LEO/WT/28

Fucidin Ointment has proved to be the most successful topical antibiotic of recent years. But in the treatment of infected dermatoses, a double agent is usually required. An antibiotic to deal with infection. A steroid to control the underlying pathology. Fucidin H . . . a combination of Fucidin Ointment with hydrocortisone 1% offers the clinician a 'double agent' capable of dealing effectively with these troublesome conditions.

indications: For the treatment of infected and non-infected dermatoses.

administration: The ointment should be applied once daily with a dressing, or three times daily if no dressing is to be used.

contra-indications and precautions: Fucidin H should not be used in or near the eye. As with other topical steroid preparations, it should not be used in tuberculous or viral skin infections.

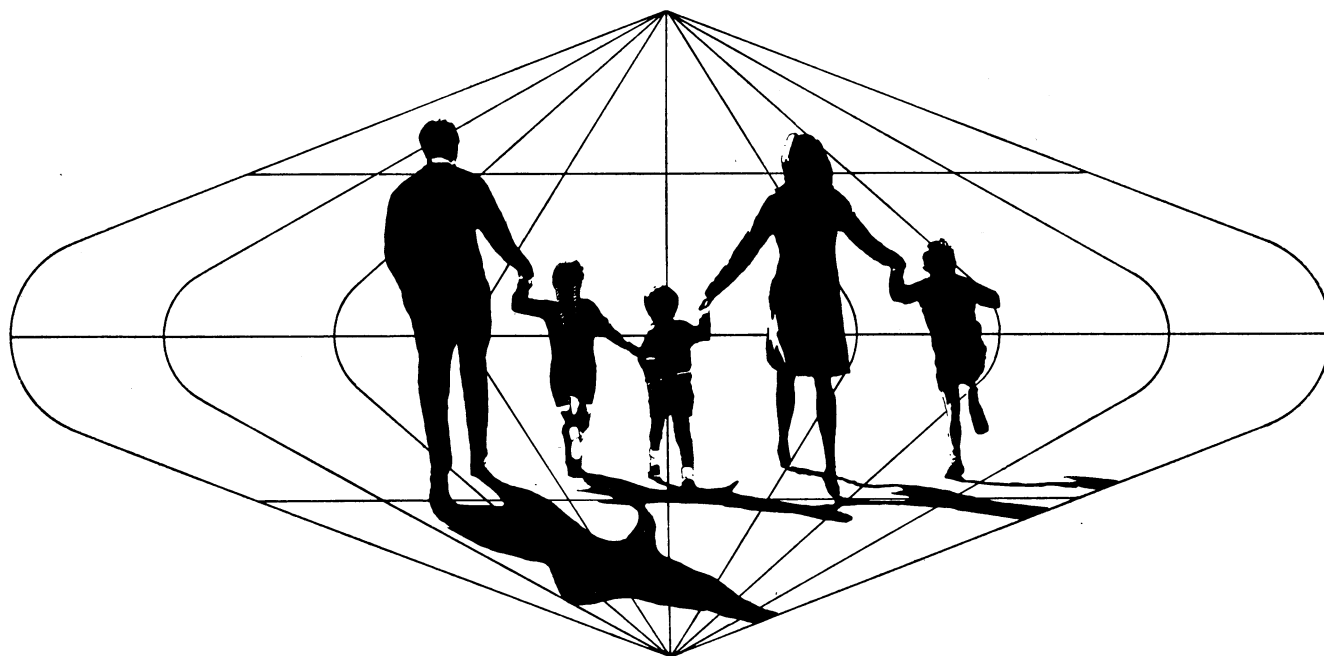

presentation: Available in tubes containing 10G and 25G.

trade mark NORINYL-1

today's most advanced conception regulator,
satisfies these demanding criteria:

Reliability

More than four thousand women have completed more than 40,000 valid treatment cycles without a single pregnancy.¹ A valid treatment cycle is one in which intercourse takes place, NORINYL-1 is used as directed and no other contraceptive is employed.

