Chips for tea?

Not all babies are getting chips for tea—but many are growing up on a diet that relies too much on starchy foods.

Yet any mother can give her baby a balanced diet of meats, vegetables, fruits, eggs, fish and cheese, by using Heinz Strained and Junior Foods now available in seventy-five varieties.

In the last year, special breakfast varieties have been introduced. And the fruit varieties are ideal for tea-time use.

For further information about Heinz Strained and Junior Foods, please write to the Food Science Advisory Service, H. J. Heinz Co. Ltd., Hayes Park, Hayes, Middlesex.

Heinz Baby Foods are in both cans and jars, but cans cost less and offer more varieties.

'Ilosone' excels as a first-line treatment for acute upper respiratory tract and bronchopulmonary infections of bacterial origin.

'Ilosone' is effective against a wide range of infections, but it is much more active than the tetracyclines against Gram-positive cocci—by far the commonest pathogens of the respiratory tract.

By selecting 'Ilosone' as your first-line treatment you ensure a rapid response in most cases—with much less risk of complications.

Talking of Holidays . . .

What has been the effect of devaluation on holidays abroad? Not so much as might have been expected thanks to the British Travel Trade. According to Mr. Chandler (Chairman of the Committee of Tour Operators, a member of the Council of the Association of British Travel Agents and Managing Director of the Travel Club) a great deal of co-operative action was taken as soon as the announcement was made in November. Within a short time quite a number of effective measures had been agreed. Spanish prices are to be the same as before; Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and some of the hotels in Portugal agreed to maintain prices; the Italian hoteliers sent a delegation to London to negotiate terms; airlines agreed not to increase charter flight prices by more than 5%. It seems that generally speaking the increases will be in the region of 5% to 10%.

The sterling area will naturally benefit, especially those places in the Mediterranean area such as Malta and Gibraltar. Malta in particular will be extremely popular as hotel accommodation has increased considerably over recent years and the island has so much to offer apart from its magnificent climate. The sandy beaches of St. Julians, Golden Bay, and Ghajn Tuffieha Bay are ideal for swimming and sun-bathing.

Organized tours will as usual attract the greatest number of holidaymakers as they offer so much and at prices only a little over the cost of air flights alone. There is much to be said in their favour not least being that, once you have booked, everything is done for you and your responsibility ends. A glance through the travel brochures shows the wide variety of countries and resorts from which a choice can be made.

This type of holiday, however, does not appeal to everyone and the car ferries will be as busy as ever. The steady rise in the number of boats and services is likely to help the long distance motorist considerably. Southampton to Le Havre, Weymouth to Cherbourg, and Dover to Calais or Zeebrugge are routes that are a boon for travellers to Spain, South of France, Italy, Austria and the Iron Curtain countries. Townsend Ferries have a special plan that is of great service in these days of limited currency allowances—they issue vouchers up to £30 a head for purchases abroad.

With devaluation added to the currency restriction it is small wonder that many people try to find ways and means of having the overseas holiday they like in the places that they prefer, and the renting of villas or flats can be the answer. Arrangements can be made in England and paid for in sterling with only a few pounds (£6 or £7) deducted from the £50 allowance. There are a number of firms that cater for this type of holiday and of course prices can vary considerably, but it can be a false economy to be influenced too much by the saving of a few pounds. The best rental companies include the services of a maid for household chores, arrange for baby-sitting and the cost includes the hire of a car in some cases. You can therefore judge fairly accurately your total expenditure before you leave this country. Villas are available in all the best areas—Majorca, Ibiza, Costa del Sol, Malta, Greece, France, Portugal, Italy and Sardinia.

M.S.?

No need, obviously, to acquaint you with the facts of Multiple Sclerosis, also known as Disseminated Sclerosis, or that over 40,000 people in Gt. Britain suffer from the disease.

You'll doubtless know, too, about the work done by The Multiple Sclerosis Society of Gt. Britain and Northern Ireland, not the least part of which is to encourage a greater awareness on the part of the general public to the nature of the disease. In this respect, the co-operation of the medical profession is urgently needed. If you have a patient who is suffering from M.S., and you decide that it is in his best interests to acquaint him of this fact, the Society would be grateful if you would let him know of the work it is doing, and how, through its welfare services, it can help him, too.

