Volumes 3 & 4: TOPICAL ASPECTS

Forthcoming Price per two vols. £12 12s.

For this important new work, Professor Sorsby has recruited a team of expert contributors from many countries. The whole field of ophthalmology is presented in four up-to-date and well-planned volumes.

The first volume deals with the basic sciences and includes material on the aetiology of eye diseases and on pharmacological aspects. The second, based on the editor's well-known Systemic Ophthalmology, considers the recognized general diseases which underlie certain eye disorders. The third and fourth volumes are devoted to topical aspects, and emphasis is placed on aetiological considerations. Sections are included on maldevelopmental defects, tumours, injuries, infections, diseases of multiple or indefinite origin, and functional anomalies of the eye. Finally, there are chapters on disorders of the adnexa and specialized forms of treatment, including surgical procedures.

All ophthalmologists will find Modern Ophthalmology an indispensable work of reference.

and Sir Thomas Holmes Sellors, M.A., D.M., M.Ch. (Oxon.), F.R.C.P. (Lond.), F.R.C.S. (Eng.)

In two volumes

1301 pages 417 illustrations £12 12s. per set

This two-volume work covers the field of chest disease both from the medical and from the surgical approaches. It is authoritative and comprehensive, and is fully documented with a bibliography on all aspects of chest disease.

The first volume deals with general subjects and disorders of the chest wall, diaphragm, mediastinum, oesophagus and the pleura, while the second volume is entirely concerned with diseases of the lungs. A clinical approach is used, and the practising physician and surgeon, the student and research worker will find reference to recent work on all aspects of chest disease. There is a full review of occupational lung disease which will be of particular value to industrial medical officers.

Chest Diseases is the most complete and up-to-date work on the subject, and it is sure to become a standard text.

for the most modern hospitals—
the most modern beds

Specially designed to eliminate manual effort these "Marsden" P.D. 701 motorised beds have already proved to be a great asset to both staff and patients.

Small, quiet-running electric motors operate all movements by press-button control. Mattress height can be raised between 18 and 26 inches from the floor; the head and foot can be raised independently to give up to 13 degrees inclination; the back-rest position is obtained by the raising of a hinged section of the mattress platform which glides back as the back-rest rises so that the patient is always within easy reach of the bed-side cabinet. Remote control for patient's use is provided and can be cut out by a master switch. Sockets for transfusion pole, lifting pole, and bedside light are incorporated; cot-sides, designed to be raised, lowered or removed easily and quickly, can be attached by a locking mechanism. Specially designed adjustable-height over-bed tables also available.

Evered also manufacture a range of beds called "Manulift" which, as the name implies, are operated by hand. May we send you details?

EPSIKAPRON

for the treatment of fibrinolytic
bleeding conditions

Indications

Obstetrical complications : accidental haemorrhage, abortion, toxæmia of pregnancy, intrauterine foetal death, amnion fluid embolism.

Prostatic diseases ; cancer of prostate, prostatectomy. Cancer of the pancreas, cancer of the stomach ; liver cirrhosis. Myeloid leukemia, polycythaemia and Boeck's sarcoid.

After thoracic surgery, especially with extracorporeal circulation ; and less commonly, after any major surgical operation. In connection with surgical shock.

Treatment with EPSIKAPRON may be indicated in certain haemorrhagic states with no abnormally increased fibrinolytic activity being proved in the blood, i.e. in some cases of menorrhagia and haematuria when the bleeding is severe.

Epsikpron is supplied as : • Granules 50%, • Bottle of 100 g. with dosage spoon • Syrup 0.2 g/ml. • Bottle of 250 ml. • Solution for injection, 0.1 g/ml. • Injection bottle of 50 ml.