Safety

The very low steroid content of NORINYL-1 is accompanied by the disappearance of some dose-dependent effects.² Bromsulphthalein excretion rates in women taking NORINYL-1 could not be distinguished from those in an untreated control group.³

Simplicity

The tiny tablet is easy to swallow, the pack convenient to use and the 21 day routine virtually eliminates patient error.⁴

Tolerance

In 40,000 cycles the incidence of headache, depression and breast symptoms did not differ in any cycle, even the first, from that in the untreated control group. After the second cycle, the reported incidence of nausea approached pre-treatment control levels. Among dysmenorrhoea cases 89.5% had no further symptoms after starting NORINYL-1. Pre-menstrual tension was totally relieved in 79.3% of cases.¹

Each tablet contains 1mg. of norethisterone (an original Syntex discovery) and 0.05mg. of mestranol. Packed in wallets of 21 tablets.

Protection against Allergy

for 1967 is available now

Alavac is the name for the Bencard range of adsorbed desensitising vaccines. Alavac provides a simple, effective and safe treatment for most common allergies. For many patients this treatment can be started now.

Simple A course of Alavac needs only 7-9 injections based on the clinical severity of symptoms. The three-vial Alavac treatment set includes sterile disposable syringes with attached needles, plus full instructions for administration.

Effective Over 80% of patients have been shown to respond well to the adsorbed type of desensitising vaccine. For these patients such therapy can bring long-lasting benefit and halt the deterioration that might otherwise occur with continued use of mere symptomatic treatment.

Safe Alavac is carefully formulated so that once injected, the allergens are released slowly ensuring a gradual and safe dispersal in the body. Consequently, effective doses are attainable in even the most sensitive patient.

How to prescribe Alavac

There are three varieties of Alavac:

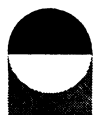

Alavac-S is individually formulated to the patient's particular allergic condition, and can be prepared from any one or more of a wide selection of allergen extracts.* Specialists will appreciate that the allergens used correspond exactly with those available in Bencard testing solutions.

Alavac-P is a stock grass pollen vaccine for classical hay fever and pollen asthma. It is best administered pre-seasonally, starting in mid-March at the latest.

Alavac-D is a stock house dust vaccine for non-seasonal asthma and perennial rhinitis. It may be given at any time of the year but may have an added advantage if administered immediately to patients whose symptoms predominate during the winter months.

GLYMAXIL Regd. instant buffer antacid

Hyperacidity and peptic ulcer:

AN OUTSTANDINGLY DIFFERENT AND MORE EFFECTIVE TREATMENT

Just two things interest the chronic sufferer. He wants the pain to go, and stay gone. And if both results can be achieved with an antacid that tastes pleasant and is needed in lesser quantity than he's used to, he's going to be very grateful indeed.

Glymaxil, the only soluble buffer antacid, can promise exactly this. In clinical practice Glymaxil has been shown 'significantly more effective' in relieving pain and 'significantly more palatable' than aluminium hydroxide. Glymaxil, the first antacid chelate, acts faster and buffers more acid for longer periods in the ideal pH range 3-5 than other commonly used antacids.

A very agreeable treatment

By suppressing pain promptly Glymaxil gives the nervously-inclined patient a sense of reassurance, itself highly beneficial. Taken in small doses (1-2 teaspoonfuls) and tasting pleasantly of peppermints it is also a most agreeable and convenient liquid antacid—one that will make his symptoms a great deal easier to live with.

Dosage One or two teaspoonfuls as required. Not more than 120ml. (one bottle) of Glymaxil should be consumed in any 24 hour period.

Presentation Bottles of 120ml. containing 40% w/v sodium glucaldrate.

How you can see the world

and gain valuable medical experience

(before you settle into general practice)

Would you like to see the Far East, the Mediterranean, or the West Indies? Study the new sciences of aviation, underwater or nuclear medicine? Have complete clinical freedom, modern medical equipment and the opportunity to practise a very wide and varied field of medicine? Lead an active, exciting outdoor life against a world-wide backcloth?

These are some of the opportunities open to you as a Medical Officer in today's modern and expanding Royal Navy. During a 5-year Short Service Commission you can gain valuable, practical medical experience, treating both Royal Navy personnel and civilian families.

And you'll see something of the world – before you settle into the routine of general practice. You will be well paid, with a starting salary higher than that of a civilian hospital registrar. Marriage and other allowances can add considerably to your income. And, if you wish, you can apply for a Permanent Commission after 1 year's service. Later, you can study (with financial backing) for higher degrees, and you could aim for consultant status.

