

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

We have been obliged to postpone, until next week, Mr. Bransby Cooper's Lecture on Injuries of the Head.

J. L. T.—The paper is not suited for the pages of a medical Journal. The one proposed, containing an account of experiments, &c., would, more probably, answer.

Some complaints of irregularity in the transmission of the JOURNAL having reached us, Subscribers in the country, who experience any delay, &c. are requested to write directly to Dr. Hennis Green.

RHEUMATISM OR RUPTURE.

COLES'S PATENT MEDICATED BANDS are worn by many of the Nobility; they afford almost instantaneous relief in Rheumatic Affections; they have found their way into almost every quarter of the habitable globe; and they will be found of inestimable value in recent cases.

COLES'S PATENT TRUSSES

Are acknowledged by thousands to be the most effectual and the least uncomfortable or painful instrument for the relief of Hernia, however formidable the case; every attempt to improve their construction has baffled the whole profession for the last twenty years. A letter may be had on either subject, of WM. COLES, Truss-maker to the Forces, 3, CHARING CROSS.

MR. LUCAS ON SQUINTING.

Just Published. Price 6s.

MR. P. BENNETT LUCAS, on the NATURE of STRABISMUS or SQUINT; its Treatment by Operation and by Milder Measures. With numerous Cases and Plates.

"We would strongly recommend every surgeon who may have to treat, for the first time, a patient with strabismus, to study the 'Treatise' attentively from beginning to end. Mr. Lucas seems to possess the rare quality of conveying a great deal of knowledge in a few words."—Provincial Medical and Surgical Journal.

"Mr. Lucas's book gives a plain, unpretending, and trustworthy account of the matter; and, what is still better, without any of the quackery which has distinguished the advertising squint-cutters."—Dublin Medical Press.

S. Highley, Fleet Street.

Just Published, Part IV., price One Shilling, with fine Engravings on steel and wood, JEM BUNT; OR, THE LAND AND THE OCEAN. By the OLD SAILOR, Author of "Tough Yarns," &c. &c. The Illustrations by W. LEE, Esq. and W. J. HUGGINS, Esq. Marine Painter.

"The Old Sailor, who preceded Glascock, Marryat, Howard, and other popular writers of our day, in the composition of what is technically called the Sea Novel. He is inferior to none—not even the highest of that class. The hero's debut is given with much spirit: the sketch of the war-frigate's return home, after an eight years' cruise, is scarcely equalled in the language: it is quite a picture in prose."—Salopian Journal.

"Jem Bunt (Sherwood & Co.) is a capital story, equal, if not superior, to Tom Cringle's Log, and other favourite productions touching nautical matters."—Worcester Journal.

"A very lively work. It is a tale of the sea—and a tough yarn, we expect, the Old Sailor will make of it. It abounds in incidents which will afford the lovers of genuine humour many a hearty laugh; and what pleases us very much in it, is the character of the 'Service' is always maintained."—Derbyshire Courier.

"Jem Bunt' is very amusing and interesting; and, if continued with the spirit in which it has commenced, cannot fail of becoming extremely popular."—Liverpool Chronicle.

A NEW COMIC CALENDAR FOR 1841.

With upwards of Sixty Pictorial Illustrations by Lee, folscale 8vo., price 2s. 6d.,

THE COMET OF MANY TALES: a Comic Calendar for 1841. By W. H. HARRISON. Comprising, in addition to the usual information desired in an almanack, a series of sketches of men and manners, in prose and verse, with characteristic portraits of the reigning sovereigns of the world.

"It is really and truly a most amusing Miscellany, sprightly, and even novel, in its character, and full of plates which, besides being happily suited to the nature of the work, are as rich in a sort of broad, rollicking drollery, as some of George Cruikshank's chefs-d'œuvre."—Sun.

"The dinner sketches are written with great point and quaintness of humour, thickly studded with diverting incidents from the court dinner, descending in the scale of society."—Morning Advertiser.

"A comic almanack for the year 1841, of the most lively and amusing description. It abounds in pleasant stories and humorous plates."—Britannia.

"This is by far the smartest and most original almanack we have seen."—Gloucester Chronicle.

"Besides these good things, we have sketches of reigning sovereigns, as smart and witty as the preceding things we have brought before the notice of our readers, and showing the real state of things abroad in a very few words thrown together in a most amusing style. The illustrations are by no means the least witty things in the book, but the good ones are such a legion, that we cannot hazard an attempt to point them out."—Cambridge Chronicle.

"He who shook off the ideas contained in the letter-press and illustrations, must have felt wonderfully relieved after disburthening himself of such a load of comicalities; but, as for relief, the reader will find none for his sides and eye-strings till he fairly closes the book."—Derbyshire Courier.

RETREAT near LEEDS, for the RECEPTION and RECOVERY of PERSONS AFFLICTED with DISORDERS of the MIND.

MR. HARE begs to announce to the Profession and the Public, that the above Establishment is under his particular superintendence, and that the most strict attention is paid to the medical, as well as moral treatment of individuals committed to his care.

The retreat is delightfully situated on rising ground, at the opening of Aire-Dale, little more than a mile from the town of Leeds. The situation is healthy, cheerful, and also sufficiently retired; the gardens and plantations are extensive; the premises combine proper accommodation for the exercise and amusement of the patients, and the apartments are spacious, lofty, well ventilated, and fitted up in the most commodious manner.

The Establishment is to be considered more in the light of a temporary residence in the country, where the patient is placed while he undergoes such a plan of treatment as may be necessary to restore the functions of the brain, than as an asylum, in the common acceptance of the term; hence it is well suited for persons of weak mind, or who may be subject to fits of temporary insanity—for whom confinement is necessary.* In recent cases a perfect and speedy recovery may generally be expected.

Applications, either personal or by letter, postage free, addressed, 26, East Parade, Leeds, will meet with immediate attention, and have the most satisfactory references, if required, to patients already discharged, or their friends; also to Physicians resident in London, Dublin, Leamington, Leeds, Sheffield, Scarborough, Wakefield, Bradford, &c. who have had occasion to visit patients at the Retreat.

* Mr. H. also receives patients under his care, attended by experienced persons, in lodgings or private houses, according to the provisions of the 2d and 3d of Will. IV. cap. 109, sec. 47.