Betamethasone in General Practice

Betnelan (betamethasone) is particularly well suited for low or 'physiological' dose therapy of rheumatoid arthritis. It has high anti-rheumatic activity, but shows improved gastro-intestinal tolerance, has virtually no effect on electrolyte balance, and has no depressive action on mental function. A further development with betamethasone has been the introduction of Betnesol Tablets. They dissolve spontaneously in water to form a palatable, tinted, clear solution, offering rapid and consistent absorption. Betnesol is well tolerated because no solid steroid reaches the stomach. It is the most acceptable and advanced form of oral corticosteroid therapy that you can give your patients.

Psoriasis

Clinical tests confirm Alphosyl's effectiveness

Accumulating evidence increasingly underlines Alphosyl's effectiveness in cases of psoriasis, even in those that have proved intractable to other forms of treatment. Its success is attested by the fact that after only 2 years Alphosyl Lotion became the leading branded preparation for psoriasis in this country.

New Alphosyl Cream Following the success of Alphosyl Lotion, this coal-tar and allantoin combination is now available in Britain as a lubricating cream. The cream base has proved a particularly effective vehicle for Alphosyl as it incorporates a combination of free fatty acids (saturated and unsaturated) naturally occurring in triglycerides, sterols and esters to give the lipid phase of the base a significant resemblance to the lipid array of normal human skin¹.

Clinical Trials The table below gives the results of four different clinical trials which show the effectiveness of Alphosyl in lotion and in cream form.

No. of patients	100% cleared	75%-99% improved	50%-74% improved	25%-49% improved	No improvement
62 ³	29	26	7	0	0
50 ⁴	11	16	17	6	0
96 ²	44	29	15	0	8

Why Alphosyl is so effective In Alphosyl, allantoin and a specially refined coal-tar extract were combined for the first time. Allantoin has been found to be particularly effective in loosening psoriatic scales⁵, while the keratoplastic effect of coal-tar is well known⁶. Alphosyl is non-greasy and non-staining and vanishes on application. It is notably safe, ^{5,4} being free from the risks which are found in other forms of treatment such as arsenicals, mercury, corticosteroids, x-ray, etc. It certainly deserves a trial in all cases of psoriasis.

Alphosyl Lotion formula—special coal-tar extract 5% + allantoin 2% in a smooth, non-greasy lotion base.

Alphosyl Cream formula—allantoin 2% + 90% alcoholic extract of coal-tar (5=1) 5% in a vanishing cream type base.

SIDROS — a new name in Iron Therapy

duces a highly satisfactory clinical response and is very well tolerated. Sidros also contains ascorbic acid, which is known to aid the absorption of iron. The importance of simplicity in the treatment of diabetes

The diabetic is submitted to a life-time of medication to control his condition.

In few other conditions is simplicity and ease of administration so important.

The introduction of the sulphonylureas eight years ago relieved one group of diabetics from the burden of daily injections. The extensive use of Rastinon in oral antidiabetic therapy for over two million patients has shown that it is not only one of the safest drugs available, but also one of the most effective in controlling diabetes when the condition is first discovered at middle age. Rastinon is the standard oral treatment of diabetes, and it is remarkable for its safety, simplicity, economy and effectiveness.

Just ask anybody south of, say, Naples, and they'll tell you that it's a wise precaution.[†] The Evil Eye may not be a major problem among your patients, but chronic bronchitis surely is. Of course, it can be treated with ordinary tetracycline, but always with the attendant risk of fungal overgrowth with such commonly occurring symptoms as sore mouth, thrush, diarrhoea and pruritus ani due to Candida albicans. For this reason 'it is a wise precaution to administer an antifungal compound with the broad-spectrum antibiotic.'* Costing no more than the ordinary tetracycline and much less than oxytetracycline MYSTECLIN provides this 'wise precaution'.

The Nutritional Properties of Bovril

Bovril is far more than a pleasantly-flavoured drink. Its unique mixture of meat extract, hydrolysed beef, whole lean beef, beef stock and yeast extract makes it a highly nutritious food from the point of view of vitamins and protein.

1. Vitamins of the B-complex. One cup of Bovril supplies 20% of the daily requirement of the normal adult for vitamin B₂ (riboflavin) and 20% of the nicotinic acid (vitamin PP).