3 Ways of Entry

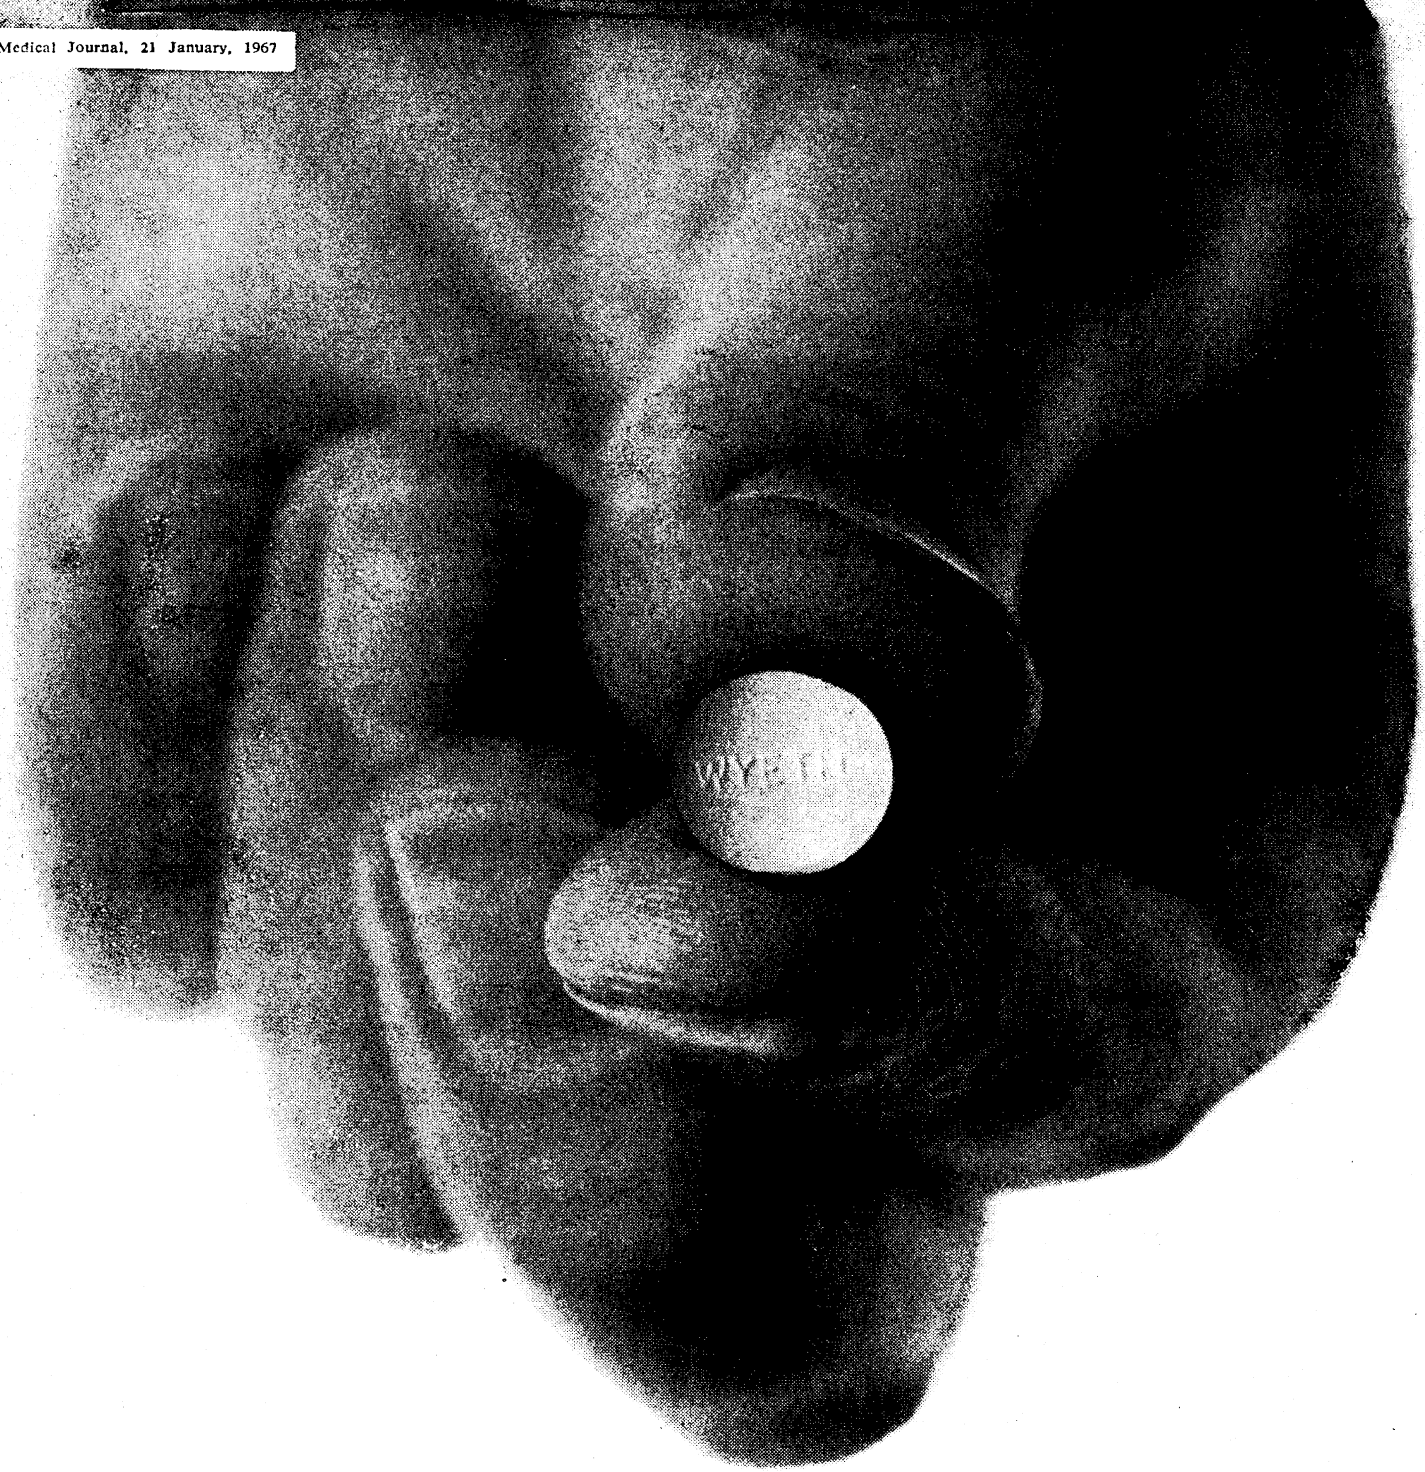

1. As a fully registered doctor; civilian experience counts towards your seniority.
2. During your pre-registration year.

3. As a student any time after passing 2nd M.B. For fully registered women doctors there is a special Short Service Commission.

If you would like more information, write to the address below, giving details of your age and qualifications. A personal interview can be arranged if desired.

HAVAPEN

a unique new penicillin specifically 'tailored'
to meet your needs in general practice

HAVAPEN* (penamecillin, Wyeth) is a scientifically 'tailored' penicillin developed by Wyeth research to allow you to prescribe penicillin G orally in a reliable form. HAVAPEN is not inactivated by gastric acid and you can maintain constantly effective blood levels of penicillin G by prescribing just one tablet every 8 hours. You thus ensure real overnight protection for your patients and there is less risk of forgotten doses. Remember too that penicillin G is still the most effective antibiotic against the majority of infections you encounter in your practice. Each HAVAPEN tablet contains 350 mg. penamecillin equivalent to 510,000 units penicillin G. In bottles of 100.

And now Exolan Cream in response to the needs of the ambulant patient in the treatment of psoriasis

New Exolan Cream has been prepared in a cosmetically acceptable vanishing cream base, and is ideal for the treatment of psoriasis of the scalp. In general cases of psoriasis it may also be prescribed for the ambulant patient who prefers to use a cream formulation.

In the treatment of psoriasis, triacetoxanthracene has been shown to exhibit the healing properties of dithranol while displaying none of the side effects of burning or staining the skin. It therefore may be used by the patient in his own home without fear that any harm will result if it accidentally comes into contact with normal skin.

