

Dr. MABEL CATHARINE POULTER, who died on July 31 at the age of 89, was for many years a medical missionary in China and India. She was born on October 30, 1863, and was educated at Queen Margaret College, Glasgow, and at Glasgow University, where she graduated M.B., Ch.B. in 1898. In the following year she began her work at Hok-chiang (now Futsing), in the Fukien province of China. Futsing is a small city some sixty miles south of Foochow, and when Dr. Poulter arrived there the local people were very distrustful of foreigners and she had an uphill task. At the China Medical Conference in 1915 Dr. Poulter read a paper outlining her obstetric experiences in Futsing. When she first went to China she found the methods used to assist a birth crude in the extreme and dangerous to the health of mother and child. It was not until 1902 that women were persuaded to enter the hospital at Futsing for confinement, and then only four responded to the invitation. But the annual intake increased gradually until in 1913 the number of hospital confinements was 247. In 1921 the medical mission at Futsing was handed over to the American Methodist Episcopal Mission, and it was with great regret that Dr. Poulter relinquished her work there. In twenty-three years she had built up an excellent hospital, putting to the best possible use such equipment as she could obtain and using her ingenuity to devise gadgets in place of equipment which could not be provided. The handicaps she overcame would have seemed insuperable to most people, but Dr. Poulter had a vigorous and vital personality and would never have thought of giving in. She was a fine teacher and did great work in making the nursing profession acceptable to the girls and women of China. On leaving Futsing she returned to England for a time, but in 1925 she went out to India, working first at the Church of England Zenana Hospital at Bangalore. She continued to work at a number of hospitals in various parts of India until 1934, when she retired from active medical practice.

The death on August 10, after a short illness, of Dr. F. W. MORTON PALMER at the age of 76 removes one of the older generations who, despite his modesty and instinct for self-effacement, had exercised no little influence in both medical and lay circles in Devonshire. He inherited a medical tradition extending over a quite exceptional number of generations, the medical members of which all looked to Guy's Hospital as their alma mater, and he naturally took the same direction, via Merchant Taylors' School and Jesus College, Cambridge, to both of which he won scholarships. But before beginning his medical studies he took an honours degree in mathematics, being 36th wrangler in 1899. At school he had "sat at the same desk" in mathematics with his friend James Jeans (later Sir James Jeans, the astrophysicist), and they entered Cambridge together, pursuing the same subject. Morton Palmer then turned to the study of medicine and took the Cambridge M.B., B.Chir. degrees in 1905, proceeding to the M.D. in 1909. After graduating in medicine, he held the appointments of house-physician and ophthalmic house-surgeon at Guy's Hospital and clinical assistant to out-patients at the Evelina Hospital for Sick Children. In 1905 he was the editor of Guy's Hospital Gazette. He settled in general practice at Teignmouth in 1907 and remained there for thirty years, becoming a leading figure in the life of the town. His work there was interrupted by service as a captain in the R.A.M.C. with No. 1 Casualty Clearing Station in the first world war. In 1937 he retired to live at Totnes and thus became free to pursue intensively his work in the Order of St. John, which he had taken up twenty years previously. From 1939 to 1945 he was the county casualty officer for civil defence; he then organized the hospital car service for Devon, and in 1947 he became county commissioner of the St. John Ambulance Brigade. His services were recognized officially in 1952, when he was promoted to Knight of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem. He was an honorary life member of both the British Red Cross Society and the St. John Ambulance Association. In addition, he gave valuable, unremitting service for many years on a number of committees, such as the board of the Royal Devon and Exeter Hospital, to which he was nominated by the Exeter Division of the British Medical Association, and later on the management committee of the Royal Western Counties Institution. He was chairman of the house committee of Totnes Hospital at the time of his death, which took place in the hospital. Morton Palmer was an active member of the B.M.A. He was chairman of the Exeter Division in 1930-1; in 1937 he was elected president of the South-western Branch; and from 1941 to 1950 he was chairman of the Torquay Division. He also represented his Division at the Annual Representative Meeting in 1942. The Torquay Medical Society, too, valued his services, and for a time he was its president. In all these activities he was recognized by all with whom he came in contact as the wise counsellor, possessing as he did exceptional clarity of mind and unhurried judgment; and his remarks, though always brief and quiet, in revealing those qualities necessarily carried weight. In private life he was a Fellow of the Society of Antiquaries and a prominent authority on church architecture. His wife died in 1937, just after his retirement from general practice, and he leaves a son, Dr. B. C. Morton Palmer, who is in practice at Copthorne, Sussex, and a daughter, who was closely associated with him as assistant in all his work and to whom, therefore, in particular the deep sympathy of all must go out.—F. A name in the list of recipients of the Diploma in Laryngology and Otology printed in the Journal of August 15 (p. 400) was misspelt: S. Sytcha should read S. Sychta.

