In his latest report the Chief Medical Officer of the Ministry of Health makes the following comment on present-day
blood transfusion...

CERTAIN surgical operations and techniques of supportive treatment now involve the transfusion of very large amounts of blood, but the number of these seems unlikely to account for more than a part of the increase in the amount of blood used during the past few years. It seems possible that part at least of the increase is caused by a less discriminating use of transfusion, and it is difficult not to conclude that some transfusions are given unnecessarily. It is, for example, doubtful whether a "one-bottle transfusion" in an adult is often of significant benefit. Likewise the use of transfusion to correct moderate or slight degrees of anaemia which could be overcome as effectively, if more slowly, by other means, seems unjustifiable, unless some cogent reason for speed of recovery exists: in some of these instances failure to institute simpler but equally effective treatment soon enough leads to the use of blood transfusion. Transfusion is frequently used to speed convalescence, when simpler measures would attain the same ends. It may be argued that this use of transfusion is justifiable so long as there is a lack of hospital or because it enables the patient to begin work again in a shorter time, but it should be remembered that all patients are thus exposed to a potential hazard... Moreover, the Chief Medical Officer states: "as consumption mounts the provision of blood tends to become more expensive due to progressively greater efforts needed to recruit donors."

The esters of NICOTINIC, SALICYLIC and p-AMINO BENZOIC acids bring relief to cases of arthritis and rheumatism

IN CASES of soft-tissue rheumatism, and arthritic disorders, many doctors are tending more and more to regard Transvasin as an indispensable adjuvant to treatment.

For Transvasin is composed of the esters of nicotinic, salicylic and p-aminobenzoic acids. These esters readily pass the skin barrier in therapeutic quantities, and so enable an effective concentration of drugs to be built up where they are needed.*

Transvasin not only induces vasodilation of the skin with a superficial erythema, but also brings about a deep hyperaemia of the underlying tissues. It is non-irritant and can be safely used on delicate skins.

It is now being widely prescribed, with successful clinical results. Since a very small quantity is sufficient for each application, the cost of treatment is extremely low.

Why suspension Chloromycetin Palmitate?

Because the use of an insoluble Palmitate ester of Chloromycetin* overcomes the problem of administering the bitter-tasting parent antibiotic to children who cannot swallow capsules. The palatable suspension evolved provides easy and flexible dosage and readily permits hydrolysis in the alimentary tract to release pure Chloromycetin. With these advantages Suspension Chloromycetin Palmitate is of exceptional value in the treatment of many serious respiratory and gastro-intestinal infections.

Diet and Antenatal Care

During pregnancy nutritional deficiencies which may normally pass undetected are liable to produce frank clinical symptoms, as all demands on the maternal organism are increased. Thus fissures at the angles of the mouth may indicate an inadequate supply of vitamins of the B complex, particularly riboflavin. Special attention to the diet is therefore an important part of antenatal care.

Marmite yeast extract is a useful source of all known factors of the vitamin B complex. It is easily incorporated in the diet, as it can be added to soups, stews and other savoury dishes, or spread on bread and butter or hot toast, or taken as a drink in hot water or milk.

PATIENTS who are recovering from illness frequently suffer from faulty protein metabolism. They are in negative nitrogen balance. Protein, in effect, is being broken down and lost faster than it is being built up.

Anabolex (Androstanolone) restores the physiological balance. Many clinical trials have shown that, following the administration of Anabolex, there is an immediate return of the body's capacity to build up protein. The patient feels better, eats better and gains weight.

Anabolex can be safely given to patients of all ages and both sexes; in therapeutic doses, its virilizing properties are almost negligible. The only known contra-indication is prostatic carcinoma.

INDICATIONS:

Convalescent patients. Premature infants. Asthenia. Malnutrition. Wasting diseases. Preparation for and recovery from planned surgery.

provides milk-alkali drip therapy without a tube

Maintains continuous control of gastric acidity

Until a few years ago, maintained continuous control of gastric acidity was impossible without hospitalization and discomfort to the patient.