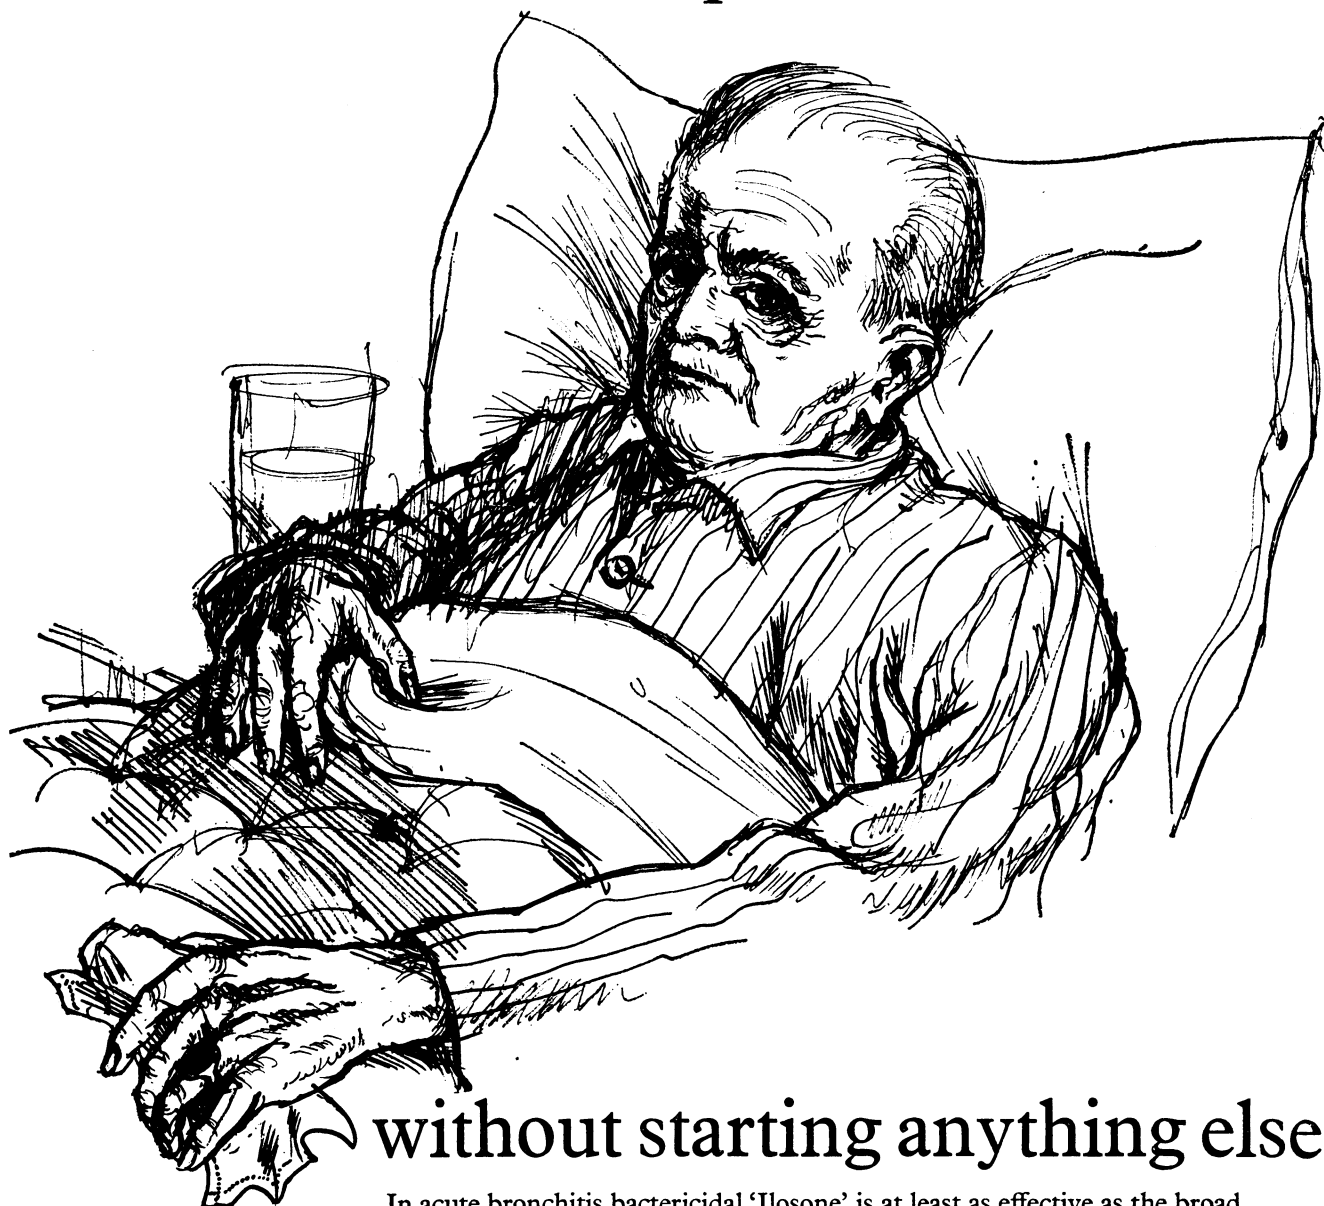

After examining various formulations of triacetoxanthracene the most clinically effective was found to be the one which corresponds to EXOLAN PASTE. This preparation is similar in constitution to the dithranol/Lassars Paste combination which has been recommended by Consultant Dermatologists for many years.

Unfortunately some patients do not like applying pastes, especially during the day time. Also their use is precluded on the scalp and other hairy regions of the body. EXOLAN CREAM has therefore been formulated for use in these cases and contains 1% triacetoxanthracene in a vanishing cream base.

'ILOSONE' stops acute bronchitis

without starting anything else

In acute bronchitis bactericidal 'Ilosone' is at least as effective as the broad spectrum agents and a great deal less troublesome.

You can spare the patient the risk of secondary intestinal infection by prescribing 'Ilosone', because its spectrum extends to most common pathogens, including H. influenzae, but NOT to the predominant gut flora. (The use of supplementary nystatin is unnecessary with 'Ilosone'.)

'Ilosone' is available as 'Pulvules' of 125 mg and 250 mg and a pleasant tasting suspension for children containing 125 mg per 5 ml. Usual adult dosage is 250 mg every six hours, which can be safely doubled in severe infections. The dosage of 'Ilosone' suspension for children aged 2-7 years is one teaspoonful 4 times daily.

'Ilosone' is indicated for acute bronchitis, acute tonsillitis, pharyngitis and other bacterial respiratory infections.

Psoriasis ... rapid response to Alphosyl

... even in previously intractable cases. A patient of 48 who had a generalised psoriasis for 20 years was essentially clear in six weeks.² A girl of 10 with a strong familial history of psoriasis, cleared almost completely after three weeks' application of Alphosyl Cream.² These are just two typical cases from the extensive clinical records underlining Alphosyl's outstanding effectiveness in bringing psoriasis under control.

