—for skin protection in cases of bedsores, napkin rash
cracked skin, itching
and other skin disorders

Vasogen Silicone has high water repellent properties and protects the skin from irritants induced or aggravated by contact with aqueous liquids, body fluids and exudations. It is effective also in the treatment of sore buttocks, excoriation, plaster sores, maceration, some conditions of eczema and can be used after colostomy. Vasogen Silicone is easy to apply and is almost invisible on the skin. It provides an acceptable protective barrier that is maintained effectively for lengthy periods.

continuous drip control of ulcer by tablet

PRODEXIN tablets give all the benefits of continuous intragastric drip therapy<sup>1</sup> without any of its disadvantages.

The slow suck down tablets are specially formulated to give prolonged antacid buffer effect, unaffected by stomach emptying rate.<sup>2</sup>

Immediate relief of pain is achieved by rapidly raising pH to 2 neutralising excess acid and controlling the acid secretion by slowly building up the pH to a desirable level of pH3.5 and pH4.5

DOSAGE:

For continuous therapeutic effect one tablet at a time should be sucked slowly.
For peptic ulcer one or more tablets an hour.

the anticoagulant for short and long-term prophylaxis

Dindevan (phenindione) is a synthetic anticoagulant which, like the coumarin derivatives, interferes with the formation of certain clotting factors—prothrombin, and Factors VII, IX and X. A therapeutic effect is produced in 36–48 hours after the initial dose, and is thereafter maintained by 50–150 mg per day in the majority of cases. The effect of Dindevan wanes over a period of 48–72 hours after withdrawal of treatment.

The "Battle of Britain" that's still being fought

The presence of winter once again underlines the disturbing fact that 15-20,000 people with respiratory symptoms will die during the next 6 months. The unceasing war against diseases of the bronchitis-asthma-emphysema group has plainly not yet been won.

About 30,000 deaths occur annually in Britain from bronchitis alone and the number shows no sign of decreasing. Deaths attributable to chronic bronchitis amount to nearly 10% of all deaths of men aged 45-64—more than from any other respiratory disease.

In another category—but none the less important—is the fact that bronchitis currently accounts for more working days off than any other illness.

Into combat—with tetracycline

In the treatment of chronic bronchitis, current opinion advocates the employment of a drug capable of suppressing both the Pneumococcus and the Haemophilus influenzae. The one capable of doing this with safety is tetracycline. 1.

