

Without symptoms of irritation or by-effects, internal treatment with

Merjodin

(a practical and discreet preparation in tablet form) exerts the double effect of Mercury and Iodine, to which "perhaps a part of its favourable action must be attributed." (Handbuch der gesamten Therapie, 1910, Band 5.)

In Syphilis

(at a daily dosage of 3 times 1—4 tablets) it exerts "a powerful effect on manifest symptoms," aids every other remedy, and especially Salvarsan. (Wiener Klinische Rundschau, 1911, No. 11.)

Original bottles of 50 tablets. Only procurable from the chemist on a physician's prescription.

Literature and trial samples free to members of the medical profession on application to

H. Trommsdorff, chem. works,
Aix-la-Chapelle ZV 20.

In the treatment of

Diphtheria

finely - powdered "SOZOJODOL"-SODIUM is a standard preparation as a local antiseptic, because it can be applied copiously and frequently without any by-effects. The application is easily made, and the action is immediate of its ready solubility.

"Sozjodol"-Sodium

finely powdered, in the pure state, or mixed with equal parts of flowers of sulphur, insufflated several times daily, is non-toxic, non-irritant, and convenient, and may be relied upon even in mixed infections of the naso-pharynx where the prognosis is doubtful.

Vademecum of "Sozjodol"-Treatment, and trial samples gratis from H. Trommsdorff, chem. works, Aix-la-Chapelle 20 VZ.

A Gum pastille containing the active constituents of well-known Antiseptics, Eucalyptus Globulus (a well rectified Oil free from aldehydes [especially valeric aldehyde], which make themselves unpleasantly noticeable in crude oils by their tendency to produce coughing), Thymus Vulg., Pinus Sylvestris, Mentha Arv., with Benzo-borate of Sodium, &c., they exhibit the antiseptic properties in a fragrant and efficient form. Non-coagulant antiseptic and prophylactic, reducing sensibility of mucous membrane.

THE LANCET says:—

"In the experiments tried the Jujube proved to be as effective bactericidally as is Creosote."

Mr. W. A. DIXON, F.I.C., F.C.S.,
Public Analyst of Sydney, after making exhaustive tests, says:—

"There is no doubt but that 'Eumenthol Jujubes' have a wonderful effect in the destruction of bacteria and preventing their growth. . . . I have made a comparative test of 'Eumenthol Jujubes' and Creosote, and find that there is little difference in their bactericidal action."

THE PRACTITIONER says:—

"They are recommended for use in cases of oral sepsis, a condition to which much attention has been called in recent years as a source of gastric troubles and general constitutional disturbance, and are also useful in tonsillitis, pharyngitis, &c."

LISTERINE

Listerine is an efficient, non-toxic antiseptic of accurately determined and uniform antiseptic power, prepared in a form convenient for immediate use.

Composed of volatile and non-volatile substances, Listerine is a balsamic antiseptic, refreshing in its application, lasting in its effect.

It is a saturated solution of boric acid, reinforced by the antiseptic properties of ozoniferous oils.

After the volatile constituents have evaporated, a film of boric acid remains evenly distributed upon the surfaces to which Listerine has been applied.

There is no possibility of poisonous effect through the absorption of Listerine.

Listerine is unirritating, even when applied to the most delicate tissues; in its full strength it does not coagulate serous albumen.

For those purposes wherein a poisonous or corrosive disinfectant can not be safely employed, Listerine is the most acceptable antiseptic for a physician's prescription.

Listerine is particularly useful in the treatment of abnormal conditions of the mucosa, and admirably suited for a wash, gargle or douche in catarrhal conditions of the nose and throat.

In proper dilution, Listerine may be freely and continuously used without prejudicial effect, either by injection or spray, in all the natural cavities of the body.

Administered internally, Listerine is promptly effective in arresting the excessive fermentation of the contents of the stomach.

In the treatment of summer complaints of infants and children, Listerine is extensively prescribed in doses of 10 drops to a teaspoonful.

In febrile conditions, nothing is comparable to Listerine as a mouth wash; two or three drachms to four ounces of water.

