

UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES.

UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE.

NEW VICE-CHANCELLOR.—The Rev. A. Austen Leigh, Provost of King's, was admitted to the Vice-Chancellorship on September 30th. Dr. Peile, on resigning office, referred to the changes of the past academical year, and deplored the straitened circumstances of the scientific departments. The department of pathology in particular suffered much from want of funds, and, unless help should be forthcoming from external sources, much valuable original work, creditable to the University and of gain to science, must be left undone.

BALFOUR STUDENTSHIP.—The Balfour Studentship in Animal Morphology, with £200 a year for three or more years, will be vacant on October 18th. Candidates are to apply, sending evidence of their attainments, to Mr. J. W. Clark, Scroope House, Cambridge, before that date.

EXERCISES FOR M.D.—J. H. C. Dalton, M.A., B.C., Trinity, and F. P. Haviland, B.A., M.B., B.C., Pembroke, have kept the Act required for the degree of M.D.

SULPHATE OF MAGNESIA IN DYSENTERY.—In the Annual Report on the Medical Department, Hong Kong, for the year 1892, Dr. Atkinson relates four cases of dysentery treated by small doses of saturated solution of sulphate of magnesia—1 drachm to the ounce—given hourly till the stools become bilious. He speaks very favourably of the practice; it succeeded in two cases in which ipecacuanha had failed. This treatment is very generally employed by French army surgeons of experience, and appears to be yearly gaining in favour with our own countrymen in India.

PUBLIC HEALTH AND
POOR-LAW MEDICAL SERVICES.

HEALTH OF ENGLISH TOWNS.

IN thirty-three of the largest English towns, including London, 6,232 births and 4,001 deaths were registered during the week ending Saturday, September 30th. The annual rate of mortality in these towns, which had declined from 22.8 to 19.7 per 1,000 in the preceding seven weeks, rose again to 20.2 during the week under notice. The rates in the several towns ranged from 12.3 in Huddersfield, 13.7 in Nottingham, 14.4 in Croydon, and 14.7 in Halifax to 24.6 in Derby, 25.5 in Hull, 25.9 in Liverpool, 26.0 in Preston, and 31.0 in Sunderland. In the thirty-two provincial towns the mean death-rate was 20.3 per 1,000, and slightly exceeded the rate recorded in London, which was 20.1 per 1,000. The 4,001 deaths registered during the week under notice in the thirty-three towns included 759 which were referred to the principal zymotic diseases, against 851 and 774 in the preceding two weeks; of these, 339 resulted from diarrhoea, 124 from diphtheria, 93 from "fever" (principally enteric), 90 from whooping-cough, 76 from scarlet fever, 28 from measles, and 9 from small-pox. These 759 deaths were equal to an annual rate of 3.8 per 1,000; in London the zymotic death-rate was equal to 3.6 per 1,000, while it averaged 4.0 per 1,000 in the thirty-two provincial towns. No fatal case of any of these diseases was recorded in Huddersfield; in the other towns they caused the lowest rates in Halifax, Portsmouth, Plymouth, and Cardiff, and the highest rates in Salford, Bradford, Burnley, Hull, and Sunderland. Measles caused the highest proportional fatality in Norwich; scarlet fever in West Ham, Norwich, and Burnley; whooping-cough in West Ham, Leicester, Derby, Oldham, and Gateshead; "fever" in Leicester, Hull, and Sunderland; and diarrhoea in Bradford, Salford, Hull, Burnley, and Preston. The 124 deaths from diphtheria recorded during the week under notice in the thirty-three towns included 96 in London, 6 in Manchester, 4 in Brighton, and 4 in Croydon. Five fatal cases of small-pox were registered in Bradford, 2 in London, 1 in Birmingham, and 1 in Oldham, but not one in any other of the thirty-three large towns. There were 77 small-pox patients under treatment in the Metropolitan Asylums Hospitals and in the Highgate Small-pox Hospital on Saturday last, against 121, 112 and 91 at the end of the preceding three weeks; 15 new cases were admitted during the week, against 24, 20, and 14 in the preceding three weeks. The number of scarlet fever patients in the Metropolitan Asylums Hospitals and in the London Fever Hospital was 2,815 at the end of the week, against 2,883, 2,899, and 2,849 on the preceding three Saturdays; 311 new cases were admitted during the week, against 315 and 318 in the preceding two weeks. The 231 deaths referred to diseases of the respiratory organs in London were 30 above the average, and were equal to an annual rate of 2.8 per 1,000.

