MANUAL OF MEDICAL HELMINTHOLOGY

By C. J. HACKETT, M.D., F.R.C.P., with the co-operation of Professor J. J. C. BUCKLEY, D.Sc., and the late

Professor J. MURGATROYD, M.D., F.R.C.P.

This practical new book, which is based on the helminth exhibits of the Wellcome Museum of Medical Science, is designed especially for doctors in the tropics. It contains detailed descriptions of the important helminths-Trematoda, Çestoda, and Nematoda. Some thirty parasites are described in full together with the illnesses they cause in man.

This forms the main body of the text, but there is in addition a general introduction to helminthic diseases; and general sections on the Trematoda, Cestoda and Nematoda are followed by a discussion of the clinical manifestations of helminthiasis, clinical and laboratory diagnosis, and general remarks on treatment, prognosis and prevention.

Special attention has been paid to the preparation of the illustrations, which aim at simplifying the problems of identification which confront the worker in this field. Illustrated. 18s. 6d. net

Modern Treatment for FUNGOUS SKIN INFECTIONS

It is now firmly established that the skin protects itself against infection by its "acid mantle." Experiments have proved that the higher fatty acids are extremely effective fungicides which do not produce contact dermatitis.

Decilderm Ointment and Powder (Duncan) present the particularly effective fatty acid, undecylenic acid, and its zinc salt. Both preparations are pleasantly perfumed and are easy to apply. They can be used for long periods, if necessary, and are valuable for the treatment of tinea pedis (athlete's foot), tinea cruris (dhobi itch), moniliasis, etc.

GLAXO STYRION TABLETS

The outstanding fact about Styrion, Glaxo's new preparation, is that it neutralises only the excess acid in the stomach. Its use eliminates risk of the after-effects associated with overneutralisation. The importance of this in a class of remedies widely used without medical supervision will be appreciated. Over-dosage has no Nemesis: Styrion brings nothing but relief.

Styrion contains polyaminostyrene, an 'ion exchange' (acid-binding) resin, which can be chemically 'tailored' to act selectively. In the stomach Styrion forms an insoluble resin-acid complex. As the degree of acidity declines, so does the activity of Styrion—until normal physiological range is re-established. The excess acid is then neutralised in the alkalinity of the small intestine while Styrion is excreted in the form in which it was given.

Styrion is the nearest approach to the ideal antacid, therapeutically efficient, non-irritant, and safely given in reasonable dosage for any length of time.

The dosage is 2 to 4 tablets (repeated if necessary), to be chewed and swallowed with a drink of water.

Wherever the mole cricket burrows, crops are sure to be in trouble. With grotesquely developed forelegs acting as shovel and rake for digging, and as shears for clipping roots, this armoured tunneller works its destructive way through many crops - particularly sweet potatoes and tobacco. Its presence is particularly dreaded in nurseries, where it plays havoc with seedlings.

Caribbean and Central American farmers, who have been losing thousands of dollars to mole crickets each year, now meet and destroy this pest with aldrin. This potent soil insecticide, recently developed by Shell, is the perfect answer to mole crickets and to many other pests that spend much of their lives below ground.

1 to 2 lbs. of aldrin per acre, applied to the soil before planting out, annihilates the heaviest infestations - and one dressing will give at least twelve months' protection.

Long-lasting, non-tainting aldrin is the most effective of all insecticides for use in the soil. Because of its great stability, it is ideal for compounding with fertilizers. Aldrin's wider range includes many pests previously difficult to 'get at' economically.

Another recently developed Shell insecticide is dieldrin, possessing exceptional persistence. On foliage, dieldrin controls a very wide range of weevils, beetles, flies and other crop-eating pests. It is also extensively used as a residual spray against disease-carrying insects.

Have you a stubborn pest problem to deal with?

THE GENTLE ART OF Sniffing

In the age of snuff and elegance a suitable sniff was part of every gentleman's social equipment. Nowadays the art has declined until its continued existence depends entirely upon the efforts of a body of comparatively ineffective, albeit enthusiastic, amateurs. In order to retain at least some remnant of the more spacious days of the past, our technicians constructed a machine. With its aid even the most subtle sniffs can be captured, measured, and classified, and the volume of the average sniff determined. Thus it is that one of the nicest sniffs, the once-an-hour decongestive sniff, is standardized to a startling degree for the benefit of those who use the Pronounced decrease in intraocular pressure follows oral administration of DIAMOX Acetazoleamide to glaucomatous patients.

