

a new antacid palatable effective economical

Alcin is a new antacid offering several important advantages. It provides safe and effective treatment of symptoms associated with gastric hyperacidity and peptic ulceration.

Palatability Having an absence of chalkiness and an agreeable flavour, Alcin is non-nauseating.

Buffering Activity Alcin not only rapidly neutralises excess acid, but at the same time its sustained buffering activity maintains the level of acidity of the gastric contents within the desired range.

Safety Alcin is safe for prolonged administration. There is no risk from overdosage as Alcin cannot cause either alkalosis or acid rebound.

No Digestive tract ill-effects Alcin has no known laxative or constipating effects.

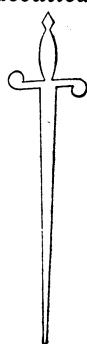

Economy Alcin is economical in use. The basic N.H.S. cost of 50 tablets is 1/9½d.

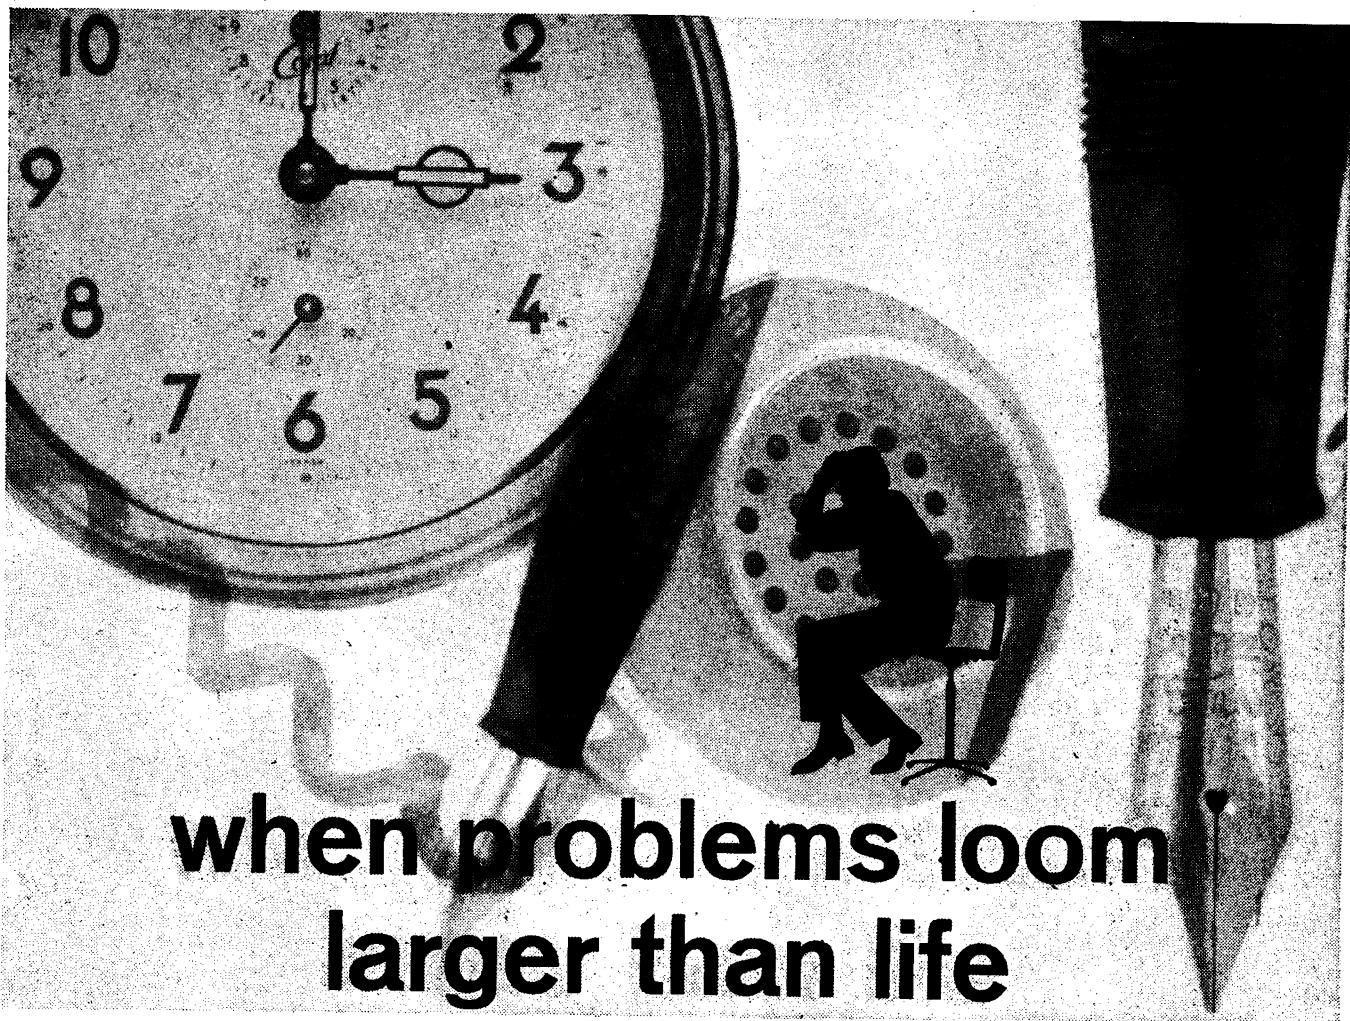

Composition: Each tablet contains 360 mg. anhydrous co-prepared sodium magnesium aluminium silicate and basic magnesium aluminate.

'Aventyl'^{*}

BRAND NORTRIPTYLINE

new wide spectrum mood enhancer lends wings to troubled minds

When the patient is overwhelmed by normal everyday stresses, 'Aventyl' often brings prompt relief. Even in the more serious behaviour disturbances—whether marked by depression or anxiety, or both—'Aventyl', with its unusually wide spectrum of action, broadens the doctor's power to relieve the troubled mind swiftly.

'Aventyl' has an inherent beneficial effect on anxiety and hostility—it is not a combination of an anti-depressant with a tranquillizer, but a single entity going beyond mere antidepressant action as such. Four out of five patients with symptoms referable to anxiety and depression (including psychosomatic disturbances) are likely to respond favourably to 'Aventyl', many of them within a week.

'Aventyl' is not a monoamine oxidase inhibitor.

Aldactone-A

brand of spironolactone

for the water-logged patient

Many patients with oedema and ascites fail to get a complete response to diuretic treatment. An important cause of this resistance is excessive secretion of aldosterone, a sodium-retaining adrenal steroid.

In these water-logged patients the early addition of Aldactone-A (a selective aldosterone antagonist) to the diuretic programme is a compelling therapeutic necessity.

