APPOINTMENTS.

Dr. Radclyffe Hall, of Clifton, has been elected Physician to the Bristol General Hospital, in the place of Dr. Beatty, resigned.

J. G. Lansdown, Esq., has been re-elected Surgeon to the Bristol General Hospital.

ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS: EXAMINATIONS FOR THE FELLOWSHIP.

Questions on the third day's examination, December 6th, 1849:—

Pathology and Surgery.—No. I.—1. In the two forms of erysipelas, simple and phlegmonous, what are respectively the principal symptoms, what the course and termination, and what the treatment, constitutional and local?

2.—What is the treatment to be adopted in a case of wound of the brachial artery, occurring in venesection?

3.—Describe the treatment of retention of urine from stricture in the urethra, and the consequences which are apprehended when the retention is not relieved.

4.—Describe the progress of a carbuncle from its commencement to its termination, when not arrested by treatment. Prescribe also the treatment, both constitutional and local, by which its progress may be arrested.

5.—Describe the characters of dislocations of the shoulder-joint, and the modes of reduction.

6.—What is the effect of opium on the system? What are the principal preparations which are in use? And what are the doses of each?

N.B.—Answers to any four of these questions will be accepted as sufficient, provided always that they are accurate and adequate.

Pathology and Surgery.—No. II.—1. Describe the nature and physiological consequences of asphyxia, its causes, especially those depending upon irrespirable gases, and the more important remedial measures required.

2.—State what is known with regard to the pathological changes in the blood.

2.—Describe the principal varieties of the pulse, and in what respect they may be severally regarded as diagnostic of morbid conditions of the system.

4.—Describe the morbid changes which take place in the urinary organs from long-continued irritation of the bladder or urethra; and explain in detail the causes of such changes.

5.—Describe the different methods by which a calculus may be removed from the bladder, and what the circumstances under which they may be severally indicated.

6.—Describe the various circumstances of surgical interest which attend a case of wounded intestine.

N.B.—Answers to any four of these questions will be accepted as sufficient, provided always that they are accurate and adequate.

NEW EXAMINERS.

Mr. Cæsar Henry Hawkins, Surgeon to St. George's Hospital, has been elected by the Council of the Royal College of Surgeons, a member of the Court of Examiners, in the vacancy occasioned by the decease of Mr. John Goldwyer Andrews, of the London Hospital: this election also causes a vacancy in the Examining

Board of the University of London.—Mr. George Gabriel Stokes, M.A., of Pembroke College Cambridge, has been appointed Examiner in Mathematics; Mr. Goldwin Smith, M.A., of University College, Oxford, Examiner in Classics; and Mons.
