

IRISH MEDICAL SCHOOLS' AND GRADUATES' ASSOCIATION.

THE summer general meeting of this Association was held on Wednesday, July 31st, at King's College. The chair was occupied by the President, Dr. PHILLIPS-CONN, of Reading. There was a large attendance of members, including Sir Thomas Crawford, K.C.B. (Chairman of Council), Mr. W. Thomson (Vice-President R.C.S.I.), Surgeon-Major U. J. Bourke, Drs. E. D. Mapother, Abraham, Arthur H. Benson (Dublin), James Davison (Bournemouth), Richard Fegan, R. Heath (St. Leonard's), Robert O'Callaghan, S. A. K. Strahan, George Stoker, W. H. White, the Honorary Provincial Secretary (Dr. Stewart), and several visitors.

The Honorary Provincial Secretary having given a summary of the past action of the Council in reference to the disabilities of Irish diplomates in connection with honorary appointments in English public hospitals, Mr. THOMSON, V.-P.R.S.C.I., moved, Dr. ABRAHAM seconded, and it was carried unanimously:

That a further effort be made, on the first opportunity, to reduce the number of English public hospitals in which honorary appointments on the staff are restricted to those holding English diplomas.

Mr. ARTHUR BENSON, F.R.C.S.I., proposed, Mr. ROBERT O'CALLAGHAN, F.R.C.S.I., seconded, and it was carried unanimously:

That a special fund (to be called the Hospital Appointments Fund) be raised forthwith to cover expenses connected with the abolition of hospital monopolies.

After several remarks by various speakers, the meeting adjourned.

Nearly £50 was subscribed in the room to the Hospital Appointments Fund.

ROYAL COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS.

THE ordinary quarterly comitia of the College was held on Thursday, July 25th, Sir J. RUSSELL REYNOLDS, Bart., President, in the chair.

The PRESIDENT announced that Dr. Patrick Manson had been appointed Goulstonian Lecturer, Sir Dyce Duckworth Lumsian Lecturer, and Dr. George Oliver Croonian Lecturer for next year, and Dr. Greenfield Croonian Lecturer for 1897. He further announced that Dr. Bradbury's Bradshawe Lecture would be delivered on November 7th, the subject being "On some Vaso-dilators."

Sir HENRY PITMAN moved:

That the best thanks of the College be given to the Pharmacopœia Committee, whose report had been received at the last comitia for their valuable labours.

This was seconded by Dr. LATHAM, and carried with acclamation, and Sir ALFRED GARROD, the Chairman of the Committee, briefly thanked the Fellows for their vote.

Drs. C. S. Jaffé and H. Oppenheimer were admitted Members.

The Licence of the College was granted to 133 gentlemen, of whom all but one had come before the Conjoint Board.

Communications were received from the Royal College of Surgeons reporting certain proceedings of the Council of that body; from the Colonial Office, enclosing a Blue Book on the disease called yaws; from the Local Government Board containing a new order respecting Poor-law dispensers; and from the Rector of Dymchurch thanking the College for its annual gift of three guineas to the schools of the parish.

A letter was read from Mrs. Hunter inviting the College to purchase an armchair formerly belonging to Dr. Ed. Jenner; it was decided not to take any steps in the matter.

On the recommendation of the Council of the College, the Baly Medal was awarded to Dr. W. H. Gaskell, F.R.S.

A report was received from the Council recommending the College to nominate a representative on the Council of the British Institute of Preventive Medicine, but, as it was ascertained that that body had already for the second time taken the initiative and made the nomination, the subject was allowed to drop.

Sir DYCE DUCKWORTH reported the proceedings of the General Medical Council last May, he being the representative of the College in that body.

Dr. POLLOCK brought up a report from the Weber-Parkes Prize Committee, announcing that Dr. Weber had most generously contributed a further sum of £500 to defray the cost of the dies for the medals and for providing a remuneration for the judges, and proposing that the number of judges should be limited to three, and that their remuneration should be ten guineas each. It was announced that the first award would be made in October, 1897, and that the judges would be Drs. Pollock, Thorne Thorne, and Greenfield; details as to the subject chosen will be found in the BRITISH MEDICAL JOURNAL for July 20th, p. 174. The report was unanimously adopted, and a cordial vote of thanks passed to Dr. Weber for his munificent addition to the prize.

Two reports from the Committee of Management, the quarterly reports of the Laboratories Committee, the Finance Committee, and the examiners for the licence, and the annual reports of the Library Committee and the Curators of the Museum, were received and adopted, and thanks were returned to the donors of books during the past quarter.
