

not succeed, and in this my experience agrees with that of Kaposi; and, although I have had the young lady's hair cut short, I am not very sanguine that it will be successful. Dr. Fox recommends epilation for the beard, but this would be practically impossible when half the head is affected.

PATENT MEDICINES.

MR. JOHN SCOTT (Manchester) writes: The foolish mother of a five weeks' old infant, which was suffering from diarrhoea, purchased some stuff called "infants' preservative," and gave the child a teaspoonful. The diarrhoea promptly ceased; so did consciousness. After five hours of ineffectual treatment, the child was brought to me in a state of deep coma. Paradism failed to arouse consciousness, or to improve the flagging respiration. By means of a Feale's worm-catheter stuck on the end of a Higginson's syringe, warm water was injected into the stomach; and, as vomiting was not induced, reflex irritability being completely in abeyance, the catheter was jerked off the syringe, and by siphon action the stomach made to empty itself of a strong-smelling brownish fluid. The proceeding was repeated several times, until the stomach was washed clean. In about two hours, the child was fit to be sent home.

There is nothing remarkable about this case medically, but there is a good deal that is remarkable about the manner in which our provident mother-State allows these nostrums to be sold. In Quain's Dictionary, I find that "there is no doubt that great numbers of infants perish every year in this country through the improper use of quack remedies containing opium." The State is bustling enough over alcohol, vaccination, education, the load-lines, and I know not what else; but its indifference to the lives of the infants is exasperating. The principle with reference to all quack remedies is si quis vult decipi, decipiatur. Perhaps it rejoices in the money it gets from stamp-duties.

One remedy is easy, and in a short time would be effectual. Let the analysis of any secret remedy be printed on the outside of the package containing it. The commercial Briton would soon cease to pay more than the market price for bread-crumbs or citrate of potash. But would not this be interfering with private enterprise, and robbing some philanthropist of the fruit of his brains? Not so; for we of the medical profession, at least, know that the success of the patentee of every secret remedy depends solely on the audacity with which he plumbs the depths of human credulity.

This is by no means the first time that the evils of infant-drugging have been forced on me; and I am convinced that, if as much energy were devoted to the solution of this problem as is given to much minor matters in the State, it should not be possible to print such a sentence as the above in two successive editions of Quain's Dictionary.

MEDICAL BOOK-KEEPING.

MR. W. W. HARDWICKE (Dovercourt) writes: The subject of medical book-keeping keeps constantly cropping up; and the question, which is the best system, has frequently been a puzzle to us. It has long been acknowledged that the old cumbersome method of our forefathers was very laborious and unsatisfactory, and it was felt that, by a little skill and ingenuity, a far easier and less laborious system might be adopted. There were two points to be kept in mind in introducing any new system; the account must be thoroughly clear, and safe from any mistakes, not only to medical creditor, but to the county court judge, before whom, I regret to say, a great many more of us have to appear than like to; besides this, it must involve the minimum of time and trouble. Two years ago, after using the old-fashioned system for many years, I adopted what appeared to me to be the most concise and convenient of these new systems—the A B C, introduced by Mr. Allsop, of the Shipley Times office, Saltaire, Yorkshire; and after two years of use, I can safely recommend it to my brother practitioners as the most convenient that can possibly be adopted. This system consists of day-book and ledger only. The principle of it is the gradual condensation of the account, without the old repetition. The day-book takes the place of the old list-book and day-book—in fact, is an enlarged list-book; no prescriptions are entered here, but each item supplied to a patient during any day is entered under a sign, a list of which is printed on the first page. Each page lasts one month. At any time the items are priced, and at the end of the month the total amount is placed in the total column at the end of the line, then carried to its proper place in the ledger. Nothing is entered in the ledger but cash, and it is also ruled ready for use.

A certain number of pages are set apart for each letter of the alphabet, the number varying according to the letter, so that the trouble of indexing and referring so frequently is entirely dispensed with. The page required is turned to at once, say "B," and the eye runs down the name column till the particular one required, say "Bennett," is found. Each name has a space composed of five horizontal lines, representing five years; these are divided longitudinally into months, with two parallel cash-columns at the end of each three months or quarter. The headings are all printed ready for use, so that, when an amount for any month is brought from the day-book, the name is found, and the amount placed in its proper place in an instant. I usually make a note above such as "Mr., Mrs., Child," etc.

