Neave's Foods

NEAVE'S MILK FOOD

(Starchless) for Babies from Birth.

Dr. ———, D.Sc. Ed., B.Sc., M.D., M.B., O.M., D.P.H. (Park Lane, W.), writes: "My baby girl is thriving admirably on your Milk Food. . . . The mother was unable to feed her and previously tried other Infants' Foods without success." February 25, 1914. " . . . I take every opportunity of recommending both your Milk Food and Cereal food as the best scientific food where breast feeding is contra indicated." June 11, 1914.

Dr. ———, D.Sc., M.D., D.P.H., Public Health Laboratories, London, reports: "When diluted with 7 or 8 parts of water the mixture would closely resemble human milk in composition. The fat would then be about 3 per cent. This is very satisfactory."

Dr. ———, M.D., M.R.C.P., etc., writes: "Have prescribed your Milk Food frequently . . . easily digested . . . without any after acidity, which is common with Foods containing alkaline elements, and I shall recommend it further."

Instantly prepared by adding hot water only. SOLD IN 1/3 TINS.

NEAVE'S FOOD (Cereal)

FOR INFANTS AND INVALIDS.

When prepared with cow's milk according to the directions given, forms a complete diet for Infants, Invalids, and the Aged.

Dr. ———, L.R.C.P., L.R.C.S. Ed., L.F.P.S. Glas., etc., (Leeds), writes: "Your Neave's Food is suiting our youngster admirably, for which we are very thankful . . . she was not doing well on cow's milk and water alone." September 10, 1913.

Dr. ——— "As regards the proportion of flesh-forming Albuminoids and the bone-forming salts, there exists a perfect uniformity between Neave's Food and Mother's Milk."

"The Medical Magazine."—The starch is so split up that, after cooking, no evidence of its presence can be detected by the microscope, thus doing away, in this particular instance, with the objection that foods containing starch are not digested by very young children."

USED IN THE RUSSIAN IMPERIAL NURSERY.

Sold in 1/- & 2/6 Tins, also in 4d. Packets.

NEAVE'S HEALTH DIET

(MILK and CEREAL) For Nursing Mothers, Dyspeptics, and the Aged.

Provides full and exact nourishment at the expense of small exertion on the part of the digestive organs. Its flavour is delicious, and therefore acceptable to those who dislike the usual form of "gruel," besides being more easily made and not needing the addition of milk. Being unsweetened it can be taken in those cases where sugar in any form is prohibited. As a change from porridge it will be found very beneficial at breakfast for growing and delicate children, who eagerly take it up. Elderly people and others will find it excellent as a "light" supper, inducing natural sleep.

A lady writes (name given on application): "I have found your Health Diet most invigorating, yet restful, and as regards the nervous system it is a splendid tonic." Feb. 22, 1915.

A District Nurse, Leeds, writes: "Have just recovered from an attack of gastric trouble . . . have principally to live on milk food, and find Neave's Health Diet not so constipating as milk usually is when taken alone."

SOLD IN 1/3 AND 3/6 TINS.

Samples sent free on receipt of Professional Card, mentioning "British Medical Journal,"—JOSIAH R. NEAVE & CO., FORDINGBRIDGE, ENGLAND.

HOT WATER IN ILLNESS

HOT water is a constant necessity in every nursing case, and clinical requirements can be met only where the supply is both prompt and plentiful. In private houses the water is usually heated in the kitchen boiler, and hot water is forthcoming only when the kitchen fire is blazing, the boiler dampers are out and no water is being run off for baths or washing up.

A Gas Water-Heater is independent of the kitchen fire and gives a ready supply of really hot water at short notice at all times.

For Hospitals and Nursing Homes a Gas Water-Heating plant is often the most economical, for it saves stokers' wages and needs very little attention.

Where it is found desirable to use solid fuel, coke will be found the most economical. Its capabilities for steam raising have been proved by practical experience.

"EUMENTHOL JUJUBE."

(HUDSON).

A Gum pastille containing the active constituents of well-known Antiseptics, Eucalyptus Globules (a well rectified Oil free from aldehydes [especially valeric aldehyde], which make themselves unpleasantly noticeable in crude oils by their tendency to produce coughing), Thymus Vulg., Pinus Sylvestris, Mentha Arv., with Benzo-borate of Sodium, &c., they exhibit the antiseptic properties in a fragrant and efficient form. Non-coagulant antiseptic and prophylactic, reducing sensibility of mucous membrane.

