

This iron won't upset you...

Summary of Clinical Report

"In a series of 115 patients treated with ferrous aminoacetosulphate ('plesmet') the incidence of gastro-intestinal symptoms was 1.7%. In view of its minimal toxicity and relatively low cost, it is suggested that this iron chelate preparation is a most effective preparation for the treatment of iron-deficiency anaemia by the oral route."

'Aventyl'*

BRAND NORTRIPTYLINE

new wide spectrum mood enhancer lends wings to troubled minds

When the patient is overwhelmed by normal everyday stresses, 'Aventyl' often brings prompt relief. Even in the more serious behaviour disturbances—whether marked by depression or anxiety, or both—'Aventyl', with its unusually wide spectrum of action, broadens the doctor's power to relieve the troubled mind swiftly.

'Aventyl' has an inherent beneficial effect on anxiety and hostility—it is not a combination of an antidepressant with a tranquillizer, but a single entity going beyond mere antidepressant action as such. Four out of five patients with symptoms referable to anxiety and depression (including psychosomatic disturbances) are likely to respond favourably to 'Aventyl', many of them within a week.

'Aventyl' is not a monoamine oxidase inhibitor.

'Pulvules' of 10 mg. and 25 mg. Liquid containing 10 mg. per 5 ml. teaspoonful

CICATRIN

accelerates healing rates by 25-50%***

Prolonged and expensive treatment of chronic ulcers may be avoided by the use of Cicatrin, the leading amino-acid/antibiotic preparation for topical application.

Further evidence of the efficacy of Cicatrin is provided by a recent controlled clinical trial to evaluate the influence of various topical applications on the healing rates of stasis ulcers. This trial shows that Cicatrin with its combination of selected amino-acids and antibiotics accelerates the healing rates by 25-50%.

It is also significant that in one group where the main difference between the two preparations was that one contained amino-acids and antibiotics (Cicatrin) and the other antibiotics only, the healing time in the Cicatrin treated group was shortened considerably both in bed rest and ambulatory cases.

EPSIKAPRON

for the treatment of fibrinolytic bleeding conditions

Indications

Treatment with EPSIKAPRON is normally only indicated when laboratory examination has shown a fibrinolytic state. EPSIKAPRON is a potent inhibitor of fibrinolytic activity. Increased fibrinolytic activity in the blood, hyperplasmaemia, has sometimes been observed in :

Obstetrical complications : accidental haemorrhage, abortion, toxæmia of pregnancy, intrauterine foetal death, amnion fluid embolism.

Prostatic diseases ; cancer of prostate, prostatectomy. Cancer of the pancreas, cancer of the stomach ; liver cirrhosis. Myeloid leukemia, polycythemia and Boeck's sarcoid.

After thoracic surgery, especially with extracorporeal circulation ; and less commonly, after any major surgical operation. In connection with surgical shock.

Treatment with EPSIKAPRON may be indicated in certain haemorrhagic states with no abnormally increased fibrinolytic activity being proved in the blood, i.e. in some cases of menorrhagia and haematuria when the bleeding is severe.

Epsikapron is supplied as : • Granules 50%, • Bottle of 100 g, with dosage spoon • Syrup 0.2 g/ml. • Bottle of 250 ml. • Solution for injection, 0.1 g/ml. • Injection bottle of 50 ml.

An entirely new route, oral inhalation, enables ergotamine to provide the speed and predictability of relief expected only of injections. Yet Medihaler-Ergotamine is as simple to use and carry as a tablet. Attacks are aborted by a much smaller dose than is needed orally, with correspondingly less risk of side-effects. One to three inhalations ensure profound relief in most cases, at a cost of only 3d. to 9d. per treatment. Basic NHS prices are: complete unit 17/4, refill 15/-

ANNOUNCING HEINEMANN MONOGRAPHS

Gone are the halcyon days when one man could review the whole art of medicine; the scientific approach has ended this; but whether a doctor is a general practitioner in the Yorkshire Dales or an Oto-laryngologist in West Africa there will be certain fields in which he has a particular interest. Often opportunities are lacking to consult the pertinent literature which is, even in the best circumstances, an immense task. This series of monographs should go far to fill the gap. As the first titles show, they are intended to range over the whole of medicine and surgery, but in a highly selective manner. Written by experts in their own fields, these compact, authoritative books offer one of the best forms of communication in the growing edge of medicine.