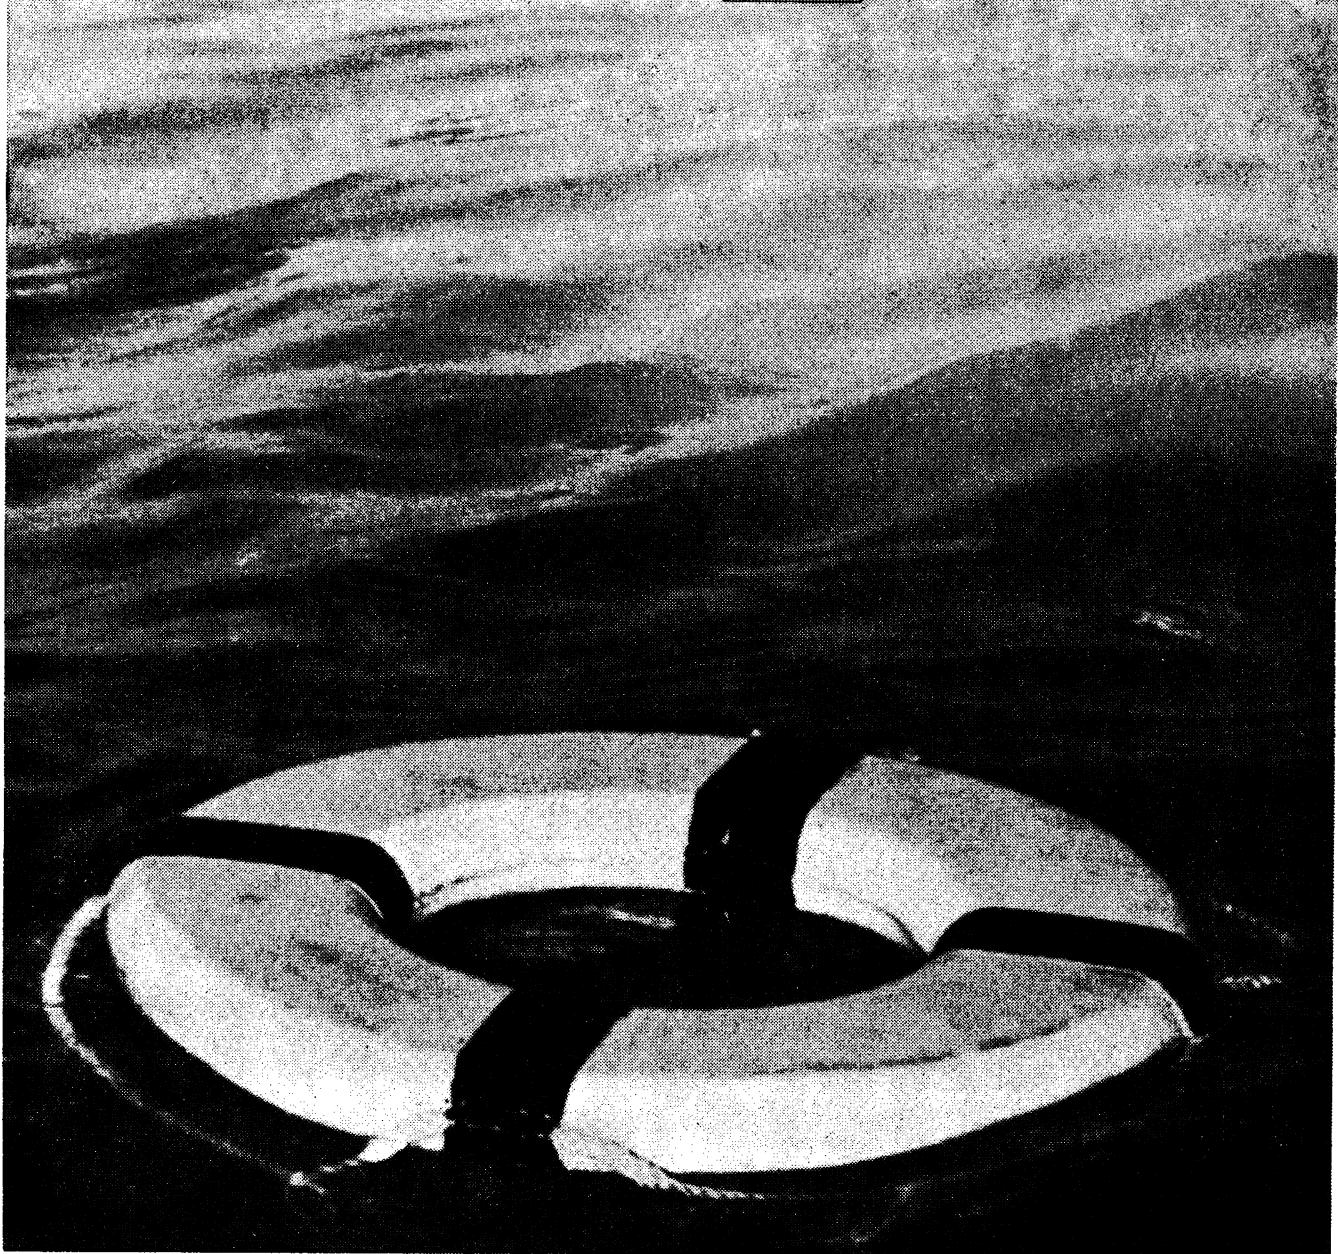

Aldactone-A acts as a booster to conventional diuretics, maintaining and enhancing their effect and enabling more complete diuresis to be achieved until 'dry weight' is regained. Aldactone-A also increases the safety of long-term diuretic therapy by minimizing potassium depletion. Finally, patients on Aldactone-A often feel better, function better, and may be permitted a more liberal diet.

