UNIVERSITY OF LONDON

In a report on the work of the University of London the Acting Principal, Mr. Harold Cloughton, states that the medical students in 1940-1 were nearly 90% of the number for 1938-9, whereas non-medical students were only 56%. The proportion of men to women in the medical schools is 90%, again contrasting with the non-medical schools, in which the sexes now are about equal. The dispersal of medical schools, with the clinical students distributed throughout sector hospitals in the Greater London area, has had its compensations in the more varied experience of the students and their greater opportunity for practical clinical work. Reference is made to the offer of the Rockefeller Foundation, made to Universities of the United Kingdom in general, of a number of studentships to permit students to follow a two-year course in medical schools in the United States and Canada. Six London students have been awarded such studentships, and, to avoid a technical interruption of their courses of study, the schools to which they have been sent have been recognized by the University for the purposes of the M.B., B.S. examination. The chair in radiology at Middlesex Hospital Medical School, which was instituted twenty years ago but to which no one has ever been appointed, is now to be filled. Regret is expressed at the postponement, owing to the war, of many university developments. This year four great buildings would have been opened, including the ceremonial hall.

ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS OF ENGLAND

At a meeting of Council on June 11, with Sir Alfred Webb-Johnson, President, in the chair, the award of the Blane Medal to Surgeon Commander E. R. P. Williams, R.N., for his original work "A Hunterian Lecture on Blast Effects in Warfare" was announced. A report was made of the election as Hunterian Trustees of Lord Moyne, Sir Cuthbert Wallace, and Sir Hugh Lett. Surgeon Rear-Admiral C. P. G. Wakeley was appointed representative of the College on the Court of the University of Bristol and Mr. Ernest Finch was appointed representative on the Court of Governors of the University of Sheffield. The Hallett Prize, granted on the result of the Primary Examination for the Fellowship, was awarded to Miss Margaret Ruth Taylor of Manchester University. Examiners were elected for the ensuing year.

Diplomas of Fellowship were granted to the following candidates: S. G. French, G. N. St. J. Hallett, H. N. G. Hudson, A. J. Wilson, H. A. C. Chalmers, A. N. Guthkelch, T. W. Rowntree, J. H. Hicks, J. M. Fitton, W. I. Cawkwell, M. Gamal-el-Din, C. R. Salsbury, A. B. Watson, S. C. Williams.

Diplomas of Membership were granted to Janet W. Shrimpton and F. R. Wilde.

Diplomas in Anaesthetics were granted, jointly with the Royal College of Physicians of London, to the following candidates: Helen M. B. Alcock, R. E. Angel, T. H. Baillie, E. J. W. Barnard, J. R. J. Beddard, Stella G. Braithwaite, T. R. M. Bristow, A. Coleman, Florence K. Costello, J. P. Cuddigan, J. H. Dixon, J. D. Ebsworth, Phyllis M. Edwards, A. J. Evans, Mita Fröst, Edith Gilchrist, G. P. Goodwin, J. R. Hindmarsh, A. R. Hunter, Jean E. W. Inglis, Edith S. M. Merry, R. E. J. Pembrey, S. F. Polley, Norah K. Priestley, H. J. Richards, G. K. T. Roche, G. F. Smith, A. E. Ward, F. W. Widdlake, Gertrude A. Willis.

The Services

The A.F.C. has been awarded to Air Commodore P. C. Livingston, O.B.E., Acting Wing Commander R. H. Winfield, and Acting Squadron Leader E. B. Bright, R.A.F.

The Efficiency Decoration of the Territorial Army has been awarded to Lieut.-Col. G. P. Crowden, Major (Temp. Lieut.-Col.) D. L. Kerr, and Major C. E. Fenton, R.A.M.C., T.A.

The name of Acting Col. C. V. Thornton, M.C., R.A.M.C. (Reserve of Officers), attached to the Southern Rhodesia Medical Corps, has been mentioned in recognition of gallant and distinguished services in the Middle East.

