

The problem of the dirty mouth

Even in 1964 the dangers, and the unpleasantness, of the dirty mouth are still present in the post-operative period, as well as in many fevers; the geriatric patient being especially prone to them. Careful attention to oral hygiene will usually, of course, keep the patient comfortable and prevent complications. Such attention, however, is very time-consuming to the nurse; and it is not often realised that for most patients it can be replaced or supplemented by the use of chewing gum.

The regular use of chewing gum, by stimulating salivary flow, keeps the mouth clean in the most natural way possible. The patient is in a sense providing his own nursing care with the minimum of energy expenditure by himself.

Child patients, of course, need no encouragement to chew gum. The older patient may need encouraging—but not once he has appreciated the very obvious cleansing and refreshing effect that chewing gum has upon the mouth. Chewing gum is also of value to patients who are forbidden to smoke.

PAVACOL

an economical prescription for effective treatment of Coughs and Bronchitis

ECONOMY: The cost of Pavacol at the dispensing pack rate to chemists is only 7d. per fluid ounce.

DUAL ACTIVITY: Pavacol relieves Cough by acting in two ways:—

- 1 The pholcodine content exhibits a cough suppressant effect comparable with that of Heroin but without the latter's disadvantages in being addictive and constipating;
- 2 The Papaverine content relaxes plain muscle by direct action and the resultant bronchodilatation makes it easier for the patient to cough up sputum.

DIABETIC SYRUP ALSO AVAILABLE—Pavacol Diabetic contains the same ingredients as ordinary Pavacol Syrup but carbohydrates are omitted: Indications, dosage and price are identical.

Carbinoxamine Maleate 2 mg., Ephedrine hydrochloride B.P. 7 mg., Pholcodine B.P.C. 4 mg. in a tangerine-flavoured syrup base.

Indications

The symptomatic relief of all types of cough, in patients of all ages.

Dosage

Adults : 1-2 teaspoonfuls (5-10 ml.) three or four times a day.

Children under 12 : Up to 1 teaspoonful (5 ml.) three or four times a day according to age.

Contraindications

Because of the sugar content of its base Davenol is not suitable for diabetics.

Side-effects

Ephedrine and pholcodine are substances which have been in use for a number of years and have been shown to possess a wide margin of safety at normal dosage. Similarly, the antihistamine carbinoxamine maleate has been in use for over 8 years in the U.S.A. and has been shown to be safe, producing only occasional mild sedation. During preliminary trials no side-effects were observed following the administration of Davenol at the recommended dosage to over 300 patients of all ages.

WHAT IT'S LIKE TO BE AN ARMY DOCTOR

Extracts from an article by Major K.N. Murray, RAMC

WHEN SERVING WITH THE BRITISH ARMY OF THE RHINE

If a soldier knows that no matter where he may be posted on duty, his wife and children will soon join him, or indeed travel with him, he is a happy man. The British, however, have an inborn distrust of 'natives,' be they Germans, Indians, Malaysians or Chinese, so that it can be a great source of confidence to a travelling family to know that anywhere in the world they will have the backing of typical British services, not least of all doctors, nurses and hospitals.

A TYPICAL DAY

My day began with what has long been termed the sick parade. This is, in fact, not a parade of any kind, but a normal surgery, in this case at 8.30 in the morning with the patients all men. The soldiers sit comfortably in the waiting room, reading magazines, until the sign goes on and it is their turn to see the doctor in the privacy of his consulting room.

Following this, there were usually three or four men to see each day for brief general medical examinations. In this way, the overall health of a regiment is under constant review, and men are given a chance to live the type of Army life for which they are most physically suited. The Army institution of injections still exists; but, after all, the modern soldier may travel anywhere in the world at very short notice, and it is greatly to the benefit of him and his family, that we should be able to give them protection against so many diseases which used to be fearful scourges.

Half an hour on one or two mornings a week are often set aside for this, when the protection of a few men would be brought up to date and so, in this way, the whole regiment is kept as immune as possible to disease. As in all good professions, there was then a suitable break for coffee and biscuits.

The rest of my morning was then normally taken up with calls to visit families in their quarters. All the normal childhood ailments were there in abundance, and with a close-living community there were seasons of spots. While there is nothing like the same proportion of old people, who tend to take up so much of a civilian doctor's time in Britain, families often have older friends or parents staying with them on holiday, who present the doctor with a medical surprise in the way of a complicated or interesting diagnosis.

