? The disease has been treated, she tells me, by several doctors, with varying success, but she has never had more than temporary relief. I have tried most of the ordinary remedies, as described in the text-books, without any apparent benefit.—Yours truly,
M.D. (Edin.).

AMBULANCE-CARRIAGES.

SIR.—It is desired to procure for this town an ambulance-carriage for the purpose of conveying patients to our nearest hospital, which is at a distance of some miles. What are the best carriages for the purpose? What are their relative advantages? Where can they be obtained, and what is the price in each instance?—Yours faithfully,
AMBULANCE.

AN ANNUAL DINNER FOR THE NAVAL MEDICAL SERVICE.

SIR.—I beg to suggest that an annual dinner be held every year in London, in the month of May, of all past and present members of the Royal Naval Medical Service. It would be useful in many ways.—Yours, etc.

ROYAL NAVAL DINNER.

PSORIASIS PALMARIS SYPHILITICA.

SIR.—I have a patient suffering from this skin-affection without any other perceptible indication of constitutional taint. I apply five per cent. of oleate of mercury locally, and internally give one-sixteenth of a grain of iodide of mercury in solution, four times a day. The psoriasis is confined to the left palm, and continues obstinate. I should be much obliged to any of the members of the British Medical Association who will give any suggestions as to treatment; also, I should like their opinion as to prognosis, and to the likelihood of visceral affection coexistent with the cutaneous manifestation.—I am, sir, yours faithfully,
M.B., C.M.
