'ALASIL' is an analgesic, antipyretic and sedative of established value. It provides the physician with an efficient form of salicylate medication which combines the advantages of high tolerability and greater freedom from the possibility of unpleasant gastro-intestinal sequelæ.

This tolerability is due to the fact that 'Alasil' is a combination of Acetylsalicylic acid and Dibasic Calcium Phosphate together with 'Alocol' (Colloidal Aluminium Hydroxide), an effective gastric sedative and antacid.

For these reasons 'Alasil' can be administered with confidence over prolonged periods if necessary to children, adults, the aged, and patients with finely balanced digestive capacities.

Deriphyllin is exceedingly well tolerated and may be given for a long time (chronic cardiac decompensation) without reaction occurring. Effect does not decrease after prolonged administration. Can be usefully combined with the organic mercurial diuretics. Not contra-indicated in renal disease.

Available in liquid form for oral use, ampoules and suppositories.

Deriphyllin-Strophanthin is indicated for all cases of heart failure.

The art of medicine is generally a question of time. With the peptic ulcer patient, as is well known, the rate of healing is determined by the ulcer's freedom from irritation. # unwelcome legacies of summer

Summer-time puts the accent on organized sports and exercise. And the fungi responsible for mycotic skin diseases flourish wherever showers, baths and pools are communally used. To treat the individual case, to halt the spread of infection, or to eliminate the disease from an institution, Mersagel is specific. Mersagel contains the powerful fungicide, phenyl mercuric acetate, at a concentration of 1:750 in a colourless, water miscible jelly base. It swiftly attacks the responsible fungi and frequently brings rapid regression of symptoms even in previously persistent cases.

To help vanquish depression masquerading as bodily ailments

Depressions manifesting themselves as apparently unrelated somatic complaints seldom yield to treatment until the patient's underlying emotional conflicts have been, in some measure, exposed and ventilated. Thereafter, 'Benzedrine' Tablets may give significant help in speeding the patient's recovery from depression masquerading as a bodily ailment. As his depression diminishes, the patient's preoccupation with his symptoms should decrease, thus doing much to relieve his psychosomatic distress.

By using Johnson's Baby Lotion, particularly after nappy changes, you leave a soothing, discontinuous film over a baby's skin and the antiseptic in the Lotion protects against surface bacteria and so reduces the risk of urine rash and nappy rash. Johnson's Baby Lotion is a snow white lotion—an oil-in-water emulsion, homogenised under pressure to give extensive dispersion of the globules. It enables the pores to 'breathe' naturally and normally, allows perspiration to escape easily and so helps prevent irritation. Clinical and laboratory tests show that Baby Lotion is a big step forward in baby skin care.

“Blackcurrant Juice in Modern Therapy”

The latest information on the therapeutic uses of natural vitamin C has been brought together in practical form within the covers of a handy 8-page booklet. Here is an extract from the contents:

- In Infancy and Childhood
- During Pregnancy and Lactation
- In Dental Conditions
- In Peptic Ulcer
- In Fractures and Wounds
- In Blood Dyscrasias and Haemorrhagic states
- In Infections
- In Skin Disorders
- In Fatigue
- In Other Conditions

A copy of the booklet will be gladly sent on application to Room 19, H. W. Carter & Co., Ltd., Bristol 2, makers of Ribena Blackcurrant Syrup.

The diagram summarizes the local and central actions of the drugs contained in 'Franol.' Clinical experience indicates that the combination gives more effective control than ephedrine and theophylline prescribed singly.

A noteworthy function of the 'Luminal' content is to allay anxiety: it keeps the patient physically and mentally at ease, inhibiting the sudden panic which sometimes precipitates an emergency call.

'FRANOL' (ephedrine + theophylline + 'Luminal') is supplied in packings of 20, 100, 500 tablets. The average adult dose is 1 tablet t.d.s., or 1-2 at the first warning of an attack.

Immunisation with 'Wellcome' Diphtheria Prophylactic A.P.T. has markedly reduced the incidence of and mortality from diphtheria. ## Vitamin Therapy - its uses and limitations

Nutrition in childhood

Loss of appetite and failure to thrive, the forerunners of more serious conditions of ill health in children, can sometimes be checked by nutritional adjustments. In this connection vitamins of the B complex are important. Vitamin B<sub>1</sub> is associated not only with the maintenance of appetite, but also with mental alertness: the complex as a whole is effective in controlling gastrointestinal motility; various skin complaints may be related to the need for extra supplies of the B complex.

