REPORT OF M. TILLAUX (FRENCH JURY) ON THE ORTHOPÆDIC AND PROTHETIC APPARATUS, TRUSSES, ETC., IN THE INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITION, 1867.

WE have been favoured with an early copy of the Jurors' Report on the Orthopædic Apparatus, Artificial Limbs, Trusses, etc., displayed in Paris in the International Exhibition. It confirms very much the opinion which we had previously expressed, that there was very little indeed of valuable novelty in this department. The English exhibitors, with a few exceptions, shine by their absence. M. Tillaux has had to labour under difficulties in making bricks with but little straw; and, if his report is not very instructive or interesting, we must rather admire his ingenuity in filling up lacunæ, than find any sort of fault with him. He commences by referring to the apparatus for treating Pott's disease; but recommends that none of the ingenious apparatus for rectifying, but only those for supporting the parts, should be used, as the deformity is often only the result of the effort made by Nature to cure the child, and in straightening the greatest danger is inflicted on the patient. Speaking of wry neck, a leathern collar by Mathieu, hardened and moulded and lightened by numerous holes, is commended as an ingenious and simple means for keeping the neck completely straight; and as advantageously substituting in almost all cases the more elaborate apparatus known. The Orthopædic Corsets—of which "the English exhibition is almost nothing"—are remarkable for their lightness and elegance, except the armour-plates from Spain. A corset of M. Olgen of Copenhagen, with anterior becoming front, and two of MM. Robert and Coller, are specially praised. The apparatus for club-foot are too complicated, that of M. Werber is more simple than, and as efficacious as, the others. The guêtre of M. Mathieu, without screws, immoveable, exercising an uniform pressure, and not likely to produce gangrene, which those with screws often produce. The only really and essentially novel orthopædic apparatus displayed at the Exhibition, according to M. Tillaux, are those of Dr. Taylor of New York; of these, some are intended to correct vertebral deviations after Pott's disease and scoliosis; others to cure infantile muscular paralysis by the sustained exercise and consequent development of certain muscles and certain groups of muscles. We may add that, in this opinion of M. Tillaux we concur, and shall shortly publish a brief series of papers by Dr. Taylor, giving an illustrated account of these apparatus, which deserve the consideration of surgeons.

The Prosthetic Apparatus include artificial eyes, in which our own makers are really quite unsurpassed, though the reporter has only a good word for M. Boissoneau.

The Exhibition of 1867 is rich in artificial legs and arms; and "England herself, who has not been pleased to exhibit instruments of medical art, is represented here by a distinguished maker, Mr. Masters." M. Tillaux justly observes that there are two different ends served by these limbs; one of perfect imitation and deception; the other of real utility for the ordinary needs of life. The best artificial arms were till lately, from this point of view, objects of luxury, and the hook was more useful for working purposes than the hand, although less sightly. M. de Beaufort has, says the reporter, at last constructed an arm as simple as it is useful. He calls it the poor man's arm; a just title, since it is cheap and capable of assisting the working man. The hand works nearly always as a pair of pincers, the thumb forming the branch, and the four other fingers forming the second branch. M. Beaufort has constructed a hand composed of four immoveable fingers, half-flexed, and of the moveable thumb, placed in opposition to the medius and index. A simple spring in India-rubber adapted to the thumb permits the patient to separate it from or bring it in contact with the other fingers, and the problem of prehension is solved in most complete and simple manner. A Crimean soldier, who had lost both of his arms, was able with the apparatus of M. de Beaufort to play four games of chess without his adversary suspecting the mutilation. The hand is very light, and infinitely cheaper than those hitherto made, and it is useful. When the amputation is complete and only a stump is left at the shoulder, a simple movement of the stump extends the artificial arm, with the palm of the hand presenting upwards, or flexes the forearm, carrying the hand into the prone position. The arm may be fixed at will in the latter (the most useful) position in a very solid manner. M. Tillaux concludes that this is an immense progress in the construction of artificial arms, and leaves really little to desire. In artificial legs, M. Beaufort also, according to the reporter, succeeded beyond others in introducing happy modifications. Remarking that the pilon was the apparatus preferred by patients, he has ingeniously adapted a wooden foot so as to increase largely the surface of support on the ground, and to destroy thus the principal objection to the pilon. Further, and this is a capital point, the inventor has given to the plane surface of the foot, a convex form which permits the patient to raise himself on the stump, at the same time that he bends the leg to make a step by bearing on the fore part of the foot. He simulates thus the normal mode of walking. M. Tillaux also praises highly an articulated artificial leg of the same inventor. Many makers exhibit beautiful apparatus, well-made, capable of deceiving the eye of the observer, but which the patient is happy to abandon for the simple pilon.

