ORAL TREATMENT OF DIABETES

RONA LABORATORIES LTD. 12 MOLYNEUX ST, LONDON. W.1.
AMBASSADOR 4437

Following successful clinical trials extending over many years, evidence is steadily mounting to show that Glucophage has remarkable properties in controlling all forms of diabetes in a high proportion of patients of all ages.

The drug, which is not a sulphonamide, has proved to be valuable and well tolerated where other anti-diabetic therapy is ineffective, badly tolerated or contra-indicated. Toxic effects have so far been absent . . . side effects are reported as minimal, e.g., minor gastrointestinal disturbances of a transient nature.

Clinical investigations are still in progress. Hospital authorities interested are invited to send for details and published reports. For the time being, supplies are only available for Hospitals, in packs of 500 and 1,000 tablets of 0.5 Gm.

Tofranil® Geigy Thymoleptic
A major breakthrough in the treatment of depression

Thymoleptic

The mode of action of Tofranil differs from that of all previous drugs used in the treatment of depression. To describe the specific action that Tofranil exerts on the depressive syndrome a new classification has been introduced—thymoleptic or "mood-regulating" drugs. Tofranil is neither a stimulant nor a tranquillizer but modifies the basic processes of the depressive illness.

Tofranil

Tofranil, the first thymoleptic, is the result of many years experimental research and clinical investigation. Tofranil is capable of replacing E.C.T., affording a basic advantage for the "intellectual" patient where possible loss of memory or confusion would be particularly undesirable.<sup>1</sup>

Melancholia

Tofranil is specific for endogenous depression; reactive depression, and depression associated with other psychiatric states have also shown a high degree of therapeutic response. The main features of the depressive syndrome are characterized by: Tiredness; Heaviness of the limbs; Feeling of oppression; Retardation; Inhibition; all these features together being worse in the morning and slightly better at night.

Clinical results

In this country clinical evaluation of Tofranil and widespread practical experience resulting from the treatment of over 100,000 individual diagnosed depressive patients have confirmed the 60–70% success rate reported by earlier workers.

A controlled trial<sup>1</sup> found Tofranil to be therapeutically effective in 74% of patients suffering from endogenous depression and in 59% of patients with reactive depression.

Deep skin penetration in Arthritis and Rheumatism

NICOTINIC, SALICYLIC AND p-AMINO BENZOIC ACIDS in Ester form

IN CASES of soft-tissue rheumatism, and arthritic disorders, many doctors are tending more and more to regard Transvasin as an indispensable adjuvant to treatment.

For Transvasin is composed of the esters of nicotinic, salicylic and p-aminobenzoic acids. These esters readily pass the skin barrier in therapeutic quantities, and so enable an effective concentration of drugs to be built up where they are needed.*

Transvasin not only induces vasodilation of the skin with a superficial erythema, but also brings about a deep hyperaemia of the underlying tissues. It is non-irritant and can be safely used on delicate skins.

It is now being widely prescribed, with successful clinical results. Since a very small quantity is sufficient for each application, the cost of treatment is extremely low.

RASTINON

World-wide clinical experience supports the safety and effectiveness of Rastinon oral diabetes therapy ends out from over a thousand tested for safety and efficacy in the oral treatment of diabetes.

and published articles substantiate the choice of this one substance to be the safest and most reliable.

One million, two-hundred and fifty-thousand patients are controlled effectively on Rastinon tablets.

SUBJECTIVE ADVANTAGES OF RASTINON:—

Rastinon therapy removes all the self-administration problems associated with conventional injection treatment. One tablet by mouth once or twice a day is often sufficient for maintenance. In diabetic patients who suffer from physical disability, or psychic problems, the advantages of Rastinon's oral control may be especially relevant.

OBJECTIVE ADVANTAGES OF RASTINON:—

There is virtually no danger of hypoglycaemic reactions as a result of Rastinon therapy, regardless of dosage. Rastinon is a true euglycaemic agent. In patients in whom maintenance dosage has been established, it lowers the blood sugar to normal levels, but almost never beyond that point.

There is no added cost of treatment for the patient previously on insulin.

THE TOWER AND THE BRIDGE—

twin symbols of a great pharmaceutical company

The people, animals, or objects displayed in symbols usually have two "lives"—one as what they are, and one as what they stand for. The lion that stalks the jungle is a real lion, very much alive. The symbolic lion of state stands for a set of national values—strength, courage, nobility—qualities of the lion itself.