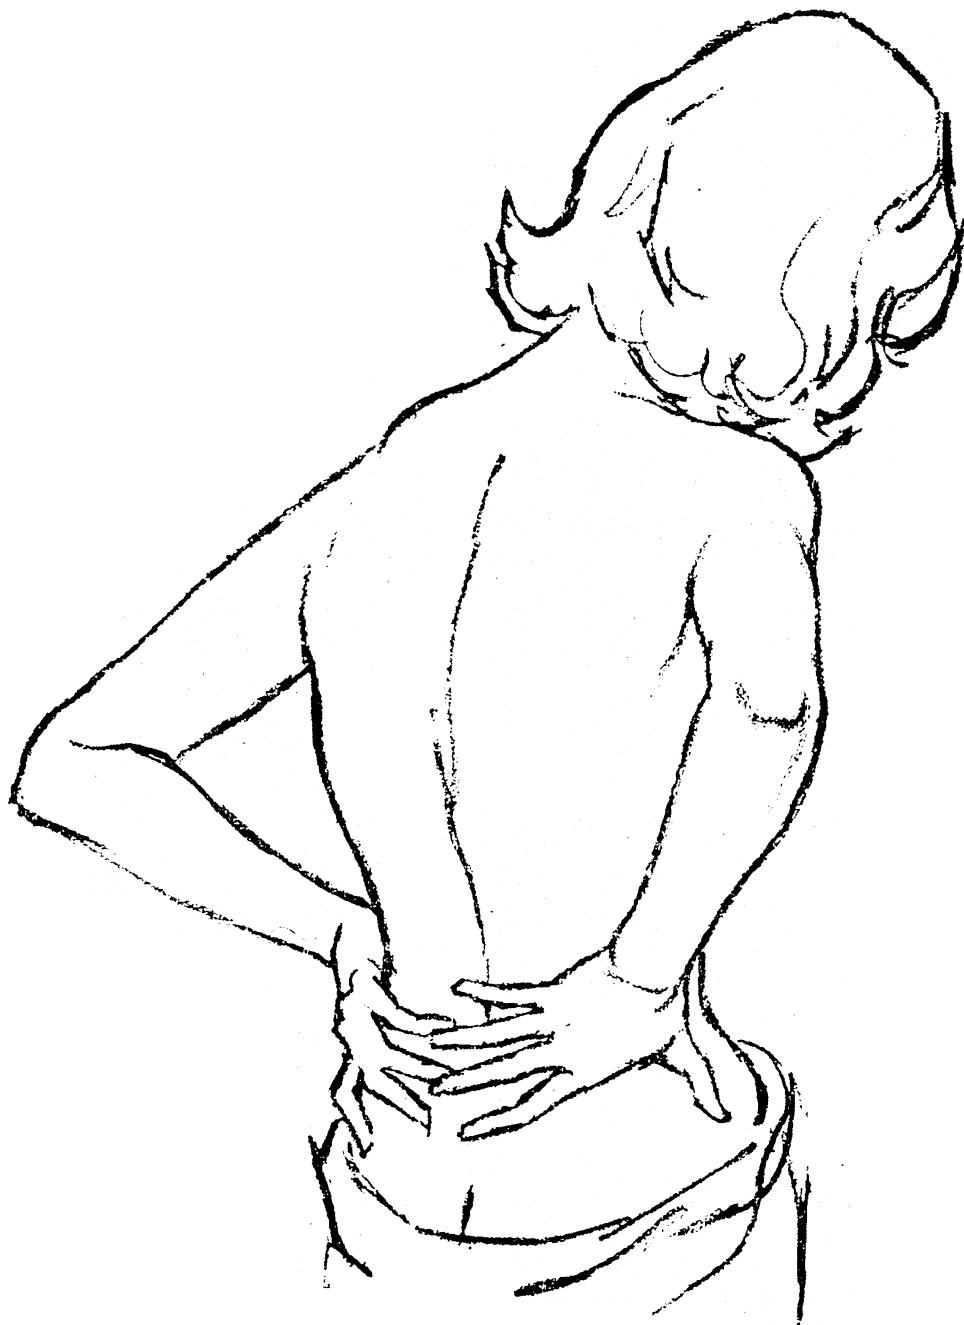

Available as 25 mg. tablets in bottles of 30, 100 and 500.

