Certain things are basic . . . The books, for instance. You may not take them down every day, but you know them. Sound, fundamental.

You know Aspellin, too. A really effective, economical treatment for rheumatic conditions and muscular trauma — a spirit-based liniment containing Acid Acetylsalicylic to relieve symptomatic pain rapidly, and Methyl Salicylate, with Menthol and Camphor, to reduce inflammation and muscle tension.

Rheumatism sufferers can only obtain Aspellin if you prescribe it. Aspellin is only obtainable on prescription. Cost: 10½d per oz.

ASPELLIN—indicated in the treatment of acute rheumatic conditions, sciatica, lumbago, fibrositis, muscular trauma.

The estolate has the advantage over the base or stearate that it gives higher and more predictable blood levels with increased bacteriostatic or even bactericidal activity; in addition, these desirable results can be produced by a lower dose, thus reducing the incidence of side-effects.

unusually low incidence of side-effects

Nevertheless, the development of more recent and more powerful antistaphylococcal antibiotics has led to some relaxation of the restrictions imposed upon the use of erythromycin. It has the great merit of remarkably low toxicity and is very well tolerated by children.

Cross-resistance with other members of the macrolid

Toxicity is not a serious problem with any erythromycin preparation, but jaundice has been reported when the estolate has been given for periods of more than 14 days. Since most infections will respond to shorter courses this potential risk is minimal and should not preclude its use.

In theory

1) Chronic pyelonephritis (often unrecognised or 'silent') is the cumulative result of the assault on kidney function of repeated acute urinary infection.

2) Bacteriuria plays an important role in predisposing to pyelonephritis.

3) Females are particularly prone to acute kidney infections at certain well-defined periods e.g. infancy, early in marriage ('honeymoon cystitis'), pregnancy. This is due to urinary infection reaching the kidney due to uretero-vesical reflux or other congenital abnormality.

At the end of a comprehensive and detailed paper dealing with the characteristics of Lasix, the authors of the paper quoted above comment "On the basis of our observations the clinical application of (Lasix) in the treatment of oedematous syndromes seems very valuable, especially for the therapy of congestive heart failure accompanied by severe water-salt retention, if a rapid and powerful diuretic effect is desired. It is also especially useful in cases of nephrosis and cirrhosis with ascites."

Nulacin and only Nulacin provides intragastric milk-alkali drip therapy for the ambulant patient

“In view of the ineffectiveness of most of the tableted antacids, the milk-alkali tablet (Nulacin) would appear to be the antacid of choice for ambulatory therapy.”

Med. Times, N.Y., 1958, 1, 74

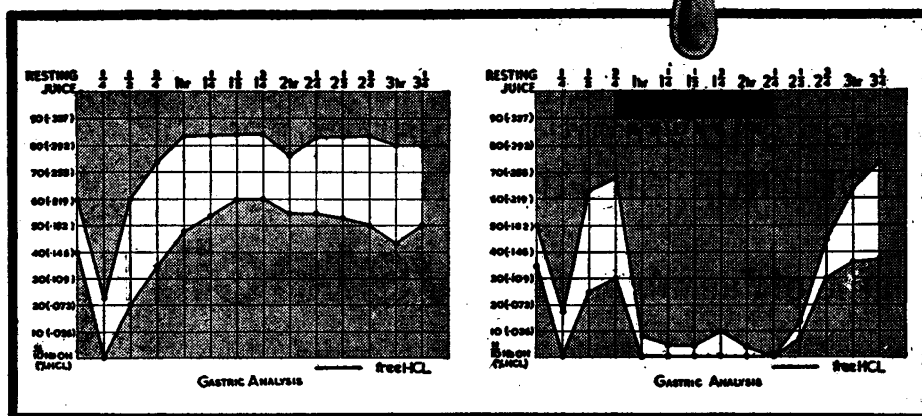

Safe, Simple, Effective

NULACIN TABLETS provide a safe, simple and effective treatment of peptic ulcer.