The convalescent & Mackeson

Dark beers have long been regarded as a valuable aid in building up strength after illness.

Mackeson (or Mackeson Stout, as it was long called) has a high reputation in this tradition. The makers of Mackeson recognise that only the individual practitioner can decide when such a beer can most effectively be used. For the convenience of doctors, therefore, they set out below an analysis of its nutritional properties.

Mackeson differs from other dark beers in one important respect: it is more acceptable to invalids and convalescents because of its taste.

Instead of having the bitter taste usually associated with this type of beer, it is smooth, and mild in flavour.

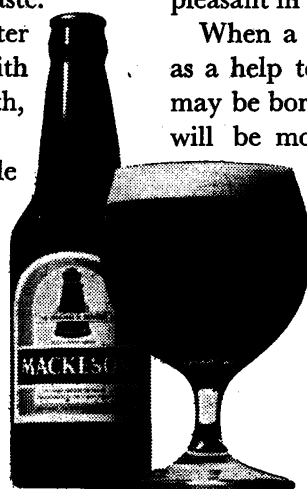

It provides an invaluable source of energy through its calorific value (276 calories per pint, essentially that of three-quarters of a pint of milk). Because its most important ingredient in this respect is Lactose Sugar, Mackeson is easily digested, quickly assimilated—by even a weakened digestive system.

Nitrogenous matter is also present, mainly as protein break-down products, e.g. peptides and amino acids. It also contains valuable water-soluble members of the B groups of vitamins.

In short, Mackeson is a drink rich in energising properties, and at the same time bland, non-bitter and pleasant in flavour.

When a dark beer is contemplated as a help to speedy convalescence, it may be borne in mind that Mackeson will be more acceptable to patients who find a slightly bitter drink not to their taste.

and for the management of a wide range of gynaecological disorders

Norlestrin* is the new Parke-Davis oral contraceptive approved by the Council for the Investigation of Fertility Control for use in Family Planning Association Clinics. Norlestrin is the product of more than six years continuous research. Extensive clinical trials in the U.K. and U.S.A. showed it to be wholly effective in preventing pregnancy when used as directed.