The following officers have been mentioned in dispatches by Air Officers Commanding-in-Chief: Acting Group Capt. J. G. Russell, R.A.F.; Wing Commander D. H. Brinton, R.A.F.V.R., and Wing Commander J. H. Williams, A.A.F.; Squadron Leader C. W. S. Marris, R.A.F., and Acting Squadron Leaders F. R. Buckler, R. Carpenter, D. A. Davies, D. C. Farquharson, G. R. Gunn, S.-J. Hadfield, and D. St. C. L. Henderson, R.A.F.V.R.; and Flight Lieut. J. N. Loring, R.A.F.V.R.

The King has approved the award of the George Medal to Acting Squadron Leader Robert Hill, R.A.F.V.R., Acting Flight Lieut. E. L. Williams, Leading Aircraftman C. J. Boorman, and Leading Aircraftman H. Sumray. The citation in a Supplement to the London Gazette dated June 8 reads as follows:

"One night in March, 1942, two aircraft, carrying bombs, collided on an aerodrome in Malta and burst into flames. Squadron Leader Hill (the station medical officer), Flight Lieut. Williams, and Leading Aircraftmen Boorman and Sumray immediately proceeded to the scene. Shortly afterwards the bombs began to explode and enemy aircraft began to bomb the area. Despite the great danger, Squadron Leader Hill, assisted by Flight Lieut. Williams and the two airmen, successfully extricated four members of the crews from the wreckage. The prompt and gallant action of these officers and airmen undoubtedly saved the four lives. Squadron Leader Hill has invariably performed exemplary work in dealing with casualties during heavy bombing raids, and both he and Flight Lieut. Williams have set a magnificent example which has done much to maintain a high standard of morale on the station. The bravery shown by Leading Aircraftmen Boorman and Sumray has been an inspiration to others."

CASUALTIES IN THE MEDICAL SERVICES

Surg. Capt. ALGERNON EDGAR PERCY CHEESMAN, R.N., who is included as killed in an Admiralty Casualty List published on June 10, received his professional education at Guy's Hospital and qualified M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P. in 1909. He held a house appointment at Leicester Infirmary before entering the Royal Navy as surg. lieut. in 1910. He was promoted surg. lieut.-cmdr. in 1921, surg. cmdr. in 1923, and was placed on the retired list in March, 1941, with the rank of surg. capt., but was re-employed for service during the present war. He had been a member of the B.M.A. since 1931.

Surg. Cmdr. DOUGLAS ARNOLD NEWBERY, R.N., who was reported missing in Dec., 1941, is now presumed to have been killed in H.M.S. Repulse on Dec. 10, 1941. He received his professional education at Guy's Hospital, qualified M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P. in 1926, and immediately entered the Royal Navy as surg. lieut., being promoted surg. lieut.-cmdr. in 1932 and surg. cmdr. in 1938. In Sept., 1926, he was appointed to the flotilla leader Keppel, for duty with the destroyers of the 3rd Flotilla; in 1929 he joined H.M.S. Iron Duke; and from 1930 to 1933 he was stationed at Gibraltar Dockyard. After further service afloat in H.M.S. Renown and H.M.S. Terror he was employed at Haslar Hospital from 1934 to 1937, when he was appointed to H.M.S. Sussex. He leaves a widow. He had been a member of the B.M.A. for 10 years.

Surg. Cmdr. THOMAS CLOVER LARKWORTHY, R.N.V.R., who is now officially presumed killed in H.M.S. Neptune, was 38 years of age, the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Larkworthy. He graduated B.A. at Cambridge in 1924 and qualified M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P. in 1928, proceeding M.A. in the same year, also taking the B.Chir. degree in 1932 and the M.B. in 1937. He had been house-physician at the Brompton Hospital, resident obstetrical assistant, house-surgeon, house-physician, and casualty officer at St. George's Hospital, and clinical assistant at the Hospital for Women, Soho Square. At the outbreak of war he was senior clinical assistant at Brompton, and clinical assistant at the Victoria Hospital for Children and the infant welfare department of St. George's. He entered the R.N.V.R. before the war and in Sept., 1939, held the rank of surg. lieut.-

cmdr., being called up for service in December of that year. On Jan. 1, 1941, he was promoted to acting surg. cmdr. and was mentioned in dispatches. He leaves a widow.

