

How Free is Asthma?

To the asthmatic, it can be a dear and painful commodity indeed. To the asthmatic, resumption of free breathing is more welcome—and far more vital—than free flight to imprisoned birds. Knowing as you do how individual is every case of asthma; how for each of these patients must be found one specific treatment which suits him best—though it may be quite wrong for the next; you will welcome the news that the list of asthma medicaments prescribable under the N. H. S. has been augmented—and with so eminently useful an addition as Brovon.

Brovon Asthma Inhalant contains:

Atropine Methonitrate ...	0.14% W/V
Papaverine Hydrochloride ...	0.88% W/V
Adrenaline (Epinephrine)...	0.50% W/V
Chlorbutol ...	0.50% W/V

This is a carefully balanced combination giving rapid and prolonged relief. It must be used in a good quality non-metallic inhaler, such as the Brovon Midget Inhaler or any other from the comprehensive Brovon range. Full details will be sent on request.

Brovon Asthma Inhalant and the Brovon Inhalers are products of Moore Medicinal Products Ltd., 1, Queen's Terrace, Aberdeen, and 64, Gloucester Place, London, W.1

Availability of Vitamins in Yeast

Deficiencies of single factors of the Vitamin B Complex do not occur. Accordingly, even if a deficiency condition appears to result from the lack of an individual factor of the group and it is considered necessary to give intensive treatment with this factor, the entire Vitamin B Complex should always be administered concurrently.

It is, however, extremely important, in view of suggestions in recent publications, that the vehicle selected as a source of the entire B Complex does not withhold its vitamin content from the patient.

Human experiments show that the rich, natural vitamin potency of Aluzyme is totally available to the human system.

The new complete treatment for migraine—

ORGRAINE

In a recent clinical article (J.A.M.A., 1957, 163, 1115) it was stated that in a series of 2,511 cases in which 28 agents were tested in the symptomatic treatment of migraine, ergotamine tartrate was proved to be the most useful drug—and 81% of the patients showed improvement when ergotamine tartrate and caffeine were compounded with belladonna alkaloids.

Orgraine applies the same successful principles of treatment.

Composition (per tablet)		Action
Ergotamine Tartrate B.P.	1.0 mg.	→ constricts dilated cerebral arteries.
Caffeine B.P.	100.0 mg.	→ potentiates ergotamine
Hyoscyamine Sulphate B.P.C. (1949)	0.0875 mg.	→ alleviates nausea and vomiting
Atropine Sulphate B.P.	0.0125 mg.
Phenacetin B.P.	130.0 mg.	→ relieves residual occipital pain.

PACKS: Tablets individually foil-stripped, in boxes of 10 and 100.

For the patient on fluids only

... glucose in a palatable form

Lucozade combines the known qualities of glucose with a remarkable palatability. It has, indeed, solved a very real problem associated with a diet restricted to fluids. Many flavours, acceptable to the normally alert palate, fail to stimulate or even interest the patient in a weakened, depressed condition. Lucozade, on the other hand, provides a means of sustenance when solids cannot be tolerated.

Lucozade is supplied in 6 oz. and 26 oz. bottles. It is lightly carbonated with an attractive golden colour and a pleasant citrus flavour. It contains 23.5% w/v Liquid Glucose B.P., and its energy value is 21 Calories per fluid ounce.

Blood Products and Substitutes—

The Cost of Health—and the Export Drive

A STATEMENT OF POLICY

In his latest report the Chief Medical Officer of the Ministry of Health makes the following comment on present-day blood transfusion.

"Certain surgical operations and techniques of supportive treatment now involve the transfusion of very large amounts of blood, but the number of these seems unlikely to account for more than a part of the increase in the amount of blood used during the past few years. It seems possible that part at least of the increase is caused by a less discriminating use of transfusion, and it is difficult not to conclude that some transfusions are given unnecessarily. It is, for example, doubtful whether a 'one-bottle transfusion' in an adult is often of significant benefit. Likewise the use of transfusion to correct moderate or slight degrees of anaemia which could be overcome as effectively, if more slowly, by other means seems unjustifiable, unless some cogent reason for speed of recovery exists; in some of these instances failure to institute simpler but equally effective treatment soon enough leads to the use of blood transfusion. Transfusion is frequently used to speed convalescence, when simpler measures would attain the same ends. It may be argued that this use of transfusion is justifiable so long as there is a lack of hospital beds or because it enables the patient to begin work again in a shorter time, but it should be remembered that all these patients are thus exposed to a potential hazard. . . ." Moreover, the Chief Medical Officer states: "as consumption mounts the provision of blood tends to become more expensive due to the progressively greater efforts needed to recruit donors."

