THE MEDICAL INSTITUTIONS AND PREVAILING DISEASES OF VICTORIA.

[FROM A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

III.

THE GEELONG HOSPITAL is also a two storied building on the corridor system, and professed, certainly much to my astonishment, to have room for as many as two hundred patients. It presents no features of any interest as a building; and its wards are small, dirty, and badly ventilated, and crowded with the ordinary class of workhouse inmates, as it is in great part intended to be a benevolent asylum. About ten years ago, when the present house-surgeon, Mr. D. B. Reid, entered it, I was assured by him that it was the favourite abode of pyæmia, erysipelas, and gangrene; and it required no great stretch of the imagination to conceive that it might readily become so again. Mr. Reid showed me an amputation at the shoulder-joint, which was necessitated by the existence of a large fibrous tumour of the humerus, and was complicated by the fact that the head of the bone had been resected some years previously. The flaps were granulating well under carbolic acid and glycerine, on lint covered with oiled silk; and a compound fracture of the leg was also doing well under a similar plan of treatment. The house-surgeon informed me that he had used Lister's plan of treatment since its introduction, and that he had only had one fatal amputation case since, but he could give me no idea of the number of operations he had performed, and there are no statistics kept. Mr. Reid occupies one of those anomalous positions which are common in Australia, though quite unheard of with us. Nominally he is only house-surgeon, with a regularly appointed staff of visiting physicians and surgeons over him; but he is not only at full liberty to do with the patients in the hospital what he pleases, but he is also allowed to practise privately; and, as a very natural result, he is regarded with considerable jealousy by his professional brethren in Geelong, and even elsewhere, as he has managed to acquire (especially among the poorer classes of the community) the reputation of a bold and skilful surgeon. As to the ethical propriety of this accumulation of offices in one person, it cannot be expected that the people of a new colony should retain the same prejudices, or consider this matter in the same light as professional men generally do. One good feature of the colonial character is that great care is taken of the sick poor. In almost every small town, or large village as we would prefer to call them, there is a larger or a smaller hospital, according to the size of the place; and these hospitals have always house-surgeons especially attached to them, sometimes without, but very frequently, as just mentioned, with liberty to practise besides. The remuneration of such an office is seldom very liberal, but it is, in every case, at least infinitely superior to the salary attached to a corresponding position at home.

DISEASES PREVAILING IN VICTORIA. — Apart from phthisis, of which I intend speaking at greater length, the prevailing diseases seem to originate more in the circulatory system than they apparently do at home; and in walking round one of the larger colonial hospitals the number of cases of cardiac disease and aneurism struck me immediately, as being considerably above the average of similar institutions in Europe. That the great prevalence of rheumatism,* arising from the rapid vicissitudes of temperature, may have much to do with the production of this curious fact, is highly probable; but, so long as there is not direct evidence on the subject, it is safer not to trust in a doubtful explanation. Aneurism, and particularly thoracic aneurism, seems one of the most frequent forms of disease in this system, and, so far at least as the Melbourne hospital was concerned, the treatment by large doses of iodide of potassium had not been tried at the date of my visit.

By far the most striking feature, however, presented to the eye of a physician, in going round a colonial hospital, is the constant recurrence, in bed after bed, of cases of hydatids. Hydatids occurring in every organ, seem one of the most common diseases which affect the Victorians; and that they originate in a similar way to that which Hjaltelin has conclusively demonstrated in Iceland, can scarcely be doubted in the land of sheep-runs. The treatment in almost every case is surgical, the hydatid cyst being tapped with the greatest boldness, and without any of the preparatory steps which I have seen employed on the Continent and in Great Britain. I saw the house-surgeon of the Ballarat hospital, Mr. Owen, re-tap three cases in one morning, in whom the previous tapping or tapplings had produced no bad symptoms whatever. It is not customary to inject anything into the cyst; and in the majority of cases I was assured that a single tapping was sufficient to insure the contraction of the cyst, and the recovery of the patient. In one young woman, in the Melbourne hospital, nearly the whole left lung seemed to be the seat of a solid tumour, which was tapped by the house-physician; but the issue of this case I do not know, as I was obliged to leave the colony immediately afterwards. Tapping being thus considered the only necessary remedy, Hjaltelin's treatment by kamela does not seem to have been tried.