THE LANCET says:—

"In the experiments tried the Jujube proved to be as effective bactericidally as is Creosote."

Mr. W. A. DIXON, F.I.C., F.C.S., Public Analyst of Sydney, after making exhaustive tests, says:—

"There is no doubt but that Eumenthol Jujubes have a wonderful effect in the destruction of bacteria and preventing their growth. I have made a comparative test of Eumenthol Jujubes and Creosote, and find that there is little difference in their bactericidal action."

THE PRACTITIONER says:—

"They are recommended for use in cases of oral sepsis, a condition to which much attention has been called in recent years as a source of gastric troubles and general constitutional disturbance, and are also useful in tonsillitis, pharyngitis, &c."

NEURASTHENIA

of the Traumatic, Sexual or Visceral Types, and whether hereditary or acquired, yields rapidly and permanently to

THE LYMPHOID COMPOUND AND THE LYMPH SERUM

THESE scientifically prepared products provide, in the form of active cellular material, that pabulum which is essential to the normal functioning of Nerve, Brain, and Spinal Cord Cells.

THEY speedily combat the exhaustion due to undue expenditure of nerve force and reinstate a normal balance between waste and repair.

THEY restore natural processes of repair, secure normal sleep and digestion, improve the quality of the blood-supply, reinstate normal nutritional processes, and break the "vicious circle" of the disease.

THEY rapidly combat metabolic disturbance and auto-intoxication (with their consequent adverse effects upon nerve functioning), accelerate metabolic processes, raise leucocytic resistance, relieve the blood plasma and lymph of injurious chemical products, and free the nutrition of nerve cells and tissues from noxious influences.

RAPID and permanent recoveries have been obtained in several thousands of cases of Neurasthenia by this treatment, notwithstanding (in many instances) the previous failure of all other methods.

SAVORY & MOORE'S PEPTONISED MILK PREPARATIONS

(Awarded GOLD MEDAL International Congress of Medicine, 1913)

Savory & Moore's Peptonised Milk Preparations include Cocoa and Milk, Coffee and Milk, condensed Peptonised Milk and Milk Chocolate. They are highly nourishing and extremely easy of digestion, and are thus especially useful in all cases where ordinary nourishment cannot be taken, whether through illness or digestive weakness. They are easily and quickly prepared, as hot water only is required.

COCOA AND MILK

The Cocoa and Milk is made from specially selected Cocoa and pure, rich country milk, both of which are treated by a special peptonising process. The result is a preparation of remarkable nutritive value and delicious flavour which can be taken and assimilated even by those who are quite unable to take cocoa in the ordinary form.

The Cocoa and Milk is especially suitable for Invalids, Convalescents, and all whose digestive organs have been weakened by illness, overwork, study or other debilitating causes. In cases of GASTRITIS and GASTRIC ULCER it has proved highly successful. It is also very beneficial in NERVOUS CASES, and it may be taken at night without the least fear of causing digestive disturbance.

It requires only the addition of hot water, and can thus be prepared in a moment at any hour of the day or night.

PEPTONISED MILK

The process of making peptonised milk is one requiring much skill and experience, and it is practically impossible to prepare it properly in the sick room. In Messrs. Savory & Moore's factory the various operations are carried out by a highly skilled and specially trained staff, with the result that their Peptonised Milk may be absolutely relied upon.

The Peptonised Milk is of the greatest value as a food in all cases of INFANTILE MALNUTRITION, also in cases of FEVER and WASTING DISEASE, whether in children or adults. It is retained even when no other kind of food can be taken, and by its nutrient qualities enables the patient to successfully combat disease. In many cases it has been the means of saving life, especially among infants.

Dilution with hot or cold water, as directed, renders it ready for immediate use.

SAMPLES of the above may be obtained on application to:—

MIST. HEPATICA CONC. (Hewlett's).

COMPOSITION.—Ext. Cascara, Ext. Rhel, Jalapin, Podophyllin, Cocainæ Hydrochlor., 1-12th gr. in each fluid drachm.

