

THE CHOLERA.

INDIAN PILGRIMS IN RELATION TO CHOLERA OUTBREAKS.

COMMENTING on the sanitary report of Bengal for 1881, the Army Sanitary Commission says: The chief agents in augmenting cholera-mortality were local causes, of the operation of which the following illustration is given. In a violent outbreak of the disease in the town of Burdwan, it was noticed "that those who drew their drinking water from the river Barka, a sluggish and filthy stream about 30 feet wide, into which several sewers open, and the banks of which are in some parts largely used for the purposes of nature, suffered the most."

STATISTICS OF CHOLERA IN PARIS.

RECENTLY published statistics of the cholera-epidemic in Paris show that men have suffered more severely than women. From November 3rd to the 9th, there were 561 male deaths, or 50 per 100,000. During the same period, there were 379 deaths among females, or 33 per 100,000. The mortality was greater among single men than married men. From 25 to 30 years of age, 51 single men died, and 18 married; from 30 to 35, 78 single, 21 married; from 35 to 40, 58 single, 40 married; from 40 to 45, 152 single, 44 married; from 45 to 50, 83 single, 47 married; from 50 to 55, 167 single, 37 married; from 55 to 60, 83 single, 57 married; from 60 to 65, 117 single, 46 married; from 65 to 70, 89 single, 46 married; from 70 to 75, 55 single, 46 married.

TREATMENT OF CHOLERA.

DR. MAYET, during the cholera-epidemic in the Ardèche, observed that repeated subcutaneous ether-injections produced reaction in the algide period, when it was not hopeless; the heart was stimulated, and the pulse became stronger. In the gastro-enteric form, he found iced milk, or the yolk of an egg beaten up in water, and given in small quantities—about a teaspoonful from time to time—was of great benefit.

An inquiry is now issued concerning the general condition, habits, and circumstances, past and present, and the family history, of persons who have attained or passed the age of 80 years.

The replies to this inquiry will be most valuable when given by a medical man; but the questions have been so arranged that, with the exception of some on the last page, they may be answered by another person. Partial information will be gladly received.

There is also now issued an inquiry as to the occurrence of albuminuria in apparently healthy persons.

The Acute Gout card, which had been found too elaborate, has been made a great deal simpler, and is now re-issued.

Copies of these forms and memoranda are in the hands of all the local secretaries, and will be forwarded to anyone who is willing to fill up one or more of the forms, on application by post-card or otherwise to the Secretary of the Collective Investigation Committee, 161A, Strand, London, W.C., to whom all applications and correspondence should be addressed.

The Cholera-bacillus.—The Relation between Cholera and Cholæmia.—Parasitic and Infectious Pneumonia.—Chancrous Bubo.—Surgical Statistics at the Charité Hospital.—Researches on Cucaïne.—Ozoneïne.—The Prefect of the Seine, and Lady House-Surgeons.

M. VULPIAN has communicated to the Académie des Sciences the result of MM. Nicati's and Rietsch's researches on the physiological effect of the bacillus-ferment found in the stools of cholera-patients. The investigators observed that this bacillus-ferment exhaled an odour exactly similar to that of the stools. Cultivation-fluid, from which the bacilli were removed by using Pasteur's filters, were injected into animals, and serious nervous disturbance resulted, in some instances paralysis.

M. Nicati also sent to the Academy a communication on cholera and cholæmia, in which he expresses a belief that cholera and cholæmia are somewhat analogous in their manifestations. In cholera, biliary salts are present in the blood; in cholæmia, the blood becomes deteriorated, owing to the presence in it of excrementitious substances, which are among the constituent parts of the bile; they accumulate in the blood in certain diseases of the parenchyma of the liver.