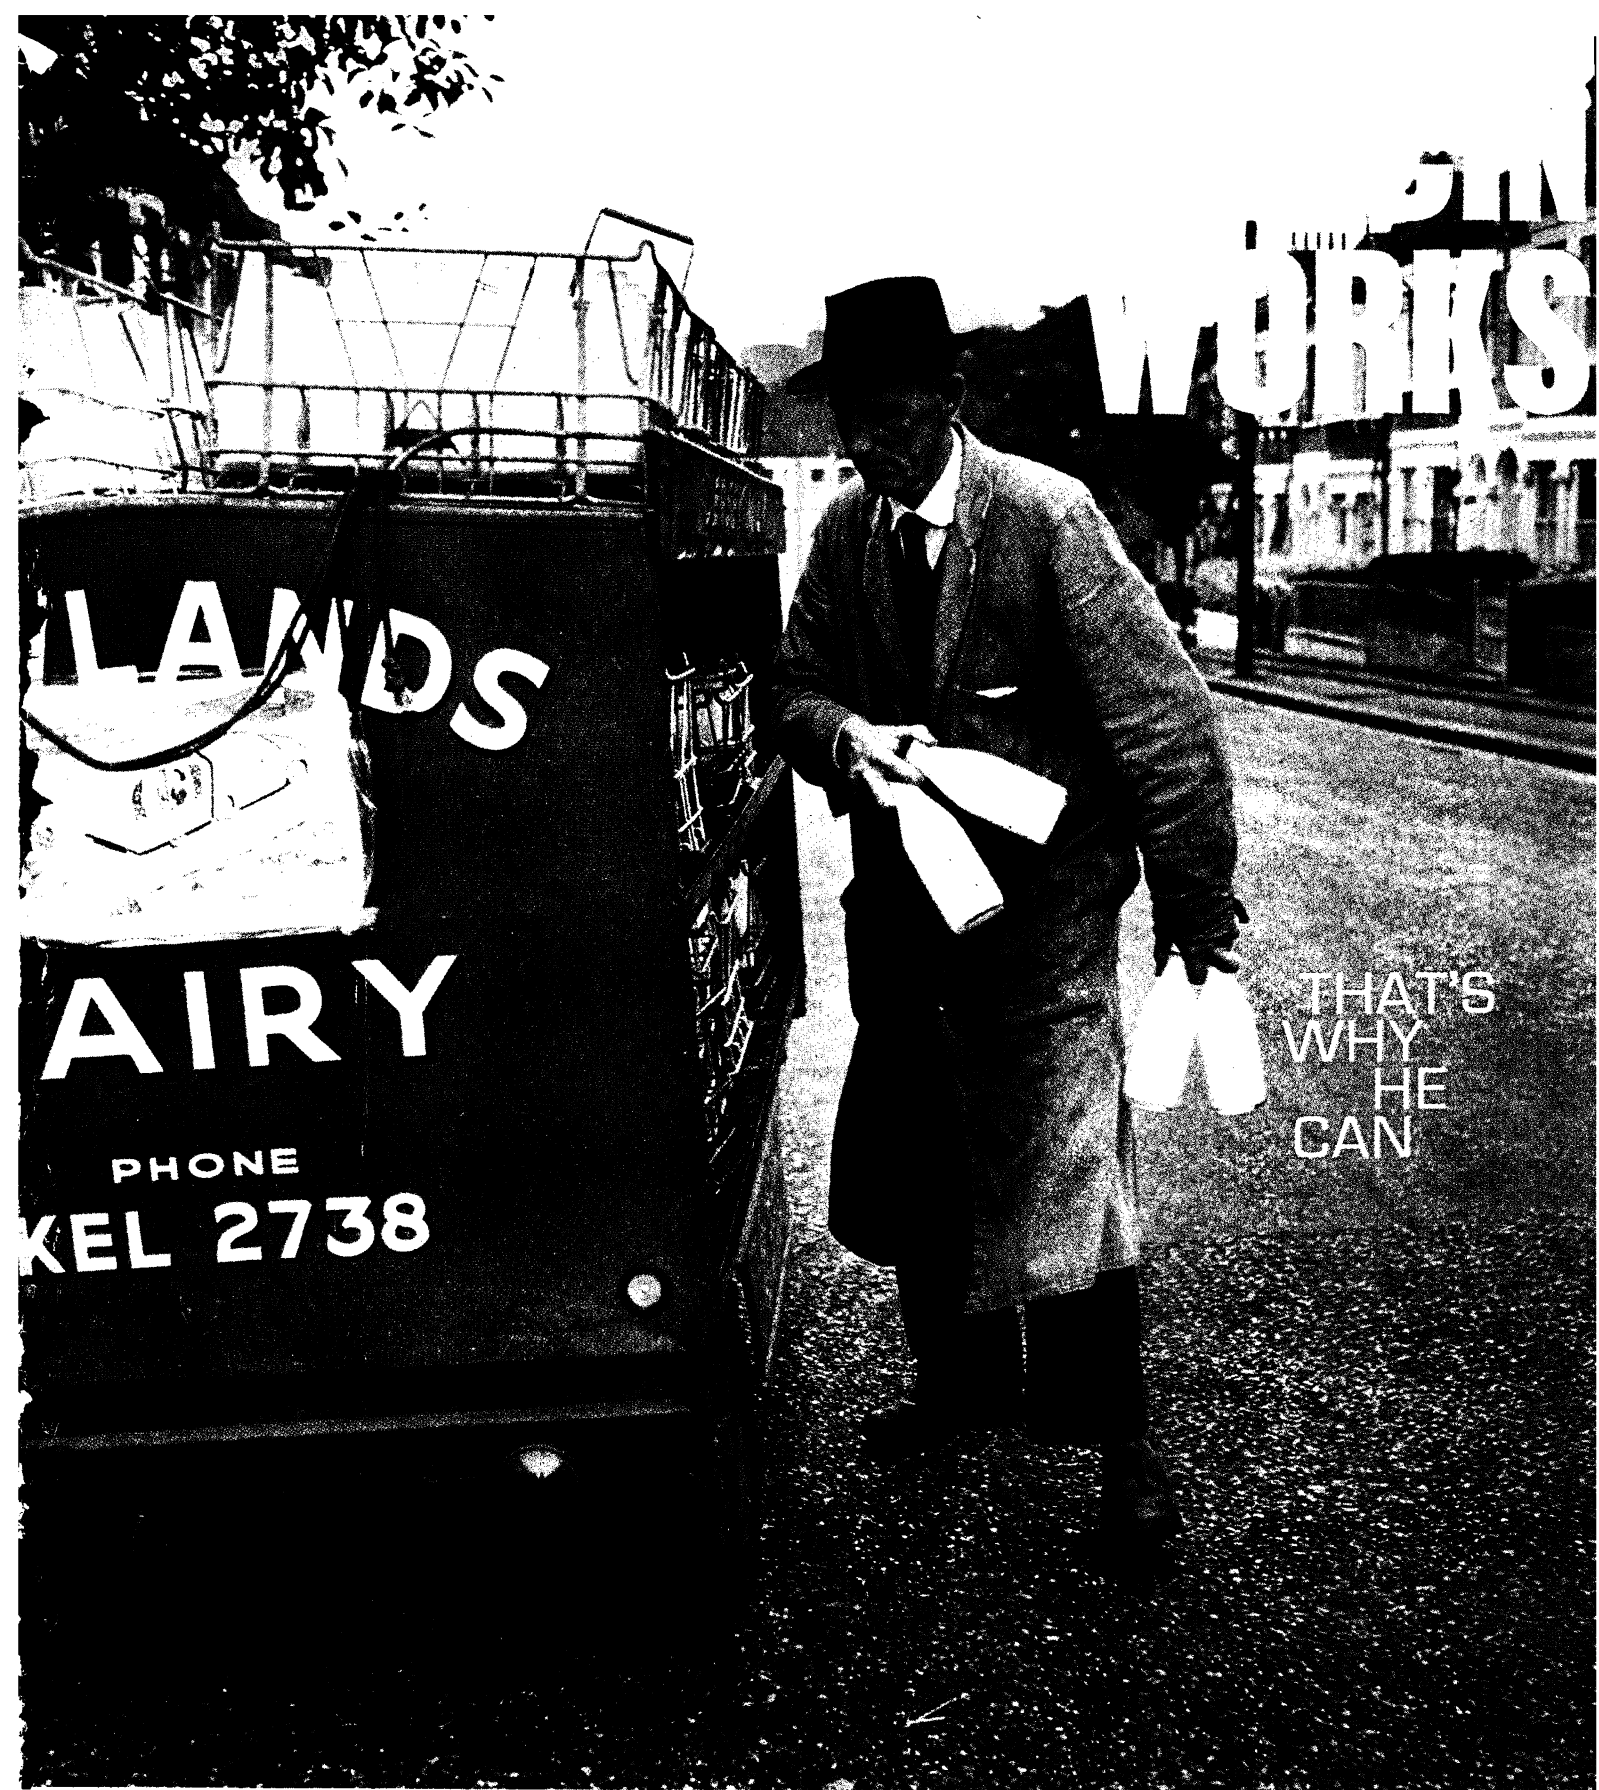

The small dose (2.5 mg.) of the potent progestational agent, norethisterone acetate with ethinyloestradiol (0.05 mg.), minimizes the incidence of breakthrough bleeding and other side effects.

STERI-STRIP • BLENDERM • MICROPORE • STERI-DRAPES • ASEPTEX MASKS

3M's aim, in providing these products, is to improve aseptic technique and patient comfort.

Each of these new products represents a genuine improvement over what was available before. Their construction incorporates unique techniques developed through continual research since 3M first invented pressure sensitive tapes. Future advertisements in this journal will be devoted to explaining in detail the advantages of:

STERI-STRIP Skin Closures

Surgery without stitches! Chemically inert surgical tape eliminates stitch removal (and patients' fear), and only leaves a faint hairline scar.

BLENDERM Surgical Tape

Transparent, occlusive surgical tape for controlled pressure dressings. Stretches and flexes easily—waterproof—no adhesive residue when tape is removed.