The most effective weapon— demethylchlortetracycline Lederle

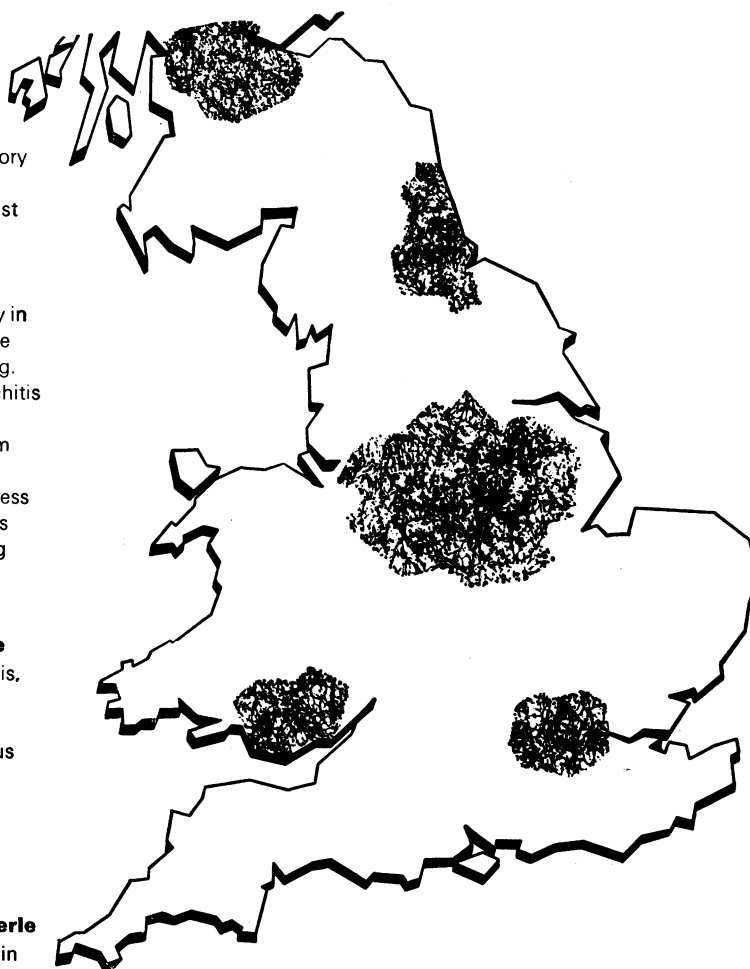

The modern tetracycline—Ledermycin demethylchlortetracycline Lederle—has been shown to provide higher and more sustained antibacterial activity levels in the serum than other tetracyclines. Broad-spectrum coverage persists up to 48 hours after the final dose—a safeguard against stopping treatment too early. "Most clinicians are agreed that tetracycline is preferable to the oxy- and chlor- derivatives . . . demethylchlortetracycline may possibly become the treatment of choice." 2.

extending the reach of diuretic therapy

Edecrin

ETHACRYNIC ACID

an entirely new class of diuretic

'Edecrin' extends the reach of diuretic therapy because of its multiple sites of action in the nephron. 'Edecrin' not only acts on the proximal and distal convoluted tubules, but more importantly, also on the ascending limb of the loop of Henle. This unique mode of action is reflected clinically in its effectiveness in many patients resistant to all other diuretics.

'Edecrin' is chemically and pharmacologically distinct from all other diuretics in current use. It has a wider range of effectiveness than the thiazides, and may be used in oedema of all grades of severity, whether acute or chronic. 'Edecrin' produces a more favourable ratio of sodium to potassium excretion than the thiazides, and has an extremely rapid onset of action—four times as fast as parenteral mercurials. 'Edecrin' has been intensively investigated for more than three years, and already many papers have been published in this country and abroad.

'Its effect may be dramatic in some patients previously unresponsive to other diuretics . . . ' Brit.med.J., 1963, 2, 1169 (9 Nov)

'A powerful diuretic, it should be valuable for treating patients with oedema, both at home and in hospital.' Lancet, 1964, i, 947 (2 May)

Every Winter PENBRITIN brings renewed hope to the Chronic Bronchitic...

...whatever the severity of the condition

One Penbritin capsule four times a day for a week or more brings an excellent response in the majority of patients, reducing the volume of sputum and the severity of exacerbations. When other antibiotics fail, four Penbritin capsules four times a day for a week or more usually provide effective treatment for advanced bronchitic patients, including those with extensive bronchiectasis. Used in this way, Penbritin is also successful in clearing the sputum of those winter-long purulent cases which would otherwise require continuous antibiotic cover. Early relapse is uncommon and many patients remain free from further infection for as long as two to three months after treatment.

The themes under discussion at the congresses of the International Society of Blood Transfusion have long ago gone beyond the subjects referring to the preparation, conservation and administration of blood and blood products. The last congress of September 1964 included the vast fields of applied immunology, particularly questions of importance with regard to transplantation, such as tissue compatibility and autoimmunity etc. In addition, relevant chapters of biochemistry have been discussed, and, of course, the problems referring to blood transfusion proper were not neglected. The congress proceedings, therefore, give an excellent survey of present-day knowledge in the fields of blood transfusion, immunohaematology and immunopathology.

The authors of this book believe that the curtailment of the study of embryology in many medical schools is wrong. They feel that embryology plays an important part in anatomy and physiology and provides an appropriate introduction to aspects of the life of cells and cell communities, which lie at the heart of modern biology and medical science generally. Profusely illustrated, the book presents a concise account of human development which is suitable for students of medicine and dentistry and to those studying for higher professional examinations.

CANCER RESEARCH

DESERVES TO BE REMEMBERED

You may be asked from time to time to suggest a deserving cause as the subject of a bequest. Please remember that every year the British Empire Cancer Campaign for Research has to find more and more money for cancer research work not only in this country but in many parts of the Commonwealth. All this money must come from voluntary donations and bequests. The appropriate words to use in a will are: "I bequeath to the British Empire Cancer Campaign for Research the sum of £....." or "I devise and bequeath the residue of my estate to the British Empire Cancer Campaign for Research".

For further information please write to Sir Joseph Lockwood, Hon. Treasurer, British Empire Cancer Campaign for Research, Dept. BM.L, 11 Grosvenor Crescent, London SW1.