Many trade symbols have this same "double life."

At Farbwerke Hoechst, A.G., Frankfurt, there is, indeed, a tower, to which is connected a bridge; they make an attractive pair of buildings, and are well-known to visitors to Hoechst.

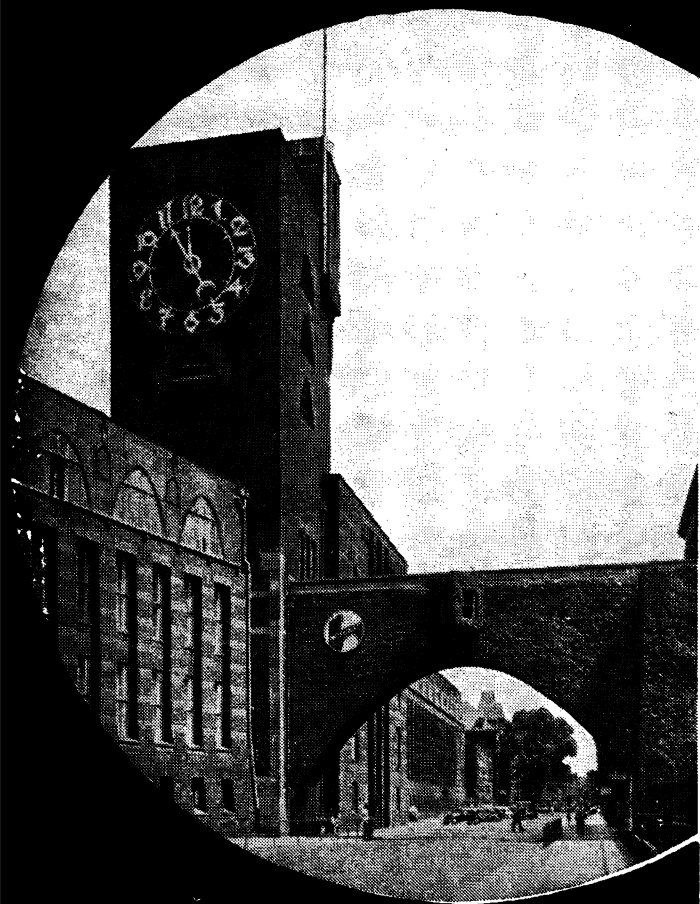

But—in the Hoechst trade-mark—the tower and the bridge also stand for things valued by Hoechst. The soaring tower symbolizes the high-aiming endeavour and far-seeing research of the Company's personnel. The sweeping bridge for the far-flung connections, obligations, and trust that exists between Hoechst and the world at large—"the bridge of confidence."

300 graduate scientists—chemists, doctors, pharmacists—are employed by Hoechst in Frankfurt in the pharmaceutical field alone. They work in ultra-modern laboratories with advanced equipment. And they work within a tradition of ambitious endeavour and significant discovery—inspired by such illustrious predecessors as Emil von Behring and Paul Ehrlich, originators respectively of the first diphtheria anti-toxin and Salvarsan.

A soaring tower—and a sweeping bridge . . . these are fitting symbols for a pharmaceutical company that is second to none both in research and in production.

Dulcolax is the prescription without restriction* whenever a bowel movement is necessary. Both in tablet and suppository form, Dulcolax is acceptable from childhood to extreme old age. Gently effective and non-toxic, it is particularly valuable in pregnancy, illness and in pre- and post-operative conditions. Dulcolax in suppository form, or as tablets and suppositories in combination, is now widely accepted as a replacement for the troublesome enema. The mere presence of Dulcolax in the lumen of the colon induces an orderly and smooth peristaltic response without spasm. The single, formed motion produced is easy, effortless and predictable. Dulcolax is not absorbed and passes out unchanged with the faeces. The safety factor is exceptional—there is no danger of systemic side-effects.

*(Excluding, of course, cases of intestinal obstruction).

A recent report<sup>1</sup> in the Lancet on the use of Dulcolax in a surgical ward states '... a book is kept to record all enemas given. For the year 1958 ... (there are) only five entries. The number of patients admitted ... during the year was 380 ... and the saving of nurse-hours, and of patients' discomfort, represented by this outlawing of the enema has been considerable ...'.

TEEN-AGE PSYCHOSOMATIC DISORDERS

MARE NOSTRUM

BY

ADAM LEGGE-PULLAR, Q.K.