The accounts can be sent out as often as required, quarterly (which is certainly the best plan), half-yearly, or even annually (although now obsolete). It can thus be seen with what a small amount of labour the book-keeping of a large practice can be managed, and the regular writing out of bills, child's play compared with the old plan, which generally occupied all the spare time of about a fortnight; whereas the bills for a practice of £1,000 a year can now be written out in the spare time of twenty-four to forty-eight hours. The bill—heads I use with this system are: "Professional attendance upon ——— January ——— and ——— February ——— and ——— 2—"
Mrs. Bennett

In the event of any amount not being required in full, as occurs sometimes with the poorer classes, certain pages at the end of the ledger are set apart for instalments. A reference is made to the proper space in the instalment-pages, thus "1," which reads: page 346, No. 2 space, which turned to, is found the name simply—"Bennett."

The arrangement of these pages is somewhat different to the others. Each page is divided into ten spaces, and each space lasts five years, as the ordinary ledger pages. But here the account, being still more condensed, is reduced to quarters. Four cash-columns, headed "1st, 2nd, 3rd, and 4th quarters," are placed side by side; then comes another column for "arrear," and another, the 6th, for "total amount owing." The rest of the space to the end of the line is taken up with instalment-columns for each month in the year, with a "total cash paid" column at the extreme end.

With this system, an account for five years can be seen at a glance, and bills of particulars written out in a very few minutes, if required. With regard to prescriptions, only fresh prescriptions are written; and these, being usually few, are best written on a slip of paper carried in the pocket-book where the daily list of patients is carried, at the patient's house, with the date, which plan saves the trouble of going over each case a second time, on arriving home after a round. Where an assistant is kept, these are handed to him, with a list of those requiring medicines, etc., repeating.

The result of the day's work is entered up in the day-book either at night or in the morning, at the same time that the list for the next day is arranged. These prescriptions may be either filed, or gummed into a book kept for the purpose, the former being the easier method, but in all private cases they ought to be kept. In club-practice, the record can be kept on the label.

As regards visits to club-patients, it is advisable to keep a list of them at the bottom of the page in the day-book, so that they may not be forgotten.

The signs for the day-book are very simple, and easily learned. The day-book and ledger may be made to last ten, fifteen, or twenty years. I have omitted to mention that in the day-book are spaces for "midwifery engagements," and "addresses of nurses, etc."

I would recommend this book always to be interleaved with blotting-paper. Besides these books, it is generally necessary to keep a private cash-book and an expenses-book.

LOGY, THERAPEUTICS, and MATERIA
 MEDICA. By T. LAUDER BRUNTON, M.D., D.Sc., F.R.C.S., Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians; Assistant Physician and Lecturer on Materia Medica at St. Bartholomew's Hospital; Examiner in Materia Medica in the University of London, in the Victoria University, and in the Royal College of Physicians, London; Late Examiner in the University of Edinburgh. Adapted to the United States Pharma-copoeia by E. H. Williams, M.D., Boston, Mass.

"The work has little in common with the old-fashioned books on materia medica. It is not a mere collection of dry facts and technical details, but a scientific treatise worthy to be ranked with the highest productions in physiology, either in our own or any other language. It is a book of study for the scientist, and a work of reference for the practical physician."—Lancet.

"A work which marks a distinct epoch, a turning-point in the history of medicine. It is not a mere compilation, but it is essentially a new departure breaking away from well-worn tracks into a new and almost unknown region."—Medical Times and Gazette.

By the same Author.

MANUAL OF PATHOLOGICAL HISTOLOGY By CORNIL and RANVIER.

Second Edition, Re-edited and Enlarged. Translated, with the approval of the Authors, by A. M. HART.

Vol. I.—Histology of the Tissues. Demy 8vo, 21s. Vol. II., Part I.—Special Pathological Histology. Lesions of the Organs, Part I. With 125 Illustrations, demy 8vo, 12s.

From the British Medical Journal, of June 12th.—"This final part includes an unrivalled photograph on the pathology of the skin, and the whole work stands in the first rank of European medical literature. . . . Cornil and Ranvier's Manual of Pathological Histology enjoys, in its original form, perennial popularity among French students, and we venture to say it has rather gained than lost by the carefully studied translation, in which methodical condensation has been, to some extent, applied with conscientious care. As a whole, this manual cannot fail to take a foremost place in high medical education. To students and practitioners it conveys an amount of information hardly to be got elsewhere."

A DICTIONARY OF PRACTICAL SURGERY

BY VARIOUS BRITISH HOSPITAL SURGEONS.

