

tion, notwithstanding the express provision of the Act recognising the authorised printed copy of the Register as evidence in all courts of law. We are glad to see, that the objection to the Register is, in by far the majority of instances, overruled by the magistrates. Next, it is very plain that every medical man who conducts a prosecution against an unqualified practitioner must be prepared to submit to an unlimited amount of badgering and even abuse—even though he act in an official rather than in an individual capacity. Here is a specimen of the choice insinuations which were thrown at Dr. Chevallier, in one of the trials which we notice to-day. Dr. Chevallier is being cross-examined by the prisoner's legal adviser..

"Witness. I came to Halesworth to look at the plate myself.

"Mr. Palmer. You, a physician, and in an extensive practice!

"Witness. I considered it my duty.

"Mr. Palmer. Your duty! so you left your practice and your patients to lay a common information. You! a graduate of the University of Oxford, and not educated at Bow Street, descend to that of a common informer! May I ask what part of your duty it was?

"Witness. It was part of my duty to assist the Registrar. The reason why I came was to avoid the idea that it was a personal matter with the medical gentlemen of this vicinity.

"Mr. Palmer. Why there are five hundred persons in this town who could have given you the information.

"Witness. I dare say there were."

And this is the way in which, using their well known license of speech to it fullest extent, those legal gentlemen who think right to defend a poacher on a sister profession, think to discourage men who are doing their duty! But we trust that such words as those of Mr. Palmer will simply be regarded as merely

"Full of sound and fury, Signifying nothing."

Men in the position of Dr. Chevallier are performing a duty both to the profession and to the public. The profession thank them heartily for their courage in the performance of the duty; and the public will thank them, if not now, certainly in the next generation.

We have before us in the Morning Post of November 7th, an analysis of the votes given by the professions of divinity, law, and medicine respectively, at the recent election of Lord Brougham as Chancellor of the University of Edinburgh. The numbers were as follows:—

		BROUGHAM.	BUCCLEUCH.	TOTAL.
Lawyers	-	117	142	259
Clergy	-	151	138	289
Medical doctors and surgeons		153	47	200

The votes of the medical electors had a special value in this contest. The Scotch lawyers are very conservative; hence it occurred that, while many of the members of the bar voted for Lord Brougham, a great majority of the writers to the signet gave their suffrages to the Duke of Buccleuch. With the clergy, the contest seems to have included a battle between the members of the established church on the one hand, and the combined forces of the free church and the dissenters on the other; the former, almost to a man, voting for the Duke of Buccleuch; the latter, to a man, supporting Lord Brougham. Medical men are mixed up with all parties and classes; and hence their votes are taken as fairly representing public opinion. Of the two hundred medical members of council who voted, one hundred and fifty-three polled for Lord Brougham. The number of medical votes appears small; but this is explained by the fact that a Scotch medical degree does not qualify for a vote in an University, unless its holder has had four years resident university education.

The first annual meeting of the General Medical Provident and Mutual Aid Association of France was held in Paris, on the 30th and 31st of October, under the presidency of M. Rayer. After an address by the President, the Secretary (M. Amédée Latour) read a long report on the organisation and progress of the Society, the number of members of which had reached 1557. There were also 1014 demands for admission under consideration; so that it was expected that there would soon be more than 2500 members on the roll. The outlay of the Society, in consequence of necessary preliminary expenditure, had exceeded the income; but the deficiency—above 4000 francs, or £160—had been discharged by private generosity. We quote a few of the concluding words of M. Latour's address, feeling that they may be equally well applied to the British Medical Association, or to any similar body.

"L'Association a modifié, adouci les mœurs professionnelles; par elle chacun a senti que la dignité de soi-même fait la dignité de tous; par elle tout le monde a compris que, pour que la famille médicale fût une réalité, le respect pour tous ses membres était une condition aussi rigoureuse que dans la famille naturelle, parceque, comme elle, elle commande la mutualité des services et la solidarité des actes; par elle, enfin, les médecins ont senti la puissance et la charme de cette douce et sainte chose, la confraternité, expression plus familiale encore que professionnelle, et qui largement comprise, loyalement pratiquée, résume nos droits les plus imprescriptibles comme nos plus impérieux devoirs."

ADMISSION OF MEMBERS, AND PAYMENT OF SUBSCRIPTIONS.

THE following are the Laws of the Association regarding the ADMISSION OF MEMBERS, and the PAYMENT of their SUBSCRIPTIONS.

"Admission of Members. Any qualified medical practitioner, not disqualified by any bye-law, who shall be recommended as eligible by any three members, shall be admitted a member at any time by the Committee of Council, or by the Council of any Branch."

