All the family benefits from CASILAN

Diets poor in protein actually hasten the ageing process, and those old people who subsist largely on tea-and-toast diets are among the first to succumb to exhaustion and illness. Casilan is therefore a valuable 'extra' for the aged—one that will do much to restore their vitality.

Diets protein-enriched with Casilan can cut the convalescent period appreciably—important when the family breadwinner is involved, or when hospitals are short of beds. The low sodium content of Casilan (less than 0.1 per cent) also makes it eminently suitable for oedematous cases needing high protein, 'salt-free' diets.

If obesity is the problem, Casilan can be relied upon to provide a sustaining yet non-fattening basis for reducing diets. And Casilan is a logical 'extra' to the expectant mother's diet; it helps to keep her own tissues in good repair, and assists the tissue development of the foetus.

Infants and children have real need of ample protein if regular, healthy growth is to take place. Casilan completely meets this need, because it is first-class protein and therefore extremely rich in the 'formative' nourishment so necessary for healthy tissue growth.

NULACIN

for continuous,
maintained gastric
anacidity

It has long been recognized that the most rapid relief of the pain and discomfort of peptic ulcer and most rapid healing of the lesion are achieved when a continuous state of gastric anacidity is maintained.

Heretofore, this could only be attained with hospitalization and discomfort to the patient. Now, NULACIN offers all the advantages of continuous intragastric milk-alkali drip therapy without these attendant inconveniences, and achieves its end simply and effectively.

A NULACIN tablet placed between the cheek and the gum dissolves slowly and releases its contained medicaments at a rate that gives continuous neutralization of the acid gastric juice, and accomplishes this with considerably less antacid than is required by any other method employing oral administration.

INDICATIONS

NULACIN tablets are indicated whenever acid neutralization of the gastric contents is required: in active and quiescent peptic ulcer, gastritis, gastric hyperacidity.

Dosage: Beginning half-an-hour after food a NULACIN tablet should be placed in the mouth and allowed to dissolve slowly.

During the stage of ulcer activity, up to three tablets an hour may be required. During quiescent periods, for prophylaxis in peptic ulcer and for the relief of discomfort due to gastric hyperacidity, the dose of NULACIN is one or two tablets between meals.

NULACIN tablets are not advertised to the public and have no B.P. equivalent. May be prescribed on E.C.10. The dispensing unit of 25 tablets is free of purchase tax. (Price to pharmacists: 2/-.) Also available in tubes of 12.

NULACIN tablets are prepared from whole milk combined with dextrins and maltose, and incorporate:

Magnesium Trisilicate 3.5 grs. Magnesium Oxide 2.0 grs.
Calcium Carbonate 2.0 grs. Magnesium Carbonate 0.5 grs.

FOUNDED ON A ROCK

For centuries, the many lighthouses around our shores have warned of treacherous rocks and shoals and guided shipping into the right channels. Without these safeguarding sentries of the seas many valuable lives and craft would be lost each year in the dangerous waters which surround our island home.

Babies, like frail craft, need protection if they are to be safely steered through the sometimes dangerous waters of infancy into the safe haven of adult health and happiness.

Cow & Gate, like a lighthouse, is well and truly founded on a rock of scientific research and experience now extending over half a century. It still stands alone as the most reliable and safe substitute if natural feeding fails.

Orally effective against staphylococci, streptococci and pneumococci—also especially indicated when patients are allergic to penicillin and other antibiotics or when the organism is resistant.

A drug of choice against staphylococci—because of the high incidence of staphylococcal resistance to other antibiotics.

A drug of choice because it does not materially alter normal intestinal flora; gastrointestinal disturbances rare; no serious side effects reported.

Advantageous because the special acid-resistant coating developed by Abbott—and Abbott's built-in disintegrator—assure rapid dispersal and absorption in the upper intestinal tract.

IMMOBILIZATION BY GYPSONA AFTER SKIN GRAFTING OPERATION

These illustrations and the brief details below are of an actual case where, after a skin grafting operation, a Gypsona plaster of Paris cast was used to immobilize the patient.

In such a case Gypsona is particularly convenient. The bandages are ready for immediate use and are quick setting. Being evenly impregnated with a uniform content of plaster of Paris, they can be quickly formed into a strong but light cast — with a minimum of disturbance to the patient in the post-operative condition.

CASE HISTORY: Boy received a burn covering 16% of body surface. Plasma transfusion started and the burn dressed with penicillin cream.

There was almost complete skin destruction, and a fortnight later early granulations were visible through separating slough. Under general anaesthetic, these were stripped off leaving a clean raw area. This was covered with split skin grafts which were fixed with crepe pressure dressings. The child was immobilized in a Gypsona cast.

A week later, the cast was removed. 100% take of grafts. Tulle gras dressings applied. Three weeks later the boy was discharged home, walking satisfactorily.

OTHER SMITH & NEPHEW PRODUCTS USED IN THIS TECHNIQUE

JELONET (Tulle gras) is an open mesh gauze dressing impregnated with medicated soft paraffin containing 1.225% Balsam of Peru. Its non-adherent properties prevent dressing trauma, making it particularly suitable for wound areas encountered in skin grafting operations.

ELASTOCREPE is Elastoplast cloth without the adhesive spread. It therefore maintains uniform tension when stretched for long periods, keeping the pressure dressing firm throughout the immobilization.