Surg. Lieut.-Cmdr. HAROLD THEODORE LOGAN BROADWAY, R.N.V.R., is posted as missing, presumed killed in an Admiralty Casualty List published on June 24. He received his professional education at St. Thomas's Hospital, qualified M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P. in 1932, and then held the house post at the Royal Victoria and West Hants Hospital, Boscombe. He had been in practice in Dorchester since 1932, in partnership with Dr. T. B. Broadway, and was honorary anaesthetist to the Dorset County Hospital. He entered the R.N.V.R. as temp. prob. surg. lieut. soon after the outbreak of war and was reported missing in the Journal of March 21. He had been a member of the B.M.A. since qualification.

Surg. Lieut. JOHN WENLOCK ASHLEY, R.N.V.R., the elder son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Ashley of Tenbury, Worcestershire, is reported missing, presumed killed on active service last month. He was born on Sept. 27, 1914, and was educated at the University of Oxford, where he graduated B.M., B.Ch. in 1939. He entered the R.N.V.R. soon after the outbreak of war and was injured while serving in a destroyer in 1940. He had also seen service in H.M.S. Hermione.

Surg. Lieut. JAMES FREDERICK NEWMAN, R.N.V.R., who was reported missing in the Journal of Sept. 21, 1940, is now presumed to have been killed on active service when his ship, H.M.S. Esk, was sunk in the North Sea by enemy action in Sept., 1940. He was born on May 1, 1914, and was educated at Wycliffe College and the University of Birmingham, where he graduated M.B., Ch.B. in 1938. He had held house posts at the Staffordshire General Infirmary. In March, 1939, he entered the Supplementary Reserve of the R.N.V.R., and when war broke out he was mobilized with the rank of temp. surg. lieut., and saw service at the first Battle of Narvik and at the Dunkirk evacuation. He leaves a widow, Dr. Joan J. Newman, who is a member of the medical profession and who was his fellow student.

Wounded or Injured.—Prob. Temp. Surg. Lieut. R. P. M. Miles, R.N.V.R.

Missing.—Squadron Leader J. A. MacCarthy, R.A.F., Capt. C. Rigby, R.A.M.C., Lieut. E. Snell, R.A.M.C.

Prisoners of War.—Lieut. G. D. Cribb, R.A.M.C., Lieut. H. Rosenberg, R.A.M.C.

Medical Notes in Parliament

Health and Training of Youth

On June 16 the House of Commons considered the education estimates. Mr. BUTLER, President of the Board of Education, said that there was a substantial rise in the expenditure on education this year due, in part, to increased provision for meals and milk. The sum set aside for the youth service had also increased from £136,000 to £250,000. Over 700,000 children now took their midday meals at school. Last year 1,733 proposals providing for 240,000 children were approved, and from January to May of this year the number sanctioned was 3,642, providing for over half a million children. He saw no reason now why the target already mentioned of one million meals a day for children should not be reached by the end of the summer. He had consulted his medical advisers before making the statement that he believed the health of the children—largely thanks to these proposals and to the fact that some 3,250,000 children were now getting milk at school—had positively improved and that in wartime. It had been decided to extend to all schools the benefits of the milk-in-schools scheme, now confined to grant-aided schools. The result would be that all school children would be able to get milk for drinking at the price of  $\frac{1}{4}$ d. per one-third of a pint.