Of fevers I have little to say; typhoid, colonial fever as it is called, is not uncommon, and slight epidemics of scarlet fever, too, seem sometimes frequent rather; but typhus can scarcely be said to exist, and small-pox has only once been introduced epidemically, in mistake for varicella. The quarantine rules seem excellent, and are strictly enforced; and it is well that it is so, for Melbourne, with its open sewers, cesspools, and neglected sanitary regulations, would prove an admirable field for the ravages of such an enemy as cholera. The open sewers of Melbourne are often supposed to be merely drains for the surplus rain and the ordinary supply of water from households, but the stench from them indicates that they are much more, and receive urine and stale water with all kinds of impurities in it. The cesspools (of which there are said to be 10,000 within the city limits alone) are known to leak so much that no cellar or basement in dwelling-houses is safe from pollution by them; and although some praiseworthy efforts have been lately made to replace them by closets, with iron buckets for the collection and removal of the solid matters, these attempts at ameliorating the evil seem to have attracted but little attention to what every Melbourne man ought to consider the chief public question of the day. And besides, this lamentable system, or rather want of a system, of sewerage, is greatly aggravated by the large swamps existing between the city and the sea; there being said to be as many as 3,000 acres still nearly constantly under water, while about one-half more of the same swampy ground has been built over. As this land receives a great amount of the drainage from the city, it is obvious that the effluvia generated over such an extensive space would alone suffice to poison the whole population. If we take the absence of epidemics into account, we cannot be surprised to find that the mortality of Melbourne compares unfavourably with that of many of the larger English towns, more particularly with that of London.

It has frequently been asserted—and there certainly exists a very general impression among the public in Melbourne—that the climate of

* In the year 1869, there were received 252 patients with rheumatism into the Melbourne Hospital, or nearly 1 in every 13 patients admitted.

CARBOLIC ACID PAPER.—A carbolic acid paper, which is now much used in America for packing fresh meats, for the purpose of preserving them against spoiling, is made by melting five parts of stearine at a gentle heat, and then stirring in thoroughly two parts of carbolic acid; after which, five parts of melted paraffine are to be added. The whole should be well stirred together, until it cools; after which, it is again melted, and applied with a brush to the paper, in quires, in the same way as in preparing the waxed paper used for wrapping various articles.

BEQUESTS, DONATIONS, ETC.—Mrs. Swan Hood Robinson, of Montagu Square, has bequeathed, in pursuance of her late husband's request, £3500 to the Pension Fund of the National Hospital for Paralysis; £3000 to the Royal Free Hospital; £2000 to St. Mary's Hospital; £500 to the Middlesex Hospital; and £300 to the Western General Dispensary.—“R. T. W.” has given a third £1000 to the Hospital for Women.—“H. G.” has given a third £1000 to the East London Hospital for Children and Dispensary for Women, Ratcliffe Cross.—Mr. J. NOTICES TO CORRESPONDENTS.

ALL Letters and Communications for the JOURNAL, to be addressed to the EDITOR, 37, Great Queen Street, Lincoln's Inn Fields, W.C.

CORRESPONDENTS not answered, are requested to look to the Notices to Correspondents of the following week.

TO PURCHASERS.—To insure attention, it is requested that all orders sent to the Office for extra copies of the JOURNAL, be accompanied with halfpenny stamps for the amount.

WE CANNOT UNDERTAKE TO RETURN MANUSCRIPTS NOT USED.

FOR replies to questions concerning Poor-law medical questions, see Poor-law Medical Department, under charge of Mr. Benson Baker, London, and Dr. Maunsell, Dublin.

CORRESPONDENTS, who wish notice to be taken of their communications, should authenticate them with their names—of course, not necessarily for publication.

M.B., M.A., is thanked for the correction.

DR. HAWKSLEY is thanked for his courteous communication. For other reasons, we do not propose to use the information.

WE would again request correspondents not to enclose stamps for the return of MSS., and refer them to the standing notice on this subject at the head of this column.

WE have handed Dr. Dale's communication to the publisher, to whom, obviously, both communications should have been addressed.

DR. GRAY (Castlewellan).—It would be useless to publish the letter; for it illustrates not the deficiencies of the Medical Act, great as they are, but the operation of certain rules of evidence common to the English law in general.

