IMFERON IS THE FIRST EFFECTIVE IRON PREPARATION FOR INTRAMUSCULAR INJECTION

IT PROVIDES the rapid, reliable response of an order hitherto only obtainable with intravenous preparations; and it takes much less time to administer.

IMFERON is indicated for the patient who is refractory to, or intolerant of, oral iron; and when a rapid response is required, as in anaemia of pregnancy.

TECHNIQUE

"IT WAS OBVIOUS during this study that the skill and care of the person giving the injection does much to minimise the local discomfort and staining, and it is significant that only two patients failed to attend for further injections."

TERRAMYCIN and TETRACYCLIN provide in addition to the daily adult dose of antibiotic (1.0 G.) the therapeutic dosage of soluble vitamins as well as VITAMIN K:

ASCORBIC ACID 30 mg. VITAMINE MONO 100 mg. ONE 2 mg.
RIBOFLAVIN 10 mg. VITAMINE D 100 mg. (aqueous solution)

As the dosage of antibiotics must be increased in combat severe infections the dosage of nutrition must be increased proportionately—the body must itself automatically meet the increased metabolic demands created by these infections. By administering the essential anti-stress supplement combined with Terramycin or Tetracyclin in a single capsule, the physician is assured that the patient's vitamin requirements have been met in an important way.

to the focal point of soft-tissue rheumatism

The esters in Transvasin, a new preparation developed by Hamol S.A., our Swiss associates, readily pass the skin barrier in therapeutic quantities and enable an effective concentration of the drugs to be built up where they are needed. Transvasin not only induces vasodilation of the skin with a superficial erythema, but also brings about a deep hyperaemia of the underlying tissues. It is non-irritant, and can be safely used on delicate skins. It is now being widely prescribed, with successful clinical results. Since a very small quantity is sufficient for each application, the cost of treatment is extremely low.

'Prescoted' Ferrous Sulphate Compound Tablets B.P.C.

Towards reducing the risk of ferrous sulphate poisoning of children

The rising incidence of fatal medicinal poisoning of children during recent years has been much commented upon in the medical press, but not explained. According to a report in the Practitioner (June 1954, p. 649-654), out of 231 such deaths of British children in the five years 1948-1952, the largest group was due to ferrous sulphate tablets (33 deaths).

The British Medical Journal editorially (Nov. 28, 1953, p. 1208) has pointed to the duty of chemists to their customers in this connection, and the authors of a report (in the same journal, Feb. 6, 1954, p. 335) on one fatal case, hoped that doing so would "strengthen the attempts to force the hand of the manufacturers of 'green sugar-coated ferrous sulphate pills' to do something to alter their fatal (literally) attractiveness to small children". In June of last year the Council of the Pharmaceutical Society adopted a resolution to discourage the production of "gaily-coloured tablets which are a potential danger to children".

In deference to these opinions we have used the new technique of press-coating, devised in the laboratories of Evans Medical, to produce Tab. Ferr. Sulph. Co. B.P.C. with a virtually tasteless white coat which effectively masks the nauseating taste of ferrous sulphate but is no more attractive in appearance than any plain white tablet.

Although fully complying with the standards of the B.P.C. and N.F., the new tablets have been given the trade name PRESFERSUL to distinguish them from other standard tablets prepared by the conventional process. Prescribers should use the name PRESFERSUL if, for reasons of safety, they wish these tablets to be dispensed in preference to other forms of Tab. Ferr. Sulph. Co. Pharmacists are at liberty to dispense PRESFERSUL when Tab. Ferr. Sulph. Co. is prescribed, but will no doubt wish to explain to patients the deliberate reason for the different appearance.

The new press-coating technique has made it possible, by special formulation, to make PRESFERSUL Tablets comply with a maximum disintegration time specification of 15 minutes, a standard which the official publications normally impose only for uncoated tablets.

LIL-LETS

the new vaginal tampon without applicator

A tampon which has been successfully marketed on the Continent during the last five years has now become widely accepted in this country under the name LIL-LETS.

Following extensive clinical trials, LIL-LETS have won the support of leading gynæcological opinion. Samples will be sent to medical practitioners on request.

LIL-LETS have these main advantages:

LIL-LETS need no applicator. By inserting the tampon with the fingers, the risk of bruising is eliminated.

LIL-LETS assist personal hygiene. At 1/6 for 10 they are so much cheaper than other leading tampons that women will be encouraged to change them often. They are easily carried about and easily disposed of.