New Alphosyl lubricating cream. A new water-in-oil dosage form, Alphosyl Lubricating Cream is particularly significant in the treatment of the dry, extremely scaly psoriatic lesion confined to the small site and the intertriginous area. Alphosyl cream is especially helpful in clearing psoriatic plaques exposed to constant friction. By enhancing lubrication of the skin folds, it serves to lessen irritation and facilitate healing. Clearing is prompt, even in previously resistant cases. The effectiveness of Alphosyl in this form is attributable in large measure to its unique cream base. This consists of a combination of saturated and unsaturated free fatty acids, naturally occurring triglycerides and esters that resemble the lipoid constituents of normal healthy skin. The vehicle also contains hydrophylic-lipophilic bipolar substances which enhance the moisture uptake and retention of the amphoteric proteins of the stratum corneum. Significantly, it has been shown that squalane, one of the components of the base, is most effective in dissolving a cement substance in psoriatic scales.

Formula: Allantoin 2%+90% alcoholic extract of coal-tar (5=1) 5% in a vanishing type cream base or a smooth, non-greasy lotion base.

Once monilial vaginitis was a frustrating problem for the doctor and a long-drawn-out misery for the patient.

Now there is CANDEPTIN

Monilia is increasingly recognised as a major cause of vaginitis—and Candeptin is an antibiotic which now makes a major contribution to its treatment. This dramatic new antifungal agent brings quick relief of symptoms¹ and a decisive resolution of the infection.²

In the laboratory, Candeptin has been shown³ to inhibit Candida albicans at 0.05 mcg/ml, even after two days' incubation. Under the same circumstances nystatin had to be used at 5 mcg/ml to achieve inhibition.