"Subscriptions. The subscription to the Association shall be One Guinea annually; and each member, on paying his subscription, shall be entitled to receive the publications of the Association for the current year. The subscription shall date from the 1st January in each year, and shall be considered as due unless notice of withdrawal be given in writing to the Secretary on or before the 25th of December previous.

"If any member's subscription remain unpaid twelve months after it shall have become due, the publications of the Society shall be withheld from such member until his arrears be paid.

"The name of no member shall remain on the books of the Association, whose arrears extend over three years; but the omission of the name from the list of members shall not be deemed, either in honour or equity, to relieve any member from his liability for the subscriptions due for the period during which he has availed himself of the privileges of membership."

Either of the following modes of payment may be adopted:—

1. Payment by Post-Office Order to the Treasurer (Sir C. Hastings, M.D., Worcester), or to the undersigned.

2. Payment to the Secretary of the Branch to which the member belongs.

3. Members can also make their payments through the publisher of the BRITISH MEDICAL JOURNAL, Mr. Thomas John Honeyman, 37, Great Queen Street, Lincoln's Inn Fields, W.C.

LAWS OF THE BRITISH MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.NAME.

1. The Association shall be called "THE BRITISH MEDICAL ASSOCIATION".

OBJECTS.

2. The objects of the Association are—the promotion of medical science, and the maintenance of the honour and interests of the medical profession.

MEMBERS.

3. The Association shall consist of Ordinary, Honorary, and Corresponding Members, being duly qualified members of the medical profession.

COUNCIL AND OFFICERS.

4. The Association shall be governed by a Council. The officers of the Association shall be—

1. A President.
2. Vice-Presidents.
3. President of the Council.
4. Treasurer.
5. Secretary.

PRESIDENT.

5. The office of President shall be conferred on some member resident in the district in which the Annual Meeting is held, in the year in which his presidency commences.

VICE-PRESIDENTS.

6. The Vice-Presidents of the Association, who have been appointed after fulfilling the office of President, shall continue to enjoy the office for life; and the office of Vice-President shall be hereafter conferred, as an honorary distinction for life, on the retiring President, by a vote of the members at the Annual Meeting.

COUNCIL.

7. The Council shall consist of the President, the President-elect, the President of Council, the Treasurer, and the Secretary of the Association, together with those members who shall be elected annually, according to Law 8. Its meetings shall be held at the time and place of the Annual Meeting, and at other times and places, if summoned by the President of the Council, or by the Committee of Council, or by a requisition signed by twenty members of Council.

ELECTION AND DUTIES OF COUNCIL.

8. Each District Branch shall, in such manner as they think fit, before the General Annual Meeting, elect members who shall represent the Branch in the Council for the ensuing year, according to the following scheme.—In a Branch consisting of not less than twenty members, one member shall be elected as representative, in addition to the Honorary Secretary. If the members amount to more than twenty, for every number of twenty additional members, each Branch shall be entitled to choose one additional representative. A complete list of the members thus chosen shall be sent to the Secretary at least a fortnight before the Annual Meeting, and they shall continue in office till the close of the official year, when they may be either re-appointed or superseded. The duties of the Council shall be:—1. To agree upon a Report to be presented to the Annual General Meeting of the Association. 2. To nominate a President, to be submitted for election to the Annual Meeting. 3. To elect by voting papers ten members of the Council, who, together with the President of the Association for the year, the President of Council, the Secretary of the Association, and one Secretary from each Branch, shall constitute the Committee of Council for the ensuing year.

4. To propose the place of meeting of the Association for the ensuing year. 5. To nominate gentlemen to read such addresses as may be deemed expedient at the Annual Meeting of the ensuing year. 6. To determine the order of business of the General Meeting, so far as that is not determined by the laws relating to General Meetings.

PRESIDENT OF THE COUNCIL.

9. The President of the Council shall be, in the first instance, Sir Charles Hastings, permanently; and on any vacancy occurring, the President shall be elected by the Council at the Annual Meeting for a term of three years.

TREASURER.

10. The Treasurer shall be in the first instance Sir Charles Hastings, permanently; and, on any vacancy occurring, the Treasurer shall be elected at a General Meeting of the Association, and shall hold his office during pleasure.

SECRETARY.

11. There shall be one paid Secretary, resident in some convenient locality, so as to communicate readily with the President of the Council and the Committee of Council. His duties shall be to be present at the meetings of the Association, of the Council, and of the Committee of Council; to record their minutes; to conduct the correspondence of the Association; to superintend the collection of subscriptions, and the enforcement of the laws as regards those in arrear; and otherwise to obey the directions of the Council and Committee of Council. The Secretary shall be elected at an Annual or Special Meeting of the Association. The offices of Secretary and Editor of the JOURNAL shall not be held by the same person.

INTERIM OFFICERS.

12. In the event of the death or resignation of any of the officers of the Association, the Committee of Council shall have power to appoint a successor in his stead; such appointment, except in the case of the President, to be ad interim, and only till confirmed at an Annual or Special Meeting.