Distalgesic erases pain

Distalgesic is effective where prolonged medication is necessary; in pain which recurs intermittently and in the acute pain of injury. In severe pain, Distalgesic can often delay the need for parenteral narcotics. It is non-narcotic, does not cause constipation, addiction or gastric bleeding.

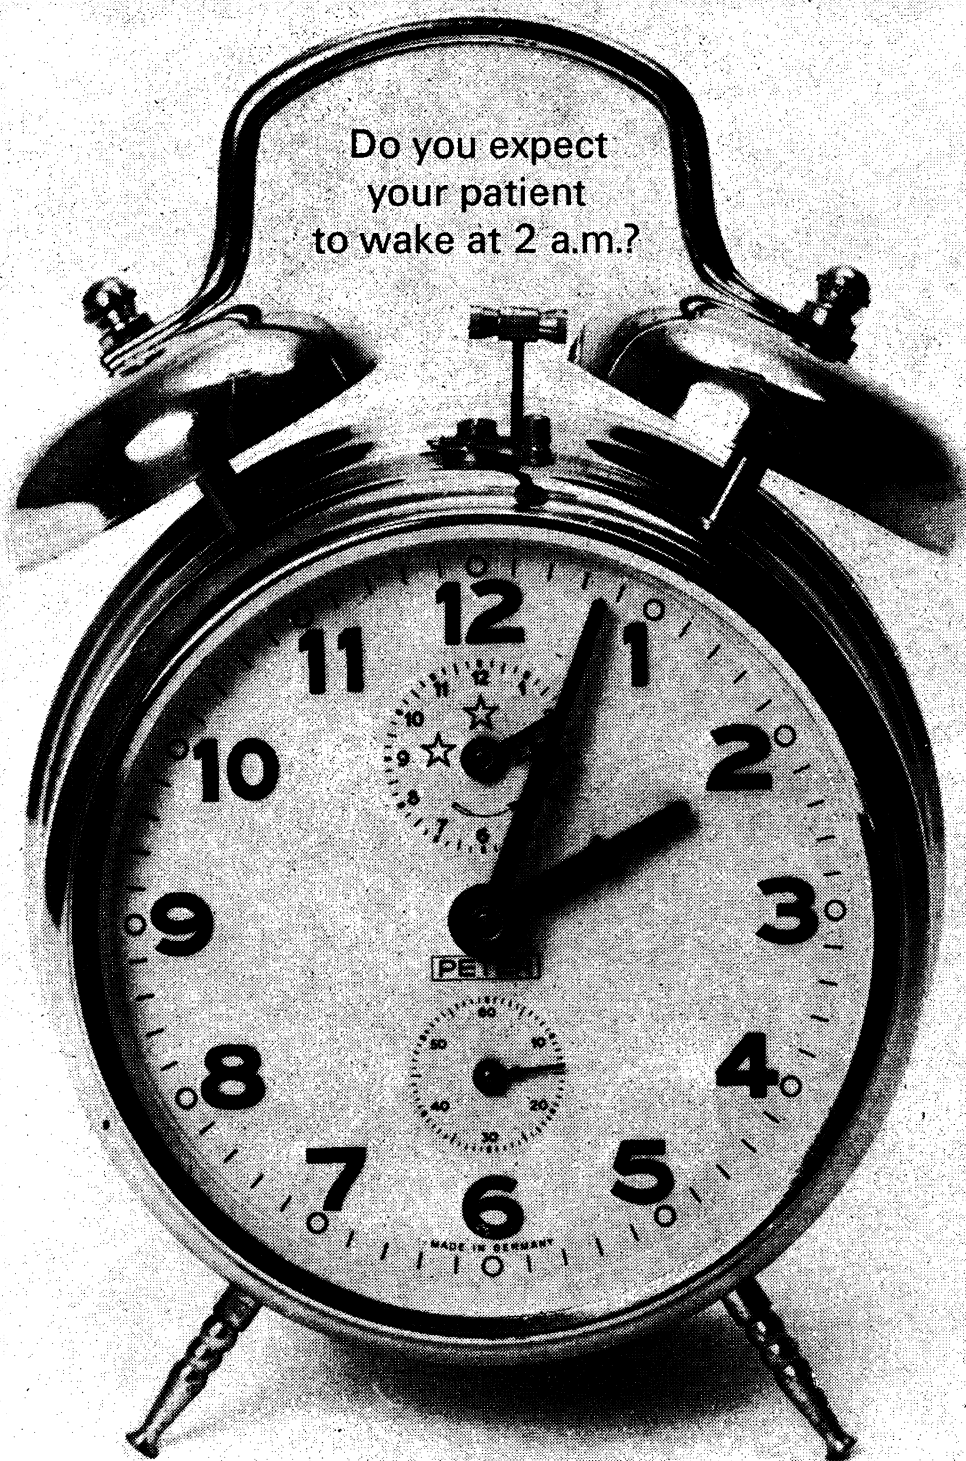

Distalgesic tablets – specially shaped for ease of swallowing and identification – each contain 32.5 mg dextro-propoxyphene hydrochloride, authoritatively described as the most promising alternative to codeine, and 325 mg paracetamol, generally regarded as the safest of the antipyretic analgesics.

ANTIBIOTICS

AND THE INTESTINAL FLORA

Treatment with broad spectrum antibiotics suppresses the normal flora, which may be replaced by abnormal resistant organisms causing diarrhoea.

This change can be prevented or reversed by the implantation of Lactobacillus acidophilus which has been rendered antibiotic-resistant, and is thus able to multiply freely under these abnormal conditions. The products of growth of the organism are inimical to that of many other bacteria¹ and thus contribute to its rapid preponderance over other species.

Oral treatment with antibiotic-resistant L. acidophilus in the form of ENPAC has been shown to eliminate Candida from the faeces of infants with antibiotic-induced diarrhoea, with relief of symptoms succeeded by rapid gain in weight² and greatly to reduce the numbers of staphylococci in the faeces of patients treated with tetracyclines.³

To lessen the fear of mutilation . . . arrange for Prosthesis before mastectomy

The psychological hazards of mastectomy are generally recognized. A woman's fear of mutilation—of its effect on her appearance—is often as great as her fear of surgery itself. That is why arranging for the correct prosthesis replacement before surgery helps to minimize the psychic trauma—enabling the patient to face the adjustment period with more calm and assurance.