According to a recent report from an authoritative association the interest taken by the medical profession in caravans and caravanning is considerable and greater than any other profession. Exactly why this should be the case is difficult to assess. Maybe it is because touring caravans are rarely equipped with telephones. "Rarely" is used advisedly because the modern caravan can contain anything from a refrigerator to electric central heating. Maybe it is because doctors have the type of cars that can be easily fitted, and are well suited, for touring. Maybe it is because doctors appreciate a healthy and interesting mode of living and an economical and relatively carefree way of travel.

For the caravanner-to-be there is really only one satisfactory way of choosing a model, and that is by visiting a dealer. There are hundreds throughout the country, and most of them have a wide range of sizes and makes and will give you all the help you require. Prices range from £200 up to £1,500 or so. The National Caravan Council (40, Piccadilly, London, W.1.) issue a number of free leaflets on buying caravans and these are well worth writing for in the first place. Do remember though, if you intend to park it in your garden, to find out whether your local council have any objections or any special regulations. If you have never lived in a caravan it might be a good idea to hire one first if you want to go touring or rent one at one of the many hundreds of sites throughout the country. You Motor caravans are steadily increasing in popularity. There are two main categories. The coach-built model and the conversion. The former has a special body built on to the bare chassis which is usually larger than the normal one and this allows for more comfortable living accommodation and additional built-in equipment. The conversions are vehicle makers' bodies and these are much more in common use and are of course cheaper. Prices range from £800 to £1,500 or so.

Touring in this country, or anywhere else for that matter, with your caravan rolling steadily behind, can be a very satisfying sensation and one which you never seem to lose through the years. You are independent, self-contained and have nothing to worry about. Admittedly there are such things as punctures and breakdowns or taking the wrong turning and finding yourself in some seemingly impossible position down a country lane, but these mishaps make good tales to tell afterwards.

Normally, the easiest way in the busy summer months is to follow the main A roads, but these can prove to be very slow and nerve-racking. It is much better to allow yourself more time and take a less popular route. The motoring and caravan associations and clubs can be of real help and supply itineraries and routes that will, if nothing else, alleviate the traffic problem as far as you are concerned.

There are so many beautiful places in this country that offer the caravanner everything that he and his wife and family can hope for. Particular suggestions are difficult to make with such a range as the New Forest, Snowdonia, Lake District, Yorkshire moors, or following the course of some of the rivers like the Wye or the upper reaches of the Thames. Scotland with its infinite variety of scenery has some of the finest camping sites in the British Isles. The main roads are excellent but some of the off-shoots can be a little exciting. Possibly the best way to see Ireland is by caravan as, although there are some fine hotels in the more popular areas, generally speaking the country districts and even some of the beauty spots—and what a lovely country it is for scenery—are very poorly endowed. Once away from the main cities like Cork, Dublin and Belfast, motoring is a great pleasure even in the height of the season as the roads are relatively free of traffic.

Touring overseas presents one major problem—where to go. Hungary, Poland, Bulgaria, Sweden, Germany, Italy and on and on. There seems to be no end in these days to the countries that encourage caravanners and the "G.B." plate can be seen everywhere. However, for the family, France and Spain still seem to be the most popular. Spain is getting so crowded these days with motorists that unless you are lucky enough to be able to travel out of season the drive through France can be quite a painful experience, irrespective of which of the routes you follow to Perpignan or San Sebastian.

If, however, you want a peaceful or relaxing holiday with opportunities for bathing, boating and fishing, the valleys of the Loire and Vienne in France suit admirably. The main points of interest are of course the chateaux and the many historic and ancient towns. Camping facilities are excellent and there are many sites. Some, such as at Amboise and Azay le Rideau, are quite close to the chateaux, but there are a number off the beaten track which are well worth trying and serve as excellent centres. A typical and particularly attractive and well-equipped one is at Montoire sur Loir.

There are quite a number of clubs such as the Caravan Club, the Trailer Caravan Club, the Motor Caravan Club and many others throughout the country. Apart from social activities these clubs hold rallies and meetings, but more important still membership entitles you to a fund of helpful advice and suggestions on itineraries for touring and is invaluable to all caravanners.

How to bring more freedom into your life as a doctor

Become a Naval Officer!

One of the best things about being a Medical Officer in the Royal Navy is the freedom it gives you. You can have the responsibility, and the complete clinical control, to practise a wide field of subjects – both, the traditional ones and the new sciences, like nuclear, under-water and aviation medicine. You can also study for higher degrees, specialise and even aim for consultant status—all with the full support of the Royal Navy.