MICROPORE Surgical Tape

Surgical tape adheres easily—removes painlessly. Inert adhesive won't trap hair, or ooze into follicles. Highly porous, skin functions normally beneath dressings. Lightweight—easy to handle.

STERI-DRAPE Surgical Drapes

Impermeable, transparent, self-adhesive surgical drapes. Chemically inert adhesive. Drapes treated to prevent electrostatic build-up. Packed in individual sterile envelopes. Positively seals off the operative site—right to the incision if required. Towel-clips unnecessary!

ASEPTEX Surgical Mask

New stabilised porosity fabric reduces passage of bacteria. Contour shape provides larger filtration area—prevents mask from touching mouth or nostrils. Reduces fogging of glasses. Provides unobstructed field of vision. Lightweight. Disposable, but can be autoclaved 3 or 4 times if desired.

A major new antihypertensive agent from Abbott

Eutonyl* is an important new drug for the treatment of moderate to severe essential hypertension. Most hypertensive patients respond to Eutonyl therapy with a reduction of both systolic and diastolic blood pressures in the standing position, and many also experience significant reductions in other positions.

Many hypertensive patients have been impressed by an improved sense of well-being; and while the use of Eutonyl in the treatment of depression is still being evaluated, in this respect alone it offers a useful advance over other antihypertensive agents.

Eutonyl is a unique non-hydrazine chemical substance with monoamine oxidase inhibiting properties. Extensive laboratory and clinical studies have so far shown no serious toxicities, though suitable precautions should be observed as with all new drugs. The side effects of Eutonyl therapy are relatively infrequent and mild if dosage is adjusted to prevent orthostatic hypotension. The combination of a thiazide diuretic such as Enduron* (methyclothiazide, Abbott) with a reduced dosage of Eutonyl further reduces side effects and also enhances the anti-hypertensive response in the sitting and lying positions.

Eutonyl is supplied in two strengths as Eutonyl (25 mg pargyline hydrochloride) and Eutonyl-Ten (10 mg pargyline hydrochloride) Filmtabs*, in bottles of 100.

Comprehensive literature is available on all aspects of this important new agent: dosage, side effects, precautions and the wide measure of agreement on its clinical efficacy even in the most difficult cases.

Regd. Trade Mark

Synadrin is chemically unrelated to any known treatment for coronary disease. Its activity has been demonstrated in animal experiments<sup>11-17</sup> and it has been tested in over 1,000 patients.<sup>1-10</sup> Results of trials so far reported have been promising and Synadrin has been described as "an effective drug for treating angina pectoris."<sup>11</sup>

Effective and safe Synadrin has been shown to reduce the frequency of anginal attacks. It is particularly successful in patients with coronary ischaemia with or without previous infarction. It produces prolonged improvement of the coronary blood supply, and consistent treatment over a period of weeks produces the best results. Synadrin is well tolerated and its safety has been shown by use in more than 1,000 patients over the last two years.

Dosage Treatment may be initiated with 2 tablets, three times daily, reducing after three days to a maintenance dosage of 1 tablet two or three times daily.

Presentation Synadrin is presented as tablets, each containing 15 mg. of prenylamine lactate in bottles of 30 and 150 at basic NHS prices of 8/8d. and 34/8d. (subject to P.T.).

Betamethasone in General Practice

Betnelan (betamethasone) is particularly well suited for low or 'physiological' dose therapy of rheumatoid arthritis. It has high anti-rheumatic activity, but shows improved gastro-intestinal tolerance, has virtually no effect on electrolyte balance, and has no depressive action on mental function. A further development with betamethasone has been the introduction of Betnesol Tablets. They dissolve spontaneously in water to form a palatable, tinted, clear solution, offering rapid and consistent absorption. Betnesol is well tolerated because no solid steroid reaches the stomach. It is the most acceptable and advanced form of oral corticosteroid therapy that you can give your patients.

QUESTIONS, PLEASE?

Menstrual protection and comfort

Q Many patients ask about Tampax because they feel it would be more convenient to use than a perineal pad. From the standpoints of comfort, convenience and efficiency can Tampax be recommended?

