Obesity can be more than embarrassing

Obesity is not only embarrassing and a physical handicap—it can also be dangerous.

The association between obesity and increased incidence of conditions such as hypertension, diabetes, heart disease, cirrhosis, gout, and accidents has been statistically established. Increase in weight often occurs several years before the physical disorder becomes manifest. Prompt treatment of obesity, therefore, can play an important part in preventive medicine.

In the great majority of cases, obesity is directly attributable to excess of food intake over energy output. Dietary measures are consequently of first importance in treatment, and their success is best ensured by the use of a safe and effective anorectic. One 'Dexedrine Spansule' sustained-release capsule taken first thing in the morning will control the patient's appetite gently but firmly throughout the day—and will simultaneously dispel lethargy or apathy which may be contributing to the patient's condition, or which may arise from the rigours of dietary restriction.

The sound reasoning behind
Lederkyn

Consider . . . LEDERKYN sulphamethoxypyridazine is far more than just another sulpha drug. It offers many distinct advantages over earlier sulphas, including effective therapy at one-eighth the dose, a marked reduction in untoward side effects and sensitivity reactions, improved patient tolerance and, with LEDERKYN, crystalluria is not a problem. One, therefore, reaches the conclusion that LEDERKYN is today's premier sulpha drug in urinary infections, upper respiratory infections, skin conditions, and wherever sulpha therapy is called for.

p-AMINOBENZOIC Acids in Ester form

In cases of soft-tissue rheumatism, and arthritic disorders, many doctors are tending more and more to regard Transvasin as an indispensable adjuvant to treatment.

For Transvasin is composed of the esters of nicotinic, salicylic and p-aminobenzoic acids. These esters readily pass the skin barrier in therapeutic quantities, and so enable an effective concentration of drugs to be built up where they are needed.*

Transvasin not only induces vasodilatation of the skin with a superficial erythema, but also brings about deep hyperaemia of the underlying tissues. It is non-irritant and can be safely used on delicate skins.

It is now being widely prescribed, with successful clinical results. Since a very small quantity is sufficient for each application, the cost of treatment is extremely low. Transvasin can be prescribed on Form EC10.

Pressurised BROVON Inhalant

The 'push button' asthma aerosol possessing three outstanding advantages

1. High Production of utilisable aerosol

By the incorporation of a new and unique device in Pressurised Brovon Inhalant, about 80% of the particles yielded are within the optimum range for penetration into the finest ramifications of the bronchial tree, and absorption there.

2. Pharmacological Soundness

Pressurised Brovon Inhalant combines the rapid action of adrenaline with the slower but prolonged action of atropine, providing an antispasmodic combination with an immediate yet sustained action.