Thus it is able to break in on either phase of the pain-spasm cycle, giving prompt relief from both pain and stiffness. DOSAGE: Recommended adult dosage is one 350 mg. tablet 3 times daily. for the patient with angina pectoris

Synadrin is chemically unrelated to any known treatment for coronary disease. Its activity has been demonstrated in animal experiments¹¹⁻¹⁷ and it has been tested in over 1,000 patients.¹⁻¹⁰ Results of trials so far reported have been promising and Synadrin has been described as "an effective drug for treating angina pectoris."¹¹

Effective and safe Synadrin has been shown to reduce the frequency of anginal attacks. It is particularly successful in patients with coronary ischaemia with or without previous infarction. It produces prolonged improvement of the coronary blood supply, and consistent treatment over a period of weeks produces the best results. Synadrin is well tolerated and its safety has been shown by use in more than 1,000 patients over the last two years.

Dosage Treatment may be initiated with 2 tablets, three times daily, reducing after three days to a maintenance dosage of 1 tablet two or three times daily.

Presentation Synadrin is presented as tablets, each containing 15 mg. of prenylamine lactate in bottles of 30 and 150 at basic NHS prices of 8/8d. and 34/8d. (subject to P.T.).

Synadrin is known in some other countries as Segontin.

When you see an infection consider ERYTHROCIN® first

Erythrocin (erythromycin, Abbott) merits the physician's first consideration for the treatment of infections of the upper respiratory tract—and of other infections, for 80 per cent of cases of infection seen in the surgery can be expected to respond to adequate dosage of Erythrocin.

ERYTHROCIN IS EFFECTIVE

All the bacterial species that are at all commonly met in upper respiratory infections—staphylococci, streptococci, pneumococci and haemophilus—are sensitive to this important general-purpose antibiotic. Resistant strains, even amongst the staphylococci, are exceptional. The bacterial spectrum of Erythrocin includes most of the common pathogens, excludes most of the normal commensals.

ERYTHROCIN IS SAFE

Erythrocin is the least toxic of all the commonly used antibiotics. All other antibiotics have occasional serious toxicities; but more than ten years' clinical use has gone to show that such possibilities are negligible with Erythrocin.

ERYTHROCIN IS ECONOMICAL

If economy is regarded as a function of cost and performance, Erythrocin stands out as one of the most economical of antibiotics.

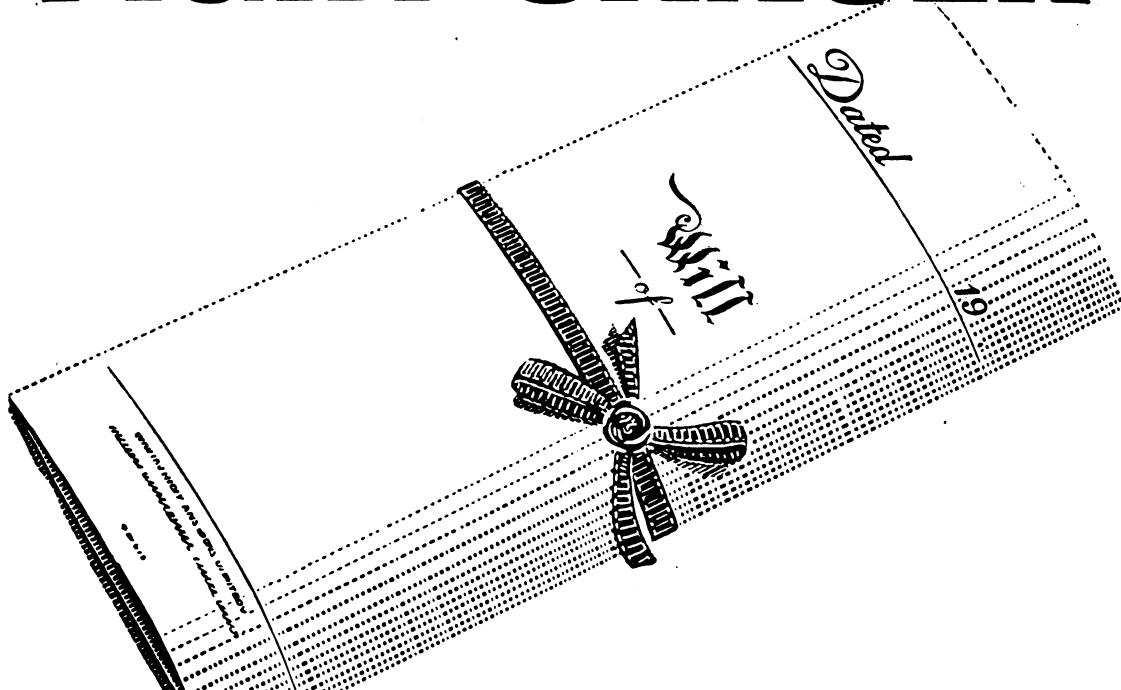

Erythrocin is available as Filmtab® tablets and granules for suspension; and it is also available in forms for intramuscular and intravenous injection.

