TRAUMATIC SHIN ULCER

HEALED WITH JELONET, VISCOPASTE, PARAGON SPONGE RUBBER AND ELASTOPLAST

Case History

G.H.H. Aged 38. Dock Labourer. Injured his left shin whilst at work. On attending the clinic he had a deep traumatic ulcer surrounded by an inflamed area of skin . . . no varicose veins. (Fig. 1.)

Treatment. August 9th, 1946.—Jelonet was applied to cover the ulcer and inflamed area, and a pad of cotton-wool to cover the ulcer only. The leg was bandaged from toes to knee with Viscopaste. (Fig. 2.)

August 23rd, 1946.—The inflamed area was redressed with Jelonet covered by strips of Ichthopaste. A well-bevelled adhesive sponge rubber pad was applied to cover the ulcer, and the leg firmly bandaged with Elastoplast.

Sept. 13th, 1946.—After liberally painting with calamine in oil, covered with Ichthopaste, a large pad of cotton-wool was placed to cover the ulcer and the leg again firmly bandaged with Elastoplast.

October 4th, 1946—Ulcer healed. (Fig. 3.)

October 18th, 1946.—Patient discharged to work.

Comment. Although initial bandaging with Viscopaste resulted in marked improvement, there was not sufficient pressure as was evident on August 23rd when, although the ulcer was reduced in size, there was pronounced granulation tissue. This resolved rapidly with concentrated compression beneath sponge rubber with the additional support of Elastoplast. (August 23rd and September 13th.)

Details and illustrations above are of an actual case. T. J. Smith & Nephew, Ltd., Manufacturers of Jelonet, Viscopaste, Ichthopaste and Elastoplast are privileged to publish this instance, typical of many, in which their products have been used with success, in the belief that such authentic records will be of general interest.

The diagram summarizes the local and central actions of the drugs contained in 'Franol.' Clinical experience indicates that the combination gives more effective control than ephedrine and theophylline prescribed singly.

A noteworthy function of the 'Luminal' content is to allay anxiety: it keeps the patient physically and mentally at ease, inhibiting the sudden panic which sometimes precipitates an emergency call.

'FRANOL' (ephedrine + theophylline + 'Luminal') is supplied in packings of 20, 100, 500 tablets. The average adult dose is 1 tablet t.d.s., or 1-2 at the first warning of

Thus Dermatological Cream No. 8 contains Salicylic Acid 3%, Benzoic Acid 5%; it is an improved form of Whitfield's ointment, indicated in epidermophytosis and other fungous affections of the skin.

The special non-greasy ointment bases featured in the series ensure rapid penetration into the skin and do not impede free heat radiation, so that the irritation frequently caused by the heating effect of fatty ointment bases is absent.

Vitamin Therapy -its uses and limitations

ACUTE INFECTIONS

A multiple vitamin supplement is a useful basal treatment in febrile conditions when the requirements for the water soluble factors are increased and the diet is usually restricted.

Some acute infections, moreover, are commonly associated with low body reserves of certain vitamins. Some also, like pneumonia, provide the uncommon example of urinary excretion of vitamin A, following upon functional hepatic disturbance.

For supplying the increased needs of vitamins A, B_1 and C, together with other important nutritional factors, Complevite is recommended for routine use.

COMPLEVITE A single supplement for multiple deficiencies

The recommended adult daily dose provides:—

vitamin A 2,000 i.u. vitamin C 20 mg. iodine not less than 10 vitamin B₁ 0.6 mg. iron 68 mg. copper not less

Twelve drops daily for the baby ... twenty drops for the adolescent ... and up to sixty drops for the debilitated adult. Indeed, whatever the indication for additional vitamins A and D, Adexolin Liquid may be prescribed at the precise dosage to meet the patient's need.*

Convalescence, malnutrition and proneness to infection of almost any kind are absolute indications for Adexolin. But to-day, when the dietary yield of vitamins A and D is seldom far from the borderline of insufficiency, there is a particular place for Adexolin among routine measures of prophylaxis.

Adexolin Liquid is almost tasteless; for infants it is conveniently mixed with the bottle feeds or with a little fruit juice.

NOVASO

(Hydrated Magnesium Trisilicate)

Novasorb provides for sustained control over gastric hyperacidity without producing an alkaline condition in the stomach. it thus presents a desirable improvement over the older antacids, where control is limited to the immediate reaction and where continued administration of excess alkali may induce alkalosis.

The Novasorb brand of hydrated magnesium trisilicate was developed and introduced by Evans Fine Chemical Works and is based on original observations and clinical trials. (Brit. med. J., 1936, 1, 143, 205, and 254).

Following the early diagnosis of pregnancy, one of the more commonly expected minor complications is the train of gastric symptoms referred to as morning sickness.