LIL-LETS are highly absorbent. They absorb almost ten times their own weight in moisture and swell sideways, not lengthways. They are, therefore, really safe.

LIL-LETS are individually wrapped. Each tampon is sealed in a transparent cover. There is no risk of soiling or infection when it is carried loose.

The water miscible property of the cream allows ease of application and facilitates the napkin toilet. The application of DRAPOLENE to both mild and severe forms of urine rash provides a soothing effect which gives relief from the distress associated with all forms of urine rash. Many infant welfare centres confirm that even the severest cases respond satisfactorily in four to six days.

'POLYFAX' combines 'Aerosporin' brand Polymyxin B Sulphate with Bacitracin in a new antibiotic ointment of very wide antibacterial range. 'Polyfax' has a prominent place in clinical practice because

- Polymyxin is lethal to many gram-negative organisms, particularly Ps. pyocyanea.
- Bacitracin is effective against gram-positive organisms.
- Drug resistance to polymyxin is unknown, to bacitracin very rare.
- Penicillin-resistant strains often succumb to bacitracin.
- Risk of skin sensitisation is minimal.
- Local absorption is insignificant.
- Subsequent systemic use of antibiotics is not prejudiced.
- 'Polyfax' is so formulated that its antibiotic components are stable and readily diffusible.

SODIUM

THE NEW MERCURIAL DIURETIC FOR SUBCUTANEOUS INJECTION

'Thiomerin' differs from other mercurial diuretics in that the mercury is in combination with an organic group plus another compound—sodium thioglycollate, which has a marked detoxicating action on the mercury. The volume of urine excreted is mainly determined by the size and frequency of the injections. Intravenous injections merely speed up the process by a few hours but have no effect on the final weight loss. 'Thiomerin' diuresis induced by subcutaneous injection (0.5 to 2 cc) is gentle, slower in onset but equal in output to that of any other mercurial, however administered. The patient benefits, both from a painless injection and because less frequent bladder emptying, especially at night, permits much-needed rest and imposes less strain.

'Thiomerin' is indicated in Cardiac Oedema (peripheral or pulmonary)
 Nephritic Oedema Ascites of Liver Disease
 Carefully selected cases of Subacute and Chronic Nephritis

PACKING—'Thiomerin' is supplied in vials of 1.4 G, to which the addition of 10 cc. Water for Injection, B.P. will provide a solution containing the equivalent of 40 mg. Mercury per cc.

'Merbentyl' has both neurotropic and musculotropic effect upon smooth muscle of the gastro-intestinal and genito-urinary tracts. Labyrinthine Disturbances

The value of "Dramamine" in the control of all forms of motion sickness is well established. More than this, however, it is now recognised that "Dramamine" is most effective in the control of other labyrinthine disturbances, so that it is indicated in the treatment or prophylaxis of any condition of abnormal stimuli of the tissues including end organs (gastro-intestinal tract, eyes) and their neural pathways to the labyrinth. Side-effects of "Dramamine" are so slight that dosage may be continued over long periods if necessary.

ready answer TO BARBITURATE 'HANGOVER'

While many patients on "½ gr. phenobarbitone nocte" will wake refreshed from a good night's sleep, those needing somewhat higher doses may find that the depressive effects of the drug intrude into their early waking hours. It has been suggested that this may be due to the affinity of barbiturates for enzymes involved in brain respiration—enzymes in whose constitution vitamins of the B group play an important part.* But now it appears that this affinity is readily broken by components of the B group or ascorbic acid. That is why the simple measure of taking one or two NICORBIN Tablets on waking is so successful in countering barbiturate "hangover."

for infant feeding—

Carnation Milk

The growing volume of clinical evidence, pointing to the unusual adaptability of unsweetened Evaporated Milk in infant feeding, suggests the presentation of this synopsis, for the convenience of physicians who may wish to keep in touch with this important development.

WHAT IT IS

1. Unsweetened Evaporated Milk is pure whole milk from tuberculin tested dairy herds. It is concentrated to approximately double richness by the evaporation of water and has nothing added except natural Vitamin D₃.
2. It is not to be confused with sweetened condensed milk, which contains about 40% of added cane sugar.
3. Unsweetened Evaporated Milk is standardised to meet the strict Government requirements of 31% minimum total solids, of which not less than 9% must be butterfat.
4. Carnation is of a known nutritional value. It is easily reconstituted to milk of ordinary richness by the addition of water. The consistency never varies.