3. Visual check on contents of bottle

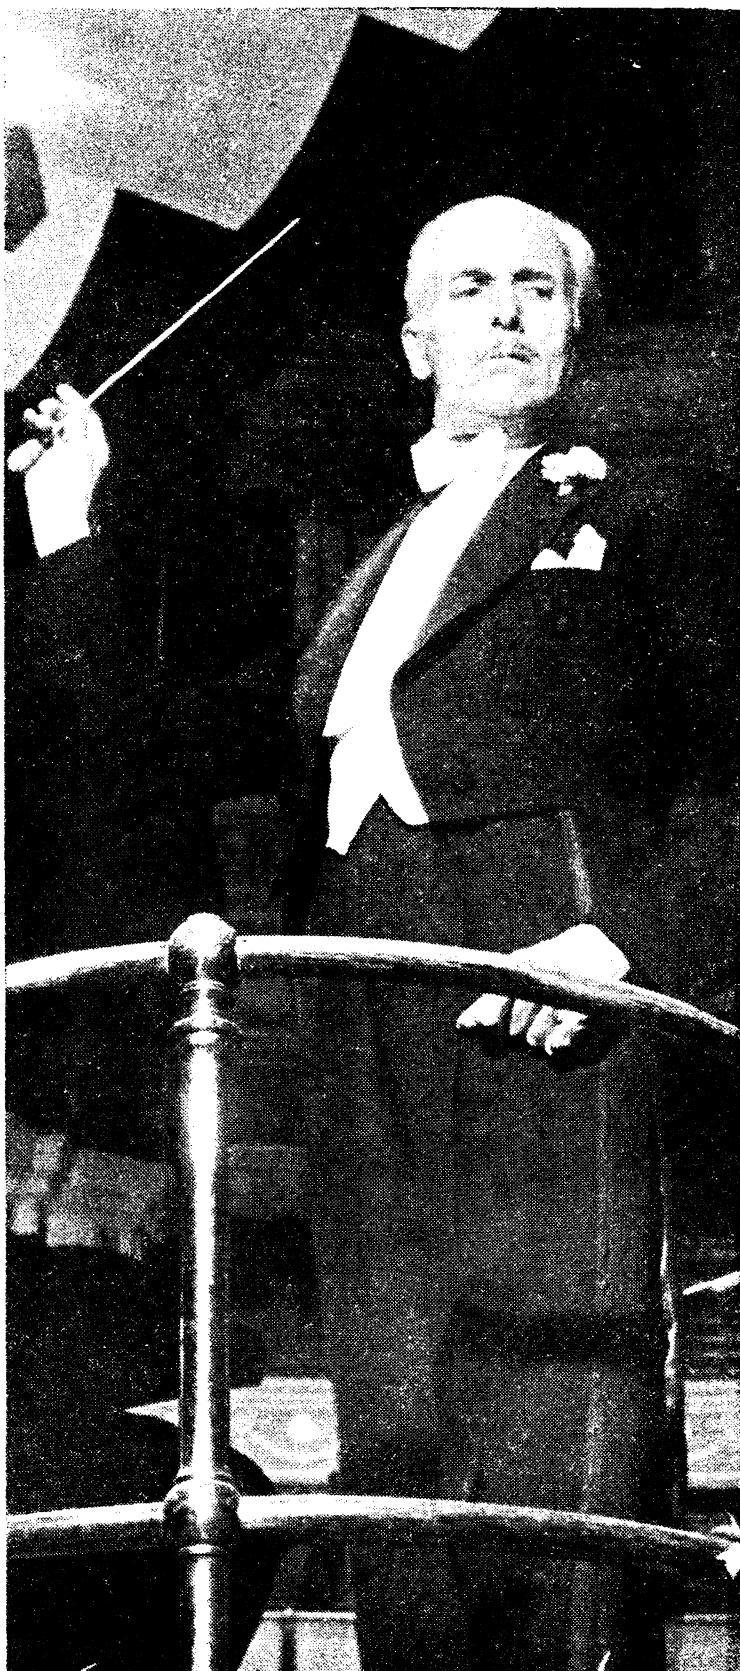

The bottle and its tough shatterproof plastic covering are transparent so that the user has full warning when his inhalant is running low. The importance of this will be appreciated by any asthmatic who has experienced panic on discovering at the start of an attack that his container is empty.

These three unique features are coupled with :

- Accurate dosage always ensured by metering device
- Effortless Inhalation—Swift relief
- Complete safety—Non-toxic, non-inflammable
- Compactness—for handbag or pocket

When commencing treatment, a complete unit is required. The Brovon Adaptor, which is included in the complete unit, is robust and should provide efficient service for a long time, consequently only the refill should be necessary on repeat prescriptions and supplies.

MEDICAL COLOUR TELEVISION

The Medical Colour Television Unit of Smith Kline & French Laboratories began operating in Great Britain four years ago. The reaction to this medium of teaching has been so encouraging that a second mobile unit was commissioned last year. During 1960 one of these teams toured Australia, and in four major cities gave almost 10,000 doctors and students their first-ever experience of medical teaching by colour television. Later this year a similar visit will be made to South Africa, while at home demonstrations will be given in Northern Ireland and The Irish Republic in addition to medical centres in other parts of Britain.