2. Haematinic Factors. Of all the factors required for blood formation, only three are likely to be limited in the diet—iron, vitamin B₁₂ and folic acid. One cup of Bovril will supply 35% of the adult's daily requirement of vitamin B₁₂ (cyanocobalamin) and 20% of the folic acid.

3. Gastric Secretion. Bovril is a well-known stimulant of gastric secretion—even more powerful than meat extract itself. It is, therefore, particularly useful for elderly patients and convalescents.

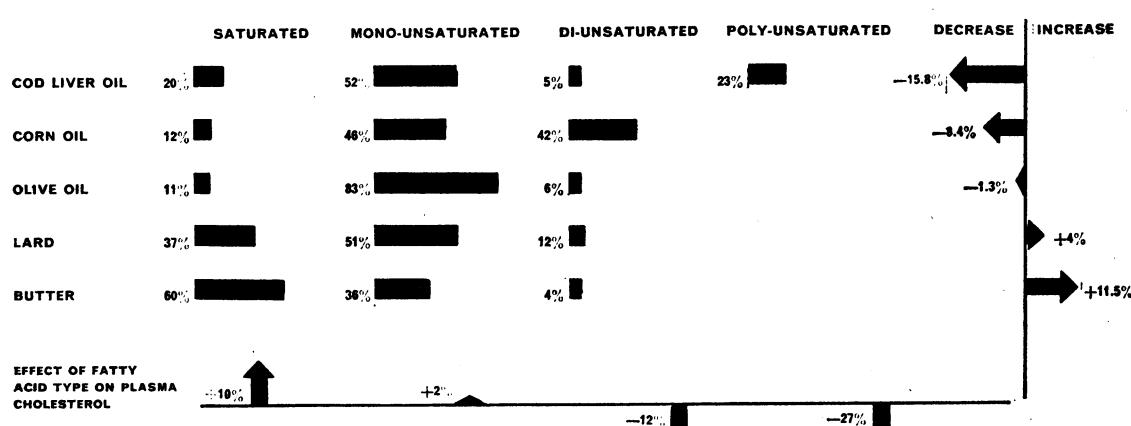

4. Appetite. A major factor in the rapid recovery from serious illness or major surgery is a good intake of protein foods. Poor appetite can delay recovery. Bovril is a great help in promoting good appetite while stimulating gastric secretion.

Every ounce of Bovril contains: 1.02 mg riboflavin, 6.8 mg niacin, 1.1 µg vitamin B₁₂, 68 µg folic acid.

CLO AND THE FIFTH COLUMN

FATTY ACID COMPOSITION OF OILS AND FATS

Data based on—
Lancet, 1956, I, 521.
Lancet, 1961, I, 739-741.

A relationship between raised plasma cholesterol levels and coronary heart disease seems to be accepted; though whether reducing such levels will prevent the disease is not yet established. When, however, the possibility of doing so is thought to provide sufficient reason for bringing down a particular patient's cholesterol level, the commonest means adopted is the prescribing of a diet high in unsaturated fatty acids.

In everyday terms this means substituting any one of a series of oils for ordinary dietary fat; and therefore the superiority of cod liver oil to all other oils—both in its content of polyunsaturated fatty acids, and in its ability to lower plasma cholesterol levels—becomes important. Its value in the latter respect is shown in the fifth column of the table. Two tablespoons of cod liver oil a day are sufficient to produce a marked reduction of plasma cholesterol. But the taste of cod liver oil?—The modern hermetically processed kind is almost tasteless; and in any case, our cod liver oil is also available in a mixable, mint-flavoured form and in capsules. And hypervitaminosis?—The short answer is that no unequivocal case of hypervitaminosis A or D due to cod liver oil has ever been reported.

ANTIBIOTICS AND THE INTESTINAL FLORA

Treatment with broad spectrum antibiotics suppresses the normal flora, which may be replaced by abnormal resistant organisms causing diarrhoea.