The surgeon can prescribe Spencer Mastectomy Supports with complete confidence that they will meet both the medical and cosmetic indications. The reason: Each Spencer Breast Support and Breast Form is individually designed, cut and made for each patient.

Wherever support is indicated for breasts, back, abdomen—for women, men, children—you will find Spencer Supports demonstrably superior.

STUDIES IN THE DEVELOPMENT AND DECAY OF THE HUMAN FRAME

by

JOSEPH TRUETA, M.D., F.R.C.S., F.A.C.S., Nuffield Professor Emeritus of Orthopaedic Surgery, University of Oxford

This book covers many of the stages by which the human body evolves from its early embryonic soft structure to the hard nature of its senile span. As the author explains in the preface, great emphasis is placed on matters that have engaged him either in the laboratory or in the clinical wards. New data and thoughts are provided, among others, on the mechanisms of bone pain, the vascular factor in osteogenesis, bone sclerosis, Paget's disease and the degenerative processes, osteoarthritis in particular.

PORPHYRIA— A ROYAL MALADY

Published yesterday

The last 400 years of British history will now have to be reassessed. Every schoolboy knows that George III was mad, that James I of England and VI of Scotland was the "wisest fool in Christendom," and that there were attempts to poison Mary Queen of Scots. "Facts" as widely known as these have now been shown to be based on the inadequate medical knowledge of the times. Each of these, and other royal personages, are now shown in this booklet to have been suffering from a rare disease—porphyria—and, in contrast to previous speculations on the nature of their illness, this diagnosis has now been substantiated not only by an investigation of contemporary records but by studies of two living collaterals of George III.

The booklet contains two articles by Dr. Ida Macalpine and her colleagues on porphyria in the Royal Houses of Stuart, Hanover and Prussia; a historical reassessment by Dr. John Brooke and an introduction to the disease by Professor Abe Goldberg.