EDITED BY CHRISTOPHER HEATH, F.R.C.S.,

Holme Professor of Clinical Surgery in University College, London; Surgeon to University College Hospital; Member of the Council and Court of Examiners of the Royal College of Surgeons of England.

* PROSPECTUSES GIVING THE CONTRIBUTIONS OF EACH WRITER, AND FULL PARTICULARS OF THE SCOPE AND OBJECT OF THE DICTIONARY, WILL BE SENT POST FREE ON APPLICATION.

"Altogether, the work is a credit to the energy, industry, and skill of the authors, editor, and publisher, and will rank highly wherever British surgery is consulted, and wherever the English language is understood. . . . All its contributors are to be congratulated upon its appearance. . . . It is too often the case, in the modern casualties scribendi, that the book makes the author's reputation, and not that the author ensures the reputation of the book. In the present instance, however, the editor has so judiciously chosen his contributors, that they will guarantee the thoroughness and reliability of the book as a standard work of reference."—British Medical Journal.

"The dictionary will stand undoubted as one of the most trustworthy works of reference published in modern times upon practical surgery, and will form a valuable and almost essential occupant of the practitioner's library. . . . There are no fewer than 126 different contributors, most of them well-known to surgery. Moreover, most of them are identified with the subjects upon which they have written, and it would be difficult to find authors more capable of giving an authoritative opinion upon the different matters to which their names are appended. This in itself must make the dictionary a standard work of reference."—London Medical Record.

MAIGNEN'S PATENT "FILTRE RAPIDE."

UNPRECEDENTED SUCCESS AND HONOURS.

HIGHEST AWARD
HEALTH EXHIBITION.

HIGHEST AWARD
INVENTIONS EXHIBITION.

The great success of this new process of filtration will easily be understood by a consideration of the construction and mode of action of MAIGNEN'S PATENT "FILTRE RAPIDE."

Explanation of the domestic filters known as "Cottage," "Filtre Rapide," and "Bijou D," "Filtre Rapide."

Fig. 3 is a section of these Filters. R is the reservoir for the filtered water; A is the filter case proper; M is the filtering frame secured in the case with a pure asbestos washer; E is the asbestos cloth attached to the frame with asbestos cords; D is a layer of powdered filtering medium—MAIGNEN'S PATENT

Powdered CARBO-CALCIS—deposited automatically by being mixed with the first water poured into the filter, as shown in Fig. 4; C is granular Carbo-Calcis put in loosely to fill all the available space between the layer of powdered Carbo-Calcis and the screen B. The water being put into the filter, passes first through the granular Carbo-Calcis, then through the layer of powdered Carbo-Calcis, and lastly through the asbestos cloth, issuing into the hollow filtering frame M in a most minute state of division. In this state, the water absorbs pure air, which renders the water most pleasant to the taste, and light and easy of digestion. Nothing could be easier than the way this filter is cleaned. The granular Carbo-Calcis is removed and the frame is put under the tap, so that the flow of water washes away the old powdered Carbo-Calcis off the asbestos cloth.

The filter after being washed is re-charged with new Carbo-Calcis as before.

Friedrichshall.

THE WELL-KNOWN APERIENT MINERAL WATER.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

By reason of an improved method of caption, by which dilution is avoided, FRIEDRICHSHALL WATER will be found now to be of considerably greater strength and efficacy than heretofore.

The ordinary dose is a large wineglassful (4 ounces), taken fasting. Most efficacious and more acceptable to the palate when heated or mixed with an equal quantity of very hot water.

"I know nothing at all equal to Friedrichshall. The LONGER it is taken the SMALLER is the quantity necessary to effect the purpose."—SIR HENRY THOMPSON, F.R.C.S., London.

TONGA

A SPECIFIC FOR NEURALGIA.

TONGA is the name given to a remarkable remedy for Neuralgia. It is a fluid extract of a special combination of the Barks, Roots, and Leaves of several plants, the peculiar efficacy of which was discovered by a resident in the South Pacific, whilst seeking relief from intense Neuralgia. The drug was first introduced to us during the summer of 1879. On submitting it to a trial, it was at once found by competent medical authorities to possess extraordinary power in relieving Neuralgic pains. (See papers in The Lancet, of March 6th and 20th, and May 29th, 1884, by DR. RINGER, DR. EUSH, and C. BADER, Esq., for the record of severe Neuralgic pains removed by the use of TONGA.)

"Tonga maintains its reputation in the treatment of Neuralgia."—The Lancet.