This change can be prevented or reversed by the implantation of Lactobacillus acidophilus which has been rendered antibiotic-resistant, and is thus able to multiply freely under these abnormal conditions. This organism itself forms an antibiotic which may contribute to its rapid preponderance over other species.^{1, 2}

Oral treatment with antibiotic-resistant L. acidophilus in the form of ENPAC has been shown to eliminate Candida from the faeces of infants with antibiotic-induced diarrhoea, with relief of symptoms succeeded by rapid gain in weight^{3, 4} and greatly to reduce the numbers of staphylococci in the faeces of patients treated with tetracyclines.⁵

in the R.A.M.C.

GOOD GENERAL PRACTICE

Professional standards in the Royal Army Medical Corps are high. The R.A.M.C. is responsible for the welfare not only of serving officers and men but also for many of their dependants; there is thus great scope for good general practice. An illustration of this is the fact that over 12,000 babies were born in military hospitals during, for example, 1961. There are thirty well-equipped hospitals at home and overseas, as well as field medical units to provide medical care for the Army in its active role.

Except in unusual circumstances, accommodation is provided. Well-equipped surgeries with medical assistants are provided, allowing you to do your best work, and devote more time to the care of your patients. Consultant opinion is available to you, and, as a general practitioner, you are welcome in the hospital to follow up your cases.

PAY, ALLOWANCES AND LEAVE

The range of pay varies from not less than £2,000 for the young married medical officer up to £5,000 for the senior consultant; and you will be offered employment up to the age of 65. Annual allowances of up to £185 for the first, up to £225 for the second, and up to £260 for the third and all subsequent children, may be granted to assist in the education of children who are sent to boarding schools in the United Kingdom. These allowances are untaxed when serving outside the United Kingdom.

Six weeks' leave is given each year, and you are not responsible for finding or paying your relief.

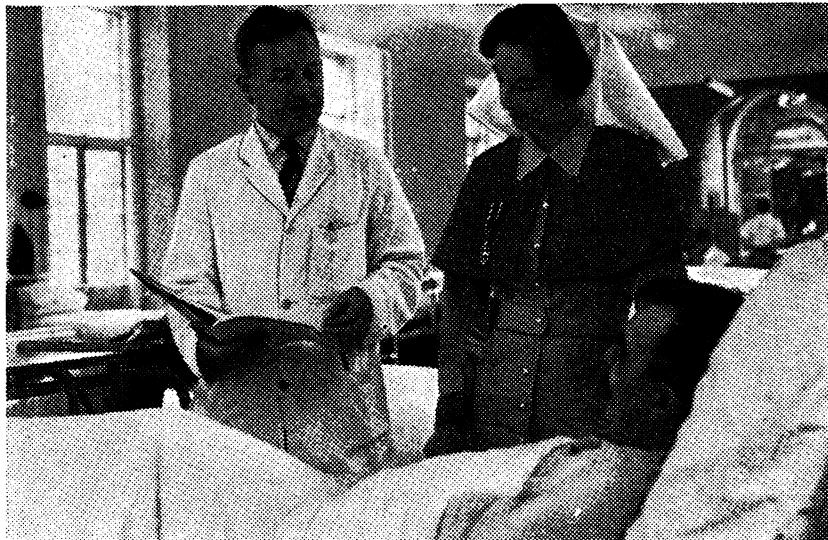

SPECIALISATION

Doctors granted permanent commissions may apply for training in any of fourteen specialities, and those selected are given ample time and opportunity for obtaining their higher qualifications. Senior specialists may be awarded consultant grading directly comparable with civilian standards. Extra pay for specialists ranges between £109 and £584 a year.

POST-GRADUATE STUDY AND RESEARCH

Great importance is attached to post-graduate study for permanent officers engaged in general practice, as well as specialists.

General practitioners are expected to take diplomas, such as D.C.H., D.Obst. R.C.O.G.,

An officer in the R.A.M.C. visits a patient, accompanied by a member of Queen Alexandra's Royal Army Nursing Corps.

and refresher courses are arranged for both specialists and general practitioners at the Royal Army Medical College and other post-graduate centres.

