

Kilburn from an attack of paralysis on the preceding night. Mr. Greenly was admitted to Membership in 1827. He left Bristol, where he had practised for over half a century, about ten years ago, and migrated to London, where, however, he visited a few patients till he was about 85. Mr. Greenly's mode of life was simple and regular. He was an abstainer for nearly sixty years, and till a few years ago was in the habit of rising every morning at five o'clock to read Greek and Hebrew. His charities were numerous, and his death will be deeply lamented. He has left one son, Mr. Edward Greenly, F.G.S.

MEDICO-LEGAL AND MEDICO-ETHICAL.

HOLIDAY SUBSTITUTE.

AMICUS writes: X. and Y. are good friends. Y. goes away on a trip leaving X. in charge of his patients. A newcomer, Z., is taken ill suddenly, and sends first to Y.—being the nearest assistance—then comes on to X. The following day Z. expresses a desire that X. should retain the case. What is X.'s duty, seeing that Z. has never required any attendance previously in the neighbourhood?

*.* Under the circumstances related we are of opinion that X. should act purely as the locum tenens of the absent Y.

MIDWIFERY SUBSTITUTE.

BALLARAT, VICTORIA.—The following is the rule by which the case of accouchement referred to should in principle be governed: "When a practitioner is called in or otherwise requested to attend at an accouchement for another, and completes the delivery, or is detained for a considerable time, he is entitled by custom—except in the case of illness, etc., provided for by Rule 3—to one-half of the fee; but on the completion of the delivery, or on the arrival of the pre-engaged accoucheur, he should resign the further management of the case. In a case, however, which gives rise to unusual fatigue, anxiety, and responsibility it is right that the accoucheur in attendance should receive the entire fee. (Note.—In either event, when the officiating accoucheur is a stranger or a non-acquaintance of the family doctor, the full fee should be tendered to him.)"—Code of Medical Ethics, chap. ii, sect. 5, Rule 12.

FEES TO MEDICAL WITNESSES.

N. C.—The fees allowable to a medical witness for attending to give evidence in a criminal case are 1 guinea per diem and travelling expenses. No special allowance is made for examinations except in exceptional cases. If no order for payment has been made by the court nothing will probably be allowed.

ACCIDENTS AND THE FAMILY ATTENDANT.

Mr. X. came as a newcomer with his family to a town. After a few months he brought his two sons to Dr. A. for treatment, and after a few consultations they got well. A daughter of Mr. X.'s was also once seen by Dr. A. A couple of months later Mr. X. himself, who had never required treatment, met with an accident, and was carried, unconscious, into the first house, and the nearest doctor, Dr. B., was fetched. Dr. B., without asking the nearest relative if Mr. X. had had any regular doctor, at once took charge of the case, and on Mr. X. reaching his own home has attended him ever since. Dr. A. has received no communication on the subject from Dr. B. Both medical men are on good and friendly terms.

1. Was Dr. A. right in assuming he was Mr. X.'s family doctor, seeing no one else had advised any of its members?

2. Was Dr. B. justified in continuing to attend the case and making no communication with Dr. A.?

*.* There cannot be any reasonable doubt that, under the circumstances specified, the rule referred to by our correspondent in his private note (Code, chap. ii, sec. 5, rule 7) is strictly applicable to an annual rate of 1.32 per 1,000, against an average rate of 1.77 in the corresponding quarters of the ten preceding years. The mortality from diphtheria and from diarrhoea showed a slight excess, while that for each of the other principal zymotic diseases was considerably below the average. Of the 35 fatal cases of small-pox registered last quarter in England and Wales, 4 occurred in Derby, 3 in London, 3 in Liverpool, and 3 in Oldham.

The rate of infant mortality in England and Wales last quarter, or the proportion of deaths under one year of age to registered births, was equal to 129 per 1,000, which corresponded with the mean proportion in the second quarters of the ten preceding years. In London the rate of infant mortality was 131 per 1,000, while it averaged 145 in the thirty-two large provincial towns, among which it ranged from 100 in Croydon, 107 in Huddersfield, and 116 in Nottingham to 171 in Manchester, 177 in Bolton, 178 in Burnley, and 199 in Preston.

The mean temperature of the air during last quarter at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, was 55° 1', and was 2.8° above the average in the corresponding quarters of 124 years; the mean temperature showed an excess of 1.7° in April, 3.5° in May, and 3.1° in June. The rainfall during the quarter amounted to 1.91 inch, and was only about one-third of the average.

MEDICAL NEWS.

