THE MEDICAL PROFESSION AND CONTRACT PRACTICE.

EVEESHAM.

MEDICAL union does not seem perfect at Evesham. A Foresters' Court recently decided to reduce the slender fees paid to their medical officer, who resigned in consequence. The cause of the resignation was well known to the local profession, but it is to be regretted that one of them was found willing to accept the lower terms. It is satisfactory, however, to learn that he was the only applicant, and that all the others declined to have anything to do with this Court when they heard of the treatment of the former surgeon.

vulsions 12 to 16 ounces of blood may be taken from the arm. Hemiplegia and coma call for bleeding to the like amount, but the hot-air bath recovered one patient from coma after the attempt to bleed had failed."

I am sending this correction to the press.—Yours faithfully,

ROBERT SAUNDBY.

83A, Edmund Street, Birmingham, Aug. 6th.

MEDICO-LEGAL.

THE CORONER'S COURT.

A. E.—The coroner has a right to call such medical or other witnesses as he may deem necessary, and if the jurors are not satisfied that the cause of death has been sufficiently explained as arising from natural causes, they can adjourn and request the coroner to call further medical evidence, and they can name the medical man they wish called. In the present case it is to be presumed that they were satisfied, as they returned a verdict at the first sitting. Our correspondent has no redress in the matter, but in future cases we would advise him to write direct to the coroner telling him of the circumstances and of his connection with the case, otherwise the coroner may very likely summon the police surgeon or parochial officer, not knowing of any previous attendance by any other practitioner.

CONTRACTS IN RESTRAINT OF PRACTICE.

PRO BONO PUBLICO.—No definite opinion can be expressed on the various questions raised without a consideration of the precise terms of the bond given by the assistant B. to A. It may be that the attendance in an urgent case or cases such as are referred to would not be a breach of the bond, but the question can only be dealt with on a careful perusal of the documents, and with a knowledge of all the facts, and we think it is essentially a case in which B. should consult his solicitor.

DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP.

SUBSCRIBER asks the following questions:

1. The usual course to pursue upon determination of a partnership with regard to the debts owing to the firm?
2. If the remaining partner wishes to take over the book debts, about what proportion should he pay?

* * 1. When a partnership is dissolved it is usual to appoint one of the partners or some third person to collect and get in the debts of the firm.

2. We are not aware that there is any settled rule with regard to the amount of discount which the partner taking over the book debts should be allowed; each case we think would necessarily have to be considered on its merits, for example, the period over which the accounts extend, and the question whether the recovery of any of them may be considered doubtful.

There should be no difficulty in coming to a mutual agreement on such a point.

THE WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT.

CERTIFYING FACTORY SURGEON writes: A manufacturer in my district has a very competent workman who is subject to epileptic fits. He asks me if under these circumstances he can make any special arrangement with him with regard to compensation for any accident that may occur to him as the result of one of those fits.

* * If a manufacturer decides upon retaining in his service a workman whom he knows to be the subject of epileptic fits, he should enter into an agreement with the workman whereby, should an injury be received, say by falling upon machinery in motion during one of the fits and death follow such an accident, the extent of his liability would be known beforehand. Where no such arrangement is made and a fatal accident has occurred, the employer is liable to the extent of full compensation under the Act, since, while epilepsy was the cause of the workman falling upon the machinery, it is the machinery which has caused the injury or the death.

CHARGE OF PROCURING ABORTION.

JOHN LLOYD WHITMARSH, registered as L.S.A.Lond., 1871, and L.R.C.P. Edin., 1872, who was arrested on July 9th on the charge of performing an operation upon a young woman with intent to procure a miscarriage, and whose case has already been referred to in the BRITISH MEDICAL JOURNAL, was on August 5th committed for trial, by the magistrate at the Westminster Police court, at the next Old Bailey Sessions. In this case the coroner's jury also found a verdict that the young woman in question died from the effects of an illegal operation. The coroner pointed out that this was in effect a charge of murder.

THIS distinguished officer died at the age of 81 on July 29th. He entered the service of the Honourable East India Company in the year 1843, and was posted to the Bengal Presidency. He also served in the Punjab campaign, being present at various actions, and was decorated with a second medal at its close. During the Mutiny he held the responsible appointment of Chief Surgeon of the Allahabad Field Hospital, in which he rendered most efficient service. He subsequently filled the office of Garrison Surgeon at Allahabad, and was appointed Medical Storekeeper at Umballa. ## QUERIES.