THIS excellent compound, first introduced as a general aperient and cholagogue, has now become a popular remedy, and attention has very recently been called to the value of the mixture, by various authorities, in that class of cases spoken of as Chronic Bilioussness, in Catarrhal Jaundice, and in the Jaundice of simple Hepatic Torpor. In passive or habitual Congestion of the Liver, so frequently met with, it has been used with marked benefit.

In the treatment of acute or temporary constipation, frequently met with in the convalescence from acute disease, and in pregnancy or in the constipation due to sedentary habits, to a deficiency of intestinal secretion, and of peristalsis, the mixture can be prescribed with wonderful effect, positively curing cases that have resisted other remedies.

The Dose is from 10 to 60 minims, according to the age and condition of the patient. One drachm is a direct aperient, and is not accompanied by griping or tenesmus.

TOXOL

manufactured by Boots Pure Drug Co., Ltd.,

Responding to the desire of the Medical Profession to discard preparations paying tribute to the enemies of this country, the laboratory staff of BOOTS the Chemists, (consisting of some thirty highly-trained analysts) perfected TOXOL, which is identical in all but name with "Lysol," as formerly imported from Herren Schülke & Mayr of Hamburg, a solution of cresols in a saponaceous medium—and superior in strength of disinfecting power.

TOXOL is pronounced by medical men who are using it to have all the qualities of "Lysol," and is certified on high authority to excel all samples of "Lysol" in disinfecting co-efficient.

Copy of Report by

Dr. SAMUEL RIDEAL, Joint-Originator of the RIDEAL-WALKER Coefficiency Test.

November 16th, 1914.

"I have purchased at one of your branches samples of Toxol, and my results on examination confirm your labelled strength that it is $2\frac{1}{2}$ times as powerful as Phenol, and it is higher than all samples of 'Lysol' I have examined,

(Signed) SAMUEL RIDEAL."

The following are extracts from the letters of Medical Men who have already used TOXOL to replace "Lysol."

"It seems to be in every way quite satisfactory and an excellent substitute for 'Lysol.'"

"Very glad to test, and prove that English science is as good as that of the Barbarians. It would be a good thing to circularise the profession with a list of Alien Enemies' products."

"I tried it on a septic finger and found it all you stated it to be."

"TOXOL is very satisfactory. The Medical Profession ought to feel grateful to Sir Jessie Boot for replacing a German article in such a prompt and satisfactory manner."

"Am using sample and I am so pleased with it that I shall continue to use TOXOL in future."

"An excellent preparation; I obtained 'Lysol' many times from Hamburg before any English chemist would stock it; so am interested in your venture."

"Dr. — is pleased to see an English manufacturer superseding a German product and he will give his support to such a company as will do this."

"Many thanks, have used solutions of TOXOL in various strengths, for numerous minor surgical cases with most satisfactory results."

"Will give TOXOL a trial, am much interested in finding that your firm has succeeded in making a preparation in England of a German make like 'Lysol.' It is much more efficient than the German."

"Superior to 'Lysol' as far as I have tried it."

Samples of TOXOL will be delivered free on application to Medical Men who have not yet tested it.

TOXOL is sold in 6½d., 11d., 1s. 7d. and 2s. 9d. Bottles at all Branches or Sent Carriage paid to any Medical man at above prices. Address

LETTERS TO MEDICAL MEN.

THE PHYLACOGEN TREATMENT OF GONORRHOEAL COMPLICATIONS.

NOTE.—The medical report quoted in this letter is published by permission. On request we shall be glad to place any bonâ-fide enquirer in communication with the author.

GONORRHOEA PHYLACOGEN is a sterile aqueous solution of bacterial derivatives from cultures of the Micrococcus gonorrhoeae (Neisser), and in less proportion of other pathogenic bacteria—viz., Streptococcus rheumaticus (Poynton and Paine), S. pyogenes, S. erysipelatis, Staphylococcus pyogenes, Bacillus pyocyaneus, B. coli communis, B. diphtheriae, and Diplococcus pneumoniae, numerous strains of the several organisms from a variety of sources being employed.