This significant finding has been made in numerous clinical trials—and to-day there remains no doubt that DIAMOX has an important role to play in the treatment of many forms of glaucoma. A powerful inhibitor of carbonic anhydrase, DIAMOX acts in the eye by inhibiting the formation of the aqueous humour—i.e., the inflow.

DIAMOX fulfils two vitally important functions. Firstly, by lowering intraocular tension, the drug enables miosis to be achieved—either spontaneously or by the use of miotics previously ineffective; the angle is thus unblocked and drainage can occur. Secondly, DIAMOX does much to lessen the degree of urgency in treating closed-angle glaucoma and greatly improves the prospects of successful surgical intervention. It is in acute angle-closure glaucoma, however, that DIAMOX gives particularly impressive results, and in at least some cases the angle-closure is reversible.

But to thousands it's a completely different picture; one of swollen eyes, congested nose, and general discomfort. To them spring handicap is synonymous with hayfever.

Riker's original preparation of mixed alkaloid hydrochlorides of Rauwolfia serpentina, remains available as before. "RAUWILOID" presents in a refined form, accurately standardized, all the desirable activity of the crude root. Inert matter and undesirable constituents—for example, yohimbine alkaloids—are eliminated by the extraction process.

Reserpine is probably the most sedative of the active principles of Rauwolfia, and is also responsible for part of the hypotensive and bradycardic effects of the crude drug.

INDICATIONS:

- A. Mild and labile hypertension, and, in combination with potent agents, severer types of hypertension.
- B. In psychiatry, for the treatment of anxiety neuroses, tension and psychotic states involving hyper-activity. In these indications reserpine's high index of sedative activity is particularly valuable.

NEW MOTOR OIL GIVES AMAZING TEST RESULTS

80% LESS ENGINE WEAR

with the new BP Special Energol

'VISCO-STATIC' MOTOR OIL

UP TO 12% LOWER PETROL CONSUMPTION

TERE IS ONE of the most important discoveries ever made in car lubrication—BP Special Energol is a new kind of motor oil which actually reduces cylinder bore and piston ring wear by 80%. And that's not all. It saves up to 12% of petrol too, gives easier starting and lower oil consumption. It is for use in all 4-stroke engines in good condition.

The result of this saving is that cylinder wear is no longer the limiting factor in engine life. As a result your engine will give at least twice the mileage before an overhaul is necessary compared with any conventional motor oil.

BP Special Energol 'Viscostatic' is as thin when cold as the lightest grade of lubricating oil now sold. Yet it is as thick when hot as the grades normally recommended for

This special summer use. property means ideal lubrication at all temperatures using only this one grade of oil for all engines and seasons where S.A.E. grades 10W to 40 are normally recommended.

'The Dangerous Five Minutes'

Research shows that most of the wear on cylinder walls occurs in the first five to ten minutes after each start from cold. This is caused by the

THE DANGEROUS 5 MINUTES

For 5 to 10 minutes after every start from cold your car suffers more wear than in 6-7 hours continuous running. This is with conventional premium grade oils. But BP Special Energol completely prevents this heavy starting wear. It means 80% less engine wear in average running conditions.

abrasive products of acid action which play havoc with cylinder bores and piston rings when the engine begins running.

Conventional oils are powerless to prevent this wear because they are too thick when cold to flow freely and wash away the abrasive particles. But BP Special Energol gives full oil circulation from the word GO. Compare the remarkable difference in starting wear shown in the graph on the left. These are actual test figures.

How an oil reduces petrol consumption

With conventional oils extra petrol has to be used to overcome oil friction at all times except when the engine is fully warmed - up. By reducing oil friction, BP Special Energol makes big savings in petrol—up to 12% if you do a lot of start and stop running and between 5-10% on normal running. is sold in sealed packages.

How to use BP Special Energol

BP Special Energol should not be mixed with conventional oils. The sump should be drained and refilled with the new oil and this should be repeated after the first 500 miles. Future oil changes should be after the normal mileage recommended by the makers of your car.

When not to use BP Special Energol

If your engine is worn and will shortly need overhauling, do not use BP Special Energol. The normal grades of BP Energol are still on sale and will help your engine to give the best possible service until it has been overhauled.