X.Y.Z. would be glad to know if there are any evening classes in London which would be accepted for the D.P.H. Camb.

T.E.S. asks for advice as to the treatment of leucoderma, which is of four years' standing and gradually increasing in area.

M.H. wishes to know of a convalescent home for gentlewomen in the country or near the sea.

H.H.P.C. would be glad to be informed where a home can be found for an epileptic boy. The parents are in poor circumstances, but would be willing to pay a few shillings weekly.

BARTS will be grateful for particulars of any sanatorium or private home where a lady can undergo the open-air treatment for phthisis. She is in a position to pay any reasonable fee.

J.C. Thinks of sending his two young children, aged 12 and 10 respectively, to Lausanne, Switzerland, and would be glad to be put in communication with any gentleman who knows that place, and would give him some reliable information with regard to sanitary arrangements, etc.

COUNTRY PRACTITIONER asks to be referred to the best and latest literature on puerperal eclampsia.

** Our correspondent might consult:—In English: Clifford Allbutt, Lancet, February 27th, 1897. In other languages: Various writers in Comptes Rendus du Congrès Internationale de Gynécologie et d'Obstétrique, Geneva, 1896. ## THE ELECTION OF CORONERS.

MIDDLE TEMPLE wishes to be informed where he can see a list of the coroners, town and country, and their salaries. Also, he desires information as to the present methods of appointment.

** Until recently there was a list of the coroners of England and Wales, with their districts at the end of Churchill's Medical Directory, but for the last few years it has been omitted; but our correspondent may find the names of the coroners in the Law List. As regards the amount of the salaries, these are not published, except in the Home Office Returns. They vary very considerably, and are usually estimated upon a quinquennial average of the number of inquests held at the rate of £1 6s. 8d. per inquest, with travelling expenses extra.

Since the last Local Government Act the election for all county coroners has been transferred from the freeholders to the County Councils, the election of borough coroners remaining as before in the hands of the Corporation. There are still remaining a few franchise and verge coroners appointed by the Crown, and this applies also to the Duchy of Lancaster.

When a vacancy occurs the appointment is usually advertised, and candidates making application are requested to forward their testimonials by a certain date to the Clerk of the Council or Corporation as the case may be, and it is not unusual now to see at the end of the advertisement the words "all canvassing is prohibited." Medical men possessing also a legal qualification have of late years been selected in the metropolis in preference to others, but like every other appointment in the hands of corporate bodies other considerations may influence the electors in their choice.

ANSWERS.

A. McC.—Our correspondent should apply to the Secretary, Anglo-American Medical Association, 12, Landesgerichtstrasse, Vienna.

"ALETHOLIS" mentioned in the Epitome of the BRITISH MEDICAL JOURNAL of June 18th, par. 499, was a misprint for "alcoholis."

P.—It would be unwise and lacking in ethical dignity to take any opportunity of writing in a public paper to correct such rumours. They should be contradicted verbally whenever opportunity offers.

MEMBER BRIT. MED. ASSOC.—It would be the wiser plan for our correspondent to allow his name to remain still on the old premises, and to make his intentions known through the intermediary of friends.

M. J. O'C.—We are informed that a good arch instep sock can be obtained from Mr. J. H. Montague, 101, New Bond Street, London, W. He also makes a sock with a post between the first and second toes.

G. C. P.—We do not think that our correspondent would be well advised to trust altogether to the indulgence of "local official magnates" in regard to medical practice in France.

NITRAM.—Information as to the conditions under which the M.D. Paris can be obtained will be given in the Educational Number of the BRITISH MEDICAL JOURNAL, which will be issued on August 27th.

Dr. E. J. C.—Either the Deutsche medicinische Wochenschrift or the Berliner klinische Wochenschrift would, we think, meet our correspondent's requirements. The Centralblatt für Bakteriologie concerns itself specially with bacteriology.

E. M.—The following works would probably meet our correspondent's requirements: Hypnotism. By Dr. Albert S. Moll. Walter Scott, Limited, 1897. Hypnotism and its Application to Practical Medicine. By Otto G. Wetter-