What about your pay and prospects? These are good. Your starting salary would be considerably higher than that of a civilian hospital registrar (with marriage and other allowances to add considerably to your income). Moreover, you can add in the varied, active, outdoor life of a naval officer—with its comradeship, world travel and very special status. You enter initially for a Short Service Commission—with the opportunity of a Permanent Commission after 1 year.

3 Ways of Entry

1. As a fully registered doctor; any civilian experience counts towards your seniority.
2. During your pre-registration year.
3. As a student any time after passing 2nd M.B. For fully registered women doctors there is a special Short Service Commission.

If you would like more information, write to the address below, giving details of your age and qualifications. A personal interview can be arranged if desired.

Escape to relaxation at a TRUST HOUSE HOTEL

Most professional men—and their wives—can benefit immeasurably from a few quiet, peaceful Spring days away from it all, so long as the sensible present-day comforts are still very much with them. Trust House Hotels are, fortunately, situated in some of the most delightful and away-from-it-all places. Nearly 200 of these excellent hotels, each one different in size, character and atmosphere, are offering good food, friendly hospitality, reasonable prices, and a high standard of comfort. Choose a luxurious modern “skyscraper” hotel or a 14th-century coaching inn; if it shows the Trust House Hotel sign there’s comfort, and a friendly welcome there.

An analysis of the nutritional properties of Mackeson

Of course, dark beers have long been regarded as a valuable aid in building up strength after illness. But Mackeson has the important advantage of being more acceptable to invalids and convalescents because of its taste.

Instead of having a bitter taste it is smooth and mild in flavour and consequently 'goes down' much better with the patients.

Many clinical studies have already proved the healing influence of Biogastrone on gastric ulcer. Now confirmation comes from a new source. Radiological examination at two weeks showed a reduction in the ulcer area of 88% in the carbenoxolone group compared with 50% in those receiving dummy tablets ( $P < 0.01$ ). These results show that carbenoxolone is very effective in reducing the size of the ulcer.'* After healing, Biogastrone 25 mg. tablets are given as a safeguard against recurrence. The dosage is one tablet twice daily.

Nulacin and only Nulacin provides intragastric milk-alkali drip therapy for the ambulant patient

"In view of the ineffectiveness of most of the tableted antacids, the milk-alkali tablet (Nulacin) would appear to be the antacid of choice for ambulatory therapy."

Med. Times, N.Y., 1958, 1, 74

Safe, Simple, Effective

NULACIN TABLETS provide a safe, simple and effective treatment of peptic ulcer.

In treating peptic ulcer a Ryle's tube may be passed through the nose and into the oesophagus and a mixture of milk and antacid allowed to flow continuously over the affected area. This form of therapy can only be employed in those patients who are in bed and for the ambulant patient Nulacin tablets are preferable. Nulacin tablets are prepared from whole milk combined with dextrans and maltose, together with the trisilicate, oxide and carbonate of magnesium and calcium carbonate. Nulacin tablets when allowed to dissolve slowly in the mouth provide milk-alkali drip therapy. In fact, Nulacin tablets have revolutionized the treatment of peptic ulcer.

MOGADON* AND NATURAL SLEEP

Striking advances have recently been made into the knowledge of sleep with the aid of the electroencephalogram, and it is now recognised that sleep does not consist of a quantitative reduction in cortical activity but of a qualitative change. Hypnotics, by their generalised depressant action on all the brain structures, greatly reduce cortical activity and sleep takes on an abnormal pattern. The development of Mogadon, however, has now made the treatment of insomnia possible without any significant lessening of cortical activity. The sleep induced closely resembles natural sleep; there is no disturbance of the normal rhythmical balance that exists between the sleep and wake processes and the patient will awake refreshed, without hangover and without mental confusion.

Try this test. Add Aldactone-A to conventional diuretic treatment and see for yourself how it can improve the patient's condition

'In addition, and most important, he felt well. He did not feel like the weak, washed-out patient that I have come to expect after intensive diuretic therapy.'

The Use of Aldosterone Antagonists in Cardiological Practice.
Paper presented before the Cardiac Society of Australia and New Zealand, October 1960.

Conventional diuretics act on the proximal renal tubule. They allow reabsorption of sodium and water and loss of potassium to continue at the distal tubule. But Aldactone-A (brand of spironolactone), added to the regimen, acts at the distal tubule, and prevents excessive sodium reabsorption and potassium loss.

Aldactone-A thus...