"The Inhibitory Action of Listerine," 128 pages, descriptive of the antiseptic, may be had upon application to the manufacturers,

By augmenting the peristaltic movement of the intestine without producing undue secretion of the liquids. Unlike pills and the usual purgatives, it does not predispose to intestinal sluggishness; and the same dose always produces the same effect—that it to say, never needs increasing.

It is recommended by the most eminent physicians of Paris, notably Drs. BELIN and TARDIEU, who prescribe it constantly for the above complaints, and with the most marked success.

In Vitafer, Phosphorus is present in three forms:—

These three forms of Phosphorus present the element in the forms best adapted for the function of—

Nerve Nutrition, ————— Bone Formation, Replacement of Tissue Phosphorus.

So well equipped in this respect, it is evident that VITAFER fulfils all requirements as a general Phosphorus-bearing tonic, whilst its special features render it of great value in the repair of nerve-tissue waste caused by disease, fatigue or overstrain, in rickets and other conditions of impaired nutrition in children, and as a means of enabling women to better withstand the strain on metabolism arising through lactation.

SAVORY & MOORE'S PEPTONISED MILK PREPARATIONS

(Awarded GOLD MEDAL International Congress of Medicine, 1913)

Savory & Moore's Peptonised Milk Preparations include Cocoa and Milk, Coffee and Milk, condensed Peptonised Milk and Milk Chocolate. They are highly nourishing and extremely easy of digestion, and are thus especially useful in all cases where ordinary nourishment cannot be taken, whether through illness or digestive weakness. They are instantly prepared, as hot water only is required.

COCOA AND MILK

The Cocoa and Milk is made from specially selected Cocoa and pure, rich country milk, both of which are treated by a special peptonising process. The result is a preparation of remarkable nutritive value and delicious flavour which can be taken and assimilated even by those who are quite unable to take cocoa in the ordinary form.

The Cocoa and Milk is especially suitable for Invalids, Convalescents, and all whose digestive organs have been weakened by illness, overwork, study or other debilitating causes. In cases of GASTRITIS and GASTRIC ULCER it has proved highly successful. It is also very beneficial in NERVOUS CASES, and it may be taken at night without the least fear of causing digestive disturbance.

It requires only the addition of hot water, and can thus be prepared in a moment at any hour of the day or night.

PEPTONISED MILK

The process of making peptonised milk is one requiring much skill and experience, and it is practically impossible to prepare it properly in the sick room. In Messrs. Savory & Moore's factory the various operations are carried out by a highly skilled and specially trained staff, with the result that their Peptonised Milk may be absolutely relied upon.

The Peptonised Milk is of the greatest value as a food in all cases of INFANTILE MALNUTRITION, also in cases of FEVER and WASTING DISEASE, whether in children or adults. It is retained even when no other kind of food can be taken, and by its nutrient qualities enables the patient to successfully combat disease. In many cases it has been the means of saving life, especially among infants.

Dilution with hot or cold water, as directed, renders it ready for immediate use.

SAMPLES of the above Preparations may be obtained on application to:—

THE JOY OF A CATALOGUE.

By Arthur Lawrence.

It has not been the lightest of those pleasures which come upon us occasionally, to glance over a catalogue which maybe some bookseller has sent us. It is best dealt with in a lounge chair built on the right principles, and with a soft-leaded pencil in hand. Then comes the nice exercise of your critical faculty. Your knowledge of books, new and old, comes to your aid. Then you indulge in all the joy of selection. With truly conscientious precision you tick off those books which you deem of interest, double tick those which you really want, and finally go over the whole business again to make a cross against those books which you have definitely decided to order. Without doubt your cheque is duly sent forth with the marked catalogue, or, it may be that, after a close inspection of your bank balance, you order nothing, but you have had the joy all the same.

There is another sort of catalogue, now before me, a catalogue of tailoring and outfitting, I mean the catalogue issued by Gieve's (Gieve, Matthews and Seagrove, Ltd.) of 65, South Molton-street, W. If the book catalogue has been interesting, how much more so is this? Again you are thrown upon the delights of selection and of bringing your acumen to bear upon the exhibits, but, in this case, your pleasure is enhanced because you have illustrations and actual patterns before you. The man must be in a bad case who does not find good mental stimulus and real mental refreshment through glancing over these well-ordered pages.