"Invaluable in facial Neuralgia."—Medical Press and Circular.

"Has proved effective in all those cases of facial Neuralgia in which we have prescribed it. It is an elegant and easily-taken remedy."—Medical Press and Circular.

Extract from a Letter in the British Medical Journal, March 26th, 1881.

"After trying quinine, arsenic, iron, morphia, and the pills, above mentioned (gelsemium, croton-chloral-hydrate and monobromide of Camphor), Tonga was used, and the effect was almost instantaneous."—KENNETH W. MILLICAN, B.A., L.R.C.P. Ed.

TONGA, unlike opium and other anodynes, produces its remarkable specific action on the nerves without giving rise to any derangement of the digestive or other organs.

DOSE: From half to one Teaspoonful in water three times a day. Relief generally follows the third or fourth dose. N.B.—No ill effects follow from larger doses.

BULLOCK'S PEPSINA PORCI.

DOSE—2 to 4 grains.

Since the introduction by Dr. LIONEL BEALE of PEPSINA PORCI, Mr. BULLOCK has devoted special attention to its manufacture.

BULLOCK'S ACID GLYCERINE OF PEPSINE, DOSE—1 to 2 drms.

Possesses at least three times the digestive power (and in most cases considerably more) than any other preparation of Pepsine and Glycerine, or fluid form of Pepsine whatever.

May be prescribed with most substances compatible with Acids. In 4 oz., 8 oz., and 16 oz. Bottles, and in Bulk.

The published experiments of G. F. DOWDESWELL, Esq., B.A. Cantab., F.C.S., F.L.S., &c., Dr. PAVY, Professor TUSON, the late Professor GARROD, and others, conclusively demonstrated the marked superiority of BULLOCK'S PEPSINA PORCI AND ACID GLYCERINE OF PEPSINE over every other Pepsine or preparation of Pepsine—English, French, German, or American.

In prescribing either of the above preparations it is suggested to bracket in parenthesis as follows (BULLOCK).

NEPENTHE. OR ANODYNE TINCTURE.

PREPARED EXCLUSIVELY FROM OPIUM.

THE SAFEST AND BEST PREPARATION OF OPIUM.

PRODUCES NEITHER HEADACHE, SICKNESS, NOR CONSTIPATION.

Messrs. FERRIS & Co. beg to direct the attention of the Medical Profession to the following important and unsolicited testimonial to the value of NEPENTHE, which they have received from GEO. C. SEARLE, Esq., of Brixham, Devon, M.R.C.S.-L.S.A., Medical Officer of Health, Brixham, etc.

"GENTLEMEN,—I should like to bring before your notice the very great benefit two patients of mine have derived, and are still deriving, from the continued use of NEPENTHE. The first case is that of an old lady nearly 80, who has been suffering now for many years from an ulcerated leg, accompanied at night with very great pain so much so as to prevent her sleeping. About eight years ago I persuaded her to try a dose of NEPENTHE at bed-time, and she has continued taking a dose regularly every night ever since, without any of the bad symptoms generally induced by the continued use of an opiate, but on the contrary, is now, although so aged, in better health than she was eight years ago. The other case is that of a cancer of the face and neck (a very bad case): here there was an intensity of pain which nothing seemed to relieve, although opium, morphia, chloral, and every other sedative which could be thought of had been tried. I at last tried the NEPENTHE, and the result has been an entire cessation of the pain, which has not yet returned, although he has had the medicine now for some weeks. I may mention that in the first case it has not been necessary to increase the dose, and in the latter not to any great extent, which I consider another great advantage NEPENTHE possesses over other preparations of opium. GEO. C. SEARLE."

On 4th February, 1886, Mr. SEARLE writes: You will be glad to hear that my lady patient [referred to above] is still alive and still takes her nightly dose. At the present time she is better than she has been for two years. If she lives till next June she will have taken a dose of NEPENTHE every night for thirteen years."

From The Lancet, December 18th, 1869.

"NEPENTHE, or ANODYNE TINCTURE, prepared by Messrs. FERRIS & Co., Bristol.—This preparation really consists, as stated, solely of Opium, resembling somewhat the liquid extract of the British Pharmacopœia. It is claimed for it that it does not produce headache, stupor, giddiness, depression of spirits, diminution of nervous energy, prostration of strength, nor constipation; it is doubtless less stimulating than those preparations of opium made with the solid and crude drug; and a further commendation of NEPENTHE is its uniformity of strength."

