

THE CAVENDISH ELECTRICAL COMPANY, LTD.,

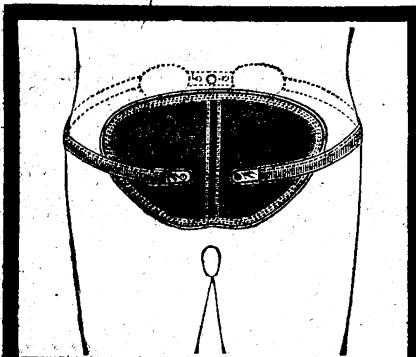

105-107, Great Portland Street, London, W.

beg to announce the publication of their New Work—

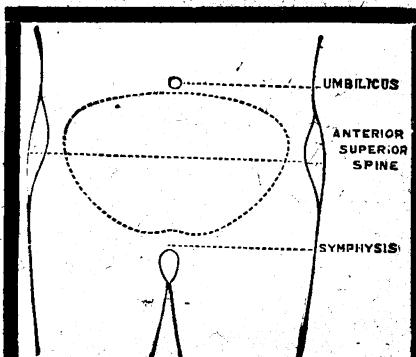

"The Equipment of the Electrical and Mass- age Departments of a Military Hospital, Convalescent Camp, V.A.D. Hospital, Etc."

This unique publication, consisting of 85 pages of interesting and instructive reading matter, has been devoted entirely to a comprehensive description of such electro-medical appliances as have been found to meet the requirements of these Institutions, for the treatment of our wounded and disabled soldiers.

The book is most profusely illustrated with photographs of the various apparatus, and also shows same in use at one of the large hospital camps. In conformity with our usual practice we are issuing this book FREE ON REQUEST to Officers in command of Hospitals and Camps, Commandants of V.A.D. Hospitals, and all those interested in this work, confident that it will prove of exceptional interest and service to them in the selection of suitable appliances for electro-therapeutic treatment.