The reference which the firm makes to its own history is brief. We gather from it that the firm was established over a hundred years ago, and that the business has been under the control of three generations of practical men. This enhances our interest in what is to follow, for it is useless to base our experience upon or allow our imagination to play upon any goods which do not emanate from an absolutely reliable and thoroughly reputable firm.

Is it by chance or design that Gieve's begin with the absolute base of sartorial effect? It happens that this catalogue opens up with illustrations of shoes and boots. Not ordinary ill-made affairs, but the sort of things that one has always dreamt of as coming from the west-end of the metropolis. Nor are they haphazard illustrations. The very hue of the brown boots is given. Even if you are satisfied with the brown boots you wear you feel that it is incumbent upon you to order just one more pair. Polo boots, white buck brogue tennis shoes, buckskin cricket boots almost arouse you from the armchair with the rapturous thoughts of past delights and of those to come.

It was with extreme diffidence that I refer to mere collars. We have become wedded to the collars which we feel have become indicative of our own individuality, and look askant at any suggestion of change. It is otherwise when—a few pages later—we are cunningly advanced to the question of shirts—summer shirts. Here we get thought-stirring notions of quiet colours and simple designs. It is little that we show of these matters nowadays, just a "V" at the vest and a scintilla of cuff, but yet—how important these brief glimpses are! One may look in vain for any cubist or futurist developments. They are not here. Evidently the presiding genius at Gieve's has decided that it cannot be. Sorrow does not shake my soul over that. For me the simple stripe reflecting my own direct ways, or the white cashmere of the blameless life. At noonday, with the sun at her strength, think only of summer shirts described in this catalogue as "zephyr," and you will enshrine this compilation in your more treasured archives, and after a visit to Gieve's will swing yourself in your hammock with one of their "zephyr" shirts falling lightly upon you, and, amidst the whispering of the leaves and the cadence of birds, the cool breezes of Heaven will be called upon by your treasured possession.

I can hardly trust myself to write of all that this catalogue indicates concerning pyjamas. There are patterns in pure silk costing little more than a sovereign which almost induce me to write the words that burn, and give to the world such expression of thought that my income shall rise to the point where I shall be enabled to banish any hideousness of the night by the knowledge that my outward semblance is worthy of the loftiest heights to which my mind can attain. Of other matters detailed with the most satisfactory detail and the best circumspection, I can but say—are they not dealt with in a catalogue which you can obtain for the asking, albeit I would gladly refer to them if my space were not unpleasantly limited? It would require many pages to do justice to such a subject as this, whereas the reader has it within his power to share with me the joy I have had with this catalogue, and, haply, may find it within him to visit 65, South Molton Street for himself, and, finally, being well clothed and in his right mind will find in himself the contentment which is reflected by the propriety of his outward appearance.

Prophylaxis by Formamint

Medical literature is replete with proofs of the value of Wulfin's Formamint as a reliable, safe and simple method of securing prophylaxis against certain germ-diseases which enter the body through the mouth and throat.

Among such diseases are:—

Diphtheria	Scarlet Fever
Tonsillitis	Measles
Mumps	Whooping-cough

Evidence of this prophylactic property is given by a Medical Officer of Health who writes in The General Practitioner: "Since adopting Wulfin's Formamint as a preventive, I have had 17 cases of Diphtheria reported, two treated at home and the remaining 15 sent to the isolation hospital. There were many contacts in connection with these cases who were all given Formamint for use daily, and not a single case has occurred among them."

In The Lancet (March 28, 1908) is a striking exemplification of successful prophylaxis of Mumps by Formamint.

The normal prescription for Bengers' Food is:—

“Set aside fifteen minutes for digestion.”

If allowed to stand at one stage of its preparation, Bengers' Food is self-digestive, both as regards the milk with which it is prepared and the Food itself.

By indicating the time of standing, 5 to 45 minutes, the physician is able to adapt Bengers' Food to the physical condition of the patient.