A Yes, definitely. Tampax comes in a disposable container-applicator which, if properly used, ensures that the tampon will be inserted as it should be—above the sphincter muscles. This area of the vagina is virtually insensitive so the user is literally unaware of the presence of Tampax.<sup>1</sup> Absence of the restrictive, binding harness of straps and pins that is required with the use of the perineal pad adds greatly to the convenience, comfort and peace of mind of the Tampax user. Many leading research workers have reported that most patients preferred tampons over perineal pads because of the great comfort they afford.<sup>2-4</sup>

Tampax is efficient because of the principle on which it is based. A woman doctor says, "tampons are far more efficient (than sanitary towels); partly because they are applied nearer the source, partly because the material of which they are made seems to be more absorbent".<sup>5</sup>

A Tampax tampon and its container-applicator can be flushed away in standard toilet facilities without difficulty.

Tampax is available in Regular and Super absorbencies.

Life is made up of disappointments and, judging by reports from travel agencies, a lot of people are all too aware that this old saying is true. Many tours and cruises during the more popular months for the more popular resorts are already fully booked, and quite a number of people are sorry they ever heard of the word "mañana" and wish they had come to a decision "aujourd'hui".

The temptation to browse over brochures about Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Poland, Jamaica or the West Indies, must be firmly resisted if you know your range will only permit the packaged tour of two or three weeks on the Costa Brava or Capri.

This need of speedy decisions really shows up the advantages of taking your car abroad with you. Ferry services have been considerably increased by additional and faster schedules, and the distance one can travel now on a car-sleeper train is amazing. There are many advantages to independent travel, but possibly the greatest is the ability to be able to choose mid-week dates for the ferries and trains, and thus avoid the hurly-burly of seaports, airports, and railway stations at the end of the week.

If you do decide to motor to Spain, the French or Italian Rivas, or anywhere on the Continent for that matter, it is a very good idea to plan a break of a few days en route. After a busy, trying, and often frustrating year battling with forms—human and/or N.H.S.—a long drive of hundreds of miles in a car, full of family, is not the best way of getting into the holiday spirit in mind or body. A few days in a spa such as Mont Dore in the centre of France, or any of the dozens in Germany, can offer just the healthy relaxation you require, and then once you have "unwound" you will be in a much better condition to enjoy the remainder of your holiday.

MEMBER A.B.T.A.

If you prefer holidays to be arranged for you there are a number available that offer that little difference to make them so much more exciting and unusual—tours and cruises to Greece, Sicily, Syria, Kashmir, the Black Sea, or the Danube.

Spain, France and Italy will be as popular as ever for those whose interests lie—as they themselves like to—in sun-bathing and the happy carefree way of life of the resorts in these countries.

Cruising on the new luxury liners has regained its attraction, and the number of cruises now offered enable you to choose one that can offer you a Continental atmosphere and the appropriate food, if that is your wish. The Italian, French, German and Greek lines are all desirous of your company, and their menus are in keeping with their nationalities although, of course, they always cater for the truly British taste as well. Normally one of the pleasures of cruising is the attention paid to really extensive menus, but this year there are some excellent itineraries by one company who suggest you should cruise and diet—with medical and auxiliary services available for slimming—which seems a good idea, preferably for your wife!

DRUGS in the TREATMENT of DISEASE

An authoritative guide to the use and comparative efficacy of many drugs developed in recent years. It assists the practising doctor to compare the newer drugs with each other and with those older remedies that are still the best of their kind. Information is also given regarding toxic and side effects.

Compiled from the series of articles published in the British Medical Journal, the book presents an up-to-date, indexed, authority on medicinal treatment—of considerable help to the doctor in choosing the best drug for his patient.

WHAT IT'S LIKE TO BE AN ARMY DOCTOR

Extracts from an article by Major K.N. Murray, RAMC

WHEN SERVING WITH THE BRITISH ARMY OF THE RHINE

If a soldier knows that no matter where he may be posted on duty, his wife and children will soon join him, or indeed travel with him, he is a happy man. The British, however, have an inborn distrust of 'natives,' be they Germans, Indians, Malaysians or Chinese, so that it can be a great source of confidence to a travelling family to know that anywhere in the world they will have the backing of typical British services, not least of all doctors, nurses and hospitals.