In treating peptic ulcer a Ryles tube may be passed through the nose and into the oesophagus and a mixture of milk and antacid allowed to flow continuously over the affected area. This form of therapy can only be employed in those patients who are in bed and for the ambulant patient Nulacin tablets are preferable.¹ Nulacin tablets are prepared from whole milk combined with dextrans and maltose, together with the trisilicate, oxide and carbonate of magnesium and calcium carbonate. Nulacin tablets when allowed to dissolve slowly in the mouth provide milk-alkali drip therapy. In fact, Nulacin tablets have revolutionized the treatment of peptic ulcer.⁸

This is no ordinary tetracycline tablet

It has the widest range of activity of the broad-spectrum antibiotics available today, for, in addition to tetracycline, it contains a highly effective antifungal antibiotic, nystatin, which can prevent the monilial superinfection often found when tetracycline alone is given. Thus, the patient receiving this tetracycline tablet is protected against monilial side-effects such as nausea and vomiting; diarrhoea; ano-genital pruritus; and thrush¹

a matter of judgment

To construct a good mortice and tenon joint requires the fine judgment of a craftsman. The hardness and grain of the wood and the size of the joint to be made must all be taken into account in selecting the right tool. Not merely one that would do, but the right one. Comparable situations occur every day in every field—including the doctor's problem of selecting an antibiotic from the array offered him.

After rejecting those of the antibiotics unlikely to be effective, and those which should be used only in special circumstances, Erythrocin (erythromycin, Abbott) will be chosen as the ideal antibiotic for initial therapy in a wide variety of common infections. The tetracyclines and chloramphenicol have narrower clinical indications than their broad bacterial spectra might suggest—unexcelled in certain infections, but often better replaced by less toxic agents. Erythrocin is probably the least toxic of all antibiotics, yet it has similar clinical effectiveness in the more common infections.

Penicillin G and V are cheap and often effective, had not so many strains of staphylococci become resistant. Even the synthetic penicillins have not entirely overcome the problem of allergic reactions. Erythrocin is perhaps the least allergenic antibiotic available.

Erythrocin is very active against the cocci and several of the more commonly pathogenic Gram-negative organisms, without upsetting the balance of the commensals. Though it has been in use for more than ten years, relatively few staphylococci have developed resistance. Whereas it was once an expensive antibiotic, with continued increasing use it is now an extremely economical one. Most important, the Erythrocin preparations are perhaps the safest forms of the safest of all antibiotics, for none has been shown to cause liver damage.

NORMAX

PROMOTES REGULARITY

It contains dioctyl-sodium sulphosuccinate 60 mg, and 1-8 dihydroxyanthraquinone 50mg.

Normax acts by softening the faeces and gently stimulating colonic peristalsis. It is indicated especially during pregnancy and for the elderly patient, when its gentle action in restoring regularity is most appreciated.

1-8 dihydroxyanthraquinone acts on the lower bowel and has no irritant actions. Dioctyl-sodium sulphosuccinate is not absorbed and does not break down during its passage through the intestine.

Dioctyl-sodium sulphosuccinate acts by lowering the surface tension of the impacted faecal mass and in association with the mild peristaltic movement induced by the 1-8 dihydroxyanthraquinone, leads to facilitated passage of soft stools. Animal experiments and extensive clinical observations have failed to reveal evidence of toxicity.^{1,2}

Because of this the therapeutic effect of Normax can be obtained without the danger of toxicity. Normax has a wide application in the treatment of constipation and it retains its effectiveness even when used regularly over long periods.¹ Normax restores regularity and is a rational approach to the treatment of constipation.

Normax capsules are available in bottles of 30 and 250 at basic NHS price of 4/10d. and 26/10d. respectively. Normax is subject to purchase tax.

PENBRITIN

brings new hope to the Chronic Bronchitic

Three effective dosage schemes can now be considered for bronchitic patients

1 Routine Dosage

Doses of 250mg. q.i.d. of Penbritin or other broad spectrum antibiotics will usually suppress H. influenzae, the most pathogenic organism in Chronic Bronchitis, with consequent relief of exacerbations. In the majority of cases, this method, repeated whenever an exacerbation occurs, is all that is required to keep the patient ambulant.

2 Prophylaxis

When continuous daily treatment is considered desirable, one capsule (250mg.) is recommended every twelve hours.

3 High Dosage Therapy*

This technique offers great promise in the treatment of winter-long purulent cases, particularly those which fail to respond to other antibiotic regimens² or who have previously required continuous antibiotic cover¹. Moreover, many of the patients remained free from exacerbations for long periods after treatment was stopped. These high doses have been given without side-effects^{1,2}.