From an M.B., B.S., (Lon.), F.R.C.S. (Eng.)

“The laxative effect of your Food when the pre-digestion has been carried pretty far is one of its most valued qualities, and can be regulated precisely according to the time of the digestive process. By graduating this, a most perfect adjustment of the action of the bowels can be secured.”

(Hydragogue, Purgative, and Cholagogue.)

The BRITISH MEDICAL JOURNAL of 9th July, 1910, says:—

"Examination showed it to contain no less than 10.3 parts of anhydrous salts in 100 parts by measure, the principal constituent being sodium sulphate; magnesium sulphate, sodium chloride, and calcium sulphate were present in much smaller quantity. The analysis represents the dissolved salts as follows (grams per litre being here converted into grains per fluid ounce:

Sodium sulphate	42.16 grains
Potassium sulphate	0.10 "
Magnesium sulphate	1.43 "
Calcium sulphate	0.85 "
Sodium chloride	0.90 "
Silica, alumina, iron, etc.	0.02 "

In one fluid ounce.

(42.16 grains of anhydrous sodium sulphate represents 95.7 grains of the usual crystallised salt, or 'Glauber's salt'.)

HOEFFTCKE'S EXTENSION APPLIANCES.

Ambulatory Treatment of Fracture of the Limbs; Tuberculous and Arthritic Disease of Joints.

By C. A. HOEFFTCKE,

21, Woodstock Street, Oxford Street, London, W.

The splint which I have devised for the Ambulatory treatment of neck of femur fractures has proved valuable to many surgeons for their cases.

The great feature of this treatment is that from the time the appliance is put on the patient is able to walk about without crutches and lead an active life whilst the fracture is uniting. The muscles do not atrophy as with the recumbent treatment, and the healthy exercise when walking improves the blood-supply which is so necessary to obtain union.

Some years ago I had great difficulty in preventing movement between the fragments, but I have altered my appliance in such a way that I am now able to keep the fragments in perfect apposition while moving the hip-joint and prevent rotation of the leg outwards. In recent fractures it is comparatively easy with the use of my extension table to get the bones in apposition without an anæsthetic, and the best results are obtained; but even in so-called mal- or ununited fractures of one and even two years' standing it is possible to bring the bones in apposition, impact the fracture, and obtain bony union.

In most neck of femur fractures the tendency of the leg is to get in the adducted position, owing to the efforts of the patient, the same as in arthritic or tubercular joint disease, to prevent movement in the joint. To counteract this adduction the leg has to be abducted, and shortening, if any, reduced. As soon as the fractured ends are in apposition a sound blow with the clenched fist on the great trochanter can impact the fracture, so that when the joint moves the head moves with the shaft. If the joint afterwards can be moved without pain, or without feeling or hearing crepitation between the fragments, the surgeon can safely assume that the head moves with the shaft, and in most cases union can be obtained. The latter manipulations have of course to be done under an anæsthetic.

Illustrations 2 and 3 show a neck of femur fracture in a man, aged 53, which was ununited for one year.

Many cases have been treated in this way, and the surgeons are very pleased with the results obtained.

Mrs. W. (æ 71). This case was diagnosed in the first instance as a sprained hip, but when a skiagram was taken two months after the accident a fracture was shown which had been impacted.

My appliance was ordered and put on November 29th, 1910, three months after the accident. The leg was considerably adducted so that the apparent shortening was about one and a half inches, actual shortening half an inch. Extension was put on and the leg gradually abducted with the help of the appliance. The patient commenced to walk again, and her health improved gradually.

Another radiograph was taken which showed a good deal of callus forming. Extension was reduced and a certain amount of weight allowed to bear on the foot.

A further radiograph taken October 5th, 1911, showed good bony union. The splint was taken off and the lady has had no more pain. I had occasion to see her last week and she is quite active, and can walk even without the help of a stick. This is indeed a very satisfactory result for a patient of this age.