COMMITTEE OF COUNCIL.

13. The Committee of Council shall manage the affairs of the Association in the intervals between the general meetings; they shall meet not less than twice in the year, and shall be presided over by the President of the Council; or, in his absence, by a Chairman appointed by the meeting. The Committee of Council shall appoint the Editor of the JOURNAL, who shall be responsible to them for its management; they shall direct any other publications of the Association, and shall take cognizance of any matter which may require immediate decision. Five members to be a quorum. The Secretary shall call a meeting of the Committee at any time on receiving a requisition from five of its members, the object for which the meeting is called being specified.

ADMISSION OF MEMBERS.

14. Any qualified medical practitioner, not disqualified by any bye-law, who shall be recommended as eligible by any three members, shall be admitted a member at any time by the Committee of Council, or by the Council of any Branch.

SUBSCRIPTION.

15. The subscription to the Association shall be One Guinea annually; and each member on paying his subscription shall be entitled to receive the publications of the Association of the current year. The subscription shall date from the 1st January in each year, and shall be considered as due unless notice of withdrawal be given in writing to the Secretary on or before the 25th of December previous. If any member's subscription remain unpaid twelve months after it shall have become due, the publications of the Society shall be withheld from such member until his arrears be paid.

16. The name of no member shall remain on the books of the Association, whose arrears extend over three years; but the omission of the name from the list of members shall not be deemed, either in honour or equity, to relieve any member from his liability for the subscriptions due for the period during which he has availed himself of the privileges of membership.

EXPULSION OF MEMBERS.

17. If a member be accused of professional impropriety or misconduct, a majority of three-fourths of those present at an Annual or Special General Meeting may determine that the member offending be expelled from the Association; but no measure of this kind shall be adopted unless the accused shall have had two months notice of the charges to be brought against him.

HONORARY MEMBERS.

18. Honorary Members may be elected by the general body, on the recommendation of the Council at an Annual Meeting; they shall be members of the medical profession, of scientific eminence, or who may have rendered some distinguished service to the Association. Gentlemen having these qualifications, but residing in the colonies or in foreign countries, may be elected Corresponding Members. Honorary and Corresponding Members shall not be entitled to any further privilege than that of attendance at the meetings of the Association, and to the receipt by any such member of copies of any memoir or communication of his printed by the Association.

ANNUAL MEETING.

19. The Annual Meeting shall be held at a period to be fixed by the Committee of Council; the place of meeting being determined prospectively in each year by the vote of the Association. At this meeting the Council shall present a Report, detailing the general state, proceedings, and pecuniary condition of the Association. One or more Addresses in Medicine or Surgery shall be read by gentlemen appointed to that office in the previous year. Cases and Communications on Medical subjects may be read, and general business shall be transacted in such order as the Council may determine. The order of business shall be regulated and announced, as far as possible, at the commencement of the meeting.

SPECIAL MEETINGS.

20. The Committee of Council shall have the power to call a Special General Meeting of the Association at any time; and they shall do so within four weeks after receiving a requisition to that effect, signed by at least fifty members. The notice calling the meeting shall state the objects for which the meeting is called, and no other business shall be transacted.

NEW LAWS.

21. Any member wishing to propose a new Law, or an alteration of an existing Law, must send notice to the Secretary at least two months previous to the Annual Meeting, and specify the change proposed. The Secretary shall immediately cause such notice to be published in the JOURNAL, which publication shall be repeated three times at least, and it shall be announced in the Report of the Council.

BENEVOLENT FUND.

22. A Medical Benevolent Society, under such regulations as may be approved by the Council, shall be connected with the Association. It shall be called the "Benevolent Fund of the British Medical Association".

FINANCIAL REPORT.

23. The Committee of Council shall annually prepare a statement of accounts up to the last day of each year, and a Report upon the financial condition of the Association, which shall be published in the JOURNAL within the first three months of the year. The accounts shall be previously audited every year by two auditors appointed at the preceding Annual Meeting, and not holding any other office in the general Association.

PUBLICATIONS.

24. The JOURNAL, under the title of the "BRITISH MEDICAL JOURNAL: BEING THE JOURNAL OF THE BRITISH MEDICAL ASSOCIATION", shall be published weekly in London, and shall be conducted by a paid Editor, who shall be responsible for all that appears in its pages, except such matter as may be printed by direction of the Council, and Committee of Council. The JOURNAL shall contain papers on medical science; and shall be considered the medium of communication between the members of the Association. In it shall be inserted all intimations of places and times of meeting, whether of the Association or the Branches; notices of motions, etc.; at least once in each year a list of the members of the Association; and any other Association business that the Council or Committee of Council may direct. Transactions shall be published occasionally, if the funds of the Association permit.