SOUTH-EASTERN BRANCH: EAST KENT DISTRICT MEETING.

THE twenty-fifth meeting of this district was held at the Harp Hotel, Dover, on Thursday, September 19th. Eighteen members were present. Mr. OTTAWAY occupied the chair.

After the general business of the meeting,

Mr. RIGDEN read an interesting case of Sudden Death One Hour after Delivery. The patient was the subject of albuminuria and valvular disease of the heart, and was anasarous. The labour was easy and quick, and for an hour after delivery she was in excellent spirits; the pulse was firm and good; there was no vaginal discharge; and the uterus was firmly contracted. Suddenly she exclaimed that she was dying; the pulse became imperceptible; and in half an hour she died. No post mortem examination was permitted. Mr. Rigden pointed out that this was the first case of death so occurring out of four thousand cases of midwifery which he had attended; and that, supposing the forceps or chloroform had been employed, an inquest might have been called for, and much annoyance given to the medical attendant.

Mr. FITZGERALD brought for inspection a case of Atrophy of the Deltoid Muscle in a lad of 12 years of age. At birth, or soon after, he was found to have no use of one side; all other muscles but the deltoid gradually recovered power. A very useful contrivance was exhibited for assisting the various motions of the arm.

Mr. WHITFIELD read a paper "On the better Method of using Stimulants in the cure of Disease." This paper was based upon a clinical lecture addressed by Dr. Wilks to his pupils. Dr. Wilks considers the present method of indiscriminate administering stimulants in the treatment of diseases of low vitality to be most unphilosophical and pernicious, particularly in fever. Mr. Whitfield, agreeing in the main with Dr. Wilks, thought that the mode in which stimulants proved serviceable, had not been sufficiently dwelt upon by Dr. Wilks; and he gave it as his opinion that it was by producing quiet, repose, and sleep; that when these results did not follow, stimulants were hurtful. Mr. Whitfield believes sleep to be the true renovator of the nervous system; and that the chief cause of disease in the present day is the amount of sleep taken being inadequate to the great wear and tear of the nervous system. He pointed out how differently alcohol acts upon different individuals—in one tending to calm and renew strength, and in the other to excite and exhaust the powers: how unreasonable, then, to administer it as a specific for disease. Adverting to the present expectant treatment of rheumatism by some, he attributes recovery to repose and sleep—to the nervous system, in fact, being allowed time to recover the lost ground of overwork and want of sleep.

REPORTS OF SOCIETIES.

OBSTETRICAL SOCIETY OF LONDON.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 2ND, 1867.

JOHN HALL DAVIS, M.D., President, in the Chair.

Dr. J. WYNNE HALL, of Barking Road, Essex, was elected a Fellow.

Mr. SQUIRE observed that at the last meeting of the Society he had understood Dr. Wiltshire to say, that although he had made observations on puerperal temperatures, they had afforded no definite indications, and that therefore he had not given them publicity; but, as Dr. Wiltshire had appealed to them as agreeing with those of Von Grunewaldt and Wunderlich, and therefore disagreeing with his (Mr. Squire's), he wished to explain what the difference was. Von Grunewaldt made the mean temperature just after labour in fifty-two cases to be below 99° Fahr., and then to rise progressively; but he (Mr. Squire) showed that the true temperature was not obtainable in the axilla during and immediately after labour, and that therefore the temporary subsidence of temperature that followed had hitherto been unnoticed. In the sudden rise of temperature for the formation of milk, its subsequent subsidence, the very general return to the normal temperature by the seventh day, even to the effect of a cracked nipple in keeping the temperature high, the results which Mr. Squire had obtained agreed with the observations of Von Grunewaldt, and these observations approached nearer the true temperature than those of Wunderlich.