Then a unique treatment in the form of Nulacin tablets was evolved to achieve this desirable state—simply, effectively and without attendant disadvantages. In the ensuing period Nulacin therapy has been amply tried and proved by numerous clinical studies and by therapeutic use in many countries.

A Nulacin tablet placed in the mouth between the cheek and the gum dissolves slowly and releases its contained medicaments at a rate that gives continuous neutralization of the acid gastric juice. Nulacin accomplishes this without any danger of causing alkalosis or other side-effects. The results are comparable with those of intragastric milk-alkali drip therapy.

INDICATIONS: NULACIN tablets are indicated whenever neutralization of the acid gastric contents is required: in active and quiescent peptic ulcer, gastritis and other conditions of gastric hyperacidity.

Dosage: Beginning half-an-hour after food, a Nulacin tablet should be placed in the mouth between the cheek and the gum and allowed to dissolve.

During the stage of ulcer activity, up to three tablets an hour may be required. During quiescent periods, for prophylaxis in peptic ulcer and for the relief of discomfort due to gastric hyperacidity, the dose of Nulacin is one or two tablets between meals.

NULACIN tablets are not advertised to the public and have no B.P. equivalent. They may be prescribed on E.C.10. The dispensing unit of 25 tablets is free of purchase tax. (Basic price to N.H.S. . . . 2/-). Also available in tubes of 12.

NULACIN tablets are prepared from whole milk combined with dextrans and maltose, and incorporate magnesium trisilicate 3.5 grs.; magnesium oxide 2.0 grs.; calcium carbonate 2.0 grs.; magnesium carbonate 0.5 grs.; Ol. Menth. Pip. q.s.

GASTRIC ANALYSIS Superimposed gruel fractional test-meal curves of five cases of duodenal ulcer.

GASTRIC ANALYSIS Same patients as in Fig. 1, two days later, showing the striking neutralizing effect of sucking Nulacin tablets (3 an hour). Note the return of acidity when Nulacin is discontinued.

In most stations, even if remote from larger towns, it is possible to maintain interest in any particular branch of medicine or surgery to which officer is attracted.

In most stations work is based on a district hospital, which may vary in size from a comparatively small hospital meeting the needs of a backward community to a large hospital with modern facilities where specialization in the different branches of medicine, surgery and obstetrics is possible. "R" practitioners, i.e., practitioners liable for call-up under the National Service Acts, may apply to be considered and, if appointed, will be granted indefinite deferment of call-up on completion of a minimum tour of two years.

Appointments can be on permanent basis, subject to two years' probation, with pension (non-contributory); or on 30-36 months' contract with gratuity (taxable), payable on satisfactory completion of service. Normal retiring age is 55, but at age 45 officers may retire with full pension earned (subject to minimum of ten years' service). Gratuity for contract service is 13½% of total salary drawn, not including allowances. Candidates from National Health Service may retain superannuation rights up to six years and receive gratuity (taxable) of 20% of their salary after engagements.

Salary for Medical Officers ranges from £1,284 to £2,115 a year, and Medical Officers (Special Grade) from £1,503 to £2,115 a year, starting points in both scales determined by experience. Other allowances in accordance with current regulations.

Permanent officers are eligible to be considered for promotion to super-scale posts in Uganda and other territories in medical administration, or, if they possess higher qualifications and suitable experience, in specialist posts.

Quarters provided at rental varying from £21 to £78 according to size and type, and hard furniture at a rate of £12 to £24 according to scale.

Free air passages for each journey are provided up to equivalent of four adult tourist class air fares for officer, wife, and dependent children. Taxation at East African rates, generous home leave granted after each tour, in addition to which casual local leave is allowed at the rate of 16 days per annum. Primary educational facilities available in all the larger stations. Education subsidies are payable to officers, which vary from £90 a year (or half the school fees, whichever is less), for primary education for first child, to £140 a year (or three-fifths of school fees, whichever is less) for secondary education for each of second and subsequent children.