DISTRICT BRANCHES.

25. For the purposes of self-government, and for wider diffusion of the benefits of the Association, the members shall be united into District Branches. Any number of members meeting together may form themselves into a Branch of the Association; but no Branch consisting of less than twenty members shall have the privilege of sending a representative to the Council.

26. The District Branches shall be free to govern themselves as their respective members shall think fit; but no Branch law shall be valid which in the opinion of the Committee of Council shall contravene any fundamental law of the Association.

27. The District Branches shall each pay their own expenses.

PHILIP H. WILLIAMS, M.D., Secretary.

Worcester, November, 1859.

Reports of Societies.

OBSTETRICAL SOCIETY OF LONDON.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 2ND, 1859.

EDWARD RIGBY, M.D., President, in the Chair.

TWENTY-EIGHT gentlemen were elected into the Society, and the names of thirteen were read as candidates for the Fellowship.

A number of eminent obstetricians were proposed by the Council for election as Honorary Fellows, according to the bye-laws. They will be balloted for at the next meeting of the Society, in December.

COMMUNICATIONS.

A Case of Craniotomy, in which Delivery was readily effected by Turning, after Perforation, when Instrumental Extraction was found impossible, etc. By F. W. MACKENZIE, M.D. The conjugate diameter, at the brim, was only two inches and three-eighths. As the woman had arrived at the full term of gestation, it was thought necessary to perforate the cranium; but all subsequent attempts at extraction by the crotchet and craniotomy forceps failed. Turning was, however, easily performed, and the child brought away. The mother died, apparently from exhaustion, a few hours afterwards. The paper concluded with the suggestion that turning should be had recourse to in all cases of craniotomy similar to the one detailed.

A New Principle of Treatment and Apparatus for Vesico-Vaginal Fistula. By ROBERT BATTEY, M.D., of Georgia, United States. The principle which the author proposes to introduce in the treatment of this affection, is moderate pressure upon the approximated edges of the fistula, with the object of so condensing the tissue as to make a watertight joint, through which it shall be impossible for the urine to flow. The apparatus is so constructed as to give a power over an obstinate fistula for its ready closure, not heretofore possessed by any of the appliances in use—a power, also, which may be usefully exerted for bringing down the uterus and vagina so as to render the fistula easily accessible. It is so constructed as to permit a full inspection of the edges of the fistula up to the last step of the operation, so that the operator may determine, by the eye, the exact coaptation of the edges. The compress and splint are combined in a simple leaden bar, which has a row of perforations on one edge and notches on the other; by this arrangement enabling the operator to avail himself of the advantages above mentioned.

ON THE STATISTICS OF MIDWIFERY, FROM THE RECORDS OF PRIVATE PRACTICE. BY ROBERT DUNN, ESQ.

In this paper was comprised a summary view of the author's midwifery records for twenty years. He began by expressing his conviction that the records of private practice might be usefully and advantageously contrasted with the statistics of lying-in hospitals and public institutions; and that, while his own experience could only be brought to bear upon the working and middle classes of society, he hoped—seeing how important was the influence which the different modes and habits of life had upon the parturient process—that other Fellows of the Society would not be wanting to supply the desiderata in relation to the other grades and ranks of social life; not only to the highest, to those living in the lap of luxury, surrounded by the elegancies, and enjoying all the indulgences of life, but also to the lowest, to those sunk in the depths of indigence, ignorance, and penury, and often without even the ordinary comforts of life. The author considered that what had been said of statistics in relation to medicine in general, applied with peculiar force to obstetrics in particular; for what we wanted in midwifery “were facts, comparable facts, numerous facts, well observed, carefully arranged, minutely classified, and acutely analysed.”

From 1831 to 1850, a period of twenty years, he had registered 4049 cases of midwifery as occurring in his practice. Of these, after deducting 228 for premature births, there were 2,133 male, and 1,688 female children. In regard to plurality of infants, there were two cases of triplets, and forty-five of twins. He had met with three cases of monstrosity, one of which was worthy of notice, and had been put upon record in The Lancet for April 27th, 1844. It was that form of monstrosity which Dr. A. G. Otto has designated Monstrum humanum sereni-forme. He had met with one instance of the hydatidiform or vesicular mole, and several cases of cranial blood-swellings, three of hare-lip, four of cleft palate, three of spina bifida, and five of imperforate anus. In one of the last, Amussat's operation for artificial anus in the left lumbar region was attempted, but was not successful. The descending colon was found to be impervious, and not larger than a crow-quill.