In clinical practice^{2,4,5} Candeptin gives equally remarkable results. Out of a total of 190 women, both pregnant and non-pregnant, 173 were cured after one course of treatment and a further 14 responded to a second course.

New evidence supports hydroxocobalamin (Nec-Cytamen) in B₁₂ deficiency

Neo-Cytamen (hydroxocobalamin) is the specific, most efficient and most economical treatment for pernicious anaemia. Hydroxocobalamin is more slowly absorbed from the injection site than cyanocobalamin¹ and the degree of protein binding of hydroxocobalamin is three times greater²; it is therefore better retained. This was confirmed by recent clinical studies of the treatment of pernicious anaemia in which it was found that higher and more persistent serum B₁₂ levels were obtained with hydroxocobalamin than with cyanocobalamin³. These studies also showed that because hydroxocobalamin was better retained satisfactory maintenance therapy was possible with injections (1000 micrograms) at two-monthly intervals. The results of a subsequent clinical study⁴ suggested that the interval between maintenance injections could often be safely extended to three months with satisfactory results. "From both biological and therapeutic aspect, hydroxocobalamin is preferable to cyanocobalamin and should therefore become the standard preparation for the treatment of vitamin B₁₂ deficiency."³

Antenatal protection against megaloblastic and iron-deficiency anaemias for less than 2/8d per month

The routine use of supplementary iron and physiological doses of folic acid throughout pregnancy is now widely accepted as the best way of preventing iron-deficiency and megaloblastic anaemias. However, during such routine treatment two separate oral preparations are often employed, increasing the costs and requiring the patient to take several tablets a day. Pregamal, containing folic acid and iron, offers economy in both cost (100 tablets 2/8*) and dosage (one to three tablets a day). The folic acid content in Pregamal (100 micrograms) is considered to give adequate protection without obscuring the blood picture of the occasional case of Addisonian pernicious anaemia. The iron as ferrous fumarate (ferrous iron 65 mg per tablet) is well tolerated, well absorbed and well utilised. Pregamal, all through pregnancy, provides combined protection against megaloblastic anaemia and iron-deficiency anaemia—for less than 2/8 per month.

Long-term management of the elderly hypertensive— with safe potassium supplement

In long-term diuretic/anti-hypertensive treatment the dangers of gastric irritation or small bowel ulceration following potassium supplements are well known. One way of avoiding these dangers is to ensure that the potassium supplement is released very slowly in the small intestine without reaching high concentrations at any time. Glaxo Neo-NaClex-K, the two-tier tablet, is designed to do just this. Soon after the tablet is swallowed the white tier provides the diuretic/anti-hypertensive dose (2.5 mg bendrofluazide) for smooth, sustained reduction of blood pressure. The second (pink) tier then releases the potassium supplement (630 mg potassium chloride) very slowly so that no great concentration of potassium is reached at one time. The smooth action of bendrofluazide and the slow release of potassium of Neo-NaClex-K makes long-term management of the hypertensive, especially the elderly hypertensive, safer and easier.

Complan —the complete meal in a cup

For patients who cannot tolerate solid foods in illness and convalescence Complan, prepared as a pleasant drink, provides all the nourishment they need. Complan contains every essential constituent of the human diet, balanced for complete nutrition and blended for easy assimilation. Preparing Complan is so simple; it takes only a few minutes. This is why, during winter, Complan is most useful in providing excellent nourishment for the elderly—especially those living alone. As it is a food, Complan is not prescribable on EC10. However, as the cost is only 5/- (recommended price) per 1 lb carton you can recommend Complan without hesitation—as a complete planned diet or as a nutritious dietary supplement. What else that is so good costs so little?