INFECTIOUS DISEASES AND VITAL STATISTICS

Summary for British Isles for week ending August 8 (No. 31) and corresponding week 1952.

Figures of cases are for the countries shown and London administrative county. Figures of deaths and births are for the 160 great towns in England and Wales (London included), London administrative county, the 17 principal towns in Scotland, the 10 principal towns in Northern Ireland, and the 14 principal towns in Eire.

A blank space denotes disease not notifiable or no return available. The table is based on information supplied by the Registrars-General of England and Wales, Scotland, N. Ireland, and Eire, the Ministry of Health and Local Government of N. Ireland, and the Department of Health of Eire.

Medical News

Supply of Cortisone and A.C.T.H. to Hospitals.—The Ministry of Health has informed certain hospitals in England and Wales of forthcoming changes in the scheme of distribution made possible by improved supplies of cortisone and corticotropin (A.C.T.H.). A substantial part of the additional amounts of these hormones which will become available from the beginning of September is to be reserved for patients suffering from diseases in which these hormones may prolong life. Conditions so far included in this "obligatory maintenance" category are: adrenal deficiency (Addison's disease, post-adrenalectomy state, etc.); pituitary deficiency (Simmonds's disease, etc.); lupus erythematosus (systemic forms); polyarteritis nodosa; pemphigus; exfoliative dermatitis; and sarcoidosis. Supplies of cortisone and corticotropin for the treatment of patients suffering from the above conditions will be available only through the hospitals which receive regular monthly allocations, and inquiries should be addressed to these hospitals. The hormones cannot be sent either direct to doctors or to hospitals not included in the Ministry's list.

Memoirs on Endocrinological Subjects.—The Society for Endocrinology has issued the first of a series of periodical memoirs on endocrinological subjects. It is on "The Thyroid Gland," and is a record of a conference held in London last February jointly by the Society and the Endocrinological Section of the Royal Society of Medicine. Copies of the memoir may be obtained from Pitman Publishers, Parker Street, London, W.C.2, price 5s.—3s. to members of the Society (postage extra). The new series will be used for publishing proceedings of the Society's conferences, special reviews, or other material for which separate publication is desirable. The main object is to effect speedy publication in subjects which are being rapidly transformed by current research.

Family Doctor.—"Back to School" is the theme of a special section in the September Family Doctor. In the medical section there are articles on the obsessional personality, swollen ankles, and poliomyelitis. There is advice on preparing for breast-feeding, and the series on "How Your Life Began" is continued.

COMING EVENTS

International Paediatric Congress.—The seventh International Paediatric Congress is to be held in Havana, Cuba, from October 12 to 17. The main subjects for discussion at the conference will be "Epilepsy in Infancy and Childhood," "Diagnosis of Congenital Malformations of the Heart and Great Vessels Susceptible of Surgical Treatment," "Problems of the Premature Infant," "Complications of Primary Tuberculosis," and "Metabolism and Nutrition Problems." Those wishing to attend the meeting are requested to inform the Organizing Committee of the Congress, Hospital Mercedes, Vedado, Havana, Cuba, as soon as possible.

NEW ISSUES

Archives of Disease in Childhood.—The next issue (Vol. 28, No. 140) will be available in a week's time.

Issued bi-monthly; annual subscription £3 3s., single copy 12s. 6d.; obtainable from the Publishing Manager, B.M.A. House, Tavistock Square, London, W.C.1.
