WHEN IS

ERYTHROCIN

(Erythromycin, Abbott, Crystalline)

Regd.

AN ANTIBIOTIC

OF CHOICE?

a drug of choice... against staphylococci—because of the high incidence of staphylococci resistance to other antibiotics.

a drug of choice... orally against streptococcal and pneumococcal infections, when patients are sensitive to other antibiotics or these cocci are resistant.

a drug of choice... because it does not materially alter normal intestinal flora; gastrointestinal disturbances are rare; no serious side effects reported.

advantageous... because the special acid-resistant coating, developed by Abbott and Abbott's built-in disintegrator, assure rapid dispersal and absorption in the upper intestinal tract.

Erythrocine... is indicated in pharyngitis, tonsillitis, scarlet fever, pneumonia, erysipelas, osteomyelitis, pyoderma and other conditions.

CRYSTAPEN
TRADE MARK
TABLETS

In two potencies:
125 mg. (for infants and young children)
and 250 mg. (for adults)
In bottles of 12, 100 and 500

The patient 'put on penicillin' is only too glad to be spared the discomfort of injections—and spared he can be on many occasions. CRYSTAPEN Oral Tablets are fully effective in the great majority of early and localised infections—boils, carbuncles, tonsillitis, abscesses and cellulitis, for instance.

One 250 mg. tablet four times daily provides a total of 1,600,000 units crystalline potassium penicillin—a daily dose of high clinical efficacy.

WHICH WOULD YOU RATHER . . . ?

'DIBENCIL' ORAL SUSPENSION presents the newly developed salt of penicillin, N:N'dibenzylethylenediamine dipenicillin G, as a stable, pleasantly flavoured preparation ready for use. It is well tolerated and is readily accepted by the youngest child. Doses of 300,000 units (one large teaspoonful) taken every six hours, are usually sufficient for either prophylaxis or treatment of the milder infections caused by penicillin-sensitive organisms. In severe infections it is usually advisable to supplement this dosage, initially, with penicillin by injection.

When it is a question of choice, oral penicillin therapy with the new 'Dibencil' Oral Suspension is preferred because:—

- It is therapeutically effective.
- It is convenient for both doctor and patient.
- It is extremely palatable and free from the taste of penicillin.
- It is ready for use.
- It retains its potency at ordinary room temperature for at least two years.

PRESENTATION

Bottles of 50 c.c. Containing 300,000 units in each 5 c.c. (one large teaspoonful).

It has been demonstrated in animal experiments that the new compound bentyl hydrochloride* (beta-diethyl-aminoethyl 1-cyclohexylcyclohexanecarboxylate hydrochloride) possesses both a parasympathetic depressant (atropine-like) and musculotropic (papaverine-like) action on the smooth musculature of the gastrointestinal tract. This drug was administered to 67 patients with such gastrointestinal complaints as functional bowel distress, peptic ulcer, chronic pancreatitis and gastroenteritis. The usual dosage was 10 or 20 mg. three or four times daily, with or without 15 to 30 mg. of phenobarbital. The drug was well tolerated in 66 of 67 patients and was stopped in only one patient who showed intolerance to other drugs also. Bentyl hydrochloride appears to be more effective than the belladonna group of antispasmodics and has the advantage of virtual freedom from cycloplegia, mydriasis and xerostomia.

From an abstract in The Journal of the American Medical Association, Vol. 145, No. 17.

- no decrease of cerebral blood flow

- can be given over long periods without loss of efficacy.

now in a new and highly advantageous dosage form . . .

WHAT RAUWILOID IS Rauwiloid represents the standardized alkaloids of Rauwolfia serpentina, each batch being tested in dogs for hypotensive, bradycardic and sedative effects.

RAUWILOID + VERILOID

The addition of Rauwiloid (1 mg.) to Veriloid (3 mg.) in one tablet presents unique advantages. Rauwiloid, a mild hypotensive producing virtually no side-effects, leads to desirable moderate bradycardia, a feeling of calm tranquillity, and rapid remission of symptoms. It apparently potentiates the powerful hypotensive action of Veriloid, thus making it possible to obtain marked reduction of blood pressure from lower doses of Veriloid with less likelihood of side-effects.

The initial dose is one tablet taken three times daily at intervals of not less than four hours, preferably after meals. Once the effect of Rauwiloid is established the dosage should be increased according to the individual's response. Whereas some patients may require as many as two tablets four times a day, the average requirement of Rauwiloid + Veriloid is one tablet four times daily.

OUR 'NATIONAL' HERITAGE

It costs you less to motor there...

When you next take a trip out in your car, remember that what finally decides how far you will go on a gallon of fuel is—how much energy Nature has put into that fuel. Into every drop of Benzole, distilled from yet another national heritage, British coal, Nature has packed more energy—more potential mileage—than there is in petrol. Thus Benzole, blended with high-grade petrol, as it is in National Benzole Mixture, cannot and does not fail to give you more miles per gallon. With plenty of very good petrols to choose from, experienced motorists still prefer National Benzole Mixture. For all engines—new, old, large, small—performance proves that Benzole makes good petrol better!