A TYPICAL DAY

My day began with what has long been termed the sick parade. This is, in fact, not a parade of any kind, but a normal surgery, in this case at 8.30 in the morning with the patients all men. The soldiers sit comfortably in the waiting room, reading magazines, until the sign goes on and it is their turn to see the doctor in the privacy of his consulting room.

Following this, there were usually three or four men to see each day for brief general medical examinations. In this way, the overall health of a regiment is under constant review, and men are given a chance to live the type of Army life for which they are most physically suited. The Army institution of injections still exists; but, after all, the modern soldier may travel anywhere in the world at very short notice, and it is greatly to the benefit of him and his family, that we should be able to give them protection against so many diseases which used to be fearful scourges.

Half an hour on one or two mornings a week are often set aside for this, when the protection of a few men would be brought up to date and so, in this way, the whole regiment is kept as immune as possible to disease. As in all good professions, there was then a suitable break for coffee and biscuits.

The rest of my morning was then normally taken up with calls to visit families in their quarters. All the normal childhood ailments were there in abundance, and with a close-living community there were seasons of spots. While there is nothing like the same proportion of old people, who tend to take up so much of a civilian doctor's time in Britain, families often have older friends or parents staying with them on holiday, who present the doctor with a medical surprise in the way of a complicated or interesting diagnosis.

With the visits finished, I could then have a peaceful hour and a half at home for lunch with my wife and children, though it wasn't unheard of for the phone to go in the middle of it and to be told, 'come quick, Trooper Jones has dropped a tank on his fingers.' But this is a doctor's lot, or privilege, in all walks of life, and I soon became quite an expert at the minor surgery of everyday cuts and bruises.

FAMILY CLINICS

Four afternoons a week I had a family clinic in the Medical Centre from two to four o'clock. For this we had a separate consulting room and waiting room for families only. Assisting at those clinics were a SSAFA sister, who is a combination of sister, midwife and health visitor, and a German qualified sister.

One of those afternoon clinics was usually set aside for babies only, and in this it was rather I who assisted the SSAFA sister, and a vast number of infants were duly weighed and filled up with their triple antigens, polio inoculations and vaccinations, according to age.

This particular clinic always seems to be the greatest attraction abroad, and the mothers find a great moral boost in Sister's encouraging words as the infants go off until next time. One morning each week a gynaecologist visited the Medical Centre from the nearby Military Hospital to hold an ante-natal clinic, where an expert eye was kept on the well-being of all expectant mothers.

The tie-up with the Army Hospital Services is indeed close in all aspects. The hospitals have staffs of physicians and gynaecologists, specialists in skin diseases, eyes and ENT, and even psychiatrists, all RAMC personnel. When I wished to make a specialist appointment for a patient, a letter quickly arranged it, and when the day came around, the journey to hospital was made free by army car or bus.

Drugs, too, are free. Each medical centre contains a completely stocked dispensary—the old joke of the number 9 is dead now; in fact, I've never been quite sure what it was. The doctor has available the drugs of his choice, and presentation of his prescriptions to the dispensary brings them to the patient free of charge.

ARMY LIFE ABROAD

Beyond my medical duties, I have found great attraction in the Army life out here. In any unit or regiment, the doctor is a valued and honoured citizen and attempts are always made to keep him a happy one. Most important is a good house and garden to live in, and I may say that never in civilian life could I hope to live in a house so good and so well equipped as that provided for me by the Army. You may gather I like it, both the work and the play. I like to travel abroad, not just to see a place, but to live there and find out what it is really like.

If you wish to know more about service as an Army Doctor, a booklet, 'A Career for Doctors in the RAMC,' may be obtained from the Director-General, Army Medical Services, The War Office, (HNR/35/D), London S.W.1. Tel: GRO 8040, Ext. 602. Or you may care to come in and discuss your particular case with us personally; if so, please write or telephone for an appointment.

SERVICES*A PRACTICE AS WIDE AS THE WORLD

In the Medical Branch of the Royal Air Force you gain wide clinical experience. You travel the world and among the subjects with which you will become familiar are tropical medicine, rescue operations, the care of airborne patients and medicine in relation to flying. You will also be expected to contribute to research.