H. M. (St. Bartholomew's).—On the 13th and 15th proximo; see our advertising columns, and the numbers of the BRITISH MEDICAL JOURNAL following the respective examinations, where you will find the questions published.

THE MEDICAL DIRECTORY AND FOREIGN TITLES.

WE have been requested to publish the following letter.

"To the Editors of the Medical Directory.

"30, Gower Street, Bedford Square, December 28th, 1871.

"Gentlemen,—You publicly announced in September last that no foreign qualification would be inserted in the edition of the Medical Directory for 1872. Allow me to express my surprise on finding that in my case the annotation 'M.D. Paris, is omitted, as also in the case of Dr. Chepmell, while it is not omitted in several other instances.

"If the Directory purports to show the scientific standing of the members of the profession, it must have one and the same rule for all.

"I am, gentlemen, yours truly,

"THOMAS COOKE, M.D. Paris, F.R.C.S.E.,

"Assistant-Surgeon to and Demonstrator of Anatomy at Westminster Hospital."

MR. LARDNER GREEN's communication was duly received, and shall have attention.

MR. FURNEAUX JORDAN's request shall be complied with, if possible. We fear that some of the numbers in question are out of print, and we have no means of procuring them for him.

THERMOMETER CHARTS.

SIR,—Can you inform me where I can obtain thermometer charts marked with the same number of degrees as are marked on the thermometers? Those published by Messrs Harvey and Reynolds, of Briggate, Leeds, commence with 96 deg. Two cases have come under my observation, where the temperature was frequently as low as 93 deg. Again, it would be better if a wider space were allowed for the registration of the pulse, as it is necessary, in cases of aneurism of the arteries of the neck and upper extremities, to register both the right and the left pulse.

Dec. 18, 1871.

I am, etc.,

GEO. CHAS. COLES.

ENGLISH POOR LAW.—A Poor-law Medical Officer writes to say that, about a week since, I applied to the Board of Guardians for extra remuneration, on account of the number of small-pox cases I have had under my care at the Dartford Union Workhouse, stating that medical officers of other unions had been rewarded in a similar way. At the weekly meeting of the Board this morning, they requested me to prepare a statement by next Saturday, citing some of the names and the circumstances under which this extra remuneration had been granted. I shall esteem it a great favour if you can furnish me with any names of the recipients, with or without the particulars under which the remuneration was granted.

* The Guardians of the Westminster Union have granted a gratuity to the medical officer of the Petty France Workhouse, for his extra labour during the small-pox epidemic. The Paddington Guardians also awarded a gratuity to their workhouse medical officer; and the Mile-end Old Town guardians have granted a gratuity to their district medical officer; and there are, doubtless, many others that have received gratuities for their services.

TORSOCCLUSION.

SIR,—Dr. McRae will find particulars regarding the first use of torsocclusion in Sir J. Y. Simpson's work on Acupuncture. Let me repeat what I stated in my former letter concerning the properties of the different varieties of iron-wire—viz., hard tempered wire is elastic, annealed wire is inelastic. Mr. Harper, of Aberdeen, one of the most extensive wire-workers in the North of Scotland, has assured me of the correctness of my statement, and has expressed his willingness to give Dr. McRae ocular proof, should he desire it. I am, etc., J. C. OGILVIE WILL.

VENTILATION OF DRAINS.

SIR,—How would you ventilate drains from a country house? My notion has been to ventilate the cesspool by a pipe projecting about ten feet above the ground, and by this means try to prevent the accumulation of gases, which might, by backward pressure, force the traps and enter the house. I am, etc., A. P.

PROSTATIC GLEET.

SIR,—A young man, aged 30, has for two years past been troubled with prostatic gleet, for which the many remedies tried have proved unavailing. The prostate is slightly tender and swollen; there is some feeling of tenesmus; in the morning, after micturition, there is a discharge of clear sticky mucus; seminal emissions in dreams are attended with some degree of obscure perineal pain. Blisters to the perineum have been tried with some relief, but not with perfect curative results. These, with cold water enemata into the rectum, as recommended by Sir H. Thompson, are the only plans of treatment that have been found of avail. Can you, or any of your surgical readers, mention any drugs (iron and turpentine have both been tried) or application likely to prove successful in removing the condition? You or they would thereby much oblige. Yours, etc., A. B. M. A.