A likely explanation for these clinical results is that a concentration of Penbritin bactericidal to H. influenzae has been attained in the sputum^{1,2,3}, and estimations of sputum level of the antibiotic give support to this probability¹. A bactericidal concentration of the tetracyclines is unattainable in any practical dosage¹. One of the authors¹ commented: 'Such a response to other antibiotics is, in our experience, extremely rare in patients of the type taking part in this trial.'

*1G q.i.d. for one week, repeating the course if necessary.

Tampax is compressed for convenience and efficiency

Don't be misled by the small size of Tampax. Its surgical cotton is compressed to just the proper degree to permit easy insertion and gentle expansion for maximum absorbency. When properly placed, well into the vagina, by its individual, hygienic container-applicator, the entire Tampax tampon is utilised for absorption of the menstrual flow. With the much bulkier perineal pad, only a small central section is actually used.

If your patients are like the thousands of women who are turning to Tampax every year, they will quickly discover its many other advantages. Tampax affords complete freedom from the bother of belts, pins and pads . . . eliminates chafing and irritation . . . abolishes conspicuous bulges . . . minimises offensive odours . . . permits eliminative functions without removal . . . renders bathing possible, even swimming . . . and promotes normal daintiness. The user is practically unaware of its presence.

It's also important that, with Tampax, a woman feels clean and tidy. In fact, the psychological and emotional advantages of the Tampax method are significant. Its use has served to improve the attitude of many women and girls toward the whole complex of menstruation. Perhaps your patients might benefit similarly.

Tampax is available in Regular and Super absorbencies to meet varying needs during the menstrual period.

so everything about Heinz Baby Foods is very very special

Heinz Baby Foods provide an unequalled variety for baby's daily diet. Broths and soups, meat, fish, chicken, cheese and egg dishes, vegetables and fruits—68 varieties in all.

And Heinz—because of intensive care and supervision from seed to harvest—are able to use far better, fresher ingredients than the average mother.

For instance, before contracting with fruit or vegetable growers, Heinz experts study the land and the farming methods used; they specify what seeds are to be sown: crops are gathered at the peak of maturity.

Meat, too, is chosen with the greatest care. Only prime, tender cuts are used. This same stringent inspection applies to every single ingredient in each of the 68 varieties of Baby Foods.

Heinz cooking retains the maximum nutritional value. Instrumentally controlled steam cooking ensures uniformity with each batch of foods and prevents over-cooking. Hot foods are exposed as little as possible to the air; juices are retained to avoid loss of soluble nutrients.

Heinz Baby Foods not only make life simpler for busy mothers. They provide babies with a varied and nutritious diet, superior in every way to the meals most mothers have the time and resources to prepare themselves.

If you would like further information about Heinz Strained and Junior Foods, please write to Foods Science Advisory Service, H. J. Heinz Co. Ltd., Hayes Park, Hayes, Middlesex.

The problem of the dirty mouth

Even in 1965 the dangers, and the unpleasantness, of the dirty mouth are still present in the post-operative period, as well as in many fevers; the geriatric patient being especially prone to them. Careful attention to oral hygiene will usually, of course, keep the patient comfortable and prevent complications. Such attention, however, is very time-consuming to the nurse; and it is not often realised that for most patients it can be replaced or supplemented by the use of chewing gum.

The regular use of chewing gum, by stimulating salivary flow, keeps the mouth clean in the most natural way possible. The patient is in a sense providing his own nursing care with the minimum of energy expenditure by himself.

Child patients, of course, need no encouragement to chew gum. The older patient may need encouraging—but not once he has appreciated the very obvious cleansing and refreshing effect that chewing gum has upon the mouth. Chewing gum is also of value to patients who are forbidden to smoke.

The go-ahead LIFE

of a NAVAL MEDICAL OFFICER

This is a life of unbounded opportunity. Anywhere in the world, you practise medicine with complete medical freedom. Among 100,000 Naval men and women you gain extensive medical experience of the most varied nature. Civilian patients, too, of both sexes and all ages, are treated in Naval hospitals. You have excellent opportunities for specialising in the normal clinical subjects, and in the less usual, such as Nuclear, Underwater, and Aviation medicine. You are actively encouraged and financially assisted to acquire higher degrees. You can gain consultant status.