Mr. T. (æ 53), collided with a motor car whilst riding a motor bicycle; thrown on his left hip. Was treated for a sprain and when about three months afterwards an X-ray was taken it was found that the neck of the femur was fractured. The patient went about on crutches. A surgeon was consulted who told him that nothing could be done for him except massage. Nine months afterwards, which was a year after the accident, a further X-ray was taken (Fig. 2) and another surgeon suggested the ambulatory treatment with my extension splint. On Saturday, 13th of this month, the shaft was pulled down under an anæsthetic and the legs put in plaster in the abducted position on my extension table. A week later, on Friday, 19th June, the plaster was taken off and the splint applied, and the patient walked about the same day. An X-ray was taken the following day after the patient had walked to the doctor's house, which showed the shaft pulled down one inch and head and neck in relative good position (see Fig. 3). Union can be expected in this case within three months and I will report accordingly about that time.

Fig. 1.—Mrs. W. (æ 71) showing bony union neck of femur fracture obtained while walking in extension splint.

Fig. 2.—Mr. T. (æ 53), fractured neck of femur showing 1" shortening after being ununited for 12 months (X-ray taken end of May, 1914).

Fig. 3.—Mr. T. (æ 53), fractured neck of femur one week after manipulation shortening reduced by 1", on Hoefftcke's extension table, bones in good apposition, splint applied, patient walking about 20th June, 1914.

NEW X-RAY APPARATUS

"Swinging" Tube for Deep Therapy.

Otto's New X-Ray Machine.

The "Swinging" Tube is the latest achievement in X-ray work of eminent importance. By this apparatus the part of skin, through which the rays enter, is continuously changed, whilst the part in the tissues under treatment, on to which the rays are focussed, is continuously exposed. This device should bring about a revolution in deep therapy, especially with regard to the treatment of gynaecological diseases.

Otto's X-Ray Machine is capable of generating the necessary "hard" rays for deep therapy. Constructed on the principle of a high tension transformer, it being distinguished by the novel feature: that it enables any desired portion of the high tension curve to be used for the working of the tube. The curve variator is a device operated by a single lever, which makes it possible to cut out a greater or smaller section of that portion of the curve, i.e., to make the tube emit softer or harder rays at will.

Of Proved Efficacy in Intestinal Disorders

ANGIER'S EMULSION

In the treatment of intestinal disorders with purified petroleum, the best results will be obtained if administered in the form of Angier's Emulsion. In this form, the minutely divided petroleum globules mingle freely with the intestinal contents and are more widely and evenly distributed throughout the intestinal tract. Moreover, the Emulsion forms an adherent, protective coating to the inflamed or ulcerated mucous membrane, a factor of much importance in many cases. Angier's Emulsion mixes instantly and perfectly with water and may be administered either undiluted or in any suitable beverage. It will be found much more acceptable to fastidious patients than will petroleum in any other form.

"After long experience of many forms of paraffin and petroleum, both in the character of emulsions and otherwise, I have found none so satisfactory as Angier's Petroleum Emulsion." — M.D., D.Sc., M.A.

Allenburys' Foods

Infantile Diarrhoea

During summer, Diarrhoea and kindred disorders among Infants are largely due to the use of infected cow's milk.

The "Allenburys" Milk Foods are absolutely free from all harmful bacteria, and are made ready for use with boiled water.

The foods are easily digested and assimilated, and contain both fat and proteids in similar relative proportions to those found in human milk. They are capable also of further modification, when desired, to suit the most delicate Infants from birth.

The "Allenburys" Milk Food No. 1
FROM BIRTH TO 3 MONTHS.
This closely approximates in composition to human milk. It keeps thoroughly well, is easily prepared, the addition of hot water only being necessary.

The "Allenburys" Milk Food No. 2
FROM 3 TO 6 MONTHS.
Is similar to the Milk Food No. 1, with the addition of a small amount of soluble phosphates and albuminoids.

The "Allenburys" Malted Food No. 3
FROM 6 MONTHS UPWARDS.
Is a partially digested farinaceous food, and requires the addition of boiled cow's milk and water.

The "Allenburys" Rusks (Malted)
A valuable addition to baby's dietary when 10 months old and after.

A full descriptive pamphlet and samples will be sent on request.
