

EVIDENCE FROM DOCTORS.

"Having several times tested Sanatogen, and latterly Sanaphos, I consider the latter a better preparation than Sanatogen."—Med. Off. of Health, Sanaphos in, in my opinion, superior to any similar product."—M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P.

"I tried Sanatogen when it first came out and never found a patient benefit the slightest by taking it. But Sanaphos has worked wonders in many cases."—M.R.C.S. Eng.

"Since the introduction of 'Sanaphos' I have always prescribed it in preference to 'Sanatogen,' and consider it superior and more readily assimilated."—L.R.C.P.I. all respects."—L.R.C.P.E., L.R.C.S.E., L.F.P.S., nr. Manchester.

"I used to prescribe Sanatogen, but never again; always in future Sanaphos."—Mayfair, W.

"Sanaphos I consider superior to Sanatogen."—L.R.C.P. & S., Sheffield.

"I believe Sanaphos as a Nerve Tonic to be superior to Sanatogen."—M.D., M.R.C.P., F.R.C.S.E.

"Sanaphos is quite as good, if not better than Sanatogen."—M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P. Lond., Fleet Surgeon R.N. Rd.

"Have used Sanatogen, now prefer Sanaphos."—L.D.S. (Dental Surgeon), St. Albans.

"I used Sanatogen before I tested Sanaphos, but I have found the latter much more efficacious than the German production."—Medical Practitioner, Harrow-on-the-Hill.

"I consider Sanaphos an improvement on Sanatogen."—Surgeon, Great Dover-st., S.E.

"I used to take and recommend Sanatogen. I infinitely prefer Sanaphos, and always take it daily and recommend it to my patients."—L.R.C.P., M.R.C.S., L.M., L.J.A.

"I used Sanatogen extensively for many years."

"I formerly used Sanatogen constantly, but find that Sanaphos completely replaces it in every way."—M.B.A., N.W.

"I consider Sanaphos far superior to Sanatogen. My patients derive great benefit from it."—R.C.S., Leeds.

"In my opinion Sanaphos is much superior to Sanatogen. I now recommend the former to my patients."—M.B., C.M., Edin.

"I believe Sanaphos to be superior to Sanatogen."—Surgeon, Weston-super-Mare.

"I consider Sanaphos much superior to Sanatogen."—M.D., Bournemouth.

"No German-owned article should be allowed during war, and only after if British workers be employed in the manufacture, unless imported under a Tariff."—Surgeon, Walthamstow, N.E.

"A British-made and British-owned product which is superior in every way should be furthered and not hampered by the Government."—Dr., Dublin.

"Have previously used Sanatogen, but have discarded it in favour of Sanaphos."—M.B.

"I have used both Sanatogen and Sanaphos in my family and in my practice, and am much better pleased with Sanaphos."—L.R.C.P. Lond., M.R.C.I., Lancs.

"I consider Sanaphos superior to Sanatogen."—Physician and Surgeon, Bolton.

"Patients soon revolt at Sanatogen and its price."—M.D., Manchester.

"Sanaphos being much better than Sanatogen."—Dr., M.R.S., Kensington, W.

"Having prescribed Sanaphos very largely since its introduction I am convinced it is superior to Sanatogen."—L.R.C.P. and S.I., Cheshire.

"Formerly I used to mention Sanatogen to my patients, but few of them liked it even amongst Hospital patients. Now I advise Sanaphos; my patients like it and take it, as do I, frequently; whereas I only seldom Sanatogen once."—Dr., Plymouth.

"Sanatogen was not a true chemical combination as stated, and this German-made article is better."—M.D., Northallerton, Yorkshire.

"I was at one time a great believer in Sanatogen, and have prescribed many times of it, but now find Sanaphos is a much superior preparation both in effectiveness and taste, and now consider it to be the best milk product made."—L.R.C.P. and S.E., Medical Practitioner, Bath.

"Sanaphos is convenient to use. More palatable and in every way superior to the German product."—F.R.C.S. Eng., Plymouth.

"I have given up Sanatogen in favour of Sanaphos."—M.D. Lond., Westcliff-on-Sea.

"I used to recommend Sanatogen, but now I find Sanaphos is better in every way."—M.D., Lancing.

"I used to prescribe Sanatogen because I did not know about Sanaphos, but now I never do. There is no comparison between the two preparations. Sanaphos affords relief both physically and mentally in a very short time. It is really a wonderful preparation."—M.D., Sussex.

"I am frequently ordering Sanaphos and much prefer it to the older and cruder preparation of Sanatogen."—Physician and Surgeon, Berks.

"I used to prescribe Sanatogen. I shall never do so again, especially as I find Sanaphos gives quicker and better results."—L.R.C.P. Lond., etc., Waverley.

"I formerly used Sanatogen personally and prescribed it for my patients. I now never use it, but always prescribe Sanaphos."—M.D., West Kensington, W.

"I have used and prescribed both, but much prefer Sanaphos."—M.R.C.S.E., L.S.A., Leicester.

"Sanaphos is very superior to any other preparation I have ever prescribed."—L.S.A., etc., Middles.