During the period of rapid growth and development, therefore, it is important to secure an adequate supply of all these factors and this can best be done by the use of a natural dietary supplement such as Bemax.

Bemax stabilised cereal embryo

1 oz. of Bemax provides approximately

The Minnitt Gas-Air Apparatus is ideally suited to the needs of visiting practitioners and midwives alike.

Now standard throughout Great Britain, it weighs only 15lbs. in its travelling case, measures 19" x 12 1/2" x 5" and is specially designed for self-administration by the patient. The flow of gas-air is controlled by the patient's own respiration; complete unconsciousness never occurs as on the verge of insensibility the pressure of the patient's finger relaxes, allowing additional air to enter and dilute the mixture. Muscular action remains unimpaired. A wheeled model for hospitals and nursing homes is also available.

compound sulphonamide tablets

'SULPHATRIAD' contains, in each tablet:

|                     |               |
|---------------------|---------------|
| sulphathiazole .. . | 0.185 grammes |
| sulphadiazine .. .  | 0.185 grammes |
| sulphamerazine .. . | 0.130 grammes |

We are pleased to announce that supplies of 'SULPHATRIAD' are now available through the usual trade channels.

'SULPHATRIAD' is suggested in the treatment of acute infections due to pneumococci, gonococci, meningococci,  $\beta$ -haemolytic streptococci, Bact. coli, H. ducreyi and in gas gangrene. It may also be used as an adjuvant to penicillin therapy in grave S. aureus infections and in the treatment of localised staphylococcal infections such as boils, carbuncles and whitlows.

Since the solubility in the urine of each of the constituents of 'SULPHATRIAD' is not affected by the presence of the other two, the risk of renal complications such as crystalluria during treatment with this combination of sulphonamides is greatly reduced. Such a combination may also have certain advantages from the point of view of therapeutic activity.

APPOINTMENTS

HIS MAJESTY'S COLONIAL SERVICE COLONIAL MEDICAL SERVICE

The Colonial Medical Service offers an interesting career and provides unique opportunities for applying medical science in territories which are undergoing rapid development. There are immediate openings in many parts of the Colonial Empire and applications are invited from both men and women doctors who are British subjects and possess qualifications registrable in the United Kingdom. Medical Officers are usually appointed in the first instance for general duties. This implies all-round ability with a balanced outlook upon both preventive and curative medicine. Officers are also required for public health duties, in which case the D.P.H. or some experience of health work is necessary. Ample opportunities exist for field investigation while officers with special aptitude are encouraged to obtain such higher qualifications as will enhance their value to the Service. Officers are from time to time seconded or appointed to medical laboratories in the larger territories. In the West African territories improved salary scales and conditions of service have recently been introduced. In most of the other territories the terms of service are being actively reviewed, and meanwhile temporary cost-of-living allowances are being paid over and above the existing salaries. At present initial basic salaries, i.e., irrespective of any cost-of-living allowance and of any credit that may be allowable for war service or professional experience vary between £600 and £800 according to locality. There are, in addition, numbers of super-scale posts in the administrative and specialist grades which are normally filled by promotion within the Service. Free passages for an officer and wife are generally provided both on first appointment and when travelling on leave of absence. Where Government quarters are provided a small rent is usually payable. Good leave conditions and an adequate pension scheme are in force. The Colonial Medical Service is a unified service and members are eligible for transfer from one territory to another, either with or without promotion. Selected candidates may be required to take a course in tropical medicine either before proceeding overseas (in which case they would receive an allowance) or on first leave. Candidates for permanent service must have been born on or after January 1, 1908. Contract appointments are also available in certain territories for doctors born before this date. Further particulars may be obtained from and applications should be addressed to the Director of Recruitment (Colonial Service), Colonial Office, 15, Victoria Street, London, S.W.1.

The BUK wins . . . on its head!

The secret of BUK's success lies in its head. Only a wafer thinness of metal separates bristles from the 5 tempered and hardened cutting edges. With every movement of the vibrator, 150 double action cutting edges are brought into play, and the result is the closest smoothest shave of a lifetime. The BUK, simple and robust, is built for a trouble-free life, and is fully guaranteed. The BUK is specially recommended for disabled and bedridden patients.