With the visits finished, I could then have a peaceful hour and a half at home for lunch with my wife and children, though it wasn't unheard of for the phone to go in the middle of it and to be told, 'come quick, Trooper Jones has dropped a tank on his fingers.' But this is a doctor's lot, or privilege, in all walks of life, and I soon became quite an expert at the minor surgery of everyday cuts and bruises.

FAMILY CLINICS

Four afternoons a week I had a family clinic in the Medical Centre from two to four o'clock. For this we had a separate consulting room and waiting room for families only. Assisting at those clinics were a SSAFA sister, who is a combination of sister, midwife and health visitor, and a German qualified sister.

One of those afternoon clinics was usually set aside for babies only, and in this it was rather I who assisted the SSAFA sister, and a vast number of infants were duly weighed and filled up with their triple antigens, polio inoculations and vaccinations, according to age.

This particular clinic always seems to be the greatest attraction abroad, and the mothers find a great moral boost in Sister's encouraging words as the infants go off until next time. One morning each week a gynaecologist visited the Medical Centre from the nearby Military Hospital to hold an ante-natal clinic, where an expert eye was kept on the well-being of all expectant mothers.

The tie-up with the Army Hospital Services is indeed close in all aspects. The hospitals have staffs of physicians and gynaecologists, specialists in skin diseases, eyes and ENT, and even psychiatrists, all RAMC personnel. When I wished to make a specialist appointment for a patient, a letter quickly arranged it, and when the day came around, the journey to hospital was made free by army car or bus.

Drugs, too, are free. Each medical centre contains a completely stocked dispensary—the old joke of the number 9 is dead now; in fact, I've never been quite sure what it was. The doctor has available the drugs of his choice, and presentation of his prescriptions to the dispensary brings them to the patient free of charge.

ARMY LIFE ABROAD

Beyond my medical duties, I have found great attraction in the Army life out here. In any unit or regiment, the doctor is a valued and honoured citizen and attempts are always made to keep him a happy one. Most important is a good house and garden to live in, and I may say that never in civilian life could I hope to live in a house so good and so well equipped as that provided for me by the Army. You may gather I like it, both the work and the play. I like to travel abroad, not just to see a place, but to live there and find out what it is really like.

If you wish to know more about service as an Army Doctor, a booklet, 'A Career for Doctors in the RAMC,' may be obtained from the Director-General, Army Medical Services, The War Office, (HNR/35/C), London S.W.1. Tel: GRO 8040, Ext. 602. Or you may care to come in and discuss your particular case with us personally; if so, please write or telephone for an appointment.

Aldactone-A

brand of spironolactone

for the water-logged patient

Many patients with oedema and ascites fail to get a complete response to diuretic treatment. An important cause of this resistance is excessive secretion of aldosterone, a sodium-retaining adrenal steroid.

In these water-logged patients the early addition of Aldactone-A (a selective aldosterone antagonist) to the diuretic programme is a compelling therapeutic necessity.

Aldactone-A acts as a booster to conventional diuretics, maintaining and enhancing their effect and enabling more complete diuresis to be achieved, until 'dry weight' is regained. Aldactone-A also increases the safety of long-term diuretic therapy by minimizing potassium depletion. Finally, patients on Aldactone-A often feel better, function better, and may be permitted a more liberal diet.