This complex constitution is based upon the opinion which Dr. Schafer—the originator of Phylacogen therapy—holds in common with many practitioners of wide repute—viz., that most chronic infections are complicated in character, and though one microbe may predominate, the pathological process which it engenders is intensified by other organisms present in the system, which assume pathological significance when physiological resistance is below par. (See page 6 of our booklet entitled "Phylacogen Therapy.")

Treatment with Gonorrhoea Phylacogen is indicated in any chronic pathological condition due to infection with the Micrococcus gonorrhoeae. Its value in gonorrhoeal urethritis, acute or chronic, has not been fully determined, but in gonorrhoeal arthritis and other sequelae of gonorrhoeal infection the Phylacogen yields satisfactory results; indeed, clinical experience points to the conclusion that Gonorrhoea Phylacogen will relieve any case of true gonorrhoeal arthritis.

Other sequelae of gonorrhoeal infection, such as epididymitis, vesiculitis, and cystitis, in the male, also vaginitis, cervicitis, endometritis, salpingitis, &c., in the female, have generally yielded to Gonorrhoea Phylacogen.

In some chronic cases of gonorrhoeal infection persevering treatment with Gonorrhoea Phylacogen, whilst causing marked improvement, has not brought about complete recovery, and on examination it has been found that there is little, if any, gonococcal infection remaining. In such cases a few doses of Mixed Infection Phylacogen have proved to be all that was necessary to effect a cure.

The results of Phylacogen treatment of gonorrhoeal urethritis so far reported to our Department of Experimental Medicine are about equally divided between prompt relief of all symptoms and no apparent effect. Cases with complications or sequelae, treated with Gonorrhoea Phylacogen, have been promptly benefited in the majority of instances, but the urethritis has shown a stubborn resistance to the treatment. However, in such cases the resistant urethritis has usually yielded promptly to treatment with Argentide.

Experience proves that Gonorrhoea Phylacogen will often effect a cure in chronic cases which have failed to respond to any other treatment, and that cases of less stubborn character, when treated with the Phylacogen, are cured in one-half or one-third the time that would be required by any other treatment, so that the patient is saved much suffering and expense.

GONORRHOEAL ARTHRITIS WITH HYPERKERATOSIS.

The following case was reported in December, 1914. Recent inquiry has elicited the information that the condition of the patient is entirely satisfactory.

"Patient (male, aged 35) contracted gonorrhoea upwards of five years ago. From time to time he was laid aside from business with attacks of rheumatism, but always obtained a certain measure of relief from the usual remedies.

"About 18 months ago he developed arthritis in an aggravated form, the fingers and toes being much enlarged and very painful, while the joints of the hands were all stiff and inflamed, the patient being unable to walk or even to move his arms.

"In addition to the arthritic trouble, he developed that rare but remarkable form of hyperkeratosis associated with gonorrhoeal rheumatism. This appeared practically all over his body, but the large, conical, wart-like masses, brownish-yellow in colour, were specially evident on his hands and feet.

"The ends of his fingers and toes, from the joint to the tip of the nail, including the nail, were covered with a yellowish scale. The patient spent a large sum on medical treatment without avail, and ultimately he was sent to a hospital, where he was treated with various medicaments, both constitutional and local, the latter both dry and wet, without success.

"At the end of six months he was sent home in a hopeless condition. About a year ago he came under my observation, and, having diagnosed the condition as being produced by a gonococcal infection, I decided to employ Phylacogen.

"At first I tried Rheumatism Phylacogen, as I thought it might probably have a speedier effect on the pain and stiffness. This produced no result whatever, and treatment with Gonorrhoea Phylacogen was commenced in January, 1914, with the injection subcutaneously of $\frac{1}{2}$ c.c., followed by daily injections of 1, 2, 3, and 4 c.c., then four of 5 c.c., and gradually working up to 10 c.c.

"From the first dose the patient seemed to improve, and when the 3 c.c. injection was reached the abnormal condition of the skin began to disappear, and gradually the scaly growths began to slip off the fingers and toes in a manner resembling the taking off of a glove, while the limpet-like masses dropped off. The pain and stiffness of the joints rapidly disappeared.

"A curious feature of the case was that the nails, both of the fingers and toes, came off, being replaced by new growth. Throughout the treatment the reactions were so slight as to be scarcely noticed, there was little increase in temperature, no rigor, no perspiration, and no other unpleasant symptoms. The patient has continued for the whole year in perfect health, without pain, swelling, or any other symptom.