Research is an increasingly important aspect of the work of the R.A.M.C. Several officers are engaged either wholly or in part in clinical and physiological research, their work covering a wide range of subjects.

GENERAL CONDITIONS

Previous service in the Armed Forces counts for pay and promotion, and an antedate of up to seven years may be granted for civilian experience.

Short service commissions are for 3 to 5 years with terminal tax-free gratuities of £1,500 and £3,000 respectively. A short service commission can lead to a permanent commission. For permanent officers, there is an initial taxable grant of £1,500 and a terminal tax-free grant of three times the annual pension. The pension scheme is non-contributory. The upper age limit for permanent commissions is forty, and for short service commissions, fifty.

PRE-REGISTRATION COMMISSIONS

Medical graduates may be accepted for short service commissions of 3 or 5 years at any time before full registration.

Age limit is 32 years. Pre-registration appointments may be done in N.H.S. hospitals of choice, or in selected military hospitals. Board and accommodation are free, and salary is £876 for a married man; £1,065, if over 25 years. The short service commissions carry a terminal gratuity. In addition, a gratuity of £200 is payable in respect of the pre-registration year's service.

MEDICAL CADETSHIPS

A limited number of cadetships is open to male medical students who have passed their 2nd M.B. or equivalent examination. Tuition fees are paid from Army funds, and books and instruments are issued on loan. The age limit is 28 years: the salary for a single man is £930.

Service with the R.A.M.C. is for a minimum period of five years after full registration; this service carries a terminal gratuity. A booklet, 'A Career for Doctors in the Royal Army Medical Corps,' containing details of pay, gratuities, pensions and conditions of service, may be obtained from: The Director-General, Army Medical Services, The War Office, (HNR/36/G) (AMD 2B), London S.W.1, Tel: GRO 8040, Ext. 602, or you may care to come and discuss your application personally.

PSYCHIATRIC TRAINING IN THE UNITED STATES

A full three years' training programme in comprehensive psychiatry is available in a University Department of Psychiatry to qualified British graduates. Applicants must have finished their pre-registration year by the time they begin training, and be medical graduates of at least one year's standing. They must hold the E.C.F.M.G. certificate.

Training is fully approved by the American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology and prepares physicians for the D.P.M. examinations, if wished. British graduates may come on a student status or with a permanent immigrant's visa. Opportunities for trained psychiatrists are many and varied in this region, and British graduates find themselves well accepted.

The training programme begins with a one-year assignment in an acute treatment centre, and some experience with chronic psychiatric patients. The second year of training includes neurology, working with clinic outpatients, experience in child psychiatry, and with consultation on other hospital services. Such training is continued during the third year, which also includes an elective period of time which may be spent in one of several areas, including research. The department is developing a new programme in social and community psychiatry and is also expanding in the areas of child psychiatry and psychiatric research. Fourth and fifth years of training are available for those who wish to go on to psychiatric sub-specialties or research. The three year programme prepares the physician to enter one or more types of psychiatric work such as private practice, hospital psychiatry, clinic psychiatry, teaching, community psychiatry, research, etc.

Training takes place in the stimulating environment of a large department of psychiatry with over twenty full-time psychiatrists and over ten full-time psychologists. Many of the psychiatrists are psychoanalytically trained but the programme is comprehensive and includes somatic therapies, psychopharmacology, sociology, psychology, genetics, neuroanatomy, neurophysiology, neurology, etc.

The salary (now under revision) in the first year will be a minimum of $3,670 with increases for the second and third years. Vacancies exist for July 1, 1964, also at other times in the future. Although applicants for the full three-year programme are preferred, consideration will be given to physicians with one or two years' training in psychiatry elsewhere. Assistance with a loan for transportation expenses can be negotiated where required.

Write for further details and at the same time contact your nearest American Embassy if you are seriously interested in applying for 1964, as obtaining a visa takes some time. Feel free to send a résumé of professional experience at the time of first writing. Address inquiries to Professor John A.