These disorders are liable to present in protean ways, but in general are characterized by non-specific dysfunction. Change of environment is often a good prescription. But it is as well to specify it in sufficient detail for the maximum benefit to be conferred. In the following case success was achieved by advising in what direction the patient should travel. And though it was not possible to advise her with whom she should go and come back (the latter looked after himself), it was possible to advise without whom, etc., etc.

Illustrative Case

Miss D. D., a debutante aged 18, complained of what she called a "beat" feeling (she had a general inability to express herself in plain English), together with the effects of insomnia and a possessive-compulsive mother. The latter, who accompanied the patient, was over-weight, over-jowled, over-jewelled, and overpowering. She described her daughter's condition as one of progressive loss of interest and increasing apathy, following a recent emotional experience with a trumpeter in a night-club. She (the daughter) was never in till dawn, and she (the mother) hardly slept a wink, worrying. And look at her hairstyle. (Fig. 1.)

Clinical Examination

showed some loss of weight and a general tendency to curl up with a box of chocolates and the books of Françoise Sagan and Kerouac. Auscultation revealed no positive evidence of the cardiac irregularity which the mother believed to exist, but there was a hint of auricular flutter and whispering pectoriloquy with an equivocal thrill before the diastolic pause. Examination of the nervous system showed only a slight abducent weakness (L), and some intention tremor.

Diagnosis

It was concluded that the patient was suffering from too many parties with constrictive encephalopathy secondary to the frustrations of adolescence.

Treatment

A change of environment was prescribed, quant. suff. et stat., with special reference to a sea voyage to South Africa. The patient was advised to go alone, and take a typewriter in order to try and record her experiences.

Course and Further Prognosis

The patient's father bought her a round-trip ticket to Cape Town by Union-Castle. She returned after six weeks, a different girl. (Fig. 2.)

There had been perpetual sunshine, so that her mediastinal shift (a diagnosis made by her previous doctor, but which barely covered the facts) had sufficed both in the swimming-bath and out. The food had been "marvellous," and she had gained 12 lb. in weight.

She had slept "wonderfully." She had started to write a book called Downbeat, but found she could not spell "hopelessness," and had sold her typewriter to a journalist at the Mount Nelson Hotel in Cape Town. The fact that the journalist came back with her pleased her mother, because he had just inherited a diamond mine, and because it had caused, in her daughter, an amnesia for the trumpeter. The prognosis is the more favourable in that the young couple are about to be married and are returning to South Africa to live.

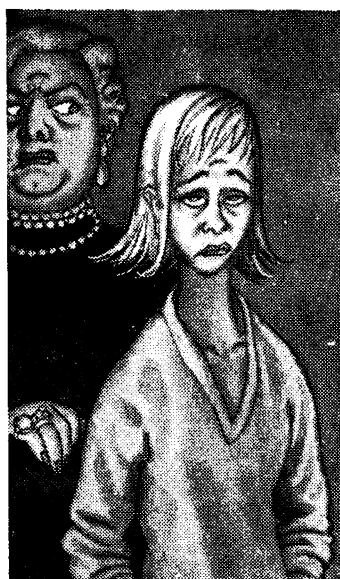

Fig. 1.—Miss D. D. before her trip to South Africa

Fig. 2.—Miss D. D. A photograph taken on her return journey.

Discussion

The prevalence of adolescent deficiency disorders should serve to remind us that every Thursday at 4 p.m. a Union-Castle mailship leaves Southampton for southern sunshine, First Class and Tourist. The journey to Cape Town takes 13½ days. About twice a month Union-Castle ships leave London Docks for the Round Africa trip, calling at more than 18 ports, and taking nine luxury weeks for the journey. Every ship has a doctor on board who will take care of your patients (or you). The chefs are adept at catering for special diets.

QUICKLY READY TO HAND

London Hospital Catgut in non-splintering 'spot' tubes

Speed is a matter of urgency in the Operating Theatre—which is why the London Hospital 'spot' tubes are so popular. Just a slight pressure, and instantly the tube breaks cleanly at the 'spot' position, and the sterilised suture is ready for use.

These are the advantages :

- The spot indicates the exact breaking point of the tube.
- If the thumbs are placed about  $\frac{3}{4}$ " apart, exactly opposite the spot, the tube breaks cleanly and easily under slight pressure.
- No filing, no instruments required, no need to hold the tube in a swab.
- There are no dangerous glass splinters.