There were 170 still-born children in all, from various causes, and in 30 cases death was attributable to the pressure of the cranial bones upon the brain in tedious and difficult labours. There were 60 instances of preternatural presentations. Of 11 cases in which there was a prolapsus of the funis, 8 were born dead; and of these, in 3 instances, the cord came down with the head, in 2 with the head and arm, in 1 with the foot, and in 2 with the shoulder. Of 25 breech presentations, 9 were still-born; and of these 5 were putrid. There were 3 face presentations, 1 child dead; 11 cases face to pubes; 2 head and arm, both dead; 3 hand, and 3 footling cases.

In the use of the forceps the author confessed to have had but slender experience. Impressed with the importance of the maxim, that “a meddling midwifery is a bad midwifery,” he had always, in the absence of danger to the life of the mother, and when convinced in his own mind that the natural efforts would effect delivery, been content to wait, and had avoided instrumental interference. He had had ten cases of craniotomy; two proved fatal to the mothers—one from sloughing of the bladder, the other from a tumour at the neck of the womb. Once satisfied that the child was dead, he had never hesitated to have recourse, without delay, to craniotomy. The use of the stethoscope, in such cases, he considered of paramount importance. Of placenta prævia, six cases had occurred in his practice: three since the promulgation of Dr. Simpson's views and mode of treatment. He gave a brief narrative of two of these: one as having presented evidence to his own mind that the detached portion of the placenta, from its appearance and condition, had afforded the channel through which the blood had gushed; and the other as being an instance of the instantaneous arrest of the hæmorrhage as soon as the placenta had been entirely and completely separated from the uterus. He had met with thirty cases of adherent placenta requiring the introduction of the hand into the uterus; and four instances of the hour-glass contraction. He had witnessed two fatal cases from sheer exhaustion after delivery, where the hæmorrhage before the birth of the child had been great; and one fatal case of internal flooding. Other fatal cases of exhaustion he referred to, which were unconnected with the loss of blood. One interesting and instructive case had come under his notice, in which, while the mother lay in a state of coma from an apoplectic seizure, and the phenomena of life were reduced to a mere series of automatic movements, a fœtus of five or six months was expelled from the womb. Of twelve cases of puerperal fever which had occurred, three were acute, and terminated fatally. In one of these, the placenta had been found adherent, with hour-glass contraction of the uterus, and great hæmorrhage. In all, excepting where an hereditary tendency existed to mental disease, the loss of blood had been great. Of puerperal convulsions, he had met with four cases—none fatal; of phlegmasia dolens, six, and two proved fatal; of scarlatina, three, and one died.

Dr. BARNES made some brief observations on Mr. Dunn's treatment of his cases of placenta prævia, to which Dr. WALLER replied, as he had partly been responsible for their management.

Dr. TANNER remarked that the ruling law in Mr. Dunn's practice seemed to have been the old proverb that “meddlesome midwifery is bad.” Dr. Tanner considered that this rule was the cause of a great deal of mischief. In practice, it was not only necessary to consider the life of the mother, but also to how great an extent we might beneficially mitigate her sufferings. A lingering labour could hardly be otherwise than injurious to both mother and child. Although his practice had been much smaller than Mr. Dunn's, yet during the last twelve years he had employed the forceps much more frequently than this gentleman, and had obtained only the happiest results place a brass plate on his door, having upon it "Doctor A," or "Doctor B." No, no! I practised several years as L.S.A.; but subsequently passed my examination, with eight others, at the College of Surgeons, and thus became SURGEON. To those who feel aggrieved at being stripped of their false plume, I would gently say, "Go, and do likewise;" but it is not likely the court will grant their diploma without an examination of the candidate, nor would it be just to the public at large, or to the members as a body. I am, etc., BETA.

PUBLIC VACCINATION.

SIR,—I do not think that the present arrangement about vaccination works well, nor do I think it just to more than half the medical men.

Some persons of respectable appearance avail themselves of the Act, and get their children vaccinated by the parish doctor. Their next door neighbour, perhaps, would not allow their children, on any account, to come under his hands, but they do not see why they should pay for having their children vaccinated, when so and so gets it done for nothing. So, between their dislike to the parish doctor, and the objection of paying their own, the children are not vaccinated at all.

Again, some who are not patients of the parish doctor do have their children vaccinated by him; and that is the thin edge of a wedge to split off the former medical attendant. The doctor vaccinates; calls to see the child; recommends a little medicine; calls to see the effect; the mother, it may be, having the doctor in the house, says, that "Mary Ann is not very well; now you are here, Mr. B., you may just as well say what you think of her." Mr. B. thinks Mary Ann not well, but that a little medicine will put her right; he sends it, and, by following it up, gets the family altogether.

The plan I would recommend is this. Let the registrar leave an order with the parents to have the child vaccinated by a registered practitioner before a certain date. The medical man who vaccinates the child will take that order (with as many more as he can get), and at the end of three months send them to the registrar for payment. The registrar will present them to the Board of Guardians, and get the money, with the usual three pence for collecting. The medical man would give the parents a certificate of successful vaccination.