HOW IT SERVES

1. The natural reaction of the proteins to heat results in a granular curd similar to that of breast milk. Digestibility is therefore suitably ensured for all infants. Attenuation of the whey fractions greatly benefits those infants sensitive to milk proteins.
2. Carnation is a simple full cream milk, homogenized to present butterfat in a form tolerated by most infants. The globules, 2 microns in diameter, are permanently dispersed, and form a fine emulsion when water is added. Prematures and other fat intolerant infants usually take Carnation very satisfactorily.
3. Each fluid ounce of Carnation Milk provides not less than 33 i.u.'s of Vitamin D₃. Clinical survey proves this quantity adequate for prophylactic purposes. Carnation Milk is a superior source of vital calcium, phosphorus and nitrogen.
4. Carnation Milk is universally obtainable, simple to use and SAFEST in inexperienced hands because of guaranteed sterility.

Carnation Feeding Charts and reprints of clinical investigations are available to the medical profession from: Medical Department, General Milk Products Ltd., Candlewick House, 116/126, Cannon Street, London, E.C.4.

As more and more doctors are adopting the use of DIAMOX Acetazoleamide in the control of cardiac oedema, evidence is rapidly accumulating to show how satisfactorily the early expectations of the drug are being fulfilled. Preference for this new approach to diuresis by the oral administration of DIAMOX is based on the safety and simplicity of the therapy and the rapidity and efficiency of its results. A single morning dose produces copious diuresis lasting 6—12 hours. Encouraging results have also been obtained in glaucoma with DIAMOX which inhibits the secretion of aqueous humour and, by so doing, decreases intraocular pressure. DIAMOX is neither a mercurial nor xanthine derivative.

When you are asked about SKIN HEALTH

It is often very helpful to recommend Cidal soap. For Cidal contains an unusually efficient germicide Hexachlorophene (2,2'-dihydroxy-3,5,6,3',5',6'-hexachlorodiphenylmethane) which has been found to play a useful part in the alleviation of acne, seborrhoea, impetigo and many other minor ailments involving the skin, including prickly heat. Cidal also reduces the risk of infection through minor cuts and grazes.

Many people have been happy to find that Cidal helps to minimize unpleasant body odours at source by attacking the bacteria that ferment perspiration.

Cidal Cream Shampoo also contains Hexachlorophene and helps to keep the scalp healthy and free from dandruff. (1/3d. and 3/9d.)

in the Treatment of Nutritional Macrocytic Anaemia

Marmite yeast extract has been used with success in the treatment of certain forms of macrocytic anaemia which are frequently encountered in tropical countries. Its value in the anaemias of coeliac disease, sprue, and idiopathic steatorrhoea has also been reported.

The precise mode of action of Marmite has not yet been satisfactorily explained. It has been suggested that folic acid, which is present in Marmite and which is effective in this type of anaemia, may be responsible, but there is also the possibility that some unidentified substance in Marmite may be the effective agent.

By Appointment to the late King George VI
Manufacturers of Land-Rovers
The Rover Co. Ltd.

It's revealing to drive a ROVER . . .

You'll be astonished at the way the car takes rough surfaces smoothly in its stride. Ruts and potholes seem almost non-existent as the car glides over them.

You'll enjoy having both pace and quiet at your command. Even at high speeds, engine and transmission noise has been reduced almost to vanishing point.

You'll appreciate the infinite care and thought that has been paid to the comfort of driver and passengers.

You'll feel confident even in the thickest and trickiest traffic, because a Rover is such a well-bred, obedient car to handle.

The Rover co-ordinated suspension system allows plenty of vertical road wheel movement, while spring tensions and shock absorber settings ensure a smooth ride. The central bearing to the propeller shaft checks 'whip' and vibration.

The special cylinder head design of Rover engines sets the Rover pace, whilst the extensive use of rubber pads and mountings, spraying with sound-absorbing material and heavy carpeting make the naturally quiet engine almost inaudible.

All passengers sit well within the wheelbase, with front seat adjustable for height and rake and wide centre arm rests front and rear. Heating, demisting, ventilating and draught-proofing are exceptionally efficient.

Direct central gear change with synchromesh on 2nd, 3rd and top, controlled free wheel for clutchless changes and well-planned dashboard layout make clumsy handling of a Rover practically impossible.

ROVER

Sixty · Seventy-Five · Ninety

Body and chassis are identical throughout the Rover range. However, three different engine sizes give motorists a made-to-measure service in which design and workmanship are uniformly high. New features common to all 1955 models include re-shaped luggage boot, larger rear window and flashing type direction indicators.