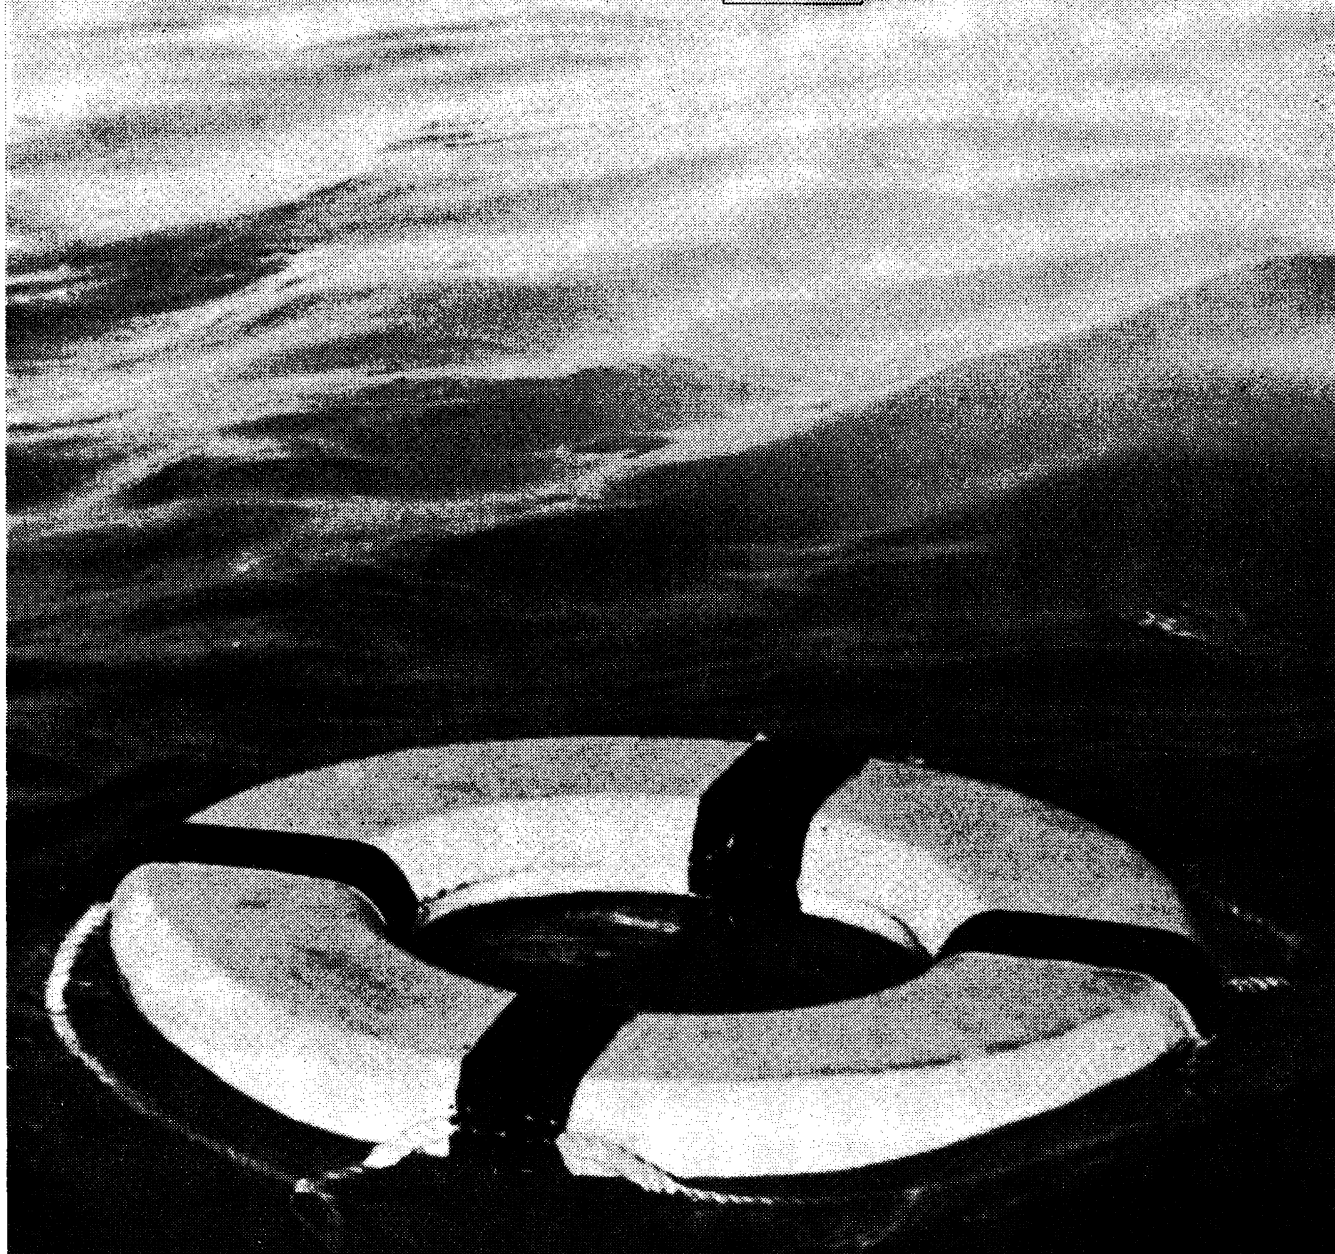

Available as 25 mg. tablets in bottles of 30, 100 and 500.

allegron

nortriptyline hydrochloride an important new tool in the hands of the doctor effective in a wide variety of behaviour disorders

ALLEGRON may be described as a truly multi-phasic psychotrope, embodying anti-depressant, anti-anxiety and anti-hostility* activity in a single substance, to a degree of effectiveness comparing favourably with other drugs. Of some 2,000 patients reported on by 150 clinical investigators, almost four out of five showed satisfactory response, and of these, almost four out of five by the end of the second week. ALLEGRON is suitable for patients in and out of hospital. It has also shown particular power to relieve anxiety and depressive symptoms associated with many medical disorders and in childhood and old age. It is a valuable adjunct in psychotherapy.