Dr. WILTSHIRE had adopted the same method as Von Grunewaldt and Wunderlich, and had placed the thermometer in the axilla, whereas Mr. Squire had placed it in the vagina; and that this, probably, might account for the differences to which Mr. Squire alluded.

Specimens. Dr. EASTLAKE exhibited a Drill-Crotchet, designed by himself, to effect delivery in certain forms of parturition. In the cases in which Dr. Eastlake especially recommended its employment, no other instrument is required. It may be otherwise used as a perforator or crotchet. It consists of a hollow metallic cylinder, to one extremity of which is attached a transverse wooden handle, while to the other is fixed a solid steel trocar point. Through an aperture in the centre of the handle connected with the hollow of the tube, is inserted a steel bar, having at the extreme end a rack, which, acting against a cog-wheel, enables a bifid crotchet to be forced out at any desired angle.

The extension of the crotchet, which can be accomplished instantaneously, is effected by pressure on the bar, by means of a button close to the handle, the pressure in this case being downward and towards the handle; while, to close it, the pressure must be downwards and towards the point. The handle being held in the right hand, the trocar point is guided through the vagina by the index and middle fingers of the left hand, until it reaches the fetal head. The trocar point should be then fixed at right angles with the skull, and perforation effected in the usual manner. By this process the cranium can be pierced in a few seconds, and the crotchet then made to act in the manner described. The use of the drill-crotchet is peculiarly applicable; 1. Where the presentation is natural, the foetus dead, and the head within reach. 2. Where the patient is still in the first stage of labour, and the os uteri sufficiently dilated to admit of the introduction of at least two fingers. 3. Where there is an absence of any great disproportion between the fetal head and the canal of the maternal pelvis, and in the case of a hydrocephalic head, without regard to such disproportion. 4. These conditions being present in any case in which immediate delivery is indicated from any cause, such as puerperal convulsions, hæmorrhage, and ruptured uterus, and also in some forms of obstructed labour, due to cancer of the neck of the womb, or obstinate rigidity of the os uteri. Dr. Eastlake also expressed his conviction that this instrument might occasionally be used with success in those cases in which the head of the child has been separated from the body and left in utero, and occasionally, also, as a substitute for Mr. Oldham's vertebral hook.

Dr. GREENHALGH considered the instrument exhibited by Dr. Eastlake well adapted to the class of cases in which he had recommended its use. It appeared to him, however, that being able to place and fix the crotchet at any angle would prove a great advantage.

The PRESIDENT observed that the combination of a perforator and a crotchet, as exhibited in Dr. Eastlake's instrument, might, if modified, be found useful in the minor difficulties of craniotomy deliveries by those operators who were still partial to the use of the crotchet. But, to be safely employed, the crotchet should be rendered less sharp, as there would be—except in the cases of thick skulls—a great probability of its transfixing the cranium, and wounding the operator's fingers. Moreover, the trocar, for safety, required the addition of a cannula to guard its point during its passage to the head.

The PRESIDENT exhibited a large Fibroid Polypus, removed by the single-wire écraseur from the uterus of a lady aged 34, who had had six children in India. It weighed nearly a pound, and was pediculated at its base instead of at its neck to the posterior margin of the os uteri. The neck protruded at the vulva, and the case had been mistaken and treated for descent of the uterus. The disease had existed for about two years; and although it had not occasioned hæmorrhage, it had been attended by pain and troublesome bearing-down sensations, with abundant leucorrhœa, which had enfeebled her health. The patient made a rapid recovery.

Mr. CURGENVEN related two cases of puerperal mania in which the Bromide of Potassium had procured sleep when other medicines had failed, and in which the sleep thus obtained had been followed by a marked subsidence of the mental excitement, and speedy recovery.

Dr. ROUTH described a Case of Triplets. When Dr. Routh first saw the patient, she had been in labour eighteen hours. On examination, the os was found to be completely dilated, the antero-posterior diameter of the brim was shortened by a projection of the promontory of the sacrum, and labour-pains had almost ceased. A moderate-sized child was abstracted by the forceps. A second examination revealed the existence of a second child, and, no pains being present, delivery was again accomplished by the forceps. On further examination, the arm of a third child was found presenting, and its delivery was effected by turning. The placentæ were three, each with a separate cord. The parenchyma of two were united. The children all lived, and the case progressed satisfactorily.