HEALTH OF SCOTCH TOWNS.

DURING the week ending Saturday, September 30th, 867 births and 552 deaths were registered in eight of the principal Scotch towns. The annual rate of mortality, which had declined from 20.8 to 17.3 per 1,000 in the preceding three weeks, rose again to 19.6 during the week under notice, but was 0.6 per 1,000 below the mean rate during the same period in the large English towns. Among these Scotch towns the lowest rates were 11.7 in Leith and 17.3 in Aberdeen, and the highest rates 20.7 in Greenock and 21.0 in Edinburgh. The 552 deaths in these towns included 107 which were referred to the principal zymotic diseases, equal to an annual rate of 3.8 per 1,000, which corresponded with the mean zymotic death-rate during the same period in the large English towns. The highest zymotic death-rates were recorded in Dundee and Greenock. The 264 deaths in Glasgow included 16 from diarrhoea, 11 from whooping-cough, 6 from diphtheria, and 6 from scarlet fever. Four fatal cases of diphtheria were recorded in Edinburgh, and 4 of "fever" in Paisley. The death-rate from diseases of the respiratory organs in these towns was equal to 3.1 per 1,000, against 2.8 in London.

HEALTH OF IRISH TOWNS.

IN sixteen of the principal town districts of Ireland the deaths registered during the week ending Saturday, September 23rd, were equal to an annual rate of 23.8 per 1,000. The lowest rates were recorded in Galway and Sligo, and the highest rates in Waterford and Dundalk. The death-rate from the principal zymotic diseases averaged 4.8 per 1,000. The 161 deaths registered in Dublin were equal to an annual rate of 24.0 per 1,000 (against 21.9 and 28.3 in the preceding two weeks), the rates during the same period being 18.9 in London and 17.8 in Edinburgh. The 161 deaths in Dublin included 31 which were referred to the principal zymotic diseases (equal to an annual rate of 4.6 per 1,000), of which 19 resulted from diarrhoea, 8 from enteric fever, 2 from whooping-cough, 1 from scarlet fever, and 1 from diphtheria.

SUNDAY CLOTHES AND SMALL-POX.

SOME time ago we heard of a country vicar who, on the occurrence of a case of small-pox in his village, thinking to stamp out the disease, bought up the bedding and the blankets, and ordered them to be destroyed. As an after-thought he determined to watch the process, and was much disgusted to find that his improvised sanitary executioner had thought the blankets far too good for their fate, and that, although paid for, they had been plucked from the burning. That was years ago, but the same feeling evidently operates even in advanced communities. From correspondence in the Birmingham papers we gather that, while it is there the custom, when small-pox occurs, to remove all clothing from the house and subject it to a process of disinfection, no compensation is given for the deterioration thereby produced, and that as a result, even in the city of Birmingham, a system very analogous to the country blanket stealing is in vogue. It appears that directly it is discovered that a patient is suffering from small-pox all the best clothes are packed

MEDICAL NEWS.

DR. RUSSELL REYNOLDS, F.R.S., Physician to the Queen's household, has been in attendance at Balmoral during the absence of Dr. James Reid, C.B.

PRACTITIONERS OF THE HEALING ART IN HUNGARY.—According to the most recent statistics there are in Hungary 3,759 medical practitioners, 9,492 midwives, and 697 veterinary surgeons.

THE annual meeting of the Society of German Naturalists and Medical Practitioners will be held next year at Vienna. Professor von Suess, of Vienna, has been chosen President, and Professor von Ziemssen, of Munich, Vice-President.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. C. W. Heaton, Professor of Chemistry at Charing Cross Hospital Medical School. Mr. Heaton was a distinguished chemist. He re-edited and almost rewrote Stöckhardt's textbook, and was concerned in many important investigations of a technico-chemical character.

