the contributions of so many highly skilled medical scientists. Yet the enormous mass of detailed information has disadvantages, for the book is difficult and uninteresting to read. Its main value will be as a source of information and an authoritative expression of modern views of the problems of hypertension secondary to renal disease. It contains sections on the role of renin, angiotensin, and aldosterone in the production of hypertension, renoprival hypertension, renal artery stenosis as a cause of hypertension in man, and the relationship of hypertension and vascular changes. Well over 1,600 references are quoted, many of them in languages other than English.

This monograph is a worthy successor to the classical book with an identical title produced by Braun-Menéndez and his associates over 20 years ago. The editors, sub-editors, and contributors are to be congratulated on the immense amount of detailed work inherent in the production of a work of this scientific quality, and the contributors on their self-sacrifice in allowing their work to be published in near but not complete anonymity.

M. D. MILNE.

General Practice Observed

The New General Practice. Articles Collected from the British Medical Journal, with an introduction by Lord Platt. (Pp. 189+xi. 15s.) London: British Medical Association. 1968.

No section of a profession has been so public in its introspection as has general medical practice in the fifties and sixties, but it was still possible for the Gillie Committee<sup>1</sup> to lament the lack of factual information on the content and conduct of this branch of medicine.

These collected papers, introduced by a thoughtful appraisal from Lord Platt, show the general practitioner both as a doctor and as an observer and recorder of his own behaviour and that of his patients. Those who help him to provide modern standards of medical care are discussed, and a wide range of subjects are covered. These include examination of work-load problems, the need and nature of training for general practice, and the extent to which use is made of services which are provided by hospital special departments. The contributors are recognized authorities on the aspects of practice that they discuss.

It is certain that this book will be widely read by general practitioners and will, no doubt, be passed from partner to partner and principal to staff in many practices, until its rather inadequate covers show clear evidence of that passage. What is more important, however, is that the book should be read by others outside general practice, particularly those who teach. No one who has considered these papers can in honesty retain, and pass on to students, the image of the "new" general practitioner as a professional drop-out. Perhaps, too, the stimulus to selfexamination may induce those in other sections of medicine to study their work objectively in order to increase the effective use of medical skills. Doctors are not in short supply only in general practice. Perhaps the B.M.J. may offer us another symposium entitled The New Hospital Practice before very long.

R. J. F. H. PINSENT.

REFERENCE

<sup>1</sup> The Field of Work of the Family Doctor, Report of the Subcommittee of the Standing Medical Advisory Committee of the Central Services Council, 1963. H.M.S.O., London.

Books Received

Review is not precluded by notice here of books recently received.

Treatise on Collagen. Vol. 1. Chemistry of Collagen. Edited by G. N. Ramachandran. (Pp. 556+xiii; illustrated. 126s.) Vol. 2. Parts A and B. Biology of Collagen. Edited by Bernard S. Gould. (Part A, pp. 488+xv; illustrated. 120s. Part B, pp. 434+xvii; illustrated. 110s.) London: Academic Press. 1968.

Clinical Acid-Base Physiology. Studies in Neonates, Infants and Young Children. By Poul Kildeberg. (Pp. 228; illustrated. Kr. 75.00.) Denmark: Munksgaard. 1968.

Monoamine Oxidase Inhibitors. Vol. 10. Relationship between Pharmacological and Clinical Effects. Edited by J. Cheymol and J. R. Boissier. Proceedings of the Third International Pharmacological Meeting. 24–30 July 1966. Oxford: Pergamon Press. 1968.

Enzymes in Urine and Kidney. Edited by U. C. Dubach, M.D. (Pp. 308; illustrated. Fr./DM. 38.) Berne and Stuttgart: Hans Huber Publishers. 1968.

Textbook of Microbiology. 19th edition. Edited by William Burrows, Ph.D. (Pp. 974+xxv; illustrated. £8 18s. 6d.) Philadelphia, London, Toronto: W. B. Saunders Co. 1968.

Bronchial Carcinoma. By B. T. Le Roux, Ch.M., F.R.C.S.E. (Pp. 144+xii; illustrated. 35s.) London and Edinburgh: E. & S. Livingstone Ltd. 1968.

Psychiatry in Transition. 1966-1967. Edited by Aldwyn B. Stokes. (Pp. 137+xi; illustrated. 57s.) Toronto: Toronto University Press. London: Oxford University Press. 1968.

A Survery of Alcoholism in an English County. By H. C. Moss, D.P.M., and E. Beresford Davies, D.P.M. (Pp. 127. No price quoted.) Macclesfield: Geigy (U.K.) Ltd.