No other method of teaching quite compares with colour television. The excellent vantage point of the camera, with its 100 square feet reproduction, the size of the audience which can be accommodated, and the immediacy of the demonstration itself—all contribute towards its effectiveness.

The things they say !!!

Some Practitioners, in less controlled moments, have been heard to say harsh and even uncomplimentary things about their ulcer and indigestion patients.

Patients have been heard to say even harsher and more uncomplimentary things about their Doctors.

We, however, blush at the complimentary letters we receive from both busy practitioners and their patients telling of DROXALIN'S efficacy and palatability in Gastric Ulcer, Hyperacidity and Sickness of Pregnancy.

In the letters we receive doctors speak highly of Droxalin as:

Giving rapid relief to the abdominal pain and discomfort due to Hyperchlorhydria and Peptic Ulcer.

Being an excellent tablet for indigestion, and in particular for the indigestion of pregnancy.

Effective in acute Dyspepsia and accompanying Insomnia.

Giving instant relief from abdominal discomforts and Duodenal Ulcer.

ASTHMA

Betnelan

Trade Mark

the new anti-inflammatory steroid

The high anti-allergic and anti-inflammatory activity of Betnelan, coupled with its decreased tendency to cause side effects, make it particularly suitable for use with other measures in the treatment of severe asthma. Betnelan is not suggested for milder cases which are adequately controlled by other measures.

PERIODIC ACUTE ATTACK

Betnelan is indicated when the asthma is being kept under reasonable control by conventional treatment but this general state is interrupted by acute attacks. Short-term therapy with Betnelan should control the exacerbation and allow conventional measures to be resumed.

SEVERE ATTACK

In attacks of extreme severity (status asthmaticus) all recognised measures must be taken. Corticosteroid injections (Efcorotelan Soluble or Predsol Injection) should be given at least initially, while at the same time oral treatment with Betnelan can be started to maintain control. With no immediate threat to life, Betnelan alone will be found adequate.

SEVERE CHRONIC ASTHMA

When conventional treatment gives only slight relief, the patient's activities being greatly restricted, Betnelan can give considerable benefit. Continuous administration may be necessary and is well justified by enabling a reasonably useful life to be followed. Treatment should begin with a short-term course of Betnelan, using bronchodilators and other measures to help reduce dosage until gradually the minimum level is found which reduces symptoms to tolerable limits. Often this may be no more than half a tablet twice daily.

HAY FEVER

In severe attacks, uncontrollable by normal therapy, the condition is usually controlled rapidly by short-term Betnelan therapy.

BETNELAN is presented as scored tablets containing 0.5 milligrams betamethasone in bottles of 30, 100, and 500.

Does your wife see red?

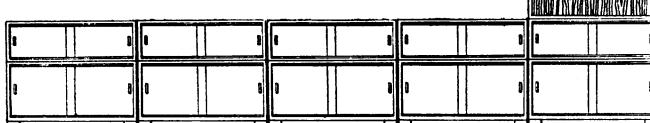

Every Ego or Id must influence, to a greater or lesser degree, the behaviour pattern of mankind. So your book-habits, which you no doubt fondly believe are your own business, are not a purely domestic matter. If you throw your books around like confetti at a wedding, or if your wife has frequent crying fits after dusting your collected works, it's time you faced the truth—that your book-habits may well start a revolution and bring 1984 and Newspeak closer than is comfortable.

Fortunately, there is always a solution. Minty have specialised for years in making bookcases that house your books behind glass and keep them dust-free. They give your books an elegant, well-tailored home, and leave you more room to walk around in. They allow you to go on reading and buying—for Minty bookcases are sectional and may be started for as little as £10.1.0—on deferred terms if you prefer.

Only at the Minty Centres shown below can you see and buy Minty bookcases (and furniture). These Centres are so placed that Minty furniture is within reasonably easy reach of most people. If, however, for any reason you can't call, Minty will be glad to send you a catalogue and particulars of post ordering. Write to Dept. B.14. Minty Ltd., 44-45 High Street, Oxford.