This Company has, in the past few years, supplied over half a million bottles of Dextraven which have been used by clinicians in more than a dozen countries. This blood volume restorer is, as such, at least as effective as blood or plasma.

The inherent qualities of Dextraven present many advantages, whereas the disadvantages peculiar to blood and plasma are obviated. The criteria of restoring and supporting the circulation without delay in hypovolaemic shock are fulfilled immediately, and more safely, by infusion of 500–1,000 ml. of Dextraven than by similar quantities of blood or plasma.

The hazards encountered in giving blood or plasma are such that their use, when small quantities will suffice, is never justified, as simpler, safer and cheaper alternatives are available. When the replacement of red cells is also indicated, immediate infusion of Dextraven may be employed until compatible blood of assured quality is available. In the treatment of burns the hazards of plasma infusions similarly may be avoided.

The anaemia of iron deficiency may be corrected by the timely use of Imferon (iron dextran complex). Its use in British hospitals pre- and postoperatively is increasing yearly. It is safer and more effective than a pint of blood.

The use of Dextraven to spare blood is, however, greater abroad than it is here in the United Kingdom. A major factor, both in the abuse of blood and plasma and in the restricted use of Dextraven, is the present supply arrangement which makes blood and plasma a "free issue" to hospitals, but requires payment for Dextraven. We are convinced that if hospitals were charged with the real cost of their blood or plasma usage, more frequent resort to as efficient but cheaper products would be made. Unlike blood and plasma, the more Dextraven produced the cheaper it is.

If the Ministry, therefore, will make arrangements to charge hospitals with the real cost of their blood and plasma requirements, we are sure that there will be an increase in the proper use of Dextraven. In these circumstances we are prepared to pass on to the Ministry, by lowering prices, the benefit from such cheaper production costs.

It may be of interest that this proposal, if accepted, would enable us to earn yet more foreign currency in the overseas markets, where lowered prices, based on greater home production, would encourage greater use.

British Industry by

as an alternative to the conventional many-tailed bandage

When frequent dressings are necessary, the following method of applying Elastoplast may be used as a substitute for an abdominal many-tailed bandage.

Six pieces, each about 12 inches in length, are prepared from a 3-inch wide Elastoplast bandage. Tapes are attached as illustrated (Fig. 1), and the completed pieces applied to the body from each side (Fig. 2). The tapes are tied over the dressing covering the wound (Fig. 3). The bandage may be applied by one person without disturbing the patient. It is easily made, provides adequate support and will remain firmly in position.

The above method is comfortable in use as the patient does not have to wear perineal stirrups to keep the bandage in place, or to lie on a bandage which may become "rucked-up" — disadvantages associated with the flannelette type of many-tailed bandage.

migraine

Each tablet contains ergotamine tartrate 2 mgm.;
 caffeine (alkaloid) 100 mgm.;
 cyclizine hydrochloride 50 mgm.

In bottles of 10 and 100

The prescribing of 'Migril' makes possible at last a planned attack upon the three predominant symptoms of migraine. Ergotamine is present at strength in 'Migril' for its specific effect upon the characteristic headache and ocular disturbances. Caffeine is present too, since it acts as a synergist to ergotamine. Frequently, however, ergotamine tends to evoke nausea and vomiting on its own account and can therefore worsen these aspects of the condition. For this reason, the potent, rapidly acting anti-emetic cyclizine is also included in 'Migril'—to overcome any tendency to nausea or vomiting, whether caused by the ergotamine or by the condition itself. And so successfully does cyclizine achieve this aim that truly effective oral doses of ergotamine can today be given—by means of 'Migril'.

THE PROBLEM

To obtain high blood levels of theophylline easily

THE SOLUTION

Oral 'Theodrox'

THE RESULT

A full Therapeutic response

For oral aminophylline therapy to be fully effective it is necessary to give a dose sufficient to produce high blood theophylline levels. However, because of gastric irritation vomiting often results. Alternative therapy with enteric coated tablets or suppositories is unreliable, and parenteral aminophylline is inconvenient.