*In common with drugs to which it is related, ALLEGRON does not counteract hostility in the same way as it controls such symptoms as depression and anxiety. While it may, in some cases, increase hostility, it usually mobilizes or re-directs the hostility in a manner that is therapeutically desirable.

Allegron is a trade mark

Side effects with ALLEGRON are relatively infrequent and usually mild. As with all potent psychotropic drugs, however, certain precautions should be observed. EPSIKAPRON

(epsilon aminocaproic acid)

for the treatment of fibrinolytic bleeding conditions

Indications

Treatment with EPSIKAPRON is normally only indicated when laboratory examination has shown a fibrinolytic state. EPSIKAPRON is a potent inhibitor of fibrinolytic activity. Increased fibrinolytic activity in the blood, hyperplasmaemia, has sometimes been observed in :

Obstetrical complications : accidental haemorrhage, abortion, toxæmia of pregnancy, intrauterine foetal death, amnion fluid embolism.

Prostatic diseases ; cancer of prostate, prostatectomy. Cancer of the pancreas, cancer of the stomach ; liver cirrhosis. Myeloid leukemia, polycythemia and Boeck's sarcoid.

After thoracic surgery, especially with extracorporeal circulation ; and less commonly, after any major surgical operation. In connection with surgical shock.

Treatment with EPSIKAPRON may be indicated in certain haemorrhagic states with no abnormally increased fibrinolytic activity being proved in the blood, i.e. in some cases of menorrhagia and haematuria when the bleeding is severe.

Epsikapron is supplied as : • Granules 50%, • Bottle of 100 g, with dosage spoon • Syrup 0.2 g/ml. • Bottle of 250 ml. • Solution for injection, 0.1 g/ml. • Injection bottle of 50 ml.

Why does a micro-dose make such a difference in anaemia of pregnancy?

In pregnancy, routine administration of oral iron has long been established. But hitherto, folic acid deficiency has only been treated when specifically diagnosed, and then with high doses of folic acid.

Recent investigations indicate that prophylactic micro-doses of folic acid should be prescribed for all pregnant patients for their value in combating anaemia of pregnancy. Such micro-doses of folic acid both ensure increased response to oral iron and provide comprehensive prophylactic treatment of anaemia of pregnancy due to iron and folic acid deficiencies without masking a true pernicious anaemia.

Folaemin has been introduced to meet this need. Folaemin contains iron aminoates and microgramme amounts of folic acid. No other preparation currently available contains the micro-dose of folic acid now provided by Folaemin — the micro-dose that makes the big difference in anaemia of pregnancy.

Composition each tablet contains iron aminoates 350 milligrammes (equivalent to 35 mg. elemental iron) and folic acid 50 microgrammes.*

Dosage: One tablet three times daily, preferably between meals. basic NHS price: Bottles of 100 tablets 7/-

*One microgramme equals one thousandth of a milligramme, or 10⁻⁶ gramme.

The importance of simplicity in the treatment of diabetes

The diabetic is submitted to a life-time of medication to control his condition.

In few other conditions is simplicity and ease of administration so important.

The introduction of the sulphonylureas eight years ago relieved one group of diabetics from the burden of daily injections. The extensive use of Rastinon in oral antidiabetic therapy for over two million patients has shown that it is not only one of the safest drugs available, but also one of the most effective in controlling diabetes when the condition is first discovered at middle age. Rastinon is the standard oral treatment of diabetes, and it is remarkable for its

What is the Protein Gap?

The protein gap is the difference between a person's actual, and optimum, protein intake. While calorie requirements may change, an adult's protein requirements remain approximately constant. Hence, the protein gap occurs whenever the total diet is reduced and the proportion of protein in the diet is not correspondingly raised. This happens especially in old age, when the need for calories has diminished but not the need for protein. Unless old people are able to increase the proportion of protein in their diet, the protein gap that occurs will make them debilitated and prone to infection.