As a Medical Officer, your pay, allowances, and gratuity—or permanent commission pension—are very good: for example, your initial pay is considerably higher than that of a civilian hospital registrar. You can enter in one of three ways:

as a registered Medical Practitioner—your civilian experience back-dating seniority—or as a qualified doctor doing your pre-registration year, or as a student with a 2nd M.B. For qualified women doctors, there is a special short service commission. For fullest details of your Royal Navy life as a Medical Officer, write, mentioning your own qualifications and age to: The Medical Director-General of the Navy, Medical Dept. (HN66/H), Empress State Building, London, S.W.6.

IS THIS YOUR PRE-REGISTRATION YEAR?

Before you commit yourself to a practice work 3 or 5 years in the R.A.F.

When is the right time for you to make the big, once-and-for-always decisions about the way it's best for you to work and live your life? Straight away, now, at once? Or when you have had the chance to do a little out-of-hospital doctoring 'on your own', seen some common ailments and got a bit of capital together? Many people feel that it is only prudent not to be in too much of a hurry. If you are one of them, here is a thought for you:

You don't, now, have to choose either an R.A.F. career or a civilian one. You can have both. And there are good reasons why you should—not only for your own sake and your family's, but in the interests of the profession and the public generally.

Interesting, out-of-the-rut medicine

Your first job in the R.A.F. (which you'll get three months after you join) will probably be Junior M.O. at a Station—rather like being an "Assistant with a view". In a typical case, you'd be one of two doctors, with, between you, 1500 to 2500 people to take care of. These would be the officers and men serving with you on the Station, and their families, plus any civilians who might be working there.

You'd have a much shorter list than you would as a civilian G.P., and to this extent you would live a less strenuous life. To compensate, you would give much more comprehensive care. It is this—and the variety of your work—that makes practice in the R.A.F. so interesting.

In the R.A.F., you combine several functions. You are in medical care not only of people, but of the environment they live in, and of the work they do. In proportion, you do less curative work, and more preventive work than most civilian doctors.

A lot of people hold the view that this is the way all medicine should be practised: with the closest possible intermingling of the doctor and his patients.

You see a bit of the world

Think of two doctors, both aged 40. One went to his practice straight from his teaching hospital, and has been there ever since. The other went from hospital into the R.A.F. on a 5-year commission. He lived—and lived well—in the tropics with his family for 2½ years, and visited 7 countries on leave or duty, two European, three Asian, and two Australasian. All this, of course, was some time ago—he's been in civilian practice 10 years now; he's as well established as the other doctor. But which of the two has got more out of life, and has the richer memories to look back upon?

In many ways, the transition from hospital into the R.A.F. seems much more 'natural' than the movement to civilian practice. The two communities have much more in common: both are young, cheerful, energetic, rather self-contained—and at the same time very professional, with a marked sense of purpose about what they do. If you can feel, now, that you are going to miss Medical School when you leave it, think about going into the R.A.F.: Service life would probably be 'right' for you.

'Retire' with up to £3,000, tax-free

Next year, if you were in the R.A.F. as a married officer, your pay and allowances could be over £2,000. You would get regular 'rises' and regular promotion. In hard cash terms you would be literally hundreds of pounds better off than your civilian opposite-numbers. Besides which, your cost-of-living would be lower: if you were single, living in the Mess, you would get the equivalent of first-class hotel accommodation for, perhaps, 2/- a day out of your pay; if you were married, and the R.A.F. provided you with a house furnished right down to the last coffee cup, and they probably would—the rent would be £192 p.a.

Leave the Service after 3 years, and you get a gratuity of £1,500, tax-free; stay on for 5, and you get £3,000. With this, you could put down a deposit on a house and furnish it very well indeed, attic to cellar.

Five years from now. You'd probably still be the right side of thirty. What a start to a career!

In all your life, when will you have a chance like this again?

Today, because you are young and at the beginning of your career, you can take a short time out from the main stream of civilian practice just by deciding to do it.

Now, you are free to go. In a few years time, you probably won't be.

At this stage in life, you have none of the commitments that might make an older man hold back; things like a practice that has your name on it; obligations to a community that you have become a part of; the ownership of property . . . and suchlike hostages to fortune.

All these things will, quite properly, come along in due time.

Meanwhile, you have this chance and now is the time to find out about it. If you can't write off straight away, tear this advertisement out and put it in your pocket to remind you.

Do not let this chance go by default

For full information, please write giving your age and qualifications to Wing Commander D. G. M. HILLS, M.B., B.S., D.P.H., R.A.F., Ministry of Defence (MA1/HN 171J), 1-6 Tavistock Square, London WC1.