As Dr. Macalpine and her colleagues conclude in their second article:

"Porphyria may justly be called a royal malady. It caused directly two major national disasters: The Regency Crisis in 1788 when George III had his severest attack, and the catastrophe of 1817 when Princess Charlotte died in childbed with her infant. This tragedy threatened the Hanoverian succession with extinction and left the nation without an heir apparent until the birth in 1819 of Victoria."

Ferromyn-S gives 30% better iron absorption

SO?

So your patients make a faster recovery without increased dosage or increased side-effects.

Most oral iron treatments will get your patients better eventually. But only Ferromyn-S has an iron salt combined with free succinic acid, which research has shown, pushes up the absorption rate by 30%* - without increases in dosage or side-effects*.

Because the body absorbs more iron, patients respond to treatment sooner with quicker regeneration of the haemoglobin, faster repletion of tissue and storage iron. When you prescribe Ferromyn-S for your anaemic patients you are giving them all the benefits of the latest research on iron metabolism.

Ferromyn-S combines the maximum therapeutic effect with the minimum side-effects at a cost of less than 2d. per day. What more could a Doctor - or patient - ask?

Ferromyn-S with Folic Acid is also available; each tablet contains 100 mcg Folic Acid, thus, at a dose of one tab.t.d.s. the recognised optimum daily dose of 300 mcg is prescribed.

This high success rate is explained by Broxil's

- ☐ Bactericidal action.
- ☐ Greater activity than penicillins V and G against mildly resistant (low penicillinase-producing) staphylococci.¹
- ☐ High serum levels resulting in more antibiotic at the site of infection.

Broxil's successes have led one clinician to conclude :

'... phenethicillin (Broxil) adequately controls acute suppurative otitis media and has the added advantage over parenteral penicillin G in that no injections are necessary.'²

Broxil Syrup is ideal for the treatment of otitis media.

Advantages

In the skin-blanching test¹ Betnovate (betamethasone 17-valerate) was shown to be the most potent of a long series of corticosteroids put to test.² The validity of this screening test has been confirmed by clinical experience indicating that Betnovate is therapeutically more effective than the other topical corticosteroids in the majority of cases.³

Indications

Betnovate produces a remarkably rapid and profound response in inflammatory dermatoses which normally respond to topical corticosteroid therapy. It also makes possible effective topical therapy of more difficult conditions such as resistant psoriasis, hypertrophic lichen planus, lichen simplex chronicus and eczema of the hands. Clinical indications for use of Betnovate dermatological preparations include:

psoriasis; eczema — including atopic eczema, infantile eczema, Besnier's (flexural) prurigo, nummular (discoid) eczema, stasis eczema, otitis externa; neurodermatoses — including lichen simplex; anal and vulval pruritus; seborrhoeic dermatitis; intertrigo; contact sensitivity reactions and allergies — including insect bites; sunburn; 'prickly heat'; lichen planus; discoid lupus erythematosus; generalised erythrodermia.

The preparations with neomycin should be used when bacterial infection is present or suspected. Similarly, the preparations containing chionoform can be used when bacterial or fungal infection is present or suspected.

Side effects

Corticosteroids should never be used in the presence of infection except in conjunction with effective chemotherapy. Usually the preparations are well tolerated. However, sensitisation phenomena have on very rare occasions been reported with the use of corticosteroid-containing preparations for local application. From existing reports it is difficult to determine whether or not the corticosteroid or other components were responsible. Neomycin, largely confined in its use to local application, has been reported to give rise to skin sensitisation. These occurrences, however, are rather uncommon and this antibiotic is probably one of the best tolerated when used for local application. It can be said to have a very low sensitising potential. If, by remote chance any indication of sensitisation occurs, application should be stopped immediately. When occlusive dressings are used on extensive areas, or for prolonged periods, it is desirable that, as with all topical corticosteroids, the possibility of systemic absorption should be considered.

Application

Ointment, Cream, Lotion and Scalp Application

A small quantity should be applied gently to the affected area once or twice daily until improvement occurs. It may then be possible to maintain progressive improvement using one application a day or less.

Tulle

Apply direct to the lesion and cover with an absorbent dressing if necessary.