Economical Fersamal —the type of oral iron supported by new evidence

Recently the merits of various iron preparations in the treatment of uncomplicated though severe iron-deficiency anaemias were discussed in an article¹ with special reference to two studies^{2,3} published not long ago. It was concluded that simple iron salts, given orally in divided doses, providing 180 to 220 mg of ferrous iron per day, were completely effective and that there was no therapeutic advantage to be gained from using complex and expensive oral iron preparations. Fersamal offers a simple and effective oral iron therapy that is not only economical but also highly acceptable to patients. Fersamal (Tablets and Syrup) contains ferrous fumarate, an extremely well-tolerated iron salt with a very low incidence of gastric or intestinal disturbances, even among patients intolerant of other iron preparations. The tablets (each containing 65 mg ferrous iron) are small, easy to swallow and are palatable enough to be chewed if preferred. The syrup (each 5 ml containing 45 mg ferrous iron) has a delightful fruit flavour which appeals especially to children. In practice these advantages secure the co-operation of patients and ensure effective therapy.

A doctor's life with a difference can be found in the ROYAL ARMY MEDICAL CORPS

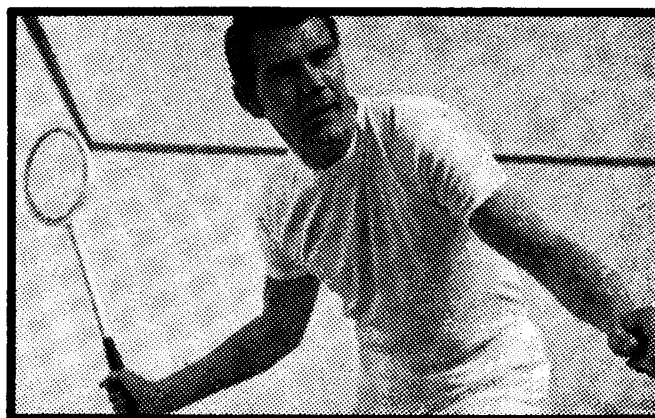

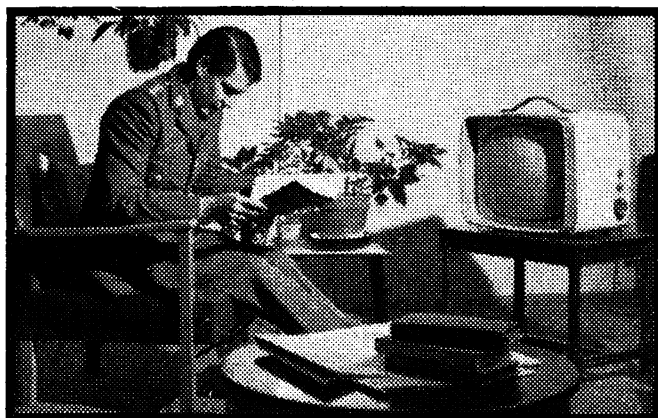

Excellent opportunities are provided for general practice under good conditions of service. The professional opportunities are very wide and varied and include caring for the wives and children of soldiers.

All aspects of medical care—preventive medicine, general and hospital practice are closely integrated. Surgeries are organised by groups and groups are supported by hospitals so that Medical Officers are able to follow up those of their patients admitted to hospital. These modern surgeries have every facility. Good equipment, trained staff, and a locum provided for six weeks' annual leave. Post-graduate training is given.

For the married man it matters greatly how his wife feels about the Service. The community spirit of Army life, especially overseas, embraces an Officer's family as much as himself. Such extra emoluments as Marriage Allowance, Education Allowance, Disturbance Allowance, and Local Overseas Allowance, show the importance attached by the Army to helping the Officer with a family. Most married Medical Officers get a furnished house at low rental.

Pay for a married Captain (the rank on entry) is over £2000. There are increases every two years and on promotion. Promotion to Major can normally be expected after 5 years and to Lieut-Colonel after 13 years (or shorter, where an antedate is given for experience in hospitals and general practice). Commissions granted may be permanent or Short Service. A Short Service commission earns a tax-free gratuity of £3000 for 5 years' service, £1500 for 3 years. Regular commissions are pensionable on the normal basis.

CHILD CARE

Published 1 January, 1967

This book is the second to be published from a series of articles that have appeared in the "Current Practice" section of the British Medical Journal. It gives practical up-to-date advice on problems faced by general practitioners. The articles that make up the book cover the period from infancy to adolescence, and in their scope cover child-care in the broadest sense, with sections on normal development, adoption, puberty, and behaviour disorders as well as the diagnosis and management of childhood diseases. The authors are consultant paediatricians or leading authorities in their fields, but the emphasis throughout has been on a practical approach. It is hoped that the book will be a useful guide for all family doctors.