Your garage manager will be glad to give advice if you are in any doubt.

BP Special Energol is obtainable at garages where you see the BP Shield. It is coloured red for easy identification and MEPHENESIN, which, by diminishing reflex hyperexcitability, relieving nervous tension and anxiety, and promoting muscular relaxation, not only induces the composure essential to the onset of sleep, but also ensures that the sleep is restful and refreshing.

CARBROMAL and BROMVALETONE which, by synergism, act as effective hypnotics and quickly transform the mephenesin-induced sedation to hypnosis. Unlike the barbiturates, carbromal and bromvaletone are non-toxic and non-cumulative and, as elimination is comparatively rapid, they rarely give rise to 'hangover 'and depression.

In smaller doses, NOCTYNOL Tablets act as a non-depressant calmative eminently suitable for daytime sedation.

had the MONEY! only

How often the need for money arises—to take advantage of a business opportunity—to pay a deposit on a house—to pay for extras during disability from accident or illness.

But how much more would your family need income if the security of your earning capacity was removed.

The Confederation Life can provide income when it is most needed by yourself or your family under a very simple plan which only requires you to save a small percentage of your present earnings. It will:

Pay you an income if you suffer lengthy disablement from an illness or accident.

Pay a regular monthly income to your family if you should die.

Accumulate a reserve fund against retirement or emergencies.

THROMBOSIS AND EMBOLISM

Proceedings of the First International Conference, Basel, 1954

Professor of Obstetrics and Gynaecology in the University of Basel Director of the Basel University Clinic and Policlinic for Obstetrics and Gynaecology

W. R. MERZ

This volume contains 254 contributions by the most eminent international scientists and clinicians. It will be an indispensable reference book for workers in this field.

115 papers in German, 77 in English and 62 in French. Summaries in German, French and English are added to each article.

1,316 pages with 697 illustrations. Cloth. Swiss Francs 76.--.

The First International Conference on Thrombosis and Embolism has confirmed for clinical medicine that the discovery of heparin and of the coumarin series, which permit retardation of coagulation in vivo, opened up completely new therapeutical possibilities and changed the clinical course of thrombosis and embolism during the last decade, lessening the seriousness and duration and reducing mortality.

As regards the problem of effective prophylaxis of thrombosis, measures in internal medicine and physiotherapy, applied pre-operatively and antenatally, have proved of advantage, and at the same time possible circulatory, pulmonary, renal and intestinal complications can be prevented. The inclusion of anticoagulants in the prophylaxis of thrombosis is increasingly gaining ground, though their practical application requires further research. The great importance of anticoagulant therapy in arteriosclerosis, cardiac infarction and hypertension was particularly emphasized at the Congress. In the opinion of all authors, safe and effective prophylaxis and therapy can only be achieved if doctors are thoroughly familiar with both the theory and the clinical pathology of thrombo-embolism. The present volume contains 207 lectures, 8 film texts, 39 scientific exhibitions dealing with these problems and the results of various Panel Discussions. In order to give this volume the form of a reference book, all contributions were arranged according to subject matter, and a detailed index in three languages provided.

LECTURER or SENIOR LECTURER IN PAEDIATRICS

LECTURER or SENIOR LECTURER IN PAEDIATRICS

The status of the doctor appointed to the nacdiatrics department will be Senior Lecturer or Lecturer, depending upon his or her qualifications. He or she will be a member of the staff of the Department of Medicine. There will be beds provided in the children's wards of the Khartoum group of hospitals which will be under his personal care. There will be facilities for out-patient clinics. The Professor of Obstetrics would welcome the lecturer's taking charge of the paediatric problems of the obstetric unit, including the management of the projected premature nursery of the new Khartoum Civil Hospital. The teaching of paediatrics to undergraduates will be the prime responsibility of the person appointed. At present the course consists of a series of lectures and a period of one term's clerking in the paediatric wards and out-patients. In order to keep the number of students to the present level of six or cight on a firm, the lecturer will throughout the year have clerks attending his wards. All teaching is conducted in English. The medical professorial unit laboratory will be at the disposal of the Lecturer for research purposes, and a college Research Committee has funds available for the provision of special equipment for specific projects. The mortality rate among Sudanese children in the neonatal period and early years of life is very high, due in the main to infections especially of these problems effectively will be greatly improved.