- ☐ Enhances sodium excretion
- ☐ Conserves potassium
- ☐ Overcomes diuretic resistance
- ☐ Improves diuresis
- ☐ Leaves patients feeling well

in the many facets of emotional distress

Triptafen

for concurrent depression and anxiety

As society becomes progressively more complex the problem of emotional disturbance grows steadily more acute. A wide variety of mental and emotional disorders, usually characterised by symptoms of both depression and anxiety, present the General Practitioner with an ever increasing volume of work. The development of psychotropic drugs has partially helped to alleviate this problem but it is now accepted that the treatment of one symptom alone may often lead to the aggravation of the other<sup>1-5</sup>; this means that the use of an antidepressant together with a tranquilliser is often desirable.

Triptafen is just such a combination in which both constituents are established and well-tried drugs. The balanced formulation of antidepressant amitriptyline and tranquilliser perphenazine simplifies and facilitates the treatment of emotionally disturbed patients<sup>2-7</sup>. Triptafen offers efficacy, economy and simplicity of prescribing.

Each tablet contains amitriptyline hydrochloride 25 mg. and perphenazine B.P. 2 mg. 'Triptafen' is a registered trade mark.

'INDERAL'

Indicated in angina pectoris when conventional therapy has proved inadequate.

'INDERAL' specifically blocks the unnecessary oxygen wasting effects of excessive sympathetic nervous activity on the heart. Probably the most striking benefit has been seen in patients inadequately helped by conventional drugs.

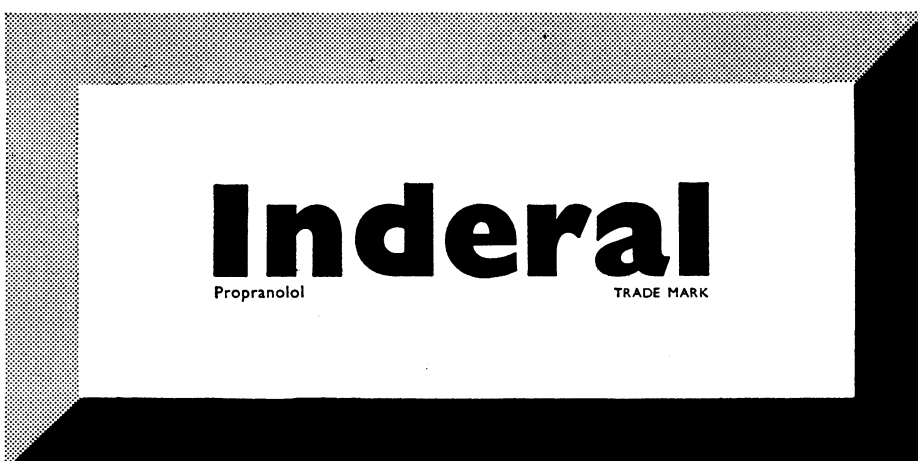

The results of 'INDERAL' therapy include less frequent anginal attacks, improved effort tolerance and decreased consumption of glyceryl trinitrate.

In addition 'INDERAL' will control cardiac arrhythmias, including those associated with digitalis intoxication and arrhythmias occurring during anaesthesia.

DORBANEX
Dorbanex: trade mark
softens the stool
then gently evacuates
the constipated bowel

Pain caused by hard, dry stools can be a distressing aspect of constipation. Discomfort leads to retention and, in turn, overloading of the rectum. But if – as with Dorbanex – treatment is directed at softening the stool and stimulating colonic peristalsis, the cycle of pain-retention-accumulation is broken. Defaecation is comfortable; anxiety is allayed; and the bowel is helped back to normal function.

Because Dorbanex contains the laxative 1 : 8-dihydroxyanthraquinone, plus a new faecal softening agent, poloxalkol, it both softens and mobilises the stool. This dual action is invaluable in patients with anal fissures or haemorrhoids, and in obviating straining – an important consideration in elderly or cardiac patients.

Disadvantages of laxative treatment, such as unpredictability, griping, leakage, or interference with gastro-intestinal function, do not arise with Dorbanex. Especially appreciated by patients old, young or pregnant are its advantages of small dosage (1 or 2 teaspoonsful at bedtime) and palatability.

Each teaspoonful (5 ml.) of Dorbanex contains 25 mg. 1 : 8-dihydroxyanthraquinone and 200 mg. poloxalkol. Bottles of 60 ml. (4/-) and 500 ml. (30/-) P.T. extra.