Cooperative Study on Cardiac Catheterization. Edited by Eugene Braunwald, M.D., and Harold J. C. Swan, M.B., Ph.D. (Pp. 113; illustrated. $5.) New York: The American Heart Association Inc. 1968.

Electrolyte Metabolism in Severe Infantile Malnutrition. By J. S. Garrow, M.D., Ph.D., Roger Smith, M.A., M.D., and E. Eugene Ward, M.D. ((Pp. 168+xi. 67s. 6d.) Oxford: Pergamon Press. 1968:

Costs of Health Care Facilities. Report of a Conference Convened by the National Academy of Engineering, 5-6 December 1967. (Pp. 248. $6.50.) Washington, D.C.: National Academy of Science. 1968.

The Lung and Its Disorders in the Newborn Infant. 2nd edition. By Mary Ellen Avery, A.B., M.D. (Pp. 285+xvii; illustrated. £4 1s.) Philadelphia, London, Toronto: W. B. Saunders Co. 1968.

Culture. Man's Adaptive Dimension. Edited by M. F. Ashley Montagu. (Pp. 289+vi. 64s.) New York: Oxford University Press. 1968.

The Lung. Edited by Averill A. Liebow, M.D., and David E. Smith, M.D. (Pp. 400+xii; illustrated. £6 17s. 6d.) Baltimore: The Williams & Wilkins Co. 1968.

Bibliography of Pharmaceutical Reference Literature. Compiled by Magda Pasztor and Jenny Hopkins. (Pp. 167+viii. 25s.) London: The Pharmaceutical Press. 1968.

Orthopaedic Diseases. 3rd edition. By Ernest Aegerter, M.D., and John A. Kirkpatrick, jun., M.D. (Pp. 906+xv; illustrated. £9 15s. 6d.) London: W. B. Saunders. 1968.

Mécanismes Cérébraux du Langage Oral et Structure des Langues. By R. Husson, J. Barbizet, J. Gauhépé, P. Debray, P. Laget, and A. Sauvageot. (Pp. 136+vi; illustrated. 44 F.) Paris: Masson et Cie. 1968.

Minnesota Symposia on C'ild Psychology. Vol. I. Edited by John P. Hill. (Pp. 239+ix. 47s. 6d.) Minneapolis: University of Minnesota Press. 1968. Modernising Man. By Paul Campbell. (Pp. 90. 6s.) Pinner: Grosvenor Books. 1968.

Grant's Dissector. 6th edition. By J. C. B. Grant. (Pp. 451+xvi; illustrated. 62s. 6d.) Baltimore: The Williams & Wilkins Co. 1967.

Child Health in the Tropics. 3rd edition. Edited by J. B. Jelliffe, M.D., F.R.C.P. (Pp. 165. 12s. 6d.) London: Edward Arnold (Publishers) Ltd. 1968.

Progress in Gastroenterology. Vol. I. Edited by George B. Jerzy Glass, M.D. (Pp. 520 + viii; illustrated. $29.50.) London: Grune & Stratton. 1968.

Radiographic Positioning and Related Anatomy. By Isadore Meschan, M.A., M.D., and R. M. F. Farrer-Meschan, M.B., B.S. (Australia), M.D. (Pp. 388; illustrated. £5 15s.) Philadelphia, London, Toronto: W. B. Saunders Co. 1968.

The Doctors Mayo. By Helen Clapesattle. (Pp. 426+xiii; illustrated. 21s. 6d.) Minneapolis: University of Minnesota Press. London: Oxford University Press. 1968.

The Principles and Practice of Medicine. 17th edition. Edited by A. McGehee Harvey, M.D., D.Sc.(Hon.), Leighton E. Cluff, M.D., Richard J. Johns, M.D., Albert H. Owens, jun., M.D., David Rabinowitz, M.D., and Richard S. Ross, M.D. (Pp. 1472+xxiii; illustrated. No price given.) New York: Appleton-Century-Crofts. 1968.

Fundamentals of Neurology. 5th edition. By Ernest Gardner, M.D. (Pp. 367+xiii; illustrated. £3 4s.). Philadelphia, London, Toronto: W. B. Saunders Co. 1968.

Tumours of the Gallbladder and Extrahepatic Bile Ducts. By Hugh A. Edmondson, M.D. (Pp. 167; illustrated. $3.35.) Washington, D.C.: Armed Forces Institute of Pathology. 1967.

The Gynecology of Childhood and Adolescence. By John W. Huffman, M.D., F.A.C.O.G. (Pp. 574+x; illustrated. £8 6s.) Philadelphia, London, Toronto: W. B. Saunders Co. 1968.