NEPENTHE may be used with perfect safety in every case where an opiate is indicated, and from the peculiar process by which it is prepared, it is deprived of all constituents which render the Tinctura Opii, and other forms of opium, in very numerous instances, wholly inadmissible. It is also of uniform strength, and in this respect possesses high advantages.

NEPENTHE does not produce headache, stupor, giddiness, depression of spirits, diminution of nervous energy, prostration of strength, nor constipation, but induces natural and refreshing sleep.

Dose: The same as that of Tinctura Opii. Price 8s. per lb.

Glycerole of Nepenthe for subcutaneous injection. Price 4s. per oz.

* In the "analysis of 10,000 Medical Prescriptions" recently published by the Chemist and Druggist, "NEPENTHE" occurred 76 times—only two other proprietary articles, Vaseline and Chlorodyne having a higher percentage.

FERRIS AND CO'S ANODYNE AMYL COLLOID.

(REGISTERED UNDER THE TRADE MARK ACT 1875)

Strongly recommended as a most valuable topical application in cases of neuralgia, sciatica, lumbago, and all muscular pains. It is prepared with Hydride of Amyl, Aconitia, Veratrina, and Ethereal Colloid, etc. The Hydride of Amyl by its rapid volatilisation, often produces immediately the desired result; but should the pain continue, the alkaloids can be brought into increased activity by applying moist spongio-piline over the colloidum film. This preparation has now been in use for a sufficient time to test its value and has, in the hands of a large number of medical men, given the most marked and satisfactory results in Neuralgia and Muscular Rheumatism. It has also afforded great relief in cases of "Shingles."—See Medical Record. Letter from Dr. Metcalfe-Johnson, etc., etc.

In bottles stamped, 2s. 6d., 4s. 6d., 6s., and 12s. each, price to Surgeons, 2s., 3s. 6d., 6s. 6d., and 12s. 6d. each. Bottles and stamps included IMPORTANT CAUTION.—Medical Gentlemen are earnestly and respectfully desired to observe that they are supplied with FERRIS and CO'S ANODYNE AMYL COLLOID. This preparation differs essentially from all others. Some UNRELIABLE and USELESS imitations are being advertised, which bear no resemblance either in composition or effect to Ferris and Co.'s special formula. BROMIDIA.

FORMULA.—Every fluid drachm contains 124.5 grains pure Brom. Potas. and purified Chloral, and 1.8 gr. B.A.G.H. of res. imp. ext. Cannabis Ind. and Hyoscyam.

DOSE.—One-half to one fluid drachm in WATER or SYRUP every hour until sleep is produced.

BROMIDIA IS THE HYBNOTIC PAR EXCELLENCE.

It produces Refreshing Sleep, and is exceedingly valuable in Sleeplessness, Nervousness, Neuralgia, Headache, Convulsions, Colics, etc., and will relieve when opiates fail. Unlike preparations of opium it does not lock up the secretions. In the restlessness and delirium of Fevers it is absolutely invaluable.

PEARS' SOAP

CAUTION TO PARENTS.

The delicate Skin of Infants and Children is particularly liable to injury from coarse and unrefined Toilet Soap, which is commonly adulterated with the most pernicious ingredients; hence, frequently the irritability, redness, and blotchy appearance of the Skin, from which many children suffer. It should be remembered that artificially-coloured Soaps are frequently poisonous, particularly the Red, Blue, and Green varieties; and nearly all Toilet Soaps contain an excess of Soda. The serious injury to Children resulting from these Soaps often remains unsuspected, in spite of nature's warnings, until the unhealthy and irritable condition of the Skin has developed into some unsightly disease, not infrequently baffling the skill of the most eminent Dermatologists.

PEARS' SOAP IS ALWAYS SAFE.

Its agreeable perfume, beautiful appearance, and soothing properties, commend it as the greatest luxury of the Toilet.

A SPECIALTY FOR INFANTS

PEARS' SOAP is sold everywhere in Tablets, 1s. each. Larger sizes, 1s. 6d. and 2s. 6d. (The 2s. 6d. Tablet is perfumed with Otto of Roses.) A smaller Tablet, unscented, is sold at 6d. Insist on having PEAR'S, as vilely injurious imitations are often substituted for extra gain, even by dealers who would be thought "respectable," some of whom attract the public into their shops or stores by marking PEAR'S SOAP at less than cost price, and then recommend some rubbish on which they get a large profit.

STRATHPEFFER SPA

(In the Highlands.)