Dr. MADGE described a Case of Spina Bifida with Talipes Varus. Mrs. I., the mother of the child, when a few weeks advanced in her third pregnancy, removed to a new residence, and soon afterwards she met on the stairs a male inmate, of whose presence in the house she was not aware, and who had a crooked spine and club-feet. The sight of this deformed person, who was making struggling efforts on "all fours" to go upstairs, made a great impression on Mrs. I.'s mind; and when the child was born, at the full term, it was found to have spina bifida in the lumbar region and club-feet. When the child was about seven months old, it became suddenly ill, and the tumour became opaque, and its surface mottled as if from the effects of a blow or fall. The child died in a few days. Mrs. I. changed her residence, and has since been twice confined, and the children born have been free from deformity. Dr. Madge would not venture to say that the powerful impression photographed, as it were, on the mother's mind, in this instance, in more genial climes, and many who would probably be soon drawn within its enticements may not have the time to devote to its requirements—still, I feel assured much may be accomplished by the employment of artificial light, I will not say for great enlargements, but for useful results. I would venture to suggest its utility in particular points, which might be printed on cards, explained by a short text, for the use of pupils at various schools, and thus carry further the temporary microscopic examination or diagrammatic illustration, as well as afford a ready means of comparison in this country or abroad.

Soon would such a plan help also those of the general public possessed of microscopes, who, in conjunction with the examination of ordinary slides, may be thus induced to experience for themselves the various articles of food which are so constantly adulterated. Even this may slowly operate as a caution to the guilty, awaken a larger interest in the subject of public hygiene, and bear practically both on the purse and health of the individual.

In America the Government see its value, and arrange for its full application at the Army Medical Department, where, under the hands of Dr. Woodward, we already find it advancing in utility. Let us, therefore, hope it may soon command the position to which it is entitled, and become a link in the vast chain that bounds the great end and aim of science—the welfare of all.

I am, etc., R. L. MADDOX, M.D.

Woolston, Southampton, Oct. 1867.

TREATMENT OF ANCHYLOSIS OF THE HIP-JOINT.

SIR,—Every reader of the JOURNAL must have been interested in the case of anchylosis under Mr. J. D. Hill at the Royal Free Hospital, reported in the last number. The following case, although far less formidable, occurred in my private practice twenty years ago.

A fine young woman, of highly strumous habit, came under my care with psoas abscess on both sides, which terminated on each side with the bursting of the abscess. Her health being well attended to, the wounds healed at length; but there was anchylosis of the left hip, the thigh being fixed at right angles with the trunk, so that she walked with her body in nearly a horizontal position at every alternate step. She had been in this condition about six weeks when she consulted me as to the possibility of restoring her limb to a flexible condition. I placed her on her back on a bed, the legs and thighs extending beyond the foot of the bed. In this position, I seized the perpendicular limb, and, with my whole strength and weight, broke through the adhesions, and brought the thigh into a line with the body. On her first attempt to walk, she fell backwards; but in a few minutes recovered her balance, and, without any other remedy, could walk as well and as uprightly as at any time of her life.

I think this case may confirm the opinion which is evidently gaining ground among us, that a confirmed anchylosis is no credit to the profession.

I am, etc., THOMAS HUNT.

Hinde Street, October 1867.

QUEKETT MICROSCOPICAL CLUB.—The monthly meeting of this Club was held at University College on Friday evening last, Oct. 25th, Mr. A. E. Durham, President, in the chair. Mr. S. J. McIntire read a paper on "Chelifers," in which he gave some interesting facts with regard to the haunts, habits, and mode of capture of these curious animals, resembling minute scorpions and having the backward and sideway motions of crabs. Of the fifty-four known species eight are British, and are chiefly found under the bark of trees, and in houses amongst old papers, etc., often rendering good service by feeding on the insects which are usually so destructive in old libraries. Several living specimens were exhibited under the microscopes, where their activity in the pursuit of their prey was conspicuous. A paper by Mr. C. Nicolson, M.A., on "Object-glasses for the Microscope" was read. Nine members were elected.