Gastric discomfort, nausea, retching or actual vomiting are all too common in the early months. Of particular assistance during this period is a regular dose of 'BiSoDoL' on waking in the morning.

The alkaline composition of 'BiSoDoL' controls excessive acidity; the magnesia present is mildly aperient, while the enzymes, papain and diastase it contains assist the digestive processes. Pleasantly flavoured with peppermint oil it is easily taken in milk or water.

DEEP DARK SECRET

Suffering in silence because of a natural reluctance to reveal any abnormal rectal condition, the patient with haemorrhoids is additionally inhibited by vague fears of major surgery and "the knife".

Having finally exposed his secret to the physician, the patient may frequently be spared further pain and discomfort by the use of Anusol* Haemorrhoidal Suppositories.

Providing relief through their decongestive and lubricating qualities, Anusol Haemorrhoidal Suppositories diminish pain, lubricate the ano-rectal mucosa and discourage "fear retention" followed by straining.

Stimulant

In depressive conditions 'Dexedrine' may be relied on to increase the patient's accessibility to treatment, to effect a remarkable improvement in mood and outlook, and to aid him in regaining a normal grip on life and living. The striking preponderance of its central nervous effect over its weak peripheral activity makes 'Dexedrine' virtually a single-action drug. Patients are ordinarily spared the disturbing consciousness of 'drug stimulation,' and thus 'Dexedrine' is especially suitable for the highly-strung, the emotionally unstable, convalescents, men and women undergoing the climacteric, and the aged.

HIS MAJESTY'S COLONIAL SERVICE
COLONIAL MEDICAL SERVICE
The Colonial Medical Service offers an interesting career and provides unique opportunities for applying medical science in territories which are undergoing rapid development. There are immediate openings in many parts of the Colonial Empire and applications are invited from both men and women doctors who are British subjects and possess qualifications registrable in the United Kingdom. Medical Officers are usually appointed in the first instance for general duties. This implies all-round ability with a balanced outlook upon both preventive and curative medicine. Officers are also required for public health duties, in which case the D.P.H. or some experience of health work is necessary. Ample opportunities exist for fleld investigation, while officers with special aptitude are encouraged to obtain such higher qualifications as will enhance their value to the Service. Officers are from time to time seconded or appointed to medical laboratories in the larger territories. In the West African territories improved salary scales and conditions of service have recently been introduced. In most of the other territories the terms of service are being actively reviewed, and meanwhile temporary cost-of-living allowances are being paid over and above the existing salaries. At present initial basic salaries, i.e. irresp ctive of any cost-of-living allowance and of any credit that may be allowable for war service or professional experience, vary between £600 and £925 according to locality. There are, in addition, numbers of super-scale posts in the administrative and specialist grades which are normally filled by promotion within the Service. Free passages for an officer and wife are generally provided both on first appointment and when travelling on leave of absence. Where Government quarters are provided a small rent is usually payable. Good leave conditions and an adequate pension scheme are in force. The Colonial Medical Service is a unified service an

PREPARATION FOR A MASTERPIECE

"THE only solution that gave virtual disinfection with great regularity in 15-20 sec. was 2 per cent. iodine in 70 per cent. alcohol, the virtues of which are well known and have been upheld by many investigators. . . This then is the ideal disinfectant for needle puncture, when great rapidity is essential. It seems that for surgical incisions also a single painting just before the operation is all that is necessary, and that elaborate washings and other preparation of the skin could be omitted. . . ."

"Rapid Chemical Disinfection of Clean Unwashed Skin," LANCET, May 11, 1946, pp. 683-686.

This is one of the classic papers relating to the antiseptic value of iodine. All the research literature is collated and made readily available to members of the medical profession by the Iodine Educational Bureau. Many of the newer iodine uses and research findings are not widely known. Medical practitioners are invited to consult the Bureau about them.

The Watson sunlamps of to-day incorporate highpressure electronic discharge tubes which are vastly more efficient and economical than any of the earlier models. Please write for your copy of a new catalogue containing details of a full range of ultra-violet and infra-red apparatus.

MIL-PAR

ANTACID LUBRICANT

A pleasant and effective combination of 'Milk of Magnesia' with a specially selected grade of Medicinal Paraffin. Particularly indicated in the treatment of chronic constipation and hyperacidity of the stomach due to disorder of the alimentary tract.

'MIL-PAR' neutralizes excess gastric acidity and checks the development of acid conditions in the food waste. Mixing freely with the faecal mass, it renders it soft and pliable, and lubricates the intestinal tract without formation of oily pools and subsequent rectal leakage.

May freely be employed during convalescence from operation or protracted illness, for infants and children, expectant and nursing mothers.

Contains approximately 25% medicinal paraffin and 6% magnesium hydroxide.

SUPPLIES ARE LIMITED, BUT SUFFICIENT STOCKS ARE AVAILABLE FOR DISCRIMINATE PRESCRIPTION.