THE attention of the Medical Profession is invited to the rapid development of this Scottish SPA. During the winter the entire Baths have been thoroughly revised throughout; and, among many changes, a large HEATING APPARATUS, on a new principle, introduced.

AMPLE SANITARY ARRANGEMENTS have been secured in the STRATH by the completion of the new DRAINAGE and WATER WORKS. The water is conducted seven miles, from the side of Ben Wyvis (3,426 feet.)

STRATHPEFFER is rich in the possession both of a magnificent mountain CLIMATE, and of powerful SULPHUR and EFFERVESCENT CHALYBEATE SPRINGS. These natural therapeutic resources are most efficacious (with internal and external use) in Gouty and Rheumatic complaints, and Disorders of the Liver and Skin.

HOTELS and VILLAS are numerous. An excellent Band plays during the season. Hours by rail: From Edinburgh, 8; from London, 17.

The sulphur Thermal Springs of AIX-LA-CHAPELLE (Germany).

The hot sulphur waters of Aix are proved to be very useful in cases of rheumatism, rheumatic gout and gout; in exudations of a scrofulous or traumatic origin; in effusions, old exudations and thickenings of the tissues arising from wounds and fractures of the bones, in chronic skin diseases, Acne, Furunculosis, Psoriasis, Chronic Eczema; in every form of Syphilitic Affection; in Mercurial Poisoning and Lead Palsy; in chronic Catarrhal Affections of the Respiratory and the Digestive Systems; in paralysis of Brain and Spine, in Tabes.

The baths are established on the newest scientific principles: Ordinary baths, Douche baths with the water regulated to the required degree of heat; Douches of Thermal water, shower baths, natural vapour baths, Massage, Calisthenic exercises by mechanical means, etc.

The Season goes on and the baths can be used throughout the year. The hotels at Aix are comfortable, prices moderate, and the country around pretty.

Visitors can arrange at the Hotels and Bath houses, Pension or board and lodging, at a moderate fixed sum per day.

Letters can be addressed to the

"Experiments on the Chief Disinfectants of Commerce with a view of ascertaining their power or destroying the spores of the 'Anthrax bacilli,' by a Medical Officer of Health and Public Analyst.

LIQUOR CARBONIS DETERGENS.—This is a solution of certain coal-tar products in spirit. It forms with water an emulsion. Added to water in the proportion of 5 per cent. it had but feeble influence in preventing the subsequent growth of anthrax. A 10 per cent. solution, acting for four hours, distinctly retarded

LIQUOR

THE PRACTITIONER of September, 1881:—"Itching, which owes its origin to too slow a current of blood, or which the most typical example is that seen in Eczema connected with varicose veins of the leg—also Pruritus Scroti, Labiorum, and Ani—is best relieved by weak tarry lotions, one of the best of which is Wright's Liquor Carbonis Detergens, a well-made alcoholic solution of Coal Tar, suitably diluted."

From the LANCET, Dec. 22nd, 1866:—"In our hands it has been a most effective agent in skin diseases, especially of the chronic eczematous class; and one case of psoriasis, which had resisted all other kinds of treatment, speedily got well under the application of the Liquor Carbonis Detergens. We esteem it a very valuable addition to our list of skin remedies."

From the BRITISH MEDICAL JOURNAL, September, 1881:—"We have tested it, and can affirm its value as a detergent agent. We consider the Liquor is an article of great utility."

DUSART'S SYRUP OF LACTO-PHOSPHATE OF LIME.

AN ALIMENT AND MEDICAMENT COMBINED.

The Properties of Lacto-Phosphate of Lime are scientifically founded on Physiological experiments, and for many years it has received the approval of the leading Members of the Medical Profession as the most valuable reconstituent of the tissues and bones. IN ALL CASES OF CAQUIN OR RACHITIS where Nutrition is Impaired by any of the above Complaints.

LACTO-PHOSPHATE OF LIME only differs from PHOSPHATE OF LIME (the natural restorer of muscular fibre and bone) by being made assimilable by the action of its natural solvent, Lactic Acid.

It acts as a general excitant of the nutritive functions, ensures digestion, restores the appetite, enriches the milk of the mother, and improves all the vital energies. In Convalescence, Teething, Rickets, and Impaired Growth it is especially useful, against Scour, Diarrhoea, and all Affections of the Osseous System are rapidly benefited by its use.

DUSART'S SYRUP OF LACTO-PHOSPHATE OF LIME AND IRON.

Is invaluable where any of the above cases are complicated by Chloro-Anemia.