I am, etc., L.R.C.P., M.R.C.S., L.M.

MEDICAL TITLES.

SIR,—I was much amused and instructed last week by the letter from a "Surgeon and Apothecary," which appeared in your JOURNAL, regarding the medical titles and their meaning, as applied to the new Medical Act; and I agree with your correspondent in thinking that it would be far more creditable to individuals of the medical profession to endeavour to uproot the real enemies of it, than to interfere with each other, who really possess qualifications, as in the case of "Fitzpatrick versus Hallows." I presume that, according to the strict interpretation of the law, an M.R.C.S. can only claim for attendance in surgical cases; the proportion of which, in general practice, would be very few; and that from his surgery he cannot prescribe legally for any medical case whatever. An L.A.C. has the right of prescribing for medical and general cases, with midwifery, and its consequences; although, in fact, he cannot, it appears, append the dignity of surgeon on his door; yet, without it, he acts in every medical and surgical capacity. Can the new act, or any other act, affect him in so doing? if so, I shall be glad to be informed of it, and to what extent.

I am, etc., AN OLD PRACTITIONER AND ASSOCIATE.

November 5th, 1859.

MEDICAL MEN WITH ONE QUALIFICATION.

SIR,—In your leading article of last week, upon the subject of "Medical Registration," you state, that "it has been decided wisely we think, not to meddle, for the present, at least, with medical men practising with a single qualification." Surely, sir, you do not mean to infer, that medical men and old practitioners are to go to school again, who possess a single qualification under the new Act, whether it may be M.R.C.S. or L.A.C. or any other qualification! If so, what will become of some of the leading surgeons of the day, and many other honourable members of the profession? Should it be the habit of the medical associations to pry into the qualifications of registered practitioners, I consider that the new Act in many cases will prove a curse instead of a benefit to the profession, and defeat the object for which it was intended. The Medical Act of 1815 was not retrospective, neither would it be just towards any legally qualified practitioner that the present one should be. I enclose my card. I am, etc.,

PROSECUTIONS UNDER THE MEDICAL ACT.

SEVERAL prosecutions have within the last few days taken place in the country, of persons who have been practising in contravention of the Medical Act.

At the Halesworth Petty Sessions, an action was brought by Dr. Chevallier, Honorary Secretary of the Ipswich Registration Association, against Frederick Woodcock Pedgrift, for having, on the 5th of August last, wilfully and falsely pretended to be a general practitioner and a surgeon. It was proved by the evidence of two persons—one a member and the other the agent of a club called the "Rational Sick and Burial Association"—that Mr. Pedgrift had attended the former as a medical practitioner, giving him medicine for what he described as "a stoppage of water and an abscess in the kidney". The charge of pretending to be a surgeon was supported by the evidence of Dr. Chevallier, who stated that he had visited Halesworth on October 12th, and had observed a plate with the name of Mr. Pedgrift, and Mr. Irwin, surgeon, accoucheur, etc. The plate was enclosed in one frame. He would have, as a stranger, taken Mr. Pedgrift to be a medical man. In answer to a question from the counsel for the defence, Dr. Chevallier said he had come to Halesworth to look at the plate, for the purpose of assisting the Registrar, and to avoid the idea that the prosecution was a personal matter with the medical men of the vicinity. The bench of magistrates adjudged the defendant to pay a penalty of £10 in each case, with costs. An application for a case was made by the defendant's counsel, but was refused.

At the Bristol Police Court, on October 29th, Thomas Airey, of Castle Street, Bristol, was charged with using the name and title of "Doctor", and affixing the letters M.R.C.S. and M.R.C.P. to his name. A labourer named Higgins deposed that he had observed in the defendant's window, "Dr. Airey—Advice gratis", and over the door "M.R.C.S." and "M.R.C.P."; that, on inquiring for "Surgeon Airey", the defendant had answered to that designation; that the defendant examined him, and gave him medicine, which "nearly burned his inside out"; and that he had heard the defendant (who, it appears, delivers lectures of some kind) state that he was a qualified practitioner. Confirmatory evidence was given by Dr. Parsons of Bristol, and by a person named Slee. Dr. Parsons produced the Medical Register. The legal defender of Airey argued at some length in favour of the defendant, by alleging that he at no time whatever represented himself to be a member of the Royal College of Surgeons; for he had made it known to the public, both in his handbills and in the newspaper advertisements, that he was not registered in England. The diplomas which had been produced conclusively showed he was in a position to act as a doctor; and the initials M.R.C.S. referred to his being a Member of the Reformed College of Surgeons, as the diplomas showed; of course there was nothing royal in America. He then cited a case from the Lancet in reference to the official register, where, in Lincolnshire, it was held, upon the authority of Mr. Jardine of London, the register was not correct, inasmuch as there were appendices published, according to the evidence of Dr. Parsons. Moreover, this information could not be sustained; for foreigners were permitted to practise in this country. In conclusion, the learned counsel called attention to the fact that, as far back as August last, the defendant had actually made application to be registered, and the application was still under consideration. The Bench deferred judgment.