PROTEIN SUPPLEMENTATION

Protein deficiency can occur in old age, chronic illness, convalescence, and during periods of active growth such as adolescence and pregnancy. In all these states, supplementation of the diet with additional protein of high biological value is required.

The complete food

Lloyd's High Protein Food is designed to meet these requirements. The scientists responsible for its formulation were concerned to produce a food which was palatable, digestible, and nutritionally complete in all respects. Lloyd's High Protein Food contains 48% of a blend of animal and vegetable protein, a far higher percentage of protein than any other whole food on the market; 23.8% of carbohydrates; 19.8% of fat, most of which is unsaturated; and all the vitamins, minerals, and trace elements required according to the recommendations of the B.M.A. Committee on Nutrition.

Lloyd's High Protein Food is sold only through chemists. The price is 5/9d per half-pound jar. Hospital prices will be sent on request.

Lloyd's Research Limited has recently produced a study, "The Role of Protein in Nutrition," which sets out up-to-date views on the important subject of dietetics. A copy will be sent to any doctor on application.

What else to hasten recovery?

Air pollution, smoking and overcrowding in cities all contribute to the incidence of respiratory disorders. Patients may be given expectorants, suppressants, inhalants or sprays for symptomatic relief. In appropriate cases antibiotics may be prescribed. What else to hasten recovery?

Lowered resistance to infection may result from degenerative changes in the lining membranes of the respiratory tract associated with inadequate supplies of vitamin A. Acute and chronic disease of this kind depletes body stores of vitamin C and sickness at any age may cause anorexia and malaise which often respond to treatment with vitamin B₁ (thiamine).

A preparation of these vitamins in an orange juice base with glucose is VITAVEL SYRUP. In the treatment of respiratory infections, especially in children, VITAVEL SYRUP is a useful adjunct to specific or symptomatic treatment. For the adult, where in many cases a higher dosage may be desirable, JUVEL is also available. This contains, in addition, other factors of the vitamin B complex.

 Vitamins from Vitamins Limited

NIGHT COUGH?

CALCIDRINE Syrup

REGD.

(CALCIUM IODIDE, EPHEDRINE CODEINE AND NEMBUTAL, ABBOTT)

Because Calcidrine combines a sedative (Nembutal*) with an expectorant and an antispasmodic, it is especially useful when night cough prevents rest. Calcidrine permits uninterrupted sleep by quickly controlling the cough, loosening mucus, aiding respiration, soothing the throat, and calming the cough.

Each fluid ounce contains:

Pentobarbitone Sodium B.P. —to calm nervous tension.....	$\frac{3}{8}$ gr.
Ephedrine Hydrochloride B.P. —to relieve bronchial spasm.....	$\frac{3}{8}$ gr.
Codeine Phosphate B.P. —to depress the cough reflex.....	$\frac{1}{4}$ gr.
Calcium Iodide B.P.C. 1934 —to help clear air passages.....	17.5 gr.

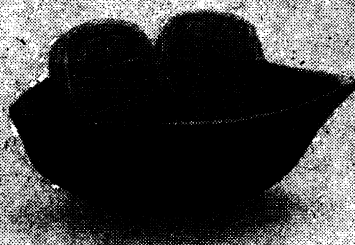

All carefully blended into a good-tasting syrup that patients readily take. Supplied in 120 ml. bottles.

ALONE OR IN SINISTER ALLIANCE

Insidious in undermining health, the blood-sucking hookworm waxes in numbers with the explosive growth of world population. The patient who harbours hookworm often harbours roundworm, and sometimes trichostrongylus too.

There is one complete answer—single-dose 'Alcopar'. Whether the infection be single or multiple, whether the patient be an infant in arms or a person advanced in years, 'Alcopar' will safely expel these burdensome parasites.

Neither hospitalisation nor purging is needed.

THAT'S THE VOLKSWAGEN ENGINE

We make it air-cooled, so that it can't freeze or boil.

We put it in the back, over the driving wheels, for better traction.

We give it a low piston speed, and machine component parts to one ten-thousandth of an inch, for exceptionally long life.

We make it light, and so give it less weight to pull (you can even carry the Volkswagen engine).

Unorthodox? Certainly. And so is the rest of the car. But in a tried practical way that pays its owners over and over again.

Why not discuss the Volkswagen with your local dealer?