Dose:—For Adults, 3 to 6 Table-spoonfuls a day; for Children, 3 to 6 Dessert-spoonfuls.

IMMERS'S PATENT METALLIC THERMOMETERS.

These neat and elegant instruments give within a fraction of a degree Fahrenheit the ordinary temperature, and are so constructed that they may be carried in the pocket, or attached to the watch-chain. They are graduated double or single scale Fahrenheit, Centigrade, or Reaumur, and are strongly recommended by the Medical and Scientific Press for clinical and other delicate observations. Being made in strong metal cases, they are less liable to get broken than ordinary glass thermometers, and are air and water-tight.

Have been awarded the GOLD MEDAL at the International Exhibition, 1885, and the SILVER MEDAL at the International Exhibition, 1881, and received the only First Class Award at the Medical and Sanitary Exhibition, 1881, as a reliable clinical accessory.

To be had of all Medical and Scientific Instrument Makers and Opticians.

EXACT SIZE.

GUARDED ASPIRATING & EXPLORATORY NEEDLE

By Surgeon-Major HODDER, M.S. Price 10s. 6d.

Sole Makers:—EVANS & WORMULL, 31, Stamford Street, London.

This instrument consists of an Aspirating Needle, which can be made in any size, the guarding being insured by a bulbous pointed hollow tube working in the Needle, and protruded after the Needle is inserted into a cavity, the position being secured by a bayonet catch adjustment, as shown in the drawing; the shape of the inner canula is such that it is not liable to become dislodged, and can then be moved along, about an inch or so, and is then secured by a bayonet catch, and organs or vessels a corresponding opening in both outer and inner tubes allowing fluids to escape through the Needle into Aspirator.

PRATT'S IMPROVED HYDROSTATIC OR WATER-PAD TRUSSES.

The peculiarity of the Water-pad Truss is in its superior adaptability to the Hernial opening, as it exerts an even pressure, without causing wasting of muscular tissue. This tends to cure the Hernia, by allowing the parts to regain their natural muscular power, which cannot be the case with the ordinary pads, as they invariably produce a swelling and loss of tissue, external to the rupture, and frequently necessitate the use of stronger and stronger springs, to the great discomfort of the patient, whilst, with the Water-pad Truss, lighter springs are used after a time.

Many patients, having worn the Water-pad Truss, have expressed their sense of being completely cured, yet in all cases where there has been rupture, it is desirable to continue wearing a truss to prevent its return.

The measure should be given in inches, round the body, taken one inch below the top of hips. State whether the rupture is on both sides, or if on one side only, say which.

SANITARY EARTHENWARE.
THOMAS TWYFORD,
HANLEY, STAFF.

Manufacturer of every description of Lavatory Basins, Plug
Basins, Tip-up Basins, Urinals, Closet Basins, etc., etc.,
White, Painted, Gilt and Decorated.

National, Alliance and Crown Closet Basins.

Simple, Clean, and Effective.

Tested and approved of, and now generally fitted up in H.M. Dockyards and Barracks, and in the Military and Naval Hospitals; and recommended by the Medical Profession, leading Architects, Sanitarians, and Practical Plumbers, for general use in Dwelling-houses, Hotels, Factories, Railway Stations, Hospitals, etc., etc., etc.

The Perfection of Cleanliness, Utility, & Simplicity

Combining W.C. BASIN and
TRAP, URINAL, and SLOP
SINK, has the following
Special Advantages:

Unlike ordinary W. C. Basins, it is not enclosed with wood work, but is fully exposed, so that no filth, nor anything causing offensive smells can accumulate, or escape detection.

All joints and connections being in sight, any leakage or other defect can be easily detected and remedied.

No Wood Fittings are required except a hinged seat, which being raised, the basin can be used as a Urinal or a Slop Sink, the "wedging" objection to Closets having permanent seats being avoided. Free access can thus be had to all parts of the Basin and Trap, so that everything about the Closet can be easily kept clean.

It is now made in three ways:—

1st. With Raised Ornamentation

(white or ivory),

2nd. Plain (white or ivory), or with printed pattern.

3rd. In strong Fire Clay, specially adapted for Factories,
Workhouses, Asylums, Infirmarys,
Hospitals, &c., &c.

The flushing arrangements are so perfect that with a flush of 2 gallons of water, it is guaranteed that all the soil and paper will be completely removed from the Basin, and through Trap, the whole of the inside of Basin being washed, and sufficient water left therein to receive soil.

BENGER'S PREPARATIONS OF THE NATURAL DIGESTIVE FERMENTS.

