KOND'S Euonymised Cocoa

What is it?

A delicious Beverage, taking the place of Tea, Cocoa, or Coffee.

Why take it?

Its use is attended with a marked increase of appetite and rapidity of digestion; all feelings of heaviness after meals disappear; and an increase of the natural flow of bile takes place. It is not aperient, except in repeated doses, but the increased activity of the liver is valuable in removing constipation. It is used in stomach or liver disorders, alcoholism, slow digestion, overwork, depression, loss of appetite, in cases where tea and coffee are not desirable, sedentary habit of life, gout, rheumatism, and biliousness.

Euonymised Cocoa can be freely taken by those unable to take ordinary Cocos.

The Euonymin is taken in the form of a hot infusion in a delicious beverage. Its action in this form is incomparably more direct and powerful than when taken in any other forms.

"A chemical combination of Formic Aldehyde and Lactose put up in the form of a compressed tablet."

In all cases the improvement was rapid."—(British Medical Journal), January 13th, 1906, Epitome, page 8.)

"A proved antiseptic and bactericide, non-toxic in action, far more efficient than gargles or mouth washes, particularly suitable for children and entails no pain, and its portability is of considerable convenience."—(Medical Magazine, March, 1907.)

In Wasting Diseases of Children.

It has often been cause for wonderment how quickly pale, flabby, weakly infants and children gain flesh, strength, and vitality when they are given Angier's Emulsion systematically. Whereas before the use of the Emulsion, a sensitive, irritable stomach and intestines precluded proper nourishment, these organs now become pacified and retentive, digestion is strengthened, and the assimilation of food is normal and complete. There is no objection by the child to the taste of Angier's Emulsion, he almost invariably likes it. We confidently urge its trial in marasmus, scrofulosis, inherited tuberculosis, anæmia, and in the malnutrition and exhaustion consequent upon acute infectious diseases.

Over-worked Medical Men

The hard-working practitioner has little or no time for rest and recuperation. The name-plate on his door is a brazen permit for Tom, Dick, or Harry to ring him up at all hours, in all weathers. He responds to the call—and promptly too—for maybe a life is flitting towards the land of grim shadows and his hand will try to snatch it back. The call is always answered. Ill or well, day or night, it is always "patient first—self afterwards." That is why we hear of so many cases of breakdown in the profession.

The demands of a large practice, the worry and anxiety of attending a great variety of patients, and nights of broken rest, following on days of anxious watching and close study of critical cases, put a tax upon the strongest constitution.

Every Medical Man is keenly alive to the necessity of having a clear brain and a steady nerve, but so great is the strain at times upon his energies that he often forgets to notice how perilously near he himself runs to nervous breakdown.

Before starting out on a heavy round, you will find a glass of Hall's Wine a wonderful means of bracing and sustaining you throughout a long and trying day. On returning from your round a glass of Hall's Wine should be taken, for it is an excellent refresher and counteracts any ill-effects of over-work.

Hall's Wine has had the cordial support of the leading Members of the Medical Profession—who have endorsed its wonderful restorative powers by recommending it to their patients for over 20 years.

We are always anxious that every Medical Man who has not yet tried Hall's Wine, either for his own use, or who has not yet prescribed it in his practice, can have an opportunity of doing so at our expense.

Large Bottles, 3/-
Smaller Size, 1/9

All that is necessary is to send us your professional card, and we shall be pleased to send you a sample of Hall's Wine free of charge.

ALEXINE

ALEXINE is a granulated pharmaceutical product containing FREE phosphoric acid, combined with the biphosphates of iron and magnesia.

• ALEXINE is distinguished from all other preparations containing Phosphorus or its compounds by the great ease with which it can be assimilated. This is due to the fact that it provides the system with the means of forming within itself the phosphates which it requires. As ALEXINE does not contain any fixed base, it does not introduce into the system a definite phosphate, as is the case with all other phosphorus preparations: the organism is able to form in itself the phosphates it requires, in a condition always soluble, readily assimilated, and, as a consequence, useful to the living cell. It is this remarkable property of ALEXINE, shared by no other preparation, which constitutes its originality and its chief value.

An Ideal Tonic in Convalescence

"Byno" Hypophosphites

'AN ACTIVE AID' TO THE DIGESTION OF FARINACEOUS FOODS.

"Byno" Hypophosphites may be taken when the digestive organs are weak and impaired, and when ordinary tonics cannot be tolerated.

THE constituents of 'Byno' Hypophosphites ensures the effectual combination required in a perfect tonic. This combination, though somewhat complex, is in practice most successful, and 'Byno' Hypophosphites will be found much superior to the official syrup of which it is the analogue. It stimulates the appetite whilst aiding digestion; it conserves and invigorates the nervous system.

PRACTICAL CLINICAL EXPERIENCE of many years has proved that what theoretically is expected of 'Byno' Hypophosphites by reason of its composition is fully justified. It is, as the British Medical Journal says,

"One of the Most Popular Tonics of the Day."

CERTAIN as it is that a single acting cause can bring about any one of the several anomalies of menstruation, just so certain is it that a single remedial agent—if properly administered—can effect the relief of any one of those anomalies.

¶ The singular efficacy of Ergoapiol (Smith) in the various menstrual irregularities is manifestly due to its prompt and direct analgesic, antispasmodic and tonic action upon the entire female reproductive system.

¶ Ergoapiol (Smith) is of special, indeed extraordinary, value in such menstrual irregularities as amenorrhea, dysmenorrhea, menorrhagia and metrorrhagia.

¶ The creators of the preparation, the Martin H. Smith Company, of New York, will send samples and exhaustive literature, post paid, to any member of the medical profession.

¶ The same can also be procured from the Sole British Agents Thomas Christy & Co., 4 to 12 Old Swan Lane, Upper Thames Street, London, E.C.

THE GHYLL RETREAT

AND SANATORIUM,
Near COCKERMOUTH, CUMBERLAND.

Patients are treated on a sound scientific basis, the treatment consisting of freedom from temptation with very little restriction (the situation of the Retreat making this possible). Strengthening of the will power and building up the general health; such drugs and electrical treatment as may be necessary being used as required. The Retreat is situated amid charming scenery on the shores of Buttermere Lake. Outdoor and indoor sports and occupations are provided, such as trout fishing, rough shooting, golf (private 9 hole course), bowls, tennis, &c. A trout hatchery is in course of erection and should prove of great interest. There is a billiard room and a good supply of books from a well known circulating library, and the usual daily papers and magazines are provided.

Terms from £3 3s.

THE OPSONIC THEORY DEMONSTRATES THE SCIENTIFIC VALUE OF ANTIPHLOGISTINE

THE resisting power of the body against disease is relative to the opsonic value of the blood, and the severity of a localized disease process depends largely upon the retardation of the flow of the blood to that part.

The phagocytes may gather, but unless they receive the full amount of the normal flow with its opsonins, resisting power is lost and suppuration takes place. We must either increase the opsonic index of the blood so that the small amount flowing through the infected part may be of normal opsonic value, or, what is simpler and as effective, dilate the blood-vessels and let the blood, with nature's own method of combating disease, circulate through the area desired.

Heat dilates the blood-vessels, but to be effective it must extend to the periphery of the infected area, when it will not cause suppuration by increasing the bacteria. An antiseptic poultice is the best method of conveying heat. There is but one method of poulticing which commends itself to thinking physicians, and that is with the antiseptic, hygroscopic, plastic dressing

Antiphlogistine