On October 31st, two cases were tried before the magistrates at Oldham. The first case was that of William Smith, a homœopathic practitioner, charged on the information of Dr. Armitage, secretary to the Oldham District Medical Registration Association, with having, on October 22nd, wilfully and falsely taken the name and title of a doctor of medicine. The defendant, it seems, has a degree from "The Pennsylvania College of Homœopathic Medicine, Philadelphia." It was proved by the testimony of a woman named Butler, that he had given her medicine, and had signed a medical certificate for her, as she belonged to a club. An attempt was made by the defendant to set aside the Register, when produced in evidence, on the grounds that, having been published in July, it could not be the Register which was ordered by the Medical Act to be published in January; and that it was not a correct register. The defendant represented that he had applied to be registered under a foreign qualification, and that there had not been time for the Medical Council to examine this. He moved for an adjournment, to prove that he had done everything he could to get registered, and to show that the prosecution he was subjected to was persecution, that it was trumpery and hasty. The undue haste which had been shown on the part of his prosecutors to get him stated to be an unqualified practitioner before the council had decided on his case, was a side blow at him. He wished to show that the annoyance he was subjected to arose from the position he had attained as an homœopathic practitioner.

A similar charge was brought against Joseph Staveacre, of Oldham. It was proved that he had filled up a printed form of a sick certificate for a member of a "Village School Sick and Benefit Society;" and that he had on his door a plate denoting that he was a surgeon. It was pleaded that, whether possessing a diploma or not, he had been well educated, having attended lectures on medicine; and objection was taken, as in the former case, to the printed copy of the Register. The presiding magistrate said the object of the Medical Act of 1858 was to enable people to distinguish between qualified and unqualified persons. William Smith had been summoned under the 40th section, for having "wilfully and falsely pretended to be, and taken and used, the title of doctor of medicine," thereby implying that he was registered under the act of 1858, whereby he had subjected himself to a penalty not exceeding £20. The bench were unanimously of opinion that the case had been clearly proved against him; and they therefore inflicted the nominal penalty of 40s. and costs, as it was the first offence. In the case of Joseph Staveacre, the bench were also of opinion that the case was proved, and they regretted to see that a practitioner who had acquired a position in the town for so many years, should have made himself liable to the law, but having a regard to their duty, they inflicted on him a penalty of 40s. and costs. Mr. Ponsonby said, in any future cases, the Medical Association would press for the highest penalty.

Mr. Holker (the legal adviser of Staveacre), asked for a case for the Queen's Bench, but subsequently the fines and costs were paid in both instances.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE, LONDON. The Council held their first session of the academical year 1859-60, on Saturday last. Bequests to the hospital were reported; viz.: by Richard Joseph Reed, late of Middle Temple Lane, gentleman, £100; by Mrs. Hannah Bull, of Earl Court, Old Brompton, widow, £100; by Mrs. Mary Ann Worley, of Stony Stratford, £1,000; by Mr. Sigismund Stibel, late of Gordon Square, £200, free of duty. On the recommendation of the hospital committee, the name of Mr. Frederick D. Goldsmid was added to the list of Vice-Presidents of the hospital. A vote of thanks was passed to Sir Francis Goldsmid for his eloquent address and courteous conduct in the chair at the presentation of medals to the students of the faculty of medicine, on the opening of the medical session on the 3rd of October. The Longridge Prize of £40, for general proficiency in medicine and surgery, by the recommendation of the faculty of medicine, was conferred on Mr. Thomas Charles Kirby. The award of Dr. Fellowes's Clinical gold medals, for the best observations on cases in the hospital, to Mr. Thomas Charles Kirby and Mr. Augustus Mawley, equal in merit, was reported.

COLLEGE OF DENTISTS. A course of six lectures on the surgery of the mouth and jaws is being delivered at this institution by Mr. Erichsen. The first lecture was delivered on Tuesday, October 25th, and the lectures are being continued on the evenings of alternate Tuesdays. In the course the following subjects are treated of:—Malformations; Injuries; Diseases of the Periosteum and Bone; Tumours of the Lower Jaw; Diseases and Tumours of the Upper Jaw; The Influence of Diseased Teeth in exciting various surgical affections; and the influence of Syphilis on the Teeth.

THE MEDICAL SCHOOLS. We learn that there are, at the present time, 1,063 gentlemen pursuing their professional studies at the twelve Metropolitan Schools, being an excess of 42 over the number of last year. This, however, is only from the return of those who have duly registered, as we have reason to know there are several who, from carelessness or other causes, have not yet done so.