BRUSSELS MEDICAL GRADUATES' ASSOCIATION.—The annual meeting and dinner of this Association took place at the Café Royal, Regent Street, on July 29th. Dr. Warburton, of Liverpool, was elected President for the year 1895-96; Dr. S. Sunderland, Vice-President; and Drs. Brookhouse, Burland, Thomas, Hearnden, Gabe, Achard, Snape, Turtle, Naumann, and Wunderlich, members of Council. At the dinner which followed there were present among the guests Sir Walter Foster, Dr. Glover, Mr. John Langton, and other well-known gentlemen. Dr. Snape, in proposing the toast of "The British Medical Association," drew attention to the great desire of many of its members that that Association should undertake a wider circle of duties, more particularly alluding to the question of medical defence. Sir Walter Foster, in replying, said that he sympathised with the wishes of the speaker, but feared there were grave difficulties in the way of carrying out the desired change. He particularly complimented the Brussels graduates on their admirable organisation, and said that personally he was in favour of their being allowed to register their degrees as additional qualifications. Dr. Beresford Ryley, in proposing "The Guests," gave the history of the Brussels Medical Graduates' Association, and of their agitation in 1886 to get their degrees registered, which was so ably assisted by Sir Walter Foster; he trusted that the latter and Dr. Glover would use their best efforts on the Council to get for graduates of Brussels since 1886 the same right granted by the Medical Act of that year to graduates before that date. Dr. Glover, in his reply, expressed a very strong opinion in favour of this registration, but thought that the present inability to register was partly owing to the refusal of the Belgian Government to allow reciprocal advantages to English practitioners in Belgium. Dr. Pocock, in a subsequent toast, pointed out that Dr. Glover was under a little misapprehension as to the objects of the Brussels Medical Graduates' Association; they did not wish that any foreigner should be put on the Register for foreign qualifications—indeed, they would strongly object to it, unless he also held English ones; their contention only was that those who were already on the Register for English qualifications ought to be allowed to register, if they thought fit, any foreign degrees they might have obtained after examination from a State-recognised university. Dr. Glover acknowledged this correction, and thought that the contention of the Brussels graduates was an exceedingly reasonable one.

BRITISH LARYNGOLOGICAL, RHINOLOGICAL, AND OTOLOGICAL ASSOCIATION.—The annual summer meeting was held on July 25th and 26th, Dr. W. McNeill Whistler, President, in the chair. A discussion on the Surgical Treatment of the Accessory

Cavities of the Nose, was opened by Dr. J. N. Mackenzie (Baltimore), who dealt with Empyema of the Antrum of Highmore. He was in accord with Freeman, who opened below the nasal duct, but considered that the opening by an alveolus was required in all but recent cases. Dr. Luc (Paris) dealt with Disease of the Frontal Sinus. His method of operation consists in opening wide by the anterior wall of the sinus, and establishing a free communication with the nose by means of an india-rubber drain. Dr. Bryson Delavan (New York) confined his observations to Ethmoidal Disease; and Dr. F. H. Bosworth (New York) said he favoured the method of gaining access to the cells after removal of the anterior end of the middle turbinal was by the use of a drill. Dr. W. H. Daly (Pittsburg), Dr. Roaldes (New Orleans), Mr. Mayo Collier, and Dr. Dundas Grant continued the discussion. The subject of the treatment of Laryngeal Stenosis was opened by Dr. Sajous (Paris), who dealt with the stenotic conditions of the infraglottic space. A paper on this subject by Professor Massei (Naples) followed. On July 26th Dr. Krause (Berlin) and Dr. Heryng (Warsaw) opened a discussion upon the Surgical Treatment of Laryngeal Tuberculosis, and described their methods of treatment by curettement and the application of lactic acid. Dr. Gleitsmann (New York) stated that he had adopted, with certain slight modifications, the methods originated by Heryng and Krause. Dr. Sims Woodhead introduced a discussion upon the Antitoxin Treatment of Diphtheria, and described his views and experiences as gained from an investigation of 2,000 cases. He supported the treatment not only for diphtheria, but also as a prophylactic against its occurrence in those exposed to infection. Mr. L. Browne, Dr. Macintyre, and Dr. Roaldes closed the discussion. The Society dined at the Langham Hotel on Friday night, and a very successful meeting was then concluded.

HOSPITAL SATURDAY FUND.—A sum of nearly £10,000 has now been received at the central offices of the Hospital Saturday Fund on behalf of the present year's collection. This amount has been derived from collections in the various Metropolitan business houses and workshops, and the ladies' street collection of July 13th. In many of the industrial establishments of London weekly collections will be continued until Christmas.