The combination of dried aluminium hydroxide gel and aminophylline in 'Theodrox' ensures full therapeutic response with the minimum of gastric upset. Reproducible blood levels comparable with those obtained from intramuscular injection can be obtained.

Turning

to the very best advantage

Medical history has already reserved a special place for ACHROMYCIN tetracycline because of its impressive therapeutic potency and remarkably broad spectrum. Now, with the advent of ACHROMYCIN V, the therapeutic merits of tetracycline are turned to still greater advantage. Presenting tetracycline in company with sodium metaphosphate, ACHROMYCIN V achieves swifter, more efficient, more complete absorption. As a result, the therapy becomes still more secure, without any increase in daily dosage or cost. Customary adult dosage is a single capsule (250 mg.) four times daily—though this may safely be increased in unusually severe conditions.

EAR WAX Removed this easy way

The removal of wax from the external auditory meatus has, in the past, normally entailed attendance by the patient for diagnosis and for the prescription of a suitable loosening agent, and a second attendance a few days later for syringing.

Now, by the use of Cerumol Ear Drops, wax can be removed in most cases at one visit. A few drops of Cerumol can be instilled into the ear and, while another patient is being attended to, the soft cerumen dissolves and the harder wax disimpacts. The wax can then be removed by gentle syringing or with cotton wool. The wax may even be found to run out of the ear on its own accord, in which case patients themselves may instil Cerumol at home, obviating further attendances.

Cerumol is anti-bacterial, non-irritating and harmless to the lining of the external auditory meatus or the tympanic membrane. Cerumol is included in Category No. 4 of the M.O.H. classified list of Proprietary Preparations and may be prescribed on N.H.S. Form E.C.10.

2. 'Merbentyl' is virtually free from the side effects associated with the older antispasmodics, such as belladonna, and is more effective.
3. 'Merbentyl' is available in tablet form, each tablet containing 10 mgm. dicyclomine hydrochloride, or as a pleasantly flavoured syrup containing 10 mgm. in each 5 c.c. Both forms are available combined with phenobarbitone.

'Merbentyl' may safely be given to young children. Infantile colic responds dramatically to its administration.

FORTIFIED DIET

A scientifically balanced food supplement which acts normally and safely!

Medical practitioners will perhaps agree that the correct basis of slimming is to reduce calorie intake but to maintain the dietary essentials, namely protein, vitamins and minerals. Some dieting procedures, while scientifically correct, are unpleasant or inconvenient and may even bring discomfort. It is a common experience that slimming is mainly a matter of strength of character, and any dietary scheme which helps to make slimming a pleasant and convenient procedure has obvious advantages. LARSON'S SWEDISH MILK DIET achieves all these objects and in addition permits great flexibility in application. In this system each of the four daily meals is considered as a unit which can be replaced, as required, by an attractive, conveniently prepared and cheap food. If all four meals are replaced by Swedish Milk Diet the daily calorie intake is reduced to about 650, but all the vitamin and mineral requirements and roughly half the protein requirements for the day are met. In the full system the four meals on three days a week, say Monday, Wednesday and Friday, are replaced by the diet, but individual meals can be replaced at any time as desired. For example, the Swedish Milk Diet can be taken in place of breakfast and tea, or in place of lunch and tea every day.

The diet is simplicity itself. It is prepared by adding a heaped teaspoonful of the supplement to a glass (8 fluid ozs.) of milk which may be cold, warm or hot as desired. Flavouring can be added if wished. The composition of the LARSON'S SWEDISH MILK DIET is as follows:

One heaped teaspoonful with an 8 ounce glass of milk taken four times daily supplies:—

3 grms. Calcium . . . over 100% M.D.R.*
3 grms. Phosphorus . . . over 100% M.D.R.
2,500 International Units Vitamin A . . . 50% M.D.R.
200 International Units Vitamin D . . . 50% M.D.R.
1.2 mg. Vitamin B ₁ . . . 100% M.D.R.	4 mg. Calcium pantothenate
2 mg. Vitamin B ₂ . . . 100% M.D.R.	31 gm. Protein
6 mg. Nicotinamide . . . 50% M.D.R.	50 gm. Carbohydrate
0.1 mg. Vitamin B ₆	34 gm. Fat

Equivalent to 650 Calories

*M.D.R. means adult Minimum Daily Requirement.

The minimum daily requirement for vitamin B₆ and calcium pantothenate has yet to be established.