As Medical Officer on a Royal Air Force Station you have a vigorous general practice among the officers, men and their families. You enjoy complete clinical freedom in charge of sick quarters with your own beds, and you will be assisted by a well-trained nursing and clerical staff. You and your family can live comfortably and near your surgery.

Your salary and career prospects are good: as a married man drawing full allowances you could receive £2000 per year on entry. If you have post-graduate civilian experience you could be granted up to seven years back-dated seniority. Pensionable career commissions or short service engagements entitling you to a generous tax-free gratuity on completion are still available to the right applicants.

GRADUATES AND MEDICAL STUDENTS

If you are a pre-registration year graduate or a senior medical student you may apply for a commissioned cadetship. This will enable you to finish your pre-registration house jobs or medical training as an officer in the R.A.F. drawing full pay and certain allowances. On completion you will serve on a long or short service engagement in the Medical Branch of the Service.

For details of entry to the Royal Air Force as a registered doctor, a graduate or a medical student, write to the Director-General of Medical Services, Air Ministry (M.A.I.), (HN 53X), 1 Tavistock Square, London, WC1.

PSYCHIATRIC TRAINING IN THE UNITED STATES

A full three years training programme in comprehensive psychiatry is available in a University Department of Psychiatry to qualified British graduates. Applicants must have finished their pre-registration training in the United Kingdom and be medical graduates of at least one year's standing. They must hold the E.C.F.M.G. certificate.

Training is fully approved by the American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology and prepares physicians for the D.P.N. examinations, if wished. British graduates may come on a student status or with a permanent immigrant's visa. Opportunities for trained psychiatrists are many and varied in this region, and British graduates find themselves very well accepted.

The training programme begins with a one-year assignment in an acute treatment centre, and some experience with chronic psychiatric patients. The second year of training includes neurology, working with clinic outpatients, experience in child psychiatry, and with consultation on other hospital services. Such training is continued during the third year, which also includes an elective period of time which may be spent on one of several areas, including research. The department is developing a new programme in social and community psychiatry and is also expanding in the areas of child psychiatry and psychiatric research. Fourth and fifth years of training are available for those who wish to go on to psychiatric sub-specialties or research. The three year programme prepares the physician to enter one or more types of psychiatric work such as private practice, hospital psychiatry, clinic psychiatry, teaching, community psychiatry, research, etc.

Training takes place in the stimulating environment of a large department of psychiatry with over twenty full-time psychiatrists and over ten full-time psychologists. Many of the psychiatrists are psychoanalytically trained but the programme is comprehensive and includes somatic therapies, psychopharmacology, sociology, psychology, genetics, neuroanatomy, neurophysiology, neurology, etc.

The salary (now under revision) in the first year will be a minimum of $3,670, with increases for the second and third years. Vacancies exist for July 1, 1964, also at other times in the future. Although applicants for the full three-year programme are preferred, consideration will be given to physicians with one or two years' training in psychiatry elsewhere. Assistance with a loan for transportation expenses can be negotiated where required.

Write for further details and at the same time contact your nearest American Embassy if you are seriously interested in applying for 1964, as obtaining a visa takes some time. Feel free to send a resume of professional experience at the time of first writing. Address inquiries to Professor John A. Ewing, M.D.(Edin.), D.P.M.(Lond.), Department of Psychiatry, School of Medicine, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, N.C., U.S.A. (5213)

Applications are invited for a Biochemist to join a team of biologists, in the Department of Anatomy, investigating cellular and subcellular effects of high pressure oxygen on organs in culture. The person appointed would be particularly concerned with research on the adrenal gland.

Experience in steroid assay as well as general biochemical procedures is desirable and preference will be given to applicants with a Ph.D. in this field. Applicants should possess at least an Honours B.Sc. in biochemistry or if medically qualified should have had extensive biochemical experience. For non-doctoral applicants the work in hand would provide ample material for a higher degree.

The work is supported by the Medical Research Council.

Salary £1,000 to £1,690 per year depending on age, qualifications and research experience.

Applications, containing the names of three referees, to be lodged not later than April 30, 1964, with the Secretary of the University, Queen's College, Dundee. (6019)