With regard to the school medical and dental services, the volume of treatment given to school children in 1941 was almost as great as in 1940 and the years immediately preceding the war. That was not to say that everything was all right. The loss of doctors to the Services had been very severe, but the Board was doing its best to meet the situation. The Board had stimulated the formation of new nursery classes and play centres to look after the children of women engaged in war work, and for this purpose a new department had been established in Kingsway. He was determined that the educational value of the wartime nurseries should find full scope. Perhaps a more direct contribution by the schools to the war effort was the steady flow of qualified recruits for the Services which came from the secondary schools. The technical colleges all over the country had been given over very largely to the training of expert personnel for the Services.

Youth Advisory Council

Referring to the youth service, he said that every authority for higher education now had a youth committee and a substantial number of local organizers had been appointed. To help in the growth and expansion of the movement, he had felt the need for some closer contact with those connected with the actual work, and he proposed accordingly to appoint a Youth Advisory Council. This council was the first attempt to include in one body many types working among our youth—administrators, members of youth committees, and younger people engaged in this work, whether in voluntary or pre-Service organizations. One member was a chairman of a Juvenile Court, and there would be those who could speak with knowledge of the employer's and employee's point of view. The chairman would be Mr. Wolfenden, headmaster of Uppingham. The great mass of children broke off their education suddenly at about the age of 14, Parliament voted millions in the estimates, and then ceased to exercise a continued care and supervision over adolescents. This loss would not be obviated merely by raising the age for full-time schooling to 15 or even to 16, though we should take the former step when we got the chance. The new registration scheme had already recognized that up to at least 18 young people should be regarded as still falling within the province of the education service. He hoped the Youth Advisory Council would be an advance along the road to a more integrated national service for youth. To do what was right by the health and the welfare of the young people not only was continued supervision necessary, but the young people must be treated as learners and not simply as earners in their first years in employment. In the interests of youth, as well as out of consideration for our future industrial and commercial welfare, the time had come to review the whole system of industrial and commercial training, including the apprenticeship systems.

After debate, the discussion on the estimates was adjourned.

Committee on Child Welfare

Mr. ERNEST BROWN told Miss Rathbone on June 11 that an advisory committee on the welfare of young children had been constituted. He would act as chairman, with Miss Horsbrugh as vice-chairman. The committee would advise him on any question affecting the welfare of expectant and nursing mothers and of children under 5 which are referred to it. It would do most of its detailed work through subcommittees appointed for the investigation of particular problems. The medical members of the Committee are Dr. Ethel Cassie, Dr. Letitia Fairfield, Dr. Dennis Geffen, Dr. William S. Macdonald, Dr. Alan Moncrieff, Dr. Annie Rowlands, Dr. Charles M. Smith, Mr. Arnold Walker, and Dr. Edith Williamson.

Period of Clinical Studies

On June 11 Sir E. GRAHAM-LITTLE asked Mr. Brown to address simultaneously and in the same terms his request, now sanctioned by the General Medical Council, to all the medical licensing bodies in Great Britain so as to avoid the inequality of sacrifice which must result from sporadic action on the part of individual licensing bodies. Mr. BROWN said the General Medical Council had communicated on this question with all licensing bodies and examining boards in Great Britain and Northern Ireland.

Psychoneuroses and Pensions

Replying on June 11 to Lieut.-Comdr. Hutchison, Sir WALTER WOMERSLEY said the grant of pension for any disability, including psychoneurosis, depended on whether the condition was accepted as attributable to or materially aggravated by service. It could not be assumed that a disability could be so accepted simply because it led to discharge from the Service. The question must be determined in each case in the light of the nature of the disability and the service and medical history of the claimant. Provision was made by the Ministry of Pensions for the treatment in special neurological centres under the E.M.S. of men discharged from the Services suffering from a condition of neurosis, provided they were likely to benefit by such treatment. This treatment was granted whether the condition was accepted by the Ministry or not.

Maternity Beds in Scotland

On June 16 Mr. JOHNSTON told Dr. Summerskill that 42 of the 55 Scottish local authorities with power to provide maternity beds had done so either in special maternity hospitals, of which there were 22 with 555 beds, or in general hospitals,