It will thus be seen that the diet is not only medically and scientifically sound in principle, but is very convenient to use. Milk can be obtained anywhere and travellers can easily take with them sufficient supplement for their journey. On those rare occasions when milk cannot be obtained, milk powder can readily be used as a substitute.

One ounce of powder should be reconstituted in seven fluid ounces of water, and the supplement then added in the usual way. Spray-dried powder is recommended, as it is more easily reconstituted, and if spray-dried skim milk is used, there will, of course, be a further reduction in calorie intake.

The Tale of a Fee

Sir Harley Street, the famous 'Doc'
One day received a dreadful shock.
A massive crate, sent by Lord Pill
Arrived 'in payment of his bill.'
"By jove," said he, "this isn't proper,
The blighter's paid his bill in copper!"
He raised the lid—he rubbed his eyes—
O! what a rapturous surprise!
The explanation of his grin is
He's counting out 1,000 Guinness.

Some more such fortunate mistakes).

Basic cost to the N.H.S. of 12 tablets from dispensing pack of 100: 4s. 10d.

*NoteCHANGE IN TABLET STRENGTHS

The British Pharmacopoeia 1958 will be published on March 3 and it is understood that the monograph on Phenoxymethylpenicillin (penicillin V) will state a dose range of 125 to 250 mg. For this reason we have reformulated 'Distaquaine' V 120 and 'Distaquaine' V 240 tablets.

Retail pharmacists may dispense 'Distaquaine' V 125 and 250 tablets against prescriptions for V 125 and 250 tablets against prescriptions for the discontinued strengths when their stocks of the latter are exhausted. Similarly, until stocks of the new strengths are obtained, 'Distaquaine' V 120 and 240 may be supplied for prescriptions stating 'Distaquaine' V 125 and 250. [M.O.H. statement, *Pharm. ... without doubt here is a unique method of applying antibiotics for topical use in a dry form—in this case a stable combination of Zinc Bacitracin, Neomycin and Polymyxin 'B'. They are dispersed in ultra-fine powder form (milled to an average particle size of 60 microns) under pressure with an inert gas propellant which is neither toxic nor inflammable. Polybactrin is remarkably economical because of its speedy bactericidal action—bacteriological tests performed demonstrate complete inhibition of gram positive and gram negative organisms on heavily inoculated blood plates—after only a fractional exposure to this antibiotic triad—and equally important, does not induce the development of resistant strains. Furthermore, there are no contra-indications to the use of Polybactrin which has proved to be highly effective in the treatment of contaminated wounds and as a prophylaxis in all branches of surgery . . .

Treatment of DIABETES MELLITUS without injections

Rastinon «Hoechst» tablets provide an oral treatment for certain diabetic patients.

EFFECTIVE A number of patients on small regular doses of insulin have been found to be suitable for treatment with Rastinon «Hoechst» tablets. Clinical work throughout the world has shown that approximately a quarter of all diabetics can be stabilized on Rastinon «Hoechst» tablets. A few of the more recent references to the literature are given opposite.

SAFE The selection and stabilization of diabetic patients should be carried out under strict medical supervision. For those patients found to be suitable, Rastinon «Hoechst» tablets provide a safe form of therapy and many have now been on oral treatment for two years. No cases of proven dyshaemopoiesis or other serious side-effects due to the drug have been reported.

SIMPLE From 2 to 4 tablets a day are normally all that is required to replace the insulin with its concomitant syringe, needles, swabs, and often nursing assistance as well. The normal regime of urine examination and dietary control remains necessary.

Packs: bottles of 100 and 500 tablets.

The basic price to the National Health Service as dispensed from a 500 tablet bottle is 2.97d per tablet and the total cost to the National Health Service, with all allowances, is less than 4d per tablet.

Each tablet contains 0.5 G. of N-Butyl-N'-toluene-p-sulphonylurea; (Tolbutamide).

... There's no doubt about it—the steel claws in a 'WYRESOLES' tread give that extra grip which means extra safety on wet and greasy roads!

Here's why: Normally, coils of spring-steel wire embedded and vulcanised in the tread remain flush with the surface. Under load the rubber is compressed, releasing the cat-like claws, which dig down through water, mud or grease to grip the road surface. A Road Research Laboratories' test report shows that WYRESOLES give up to 40 per cent better road grip. This "Armour Plating" afforded the WYRESOLES tread also aids in resisting penetration by glass and flints.