M. Germain Sée, in a pamphlet on parasitic and infectious pneumonia, describes its characteristics as analogous to those of epidemics. All the members of a family have in succession been attacked by this form of pneumonia; a whole district has been invaded by it. Friedländer, in Germany, and Talamon, of the Hôtel Dieu, have discovered a special bacillus, which is always present in the pathological growths of this form of pneumonia. Inoculation made with fluid effused in infectious pneumonia provoked, in the animals experimented on, pulmonary inflammation analogous to pneumonia in the human subject. M. Sée considers that cold ought not to be included in the etiology of pneumonia, and that this affection ought to be classed among infectious diseases. As a logical sequence of his theories, M. Sée suggests that the treatment of pneumonia be changed; the administration of antimony and bleeding, he maintains, are irrational. Tonics and suitable diet are all that is necessary. M. Vulpian, in communicating M. Sée's work to the Académie des Sciences, observed that the author's conclusions were the natural results of his theories, but numbers of medical men would dispute their validity.

M. Ricord has taught that two kinds of bubo can appear during the evolution of soft chancre: a non-specific bubo which is inflammatory and sympathetic, and a specific bubo which is virulent and chancrous. M. Strauss, at a recent meeting of the Biological Society, stated that, by a series of researches, he had obtained results diametrically opposed to those of M. Ricord. Pus was removed from forty-two bubos, at three different periods, when nascent, when mature, and when the skin was on the point of breaking. The area of the incision the picric acid process is to add to about 1 drachm of urine an equal volume of a saturated solution of picric acid and half a drachm of liquor potassæ (P.B.). If after boiling this mixture for about 30 seconds, any red colour is visible through the column of liquid in the test-tube, the urine contains less than 2 grains of glucose per ounce; or 2 grains to the ounce aqueous solution of glucose treated in the same manner, results in so dark a liquid that no red colour is transmitted. In estimating the colour which results from boiling undiluted urine with picric acid and potash, any turbidity resulting from precipitated phosphates should be removed by subsidence or by filtration.

As I have elsewhere stated, so constant is the shade of colour when normal urine is boiled with picric acid and potash in the proportions above mentioned, that it might be used as an approximately accurate quarter grain to the ounce standard for making a quantitative analysis of a saccharine liquid.—I am, &c.,

THE CASE OF MR. CASSAN.

SIR,—I enclose copy of a resolution passed by the Lincoln Medical Society at their annual meeting at Lincoln on the 19th instant.

"That the secretary be requested to convey to Mr. Cassan the sympathy of this meeting with him in reference to the late trial at the Lincoln Assizes, and to inform him that a sum of ten pounds was unanimously voted towards defraying his legal expenses."—Yours truly,

W. A. CARLINE, Honorary Secretary.

PUBLIC HEALTH AND POOR-LAW MEDICAL SERVICES.