"In the treatment of arthritic affections by Phylacogen, care should be taken in the diagnosis, as many cases of arthritis treated with Rheumatism Phylacogen without result, might respond at once, as in the above case, to Gonorrhoea Phylacogen."

Our booklet, "Phylacogen Therapy," gives particulars of a considerable number of cases successfully treated with Gonorrhoea Phylacogen. We shall gladly send you a copy on request.

Yours respectfully,

BENGER'S FOOD.

"Cause and Effect" explained.

BENGER'S FOOD is a cereal flour free from indigestible and irritant particles and scientifically combined with natural digestive principles, which cause it to become, after preparation, one of the most easily assimilated and highly nutritive foods extant, and one which leaves very little insoluble or irritant residue.

The digestive process is easily and simply regulated by allowing the food to stand, after the mixing with warm milk, for 5 to 45 minutes.

The effect is that the casein in the milk, which otherwise would form tough indigestible casein curd in the stomach, can only separate into minute flocculae; in addition both the protein and carbohydrate material in the food itself are partially converted, so as to be easily assimilated by weakened digestive systems.

This explains why Bengers's is frequently retained when all other foods are rejected—why it can be taken by the most delicate infant, and by persons prostrate with illness.

Benger's Food

for INFANTS, INVALIDS AND THE AGED, is sold throughout the World by Chemists, &c., in sealed tins.

HOEFFTCKE'S EXTENSION APPLIANCES.

Ambulatory Treatment of Fracture of the Limbs; Tuberculous and Arthritic Disease of Joints.

By C. A. HOEFFTCKE,

21, Woodstock Street, Oxford Street, London, W.

THAT splendid results can be obtained with my Extension appliance in osteo and rheumatoid arthritic knee cases is shown by those described below.

The appliance is made to a plaster cast of the limb as an exact fit has to be obtained. The weight of the body is transmitted on to the tuber ischii and surrounding gluteal muscles so that there is no pressure whatsoever between the condyles of the joints when the patient walks. Powerful extension can be applied without undue friction on the skin either on the ankle or buttock, the perineum and pubic bone being left quite free.

I must here make it quite clear that the appliance is not only used as a means whereby contracted joints can be made straight, but it is also used in cases of active diseased joints which are not contracted, as the extension between the condyles, and free movement being allowed, absorbs the osteophytes, and the condyles become recovered with fibrous tissue resembling cartilage, if not actual cartilage.

The grating and pain disappear very soon after the application of the extension, and a complete cure can be expected in about eighteen months to two years as the result of this treatment.

The general health of the patient improves very soon through the patient being enabled to walk about again and take exercise, and following this a great improvement can be expected in hands, arms, and shoulder-joints.

The upright position of the body and the walking exercise introduces an improved blood supply and also a certain amount of vaccine. If additional vaccine is introduced by the bacteriologist the amount has to be regulated according to the auto-inoculation produced by exercise of the joint. I am glad to say that this combination has produced very good results, especially in septic infections.

In cases where the joints were cured and the appliances taken off four or five years ago the cure has been maintained, and the joints have resumed the same healthy shape as before the onset of the disease.

A well-known doctor from Harrogate wrote in November, 1913:—

"I have advised a patient of mine who is crippled to try your splints, and propose bringing her to see you at —, etc.

The patient, a lady, Mrs. R—, 61 years of age, was brought in on a carrying chair on Nov. 6th, 1913. It was a case of rheumatoid arthritis of about 20 years' standing. Both knees were contracted to a right angle; the joints were very painful. The patient had not been able to walk for four or five years. The legs were atrophied, the toes a reddish-blue colour, and the feet very cold for want of circulation. Plaster casts of legs were taken, and my Extension splints put on on Nov. 20th. The legs were straightened out gradually, and the patient was able to walk out of doors by the middle of December, 1913. The legs were straight in February, 1914. Elastic traction put on and movement allowed in the joints.

In June, 1914, the patient wrote:—

"I think the time has arrived to tell you how grateful I am for the help of your wonderful instruments in putting me literally on my feet and legs again. I opened a small Arts and Crafts Exhibition ten days ago. My friends and neighbours thought that I myself was the most wonderful of the exhibits in the Town Hall. It is a great pleasure to — to see me about again, you may be sure."