RUPTURES.—BY ROYAL LETTERS PATENT.

White's Moc-Main Lever Truss is allowed by upwards of 200 Medical Gentlemen to be the most effectual invention in the curative treatment of HERNIA. The use of a steel spring, so often hurtful in its effects, is here avoided; a soft bandage being worn round the body while the requisite resisting power is supplied by the MOC-MAIN PAD and PATENT LEVER fitting with so much ease and closeness that it cannot be detected, and may be worn during sleep. A descriptive circular may be had, and the Truss (which cannot fail to fit) forwarded by post, on the circumference of the body two inches below the hips being sent to the Manufacturer, MR. WHITE, 228, PICCADILLY, LONDON.

Price of Single Truss, 16s., 21s., 26s. 6d., and 31s. 6d.; postage, 1s. Double Truss, 31s. 6d., 42s., and 52s. 6d.; postage, 1s. 8d. Post-office Orders to be made payable to JOHN WHITE, Post-office, Piccadilly.

ELASTIC STOCKINGS for VARICOSE VEINS, and all cases of Weakness and Swelling of the Legs, Sprains, etc. They are porous, light in texture, and inexpensive, and are drawn on like an ordinary stocking. Price from 7s. 6d. to 16s.

JOHN WHITE, MANUFACTURER, 228, PICCADILLY, LONDON.

JOZEAU'S COPAHINE MEGE.

Or SACCHARATED CAPSULES.—Copaiba and Cubebs are, doubtless, the best remedies, but these drugs are of a repulsive taste and odour, and occasion colicky pains, nausea, and gastric disturbance. M. Jozeau has succeeded in rendering these valuable therapeutic agents perfectly innocuous, by increasing, in his Copahine, all the curative properties. This preparation has been adopted by the Paris Academy of Medicine, after more than a thousand trials in Paris, and the different London Hospitals, viz., St. Thomas's, Guy's, and St. Bartholomew's, under the care of Messrs. Lloyd, Poland, and Le Gros Clark. "Lancet" Nov. 6, and Dec. 10, 1852. The Copahine, which is in form of a pretty pink sugar-plum, effects a cure in about six days, either in recent or chronic diseases. 100 Capsules, 4s. 6d. at G. JOZEAU'S, French Chemist, 49, Haymarket, London; 22, Rue St. Quentin, Paris; and all the most important Chemists.

Mr. Bourjeaud's Registered Spiral

ELASTIC COMPRESSIONAL APPLIANCES, to be obtained only at No. 11, DAVIES STREET, BERKELEY SQUARE, W., and at No. 11, RUE DES BEAUX ARTS, PARIS, and through Medical Practitioners.

BELT AND AIR-PAD FOR INGUINAL HERNIA.

MR. BOURJEAUD, in submitting the accompanying Diagrams, presents his best thanks to the Members of the Medical Profession for their unceasing support of his invention of the Spiral Elastic Compression Principle in Surgical Appliances, and for the continuance of innumerable recommendations in all parts of the kingdom, at the same time he feels it incumbent upon him to remind his friends, that this Invention was registered by him in February 1848, and, immediately after, advertised in the Medical Journals, thus affording an undeniable contradiction to the assertions of the unblushing appropriators of his principle, who have never appeared till within the last three and a half years, and yet style themselves Patentees, Registrars, etc., of the Spiral Principle. The advantage of qualifying antecedents, and being a Member of the Surgical Profession, have enabled Mr. B., by confining his attention to the superintendence of the manufacture and adjustment of his appliances, to attain great proficiency; and he considers it essential, especially in difficult cases, that patients should be attended by himself or his assistants, and if not practicable, by a Member of the Profession, as it must be admitted to be exceedingly hazardous for the suffering to entrust their limbs or cases of hernia to persons totally ignorant of anatomical or physiological laws.

The charges, estimating the amount of benefit afforded, are less than the prices of the imitations: Mr. B. invites an inspection, and of the certificates confirming his sole claim to the inventions.

N.B. No. 11, DAVIES STREET, near Mivart's Hotel. The Establishment is strictly private. At home from 10 till 6.

For Varicose Veins and Weakness.

—Very superior SURGICAL ELASTIC STOCKINGS and KNEE-CAPS, on a New Principle, pervious, light in texture, and inexpensive, yielding an efficient and unvarying support, under any temperature, without the trouble of Lacing or Bandaging. Likewise, a strong low-priced article for Hospitals and the Working-classes.

ABDOMINAL SUPPORTING BELTS for both Sexes those for Ladies' use, before and after accouchement, are admirably adapted for giving adequate support with EXTREME LIGHTNESS—a point little attended to in the comparatively clumsy contrivances and fabrics hitherto employed.