Where the problem is wheezing in chronic bronchitis

Effective routine treatment requires a bronchodilator which is both potent and well-tolerated by the patient.

Published evidence has shown that Alupent 20 mg. fulfils these requirements. In an objective study comparing Alupent, ephedrine, isoprenaline and methoxyphenamine by mouth spirometric measurements showed that Alupent 20 mg. produced the largest and most sustained bronchodilator effect over a period of four hours.¹

In a series of asthmatic and bronchitic patients treated over a two-year period 20 mg. of Alupent orally q.d.s. was shown to be an effective dose for routine use.

In this series Alupent was given for long periods of time without the need for interruption of treatment because of side-effects.²

The 'mano cornuta' and other gestures of a similar nature have been considered potent specifics against the Evil Eye since time out of mind. Just ask anybody south of, say, Naples, and they'll tell you that it's a wise precaution.[†] The Evil Eye may not be a major problem among your patients, but chronic bronchitis surely is. Of course, it can be treated with ordinary tetracycline, but always with the attendant risk of fungal overgrowth with such commonly occurring symptoms as sore mouth, thrush, diarrhoea and pruritus ani due to Candida albicans. For this reason 'it is a wise precaution to administer an antifungal compound with the broad-spectrum antibiotic.'* Costing no more than the ordinary tetracycline and much less than oxytetracycline MYSTECLIN provides this 'wise precaution'.

When treatment demands

ROBINSON'S
makes it easy

Barley water has long been recognised as the ideal treatment in cases where large amounts of liquid form part of the prescription. With its high solids content, smooth demulcent barley water—hot or cold—is especially suitable in gastro-intestinal complaints where the internal membranes are inflamed and tender.

Robinson's Lemon Barley and Orange Barley provide a convenient form of natural, wholesome barley water freshened with lemon and orange and perfectly balanced for rapid absorption.

Robinson's 'Patent' Barley gives a quickly prepared home-brew of barley water that can be mixed with milk or flavoured with any fruit juice that the patient prefers. A half-pound pack makes 96 glassfuls of fresh barley water.

BRITISH HEART FOUNDATION

Scientific Activities

- The foundation recently made awards totalling £181,000 to 34 research workers.
 - The names of those selected to undertake programmes of scientific work were announced in the British Medical Journal (November 16th).
 - These research projects cover a large part of the heart field including physiology, pathology and biochemistry in connection with arterial sclerosis, hypertension, pulmonary and congenital heart disease, "strokes" and cardiomyopathy.
- Research work is now being carried out in London, Birmingham, Bristol, Cardiff, Dundee, Edinburgh, Glasgow, Leeds, Portsmouth, Stoke-on-Trent, and Lagos (Nigeria).
- Further awards will be made in the Spring of 1964.

● The above research activities depend entirely upon the success of the Heart Appeal for which an initial target of three and a half million pounds has been set. The eventual aim is to provide for expenditure of half a million pounds per annum—the minimum required to finance an adequate research programme.

Life Membership of the Foundation is open for a single payment of £100 (or more), (or £10 per annum on a seven-year Covenant). Ordinary Members are welcome at 5 gns. per year (£3.50d on a seven-year Covenant).

Information and forms of application for research grants may be obtained from the Secretary, Appeal Office, (BM) British Heart Foundation, Tavistock House, Tavistock Square, London WC99.

WHAT IT'S LIKE TO BE AN ARMY DOCTOR

Extracts from an article by Major K.N. Murray, RAMC

WHEN SERVING WITH THE BRITISH ARMY OF THE RHINE

If a soldier knows that no matter where he may be posted on duty, his wife and children will soon join him, or indeed travel with him, he is a happy man. The British, however, have an inborn distrust of 'natives,' be they Germans, Indians, Malayans or Chinese, so that it can be a great source of confidence to a travelling family to know that anywhere in the world they will have the backing of typical British services, not least of all doctors, nurses and hospitals.