THE NEW ST. PANCRAS INFIRMARY.—The Poor-law Board having sanctioned the purchase by the St. Pancras guardians of four acres and a half of land at Highgate on which to build an infirmary for the sick poor in the workhouse, a number of the guardians purpose visiting the infirmaries at Manchester and other places in the provinces in order to obtain information as to the plans, working, and other matters connected with such institutions. It is proposed that £20,000 or £25,000 should be spent upon the building, and a limited number of architects are to be invited to send in plans for competition; but, as the tenders of builders for such works often far exceed the estimate of the architects, it is proposed that it shall be a condition with the architect that he shall make no claim upon the guardians if he cannot find a respectable builder to carry out the works at the sum he estimates them to cost.

MEDICAL NEWS.

A WORKHOUSE PHILANTHROPIST.

THE bread supplied from the Cheltenham workhouse, being recently examined by Mr. Horsley, county magistrate, he pronounced it coarse in quality, of a bad musty smell, and adulterated with alum. The baker thereupon wrote to the guardians and at once admitted that the bread on that occasion [it was little better on the next occasion] "was not the quality I should have wished to have sent—a circumstance that I extremely regret. It is the remotest idea, and I assure you never entered my breast, to place before the poor articles which were not pure and wholesome, considering, as I do, that their wants ought to consist of articles of a wholesome nature." Here is a philanthropist!

DEATH.

THOMAS. On October 25th, Richard Thomas, M.R.C.S.E., of Westbury Mount, Menai Bridge, aged 41.

THE RADCLIFFE INFIRMARY.—At a meeting of the Governors of this institution on the 24th inst., a letter was read from a lady residing at Leamington, stating that a sum of £1000 had been placed in her hands towards founding a hospital in connection with the Radcliffe Infirmary, to be called St. John the Evangelist's Hospital for Incurables. The subject was referred to a select committee, to report to the general meeting.

THE PAIN-KILLER.—We gave last week a verbatim extract from a daily paper relating to an inquest held on a man who had died subsequently to taking some of this compound. We are informed, however, that the report omitted to state some important particulars. It appears that the deceased was a man of very intemperate habits, especially during the months preceding his death; that he had, before the occurrence of his death, drank largely of raw spirit, and was in great pain previous to retiring to rest. The pain-killer is stated to contain "nothing poisonous, except to a diseased imagination." As the notice which we quoted stated, the death was attributed by the surgeon and by the jury to disease of the heart.

THE CAUSE OF SCURVY.—The general view that scurvy is produced by an excess of common salt in the blood, occasioned by a diet of salted meat exclusively, has received some confirmation, says the London Review, in the experiments lately conducted by M. Prussak of St. Petersburg. M. Prussak placed the web of a frog's foot under the microscope, so as to observe the passage of the blood through the smallest blood-vessels. He then injected a solution of salt beneath the frog's skin, and watched the effect on the vessels. He perceived that the blood-corpuscles distended the vessels, and gave rise to the patches of dark-coloured extravasations, extremely like the peculiar livid blotches seen on the skin of scorbutic patients. Experiments on dogs and other animals appeared to give the same results. It now remains to be shown why common salt should possess this peculiar action on the blood-vessels. Most probably the explanation will be found in the excessive osmosis which occurs owing to the increased density of the blood.

NOTICES TO CORRESPONDENTS.

All Letters and Communications for the JOURNAL, to be addressed to the EDITOR, 37, Great Queen Street, Lincoln's Inn Fields, W.C.

CORRESPONDENTS not answered are requested to look to the Notices to Correspondents of the following week.

Communications as to the transmission of the JOURNAL should be sent to Mr. RICHARDS, 37, Great Queen Street, W.C.

TO PURCHASERS.—To insure attention, it is requested that all orders sent to the Office for extra copies of the JOURNAL, be accompanied with stamps for the amount.

CORRESPONDENTS, who wish notice to be taken of their communications, should authenticate them with their names—of course, not necessarily for publication.

DR. COPEMAN.—The paper was duly received, and should have been acknowledged.

DR. BARCLAY'S letter arrived too late for publication. It shall appear next week.

AN ACT OF MISAPPROPRIATION.