THE PHARMACEUTICAL SOCIETY OF GREAT BRITAIN.—The School of Pharmacy was opened for the session on October 2nd by a distribution of prizes among the successful students, among whom was a young lady who had taken a silver medal, having done work which was stated to be equal to the best. After the prizes had been presented by Mr. Gowan Cross, Vice-President, Dr. Lauder Brunton, F.R.S., delivered the inaugural address.

SOCIETY FOR THE STUDY OF INEBRIETY.—A general meeting was held in the rooms of the Medical Society of London, on October 3rd, Dr. Norman Kerr, President, in the chair. On the motion of the President, who dwelt on the loss to the Society of their centenarian vice-president, Dr. Wielobycki, who had died aged 100 years and 8 months, seconded by Brigade-Surgeon Pringle, a vote of condolence with Mrs. Wielobycki was agreed to. Dr. F. R. Lees read a philosophical and learned paper on Illogical Fallacies and Assumptions as to the Development of Inebriety, pointing out the physical laws which gave rise to inebriety under certain conditions. After a discussion, taken part in by Brigade-Surgeon Pringle, Surgeon-Major Poole, Drs. H. W. Williams, Douglas Anderson, and Joseph Smith, a vote of thanks was awarded to Dr. Lees.

MR. RICHARD COLDREY.—On Monday last, October 2nd, Mr. Richard Coldrey, Sub-Librarian to the Royal Medical and Chirurgical Society, died at the Great Northern Hospital. Mr. Coldrey had an attack of typhilitis nearly two years ago, with recurrence six months later, when he underwent an operation, performed by Mr. Pearce Gould. After an interval of fair health he again fell ill, and a second operation being decided upon, he was removed to a private room in the Great Northern Hospital. Mr. Macready operated on September 23rd, with good results as far as relief was concerned, but there was extensive suppuration, and on the morning of October 1st Mr. Coldrey's condition became hopeless. Mr. Coldrey, so familiar to several generations at Berners Street, was over 62 years of age, forty-five years having been spent in the service of the Royal Medical and Chirurgical Society. He was a most amiable and zealous official, who will be much missed.

DEATHS IN THE PROFESSION ABROAD.—Among the members of the medical profession in foreign countries who have recently passed away are Dr. Robert Wreden, one of the leading aurists of St. Petersburg, and a member of the editorial committee of the St. Petersburg Military Medical Journal; Dr. Ritter, the oldest medical practitioner in the Duchy of Württemberg, aged 89; Dr. Joubert of Bagnoles-sur-Orne, formerly a member of the French Mekong exploring mission; Dr. Leopold Müller, Staff Surgeon-Major in the German army, who, in conjunction with Dr. Th. E. Hoffmann, founded the Medical Academy of Tokio, where he was sent in 1870, at the request of the Japanese Government, to organise medical education on a Western basis; and Dr. Passavant of Frankfurt-on-the-Main, who from 1850 to 1885 was Surgeon to the Bürger Hospital in that city, and was favourably known for his contributions to surgical and sanitary literature, aged 78.

ST. THOMAS'S HOSPITAL MEDICAL SCHOOL.—The entrance scholarships have been awarded as follows: 1st (of the value of £150) to Mr. Robert Wynn Charles Pierce; 2nd (of the value of £60) to Mr. Harry Edward Hewitt.

CHARING CROSS HOSPITAL MEDICAL SCHOOL.—The Entrance Scholarship of the value of 120 guineas has been awarded to Mr. Harold A. T. Fairbank, and that of the value of 60 guineas to Mr. Stanley W. R. Colyer.

GUY'S HOSPITAL ENTRANCE SCHOLARSHIPS, 1893.—The entrance scholarships have been awarded as follows: Science.—First Scholarship, value £150, Philip Turner, University College, London; Second Scholarship, value £60, George Ernest Richmond, Owens College, Manchester; Certificates, Frederick Edward Walker, Guy's Hospital. Arts.—(1) Medical School: First Scholarship, value £100, Charles Piggott, Bancroft School; Second Scholarship, value £50, Albert Evans Davies, Oswestry Grammar School; Certificates, John Frederick Walker, City of London School; Samuel Dainow, City of London School; Ernest Lewis Lilley, Wyggeston School, Leicester.