"Sanaphos is splendid stuff, and in my opinion distinctly superior to Sanatogen in every respect."—Prof., D.M., Liverpool.

"Although I used to order Sanatogen, I have ceased to do so for three years, considering Sanaphos a better product."—M.D. Lond., Mayfair, W.

"Do not prescribe Sanatogen now. Find Sanaphos better."—M.D., Northallerton, Yorkshire.

SOME EXCERPTS FROM THE SANAPHOS PETITION.

"I formerly recommended Sanatogen, but now recommend Sanaphos."—M.D., M.C.H., Co. Down, Ire.

"I have personally found Sanaphos equal to Sanatogen."—M.D., Ch.B., Upper Gloucester-st., N.W.

"I was a user of Sanatogen; I find Sanaphos preferable. If there were no Sanaphos, I still would recommend Sanatogen or any other German product."—M.R.C.S., M.R.C.P., Devon.

"I now prescribe Sanaphos as it is better and more palatable than Sanatogen."—L.R.C.P.S.I., D.P.H. Lond., Co. Fermanagh.

"I have used both Sanaphos and Sanatogen, and I believe Sanaphos is superior to Sanatogen."—M.B., B.Ch., etc., Bewdley.

"I have abandoned Sanatogen for Sanaphos, as I consider the latter to be superior."—M.R.C.S., etc., Aylesbury.

"I have used Sanatogen for years, but shall never do so again, finding Sanaphos superior in every way."—L.R.C.P., M.R.C.S., etc., Newport, Mon.

"Far superior to Sanatogen."—L.D.S. Eng., Preston.

"A few weeks ago the representative of Sanatogen called upon me to remind me that Sanatogen was still being made. I entirely refused to re-stimulate the product in my prescription, and told him that I should never support the business of an alien enemy. He told me that Wullfing would never be allowed to trade in England again, but I think that is extremely unlikely. I hope that he will not trade here again—through lack of customers. I have ordered Sanaphos lately in a post-operation case, and my patient expressed her satisfaction."—Dr., Hampstead, N.W.

"I gave Sanaphos to a small nephew of mine, aged five years, suffering from great emaciation, anaemia, and neurasthenia after a second operation for radical cure for hernia. The child soon commenced to respond to his new food, and is now a strong, healthy, and very active boy—due, I am sure, to Sanaphos. This induced me to give Sanaphos to two children much afflicted with anæmia. They needed

"Some time ago I gave Sanaphos to a nerve case, I was and was greatly surprised at the change effected after some two or three weeks' use."—M.D., Newcastle-on-Tyne.

"Members of my family were all run down after rather severe attacks of influenza. In each case there was rapid and marked improvement in health and strength and colour after a course of Sanaphos. I have also given Sanaphos to patients, pointing out that it was to be considered a food and not a medicine in the ordinary sense. These without exception are in better health. I may also state that in the past I have both taken and advised the use of Sanatogen, but I am certain the new product, Sanaphos, is a much better article, as it is much more soluble and infinitely pleasanter to take. The older preparation always left a deposit in the drinking vessel, which might be described as almost gritty and was decidedly unpleasant—to myself, at least. I have no doubt as to the efficacy and general superiority of Sanaphos."—M.D., Ladbroke-grove, W.

"My husband (Dr. —) to whom you sent the samples of Sanaphos, wishes me to write and thank you. He is suffering with neuritis, and has derived benefit from Sanaphos."—Ben Rhysdyll, Ykt.

"Personally I have found that Sanaphos is superior to Sanatogen, and so have my patients."—Dr., Salop.

"Having used both Sanatogen and latterly Sanaphos, it is my opinion that Sanaphos is much the superior article and should always be ordered by medical men."—M.B., C.H.M., S. Devon.

"I consider Sanaphos a better and more palatable preparation than Sanatogen."—M.D. Lond., F.R.C.P., Upper Wimpole-street, W.

"All my patients prefer Sanaphos."—L.R.C.P. and L.M., London, S.W.

"I have not used Sanatogen for a long time as I find the English preparation as good, if not better."—L.R.C.S. and P.

"British Sanaphos is superior."—M.R.C.S.

"I am glad to say my wife is feeling better already. I have seen Sanaphos in

Were you one of those who approved and prescribed Sanatogen?

A better, more effectual, and more digestible food for nerves and tissues has been produced since then by British scientists, in a British laboratory, and made by a British Company.

Sanaphos is wholly soluble, wholly digestible. The phosphorus needed by the nerves is actually absorbed by the system, and used for the reconstruction of nerves, in larger proportion from Sanaphos than from any of the earlier forms of phosphated casein.

The substances for the repair of muscular tissues are assimilated by the system in greater proportion from Sanaphos than from any other similar product.

Sanaphos is wholly digestible; in contrast with the earlier foods which are only partly digestible.

Unlike earlier foods, Sanaphos does not cause any disturbance whatever in the processes of digestion and elimination.

Altogether, it is a far more effectual nerve-builder and tissue-builder than any phosphated milk or phosphated casein products, hitherto produced by science.

We ask that you put these statements to the proofs in your own practice.