In October, 1914 the patient wrote:—

"I believe I am improving well, and walk more than a mile most days."

In March, 1915, the splints were taken off. The legs, which were atrophied when the splints were put on, had developed to their natural size. There was free movement in ankles and knee-joints. The toes, which were previously blue, had resumed their natural colour. The feet, which were formerly stone cold, now retained their natural warmth. Doctor and patient were delighted, and the patient's husband wrote in March, 1915:—

"Many thanks for all your attention to Mrs. R—. I hear from her that the splints have been taken off not to be put on again. I am deeply grateful to you and Dr. —."

Since then the patient continues to get on well.

In The Lancet of July 27th, 1912, I described a case of arthritis in the left leg, arms, and hands, Mrs. G. S. — (æt. about 50). Leg contracted to an angle of 130 degrees and patella ankylosed. Knee first commenced to contract nine years ago. The appliance was put on in January, 1912. In May of the same year the leg was nearly straight, only 7 degrees of contraction remaining. These 7 degrees of contraction were straightened out under an anæsthetic on my Extension table in order to prevent friction between the condyles during the straightening process. The patella was made movable at the same time. The leg was put in plaster for two weeks, after which time the splint was put on again with elastic traction and movement allowed in knee. Splint taken off a year afterwards (May, 1913). Free movement, extension as well as flexion. I have seen this patient's knee lately. The leg is absolutely cured. No sign of pain since the splint was removed. The leg and knee has resumed its natural shape and appearance.

Another case described in The Lancet on July 27th, 1912, of a district nurse, Miss B. L. B. —, rheumatoid arthritis—where both legs were effected—was again described on May 23rd, 1914.

The patient wrote on April 17th, 19th: "..... You will be delighted to hear that I have left off both splints. My knees feel splendid, not a bit wobbly or painful."

Also in The Lancet of January 17th, 1914, and British Medical Journal of January 31st, 1914, I described the case of a Mrs. B. —, a Lancashire mill-hand, a married woman, 36 years of age, who had been bedridden for three years with rheumatoid arthritis, with her legs acutely flexed on her thighs; arms and hands also affected. Three months from the date the splints were put on—viz., in May, 1913—the knees were straight and the woman could walk a mile.

The doctor wrote on May 28th: "I met Mrs. B. — walking up — on Sunday. She is a grand case, which you ought to publish, and you may use my name."

In February, 1914, the same doctor wrote: "Mrs. B. — is back at work in the mill you will be glad to hear."

The following report refers to a case treated with Hoefftcke's Extension appliance first as an in- and later on as an out-patient of St. Thomas's Hospital.

Reprinted from the Proceedings of the Royal Society of Medicine (Clinical Section, Nov. 8th), December Number, Vol. VI., No. 2, 1912.

A CASE OF RHEUMATOID ARTHRITIS.

This patient, a dressmaker, aged 26, was admitted to St. Thomas's Hospital in May, 1909, three years after the onset of rheumatoid arthritis. She had been bedridden and unable to stand for more than a year; both legs were acutely flexed on the thighs; the left knee-joint was fixed and the right allowed only a few degrees of movement. The left shoulder-joint was firmly ankylosed, and the hands presented the appearances characteristic of advanced rheumatoid arthritis.

Treatment: radiant heat, massage, passive movements, and extensions produced very little improvement, though persevered with for four months. On Sept. 21st, 1909, both knees were moved under an anæsthetic and put up in plaster. On Sept. 30th a double-hinged splint was fitted by Mr. Hoefftcke. On Dec. 3rd she was able to walk with the help of sticks, and on Jan. 1st, 1910, she could walk without assistance. Now (November, 1912) she can run, and her walking gait would not attract attention.

The remarks at the discussion that "Many similar cases drifted into infirmaries or were bedridden for life when this splint might have been applied with as satisfactory a result as in the case shown," was applicable to this case.

Fig. 1 shows the degree of flexion when my splint was applied.

Fig. 2 shows the same knee quite straight six weeks after the instrument had been applied.

Degree of flexion when splint was applied, Sept. 30th, 1909.

Knee straight, Nov. 12th, 1909.

