CORRECTIONS

Use of English

In the letter by Dr. D. Davies and Mr. J. Neely (23 October, p. 235) the third from last line was incorrectly printed. It should have read "... to cut out a little live flesh to let those who deal in lumps and bumps see why it grew."

Lymph Nodes and Gastric Cancer

In the letter by Dr. E. G. Cantrell (30 October, p. 299) the first sentence of the third paragraph should have read "Statistically (using χ^2 test and Yates's correction) the difference between OX and LTH is not significant; but the difference between LTH and MTH is highly significant ($P < 0.001$)."

Professor Aldo Castellani

In the obituary appreciation of Professor Aldo Castellani (30 October, p. 307) a misprint occurred in the eighth line: "absorption of antibiotics" should have read "absorption of antibodies."

Therapeutic Conferences—Pneumonia

There was a transcription error in this article (25 September, p. 759). On page 760 under "Treatment in General Practice" the thirteenth line should have read "... rickettsiae and Mycoplasma pneumoniae."

Dr. Margaret H. Miller

We regret that in our obituary notice (9 October, p. 119) Dr. Margaret Miller's age was wrongly given. She was in fact born in 1894 and died at the age of 76.