HEALTH OF ENGLISH TOWNS.—During the week ending the 13th inst., 5,946 births and 3,798 deaths were registered in the twenty-eight large English towns, including London, dealt with in the Registrar-General's weekly returns, which have an estimated population of 3,762,354 persons. The annual rate of mortality per 1,000 persons, living in these towns, which had been 20.9, 23.8 and 24.4, in the three preceding weeks, declined to 22.6 last week. The rates in the several towns, ranged in order from the lowest, were as follow:—Huddersfield, 15.8; Birkenhead, 16.6; Wolverhampton, 16.6; Portsmouth, 16.9; Plymouth, 20.7; Nottingham, 20.8; Bradford, 20.9; London, 21.3; Oldham, 21.3; Sheffield, 21.4; Birmingham, 22.0; Leeds, 22.0; Sunderland, 22.0; Brighton, 22.2; Leicester, 22.4; Halifax, 23.2; Norwich, 23.7; Salford, 24.1; Bristol, 24.5; Derby, 25.0; Liverpool, 25.8; Newcastle-upon-Tyne, 25.9; Manchester, 26.7; Hull, 29.7; Bolton, 30.2; Blackburn, 31.2; Cardiff, 32.4; and Preston, 34.1. The average death-rate last week in the twenty-seven provincial towns was 23.8 per 1,000, and exceeded by 2.5 the rate recorded in London. The 3,798 deaths registered last week in the twenty-eight towns, included 393, which were referred to the principal zymotic diseases, against 396 and 392 in the two preceding weeks; of these, 80 resulted from measles, 75 from whooping-cough, 61 from scarlet fever, 60 from "fever" (principally enteric), 45 from small-pox, 37 from diphtheria, and 35 from diarrhoea. These 393 deaths were equal to an annual rate of 2.3 per 1,000. The zymotic rate in London was equal to 2.2 per 1,000; while, in the twenty-seven provincial towns, it averaged 2.5 per 1,000, and ranged from 0.0 and 0.6 in Birkenhead and in Huddersfield, to 5.0 in Cardiff, 5.7 in Bolton, and 5.8 in Preston. The deaths referred to measles, which had been 83 and 80 in the two preceding weeks, were again so last week, and showed the largest proportional fatality in Cardiff, Leicester, and Bolton. The 75 fatal cases of whooping-cough exceeded by 6 the number in the preceding week; this disease caused the highest death-rate in Preston. The deaths from scarlet fever, which had been 76 in each of the two previous weeks declined to 61 last week, and was proportionally most fatal in Cardiff, Brighton, and Newcastle-upon-Tyne. The 60 fatal cases of "fever," exceeded by 7 the number in the preceding week, and caused the highest rates in Halifax, Cardiff, and Derby. The 37 deaths from diphtheria in the twenty-eight towns, included 27 in London, and 4 in Salford. All the 45 fatal cases of small-pox in the twenty-eight towns were recorded in London; these were, however, exclusive of 24 deaths of London residents which were registered in the Metropolitan Asylum Hospitals situated outside Registration London. The number of small-pox patients in the Metropolitan Asylum Hospitals, which, had increased from 580 to 1027 in the five preceding weeks, were 1011 on Saturday last; the admissions, which, in the three previous weeks had been 149, 228, and 293, declined to 120 last week. The death-rate from diseases of the respiratory organs in London was equal to 5.9 per 1,000, and was considerably below the average. The causes of 106, or 2.8 per cent., of the 3,798 deaths registered last week in these twenty-eight towns were not certified, either by registered medical practitioners or by coroners.

HEALTH OF SCOTCH TOWNS.—In the eight principal Scotch towns, having an estimated population of 1,254,607 persons, 838 births and 768 deaths were registered during the week ending the 13th instant. The annual rate of mortality, which had risen in the four preceding weeks from 22.3 to 31.8 per 1,000, declined last week to 28.3, and exceeded by as much as 5.7 per 1,000 the average rate for the same period in the twenty-eight large English towns. Among these Scotch towns the rate was equal to 17.9 in Greenock, 19.5 in Leith, 21.3 in Perth, 22.3 in Edinburgh, 26.2 in Aberdeen, 32.2 in Dundee, 32.6 in Glasgow, and 36.6 in Paisley. The 684 deaths registered last week in these towns included 109 which were referred to the principal zymotic diseases, against 111 and 140 in the two preceding weeks; of these, 30 resulted from whooping-cough, 27 from measles, 23 from diphtheria, 17 from diarrhoea, 8 from "fever" (principally enteric), 4 from scarlet fever, and not one from small-pox. These 109 deaths were equal to an annual rate of 4.5 per 1,000, which was almost double the average zymotic death-rate in the large English towns. The zymotic death-rates in the Scotch towns ranged from 1.5 and 3.4 in Edinburgh and Perth, to 6.9 in Dundee, and 7.2 in Greenock. The deaths from whooping-cough, which had been 19 and 42 in the two preceding weeks, declined last week to 30, and included 11 in Glasgow, and 4 in Greenock. The 27 fatal cases of measles showed a decline of 7 from the number in the previous week; 13 occurred in Glasgow, and 10 in Dundee. The 23 deaths from diphtheria were within 2 of those recorded in the previous week, and included 11 in Glasgow, and 3 in Dundee. Of the 8 fatal cases of fever, 5 occurred in Glasgow, where all the 4 deaths from scarlet-fever were also returned. The mortality from diseases of the respiratory organs in these Scotch towns considerably exceeded that recorded in the corresponding period of last year, and was equal to 7.9 per 1,000. As many as 92, or 13.5 per cent., of the 684 deaths registered last week in these Scotch towns were uncertified.