If references are wanted, the consulting surgeons, doctors, and patients in connexion with these cases will be pleased to give any particulars required.

(To be continued in the last issue of every month of the present year.)

The BRITISH MEDICAL JOURNAL says:—

"Examination showed it to contain no less than 10.3 parts of anhydrous salts in 100 parts by measure, the principal constituent being sodium sulphate; magnesium sulphate, sodium chloride, and calcium sulphate were present in much smaller quantity. The analysis represents the dissolved salts as follows (grams per litre being here converted into grains per fluid ounce:

Sodium sulphate	... 42.16 grains	Calcium sulphate	... 0.85 grains
Potassium sulphate	... 0.10 "	Sodium chloride	... 0.90 "
Magnesium sulphate	... 1.43 "	Silica, alumina, iron, etc.	... 0.02 "

In one fluid ounce.

(42.16 grains of anhydrous sodium sulphate represents 95.7 grains of the usual crystallised salt, or 'Glauber's salt'.)

In view of the large amount of purgative salts present, a comparatively small dose suffices, a wineglassful" (fasting).

"FURTHER AID FOR THE WOUNDED."

The marvellous success in treating the wounded suffering from stiff and painful joints after fracture, rheumatism, sciatica, frostbite, etc., by means of the Dowsing Radiant Heat and Light Treatment, has led to the installation of this apparatus in a large number of Military, Auxiliary and other Hospitals, Medical Institutions and Nursing Homes. The apparatus is supplied on hire on very moderate terms, and the cost of running it is very small.

The apparatus has been perfected under the advice of eminent Medical men who regularly prescribe the treatment. The penetrating power of the Electric Heat Rays is very considerable, as the diaphoretic effects of Heat and Light combined are greatly superior to those of non-luminous heat. The Radiant Heat application is of a soothing character, and it allays pain whilst the curative effects are in progress. Patients feel no shock whatever, for, although the heat is produced electrically, no electric currents enter the body.

"This treatment is very popular with the patients, and has been employed in combination with massage for trench rheumatism, frostbite, stiff joints after gunshot wounds, sciatica, and lumbago. The medical staff are also satisfied with the results obtained."—The British Medical Journal, 3rd April, 1915.

Private G. Dowsell, of the 2nd Welsh Regiment, writes, December 8th, 1914, from the North Staffs. Infirmary:—

"I am sending this tin of your Tobacco, which I owe my life, as no doubt you will see that a shrapnel bullet passed through the tin, which I was carrying in my serge coat pocket; you can guess I was very thankful I was carrying a tin of Player's Navy Cut, which I have been smoking this last three years . . . I must say there was a great rush for Player's Navy Cut when issued out at the Front, and was a great comfort to the troops in the trenches."

LISTERINE

Listerine is an efficient, non-toxic antiseptic of accurately determined and uniform antiseptic power, prepared in a form convenient for immediate use.

Composed of volatile and non-volatile substances, Listerine is a balsamic antiseptic, refreshing in its application, lasting in its effect.

It is a saturated solution of boric acid, reinforced by the antiseptic properties of ozoniferous oils.

After the volatile constituents have evaporated, a film of boric acid remains evenly distributed upon the surfaces to which Listerine has been applied.

There is no possibility of poisonous effect through the absorption of Listerine.

Listerine is unirritating, even when applied to the most delicate tissues; in its full strength it does not coagulate serous albumen.

For those purposes wherein a poisonous or corrosive disinfectant can not be safely employed, Listerine is the most acceptable antiseptic for a physician's prescription.

Listerine is particularly useful in the treatment of abnormal conditions of the mucosa, and admirably suited for a wash, gargle or douche in catarrhal conditions of the nose and throat.

In proper dilution, Listerine may be freely and continuously used without prejudicial effect, either by injection or spray, in all the natural cavities of the body.

Administered internally, Listerine is promptly effective in arresting the excessive fermentation of the contents of the stomach.

In the treatment of summer complaints of infants and children, Listerine is extensively prescribed in doses of 10 drops to a teaspoonful.

In febrile conditions, nothing is comparable to Listerine as a mouth wash; two or three drachms to four ounces of water.

"The Inhibitory Action of Listerine," 128 pages, descriptive of the antiseptic, may be had upon application to the manufacturers,