GOLD MEDAL,
International Health Exhibition,
London.

"Mr. Benger's admirable preparations."—The Lancet,
March 25th, 1882.

"Deserving of the highest praise, and only require to be made known to the profession to ensure their extensive employment."—The Practitioner, Feb., 1883.

I. LIQUOR PANCREATICUS (BENGER).

(REGISTERED).

An extract in which the digestive principles (proteolytic and amylolytic) of the pancreas exist in a state of great activity. It is used chiefly for preparation of peptonised or partially digested foods, such as milk, soups, beef-tea, &c., the administration of which has been attended with such great success in the treatment of various diseases. Simple directions for preparing these accompany each bottle, and no special apparatus is required.

In 4, 8, and 16 oz. bottles.

"It is of this preparation that I must be understood to speak in what I have now to say on the production of artificially digested food."—Lancetian Lectures on the Digestive Ferments and the Preparation and Use of Artificially Digested Food, by Sir WM. ROBERTS, M.D., F.R.S. BENGER'S PEPTONISING POWDERS. "Phlois Pancreaticus Alkalinus (Benger)." In 20 grain powders, one powder will peptonise a pint of milk, gruel, etc., in 15 minutes. In boxes containing 12 powders.

2. LIQUOR PEPTICUS (BENGER).

AN EXCEEDINGLY ACTIVE FLUID PEPSINE. Dose: One or two teaspoonfuls in a wineglass of water, wine, or weak spirit and water, with meals. It is without disagreeable taste, and, being used to assist the natural digestive powers of the stomach, is best taken during the meal.

"Those of you who from past experience have lost faith in Pepsine may be encouraged to try again the more active preparations which are now within our reach. The Liquor Pepticus prepared by Mr. Benger is a digestive agent of extraordinary power."—Sir WM. ROBERTS, M.D., F.R.S., at the Northwick Meeting of the British Medical Association. In 4, 8, and 16 oz. bottles.

PEPSIN (BENGER). In tasteless coated pills. Dose, one with each meal, convenient where great portability is essential. In bottle containing 25, 50, and 100 pills.

3. BENGER'S PEPTONISED BEEF JELLY.

A DELICATELY FLAVOURED, CONCENTRATED, PARTIALLY DIGESTED, AND SOLIDIFIED BEEF-TEA, containing, besides the Salts and flavouring principles, much of the fibrin or flesh-forming elements of the beef in a soluble form, fit for immediate absorption. On this account it constitutes an exceedingly valuable and delicious quick restorative. It can be taken by teaspoonfuls, cold as a jelly, or dissolved in a little hot water, as a concentrated beef-tea. It is also used to fortify or enrich ordinary beef-tea, soups, &c. It affords to invalids, when travelling, a ready and convenient form of concentrated nutriment.

"It is a most valuable form of concentrated food."—THE LANCET, March 25th, 1882.

"We have found it invaluable for old people whose digestive powers are feeble, and also in convalescence from acute disease."—LONDON MEDICAL RECORD, March 15th, 1882. Tins, which are sealed, and will keep in any climate, 2s. each.

4. BENGER'S FOOD (For CHILDREN, INVALIDS, and those of weak digestion.)

(PANCREATISED FARINACEOUS).

NOTICE TO THE MEDICAL PROFESSION.—BENGER'S FOOD consists of a specially finely ground Hungarian wheaten flour, cooked, slightly alkalisied, and impregnated with a suitable proportion of the natural digestive principles of the pancreas. When this Food is mixed with warm milk, or milk and water, as directed on each tin, the pancreatic enzymes become active; the casein of the milk is so modified thereby that firm indigestible curds cannot be formed in the stomach, and the farinaceous elements of the food are rendered soluble; hence, it will be found that BENGER'S FOOD can be enjoyed and assimilated when all other foods disagree. It forms a delicate and highly nutritious cream, entirely free from rough and indigestible particles, such as often produce irritation in delicate stomachs.—(See Medical Reports with each tin.)

THE LONDON MEDICAL RECORD, March 15th, 1882, says:—"Undoubtedly a great advance on any previous attempt in this direction. It is palatable and excellent in every way. We have given it in very many cases with the most marked benefit, patients frequently retaining it after every other food had been rejected. For children who throw up their food in curdled masses it is invaluable."

Tins, 1s. 6d., 2s. 6d., and 5s. each.

N.B.—To guard against Imitations, Physicians should specify BENGER'S PREPARATIONS.