THE Lancet published last week, in contravention of the regulations of our Association, a paper on Lithotripsy, read at the Annual Meeting, of which it has received the MS. This breach of faith and honour is the more inexcusable, that we have given the Lancet the utmost facilities for reporting the proceedings and publishing the addresses and papers read at the Annual Meeting, in accordance with the rules. It is fully aware that the papers read at the meetings are, as was decided during the holding of the general meeting in London in 1862, when the question was for the first time raised and definitely settled, the property of the Association, for the purpose of publication in the JOURNAL; just as papers read at the Royal Medical and Chirurgical Society are, if thought desirable, retained for publication in the Proceedings and Transactions of that Society. The Lancet has this year hitherto applied for and received from us the proofs of the Addresses, etc., which we have been at pains to furnish. The obvious scientific famine under which our contemporary has for some time suffered, may have been an incentive to, but certainly affords no excuse for, so flagrant an act of dishonesty. We are at all times willing to furnish it with duplicate proofs; but it cannot be permitted to appropriate manuscript. In claiming the courtesies of the Association, it gives an undertaking to abide by its rules, which are at once equitable and generous. We regret to have to notice so obvious and flagrant a departure from all the rules of propriety, which no amount of distress for readable papers can justify. We trust this will not occur again.

ERRATUM.—Mr. Filmer Kidston's address is Liverpool Street, not Liverpool.

OWING to the pressure on our space from the publication in this number of the annual list of members—of which the prosperous bulkiness draws by far more heavily this time upon our pages than on any previous occasion—we are compelled to omit the publication of an Analysis of the Report of the Naval Medical Department—A Report on the Curragh, its Barracks and Hospitals—the Hospital Record—with editorial articles, letters, etc.

A METROPOLITAN TEACHER.—The first primary examination at the Royal College of Surgeons for the present session, commences this day (Saturday).

DR. BYRNE.—The JOURNAL was already made up when the proof with corrections came to hand (Thursday afternoon). We shall be happy to publish the supplemental observation separately.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS.—Advertisements should be forwarded direct to the Printing-Office, 37, Great Queen Street, W.C., addressed to Mr. Richards, not later than Thursday, twelve o'clock.

THE BRISTOL, CLIFTON, AND BEDMINSTER UNIONS.

THE "Sunday Gazette," "The Daily Telegraph," "The Standard," and other daily papers, comment forcibly upon the report in the last number of the JOURNAL on these workhouses. Some inquiry and amendment must of necessity follow.

ERRATA.—In the Report on the Workhouses of Bristol, Clifton, and Bedminster, page 374, col. i, lines 9 and 10 from bottom, for "The nursing is performed by pauper nurses, one for the male, the other for the female department," read "The nursing is performed by pauper nurses, one to every ward, superintended by two paid nurses, one for the male, the other for the female department."—At page 374, col. ii, line 8 from end of report, for "two medical officers," read "the medical officer."—At page 374, col. i, line 22 from bottom, for "the only basin in the wards," read "the only basin in the ward."

DR. JAMES LITTLE (Dublin) shall receive a private letter when we have inquired into the matter.

We are indebted to correspondents for the following periodicals, containing news and other matters of medical interest:—The Daily Bristol Times; The Yorkshire Post; The Dufferline Saturday Press; The Cheltenham Chronicle; The Cheltenham Express; The Sunday Gazette; The Freeman.

PROVINCIAL WORKHOUSE INFIRMARIES.

SIR,—A Bristol correspondent in your JOURNAL of October 26th, takes exception to my statement of the accommodation, etc., of the Clifton Union Workhouse, and supposes that I refer to the Bristol Workhouse.

I beg to say that I refer to nothing of the sort, and that the statement in question is correct, if the best authorities are to be believed. The Clifton Union Workhouse is for 1180 inmates. (See "Shaw's Union Officers and Local Boards of Health Manual"—a publication authorised by the Poor-Law Board.) What number of inmates it contains at the present time, is, of course, totally out of my power to say; the above is the estimated accommodation. The salary of the medical officer is £70; at all events, the increase must have been very recent. My authority is the Medical Directory for 1866. Even supposing the fact of this increase to be correctly stated, what shall we say of such a salary for such an appointment?—£100 per annum for the medical charge of a workhouse containing 730 inmates!

I am, etc.,

A COUNTRY ASSOCIATE AND POOR-LAW MEDICAL OFFICER.