The go-ahead
OPPORTUNITY that is ROYAL NAVY

you find it as a
MEDICAL OFFICER

As a Medical Officer, you have complete clinical freedom and a widely varied medical experience. Your practice is among 100,000 Naval men and women. Ashore or afloat, it can take you anywhere in the world from Malta to Singapore: and, when you have a shore appointment abroad, your family can be with you. Go-ahead, too, is your opportunity to specialize: not only in traditional categories, but in the modern sciences of aviation and nuclear medicine.

As a Medical Officer, your pay, allowances, and gratuity—or permanent commission pension—are very good: for example, your initial pay is considerably higher than that of a civilian hospital registrar.

You can enter by one of three ways: as a Registered Medical Practitioner—your civilian experience back-dating seniority—or as a qualified doctor doing your pre-registration year, or as a student with a 2nd M.B. For qualified women doctors, there is a special short service commission.

For fullest details, write, mentioning your own qualifications and age to: The Medical Director General of the Navy, Medical Dept. (HN12/E). The Admiralty, Empress State Building, London, S.W.6.

DOCTORS

Ethical Pharmaceuticals

This leading and progressive company, delightfully situated in the Home Counties, specializes in the development of new synthetic drugs. It now seeks to add to its increasingly important Medical Department. The work will include the inception and organization of clinical research, the production of medical literature, the provision of a medical information service and the technical training of representatives. There are two vacancies, based in the U.K., and both men must be prepared to travel extensively overseas where their duties will also involve negotiations with Governments and other organizations, including family-planning associations. For one vacancy fluency in French or German would be an important asset. Applicants should be Medical Practitioners with good hospital experience and preferably with a bent for scientific medicine. They will probably be around 30, but personality and the ability to make oneself acceptable to people at all levels are of vital importance. A salary of around £2,000 per annum is offered, but more could be paid to outstanding men. There is a contributory pension scheme and a car is provided. Ref.: M6/1258/BMj).

The identity of candidates will not be revealed to our clients without prior permission. Applicants should forward brief details, quoting reference number, to:

PSYCHIATRIC TRAINING IN THE UNITED STATES

A full three years training programme in comprehensive psychiatry is available in a University Department of Psychiatry to qualified British graduates. Applicants must have finished their pre-registration year by the time they begin training, and be medical graduates of at least one year's standing. They must hold the E.C.F.M.G. certificate.

Training is fully approved by the American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology and prepares physicians for the D.P.M. examinations, if wished. British graduates may come on a student status or as a permanent immigrant grant's visa. Opportunities for trained psychiatrists are many and varied in this region, and British graduates find themselves very well accepted.

The training programme begins with a one-year assignment in an acute treatment centre, and some experience with chronic psychiatric patients. The second year of training includes neurology, working with clinic out-patients, experience in child psychiatry, and with consultation on other hospital services. Such training is continued during the third year, which also includes an elective period of time which may be spent in one of several areas, including research. The department is developing a new programme in social and community psychiatry and is also expanding in the areas of child psychiatry and psychiatric research. Fourth and fifth years of training are available for those who wish to go on to psychiatric specialties or research. The three-year programme prepares the physician to enter one or more types of psychiatric work such as private practice, hospital psychiatry, clinic psychiatry, teaching, community psychiatry, research, etc.

Training takes place in the stimulating environment of a large department of psychiatry with over twenty full-time psychiatrists and over ten full-time psychologists. Many of the psychiatrists are psychoanalytically trained but the programme is comprehensive and includes somatic therapies, psychopharmacology, sociology, psychology, genetics, neuroanatomy, neurophysiology, neurology, etc.

The salary (now under revision) in the first year will be a minimum of $3,670, with increases for the second and third years. Vacancies exist for July 1, 1964, also at other times in the future. Although applicants for the full three-year programme are preferred, consideration will be given to physicians with one or two years' training in psychiatry elsewhere. Assistance with a loan for transportation expenses can be negotiated where required.

Write for further details and at the same time contact your nearest American Embassy if you are seriously interested in applying for 1964, as obtaining a visa takes some time. Feel free to send a résumé of professional experience at the time of first writing. Address inquiries to: Professor John A. Ewing, M.D. (Edin.) D.P.M. (Lond.) Department of Psychiatry, School of Medicine, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, N.C., U.S.A. (5213)

"The ability of Melleril to relieve or attenuate the causal anxiety was reflected in the control of agitation and a marked alteration from confusion to a sense of well-being and in many instances, alertness."
