The first Standardised Preparation of Hypophosphites ever offered to the Medical Profession, of known and definite composition and stability. Lorimer's Syrup has received the full approbation of the Medical Press as being the only one answering fully to both chemical and clinical tests of excellence.

From "THE BRITISH MEDICAL JOURNAL,"
January 22nd, 1898:—

"It is perfectly bright and neutral. There is not the slightest deposit and no trace of disagreeable odour. It is in fact a most excellent preparation. The composition and strength of the syrup are shown on the label."

From "THE LANCET," January 22nd, 1898:—

"A very satisfactory preparation of standard strength and quite permanent, absolutely neutral, and containing no deposit; may be relied upon as presenting in a most perfectly staple combination the ingredients of an excellent tonic formula."

LIVERPOOL MEDICO-CHIRURGICAL JOURNAL, January, 1887:—

"LORIMER'S HYPOPHOSPHITES.—An excellent and stable preparation, containing a large proportion of the Hypophosphites in a very agreeable form. Its permanence and reasonable price will commend it to physicians."

DUBLIN MEDICAL JOURNAL, January, 1887:—

"We have on a former occasion spoken in terms of approval of this preparation. A riper and more extended experience of its therapeutical value enables us to recommend it as one of the best Syrups of the Hypophosphites which has yet been compounded."

EDINBURGH MEDICAL JOURNAL, April, 1887:—

"LORIMER'S HYPOPHOSPHITES.—A preparation easily administered, and one which we can confidently recommend.....Well suited for delicate stomachs."

LONDON MEDICAL RECORD, February, 1887:—

"LORIMER'S HYPOPHOSPHITES.—A very palatable preparation.....The beneficial effects of a course of Hypophosphites are too well known to render it necessary to do more than allude to them.....It is, however, essential, on ordering this medicine, to be sure that one really obtains what is asked for."

THE PRACTITIONER, February, 1887:—

"A specimen in our possession, after being kept for some months, seems perfectly clear and unaltered."

We remind the Profession that on a certain American Syrup being largely advertised as a cure for all the ills of suffering Britons, while reflecting on English manufacturers, we issued a

III CHALLENGE OF 200 GUINEAS III

(see The Lancet, 1884) to test the merits and claims of the same against ours. That challenge is still open, and is now extended to other syrups which have since appeared, which at best are only copies of the formula, and imitations of Lorimer's Syrup.

Having first introduced a definite and unvarying preparation best suited for dispensing, and at moderate price, we respectfully solicit the continued support of the Profession, and will have pleasure in sending free samples on application.