A TYPICAL DAY

My day began with what has long been termed the sick parade. This is, in fact, not a parade of any kind, but a normal surgery, in this case at 8.30 in the morning with the patients all men. The soldiers sit comfortably in the waiting room, reading magazines, until the sign goes on and it is their turn to see the doctor in the privacy of his consulting room.

Following this, there were usually three or four men to see each day for brief general medical examinations. In this way, the overall health of a regiment is under constant review, and men are given a chance to live the type of Army life for which they are most physically suited. The Army institution of injections still exists; but, after all, the modern soldier may travel anywhere in the world at very short notice, and it is greatly to the benefit of him and his family, that we should be able to give them protection against so many diseases which used to be fearful scourges.

Half an hour on one or two mornings a week are often set aside for this, when the protection of a few men would be brought up to date and so, in this way, the whole regiment is kept as immune as possible to disease. As in all good professions, there was then a suitable break for coffee and biscuits.

The rest of my morning was then normally taken up with calls to visit families in their quarters. All the normal childhood ailments were there in abundance, and with a close-living community there were seasons of spots. While there is nothing like the same proportion of old people, who tend to take up so much of a civilian doctor's time in Britain, families often have older friends or parents staying with them on holiday, who present the doctor with a medical surprise in the way of a complicated or interesting diagnosis.

With the visits finished, I could then have a peaceful hour and a half at home for lunch with my wife and children, though it wasn't unheard of for the phone to go in the middle of it and to be told, 'come quick, Trooper Jones has dropped a tank on his fingers.' But this is a doctor's lot, or privilege, in all walks of life, and I soon became quite an expert at the minor surgery of everyday cuts and bruises.

FAMILY CLINICS

Four afternoons a week I had a family clinic in the Medical Centre from two to four o'clock. For this we had a separate consulting room and waiting room for families only. Assisting at those clinics were a SSAFA sister, who is a combination of sister, midwife and health visitor, and a German qualified sister.

One of those afternoon clinics was usually set aside for babies only, and in this it was rather I who assisted the SSAFA sister, and a vast number of infants were duly weighed and filled up with their triple antigens, polio inoculations and vaccinations, according to age.

This particular clinic always seems to be the greatest attraction abroad, and the mothers find a great moral boost in Sister's encouraging words as the infants go off until next time. One morning each week a gynaecologist visited the Medical Centre from the nearby Military Hospital to hold an antenatal clinic, where an expert eye was kept on the well-being of all expectant mothers.

The tie-up with the Army Hospital Services is indeed close in all aspects. The hospitals have staffs of physicians and gynaecologists, specialists in skin diseases, eyes and ENT, and even psychiatrists, all RAMC personnel. When I wished to make a specialist appointment for a patient, a letter quickly arranged it, and when the day came around, the journey to hospital was made free by army car or bus.

Drugs, too, are free. Each medical centre contains a completely stocked dispensary—the old joke of the number 9 is dead now; in fact, I've never been quite sure what it was. The doctor has available the drugs of his choice, and presentation of his prescriptions to the dispensary brings them to the patient free of charge.

ARMY LIFE ABROAD

Beyond my medical duties, I have found great attraction in the Army life out here. In any unit or regiment, the doctor is a valued and honoured citizen and attempts are always made to keep him a happy one. Most important is a good house and garden to live in, and I may say that never in civilian life could I hope to live in a house so good and so well equipped as that provided for me by the Army. You may gather I like it, both the work and the play. I like to travel abroad, not just to see a place, but to live there and find out what it is really like.

If you wish to know more about service as an Army Doctor, a booklet, 'A Career for Doctors in the RAMC,' may be obtained from the Director-General, Army Medical Services, The War Office, (HNR/35/E), London S.W.1. Tel: GRO 8040, Ext. 602. Or you may care to come in and discuss your particular case with us personally; if so, please write or telephone for an appointment.

“Studies are reported here which suggest that calcium deficiency is an important factor in many cases of postmenopausal and senile osteoporosis. Many patients with these forms of osteoporosis absorb and retain calcium abnormally avidly when on a high calcium intake in the form of supplements (calcium gluconate Sandoz), and moreover may continue to retain it avidly for at least three and a half years. Symptoms of the disease are relieved and no further fractures take place.”
