private treatment today

BUPA's New Unit Scheme

Since BUPA was formed in 1947 it has been necessary, on several occasions, to adjust the Association's scales of subscription and benefit in order to keep pace with the rising cost of private treatment. These changes have, over the years, greatly increased the amount of cover afforded subscribers but the basic form of our subscription and benefit tables has remained unaltered.

It is important therefore to make it clear from the start that the Unit Scheme is not merely another addition to, or enlargement upon, our present scales but a completely new system which is designed to replace the present benefit structure.

There are two aspects of the Unit Scheme which make it fundamentally different from anything hitherto undertaken by a provident association in this country.

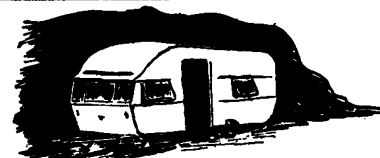

Until now we have had four open scales, each providing comprehensive cover against the costs of private medical treatment. In recent years, however, experience has shown that some of these costs—notably the cost of staying in a nursing home or hospital pay-bed—have risen out of proportion to others, and the problem has been aggravated by the fact that nursing home and hospital charges vary enormously throughout the country. We have therefore decided to divide our subscription and benefit tables in two by separating accommodation and nursing charges from the cost of the actual treatment. This new structure is composed of nine units to cover the cost of accommodation and nursing—benefits for accommodation vary between £28 and £84 a week—and three units to cover the cost of treatment. The subscriber can now select any combination from these two groups of units thereby fashioning a 'scale' of benefit tailored exactly to his own needs.

The second important advantage of the new scheme is that it guarantees the subscriber continuity of benefit; whatever the subscriber's health record after joining, BUPA will renew the annual contract without restriction. This, in our opinion, is the most important attribute of any benefit table. Continuity brings security and it is security that the subscriber so much needs. Generally, for instance, the poorer the health record the more the member needs continuity of cover.

From January 1, 1968, new subscribers automatically go on to the Unit Scheme. Current subscribers may, if they wish, remain on their present scales but they will be given every encouragement to transfer to the Unit Scheme and each of them will be fully informed about the new Scheme at the time of renewing their annual contract. Our General Practitioner Scheme will remain in its present form as an optional extension to the Unit Scheme.

Holidays on Wheels

One of the effects of the devaluation of the pound and the consequent loss on the value of travel allowances is that caravan holidays abroad will be even more popular. This loss of £7 or £8 to each person in countries where the devaluation is effective is not necessarily of much importance to caravanners. They can so easily avoid the big resorts and cities where to live beyond one's means or at least up to one's means is a temptation to be fought, and this is a battle so easily lost.

There are, of course, good and bad caravan sites, so care in selection either at home or abroad is always necessary if you are booking in advance. The various clubs have reliable lists for most countries and overseas tourist offices can always supply full information.

For some years sites in Britain were not up to Continental standards, but now that there is so much local control and voluntary improvements by owners this is no longer the case. There is a continual emphasis on increased amenities with swimming pools, fishing lakes, motor and sailing boats for hire, and more extensive and better shopping and restaurant facilities. The veteran caravanner and camper might sneer at these refinements but to the family man they are a necessity and furthermore do much to encourage a wider range of people to take holidays of this nature.

The choice of caravans is one of individual tastes and requirements and there is a considerable range of reliable makes at prices from £200 upwards. In the first place a visit to a caravan centre is always worth while. It gives one the opportunity of seeing many makes and finding one that is suitable. In addition most of the centres have a number of accessories and awnings that are relatively inexpensive but can do so much to improve a holiday. Awnings and extensions can be a boon in all sorts of weather particularly for the family man when space is at a premium.

A relatively recent innovation is the trailer with a built-in folding tent that can be simply erected over the chassis and provides off-the-ground sleeping accommodation. Awnings give the additional living space. An advance on this idea is the trailer which contains glass sections for the walls and roof—it takes only a few minutes to erect a complete structure.

There is a continual improvement in motor caravans and the advantages of new conversions or models seem to be directed at better equipment, increased headroom and extensions. Prices range from just over £700 up to more than £3,000 for a Wilson's Adventurer. This latter price includes the interior planned to customer's requirements and includes many extras such as refrigerator and water heater and luxury fittings.

CARAVANS TOURING AND HOLIDAYS

Many interesting motor caravan tours have been organized, but one of the most attractive is that offered by the Motor Caravan Club. It is called Continental Caravanserai '68. The tour covers 1,800 miles in 16 days and travels through France, Italy and Switzerland. Five days are spent by the sea at Flumaretta in Italy and on the way home an evening at Merciers Champagne Cellars, Epernay, followed by a Candlelight Banquet.

Early in February an exhibition is being held at the Olympia, London, which is a "must" to caravanners and campers. Much of the latest equipment and accessories will be on show together with caravans, motor caravans and trailers. The State Tourist Offices of France, Italy and Poland will have holiday information stands, as well as the Association of Spanish Camp Sites.

So whether you are only just starting or whether you are an experienced caravanner do not forget COLEX '68, the 10th Annual Camping and Outdoor Life Exhibition, which incorporates the 5th Annual Holiday and Travel Exhibition—Olympia—February 2 to 10.

STANDARD The height of the crossbar

The Rugby Union was founded on January 28th, 1871, forty-eight years after William Webb Ellis 'first took the ball in his arms and ran with it.' Mr. A. Rutter of Blackheath was the first president, and two months later the first Rugby International took place, between England and Scotland. (Scotland won.) It is the Rugby Union, of course, who lay down the law today, including the size of the goal posts, each of which must exceed 11 ft. from the ground, placed 18 ft. 6 in. from inside to inside of the posts, with a crossbar 10 ft. from the ground.

STANDARD The Transvasin therapy for rheumatic symptoms

Patients suffering from rheumatic lesions obtain rapid relief with this well-proven and economical medication. The esters of nicotinic, salicylic and p-aminobenzoic acids penetrate the skin and are concentrated at the point of injury, producing superficial erythema and deep hyperaemia. Transvasin is a valuable adjuvant in the treatment of osteo and rheumatoid arthritis.

A statement about hypertension and 'Esbatal' (Bethanidine)

An authoritative British clinical team found that control of blood pressure was achieved with 'Esbatal' in 73 to 87 per cent of the hypertensive patients they treated. Toxicity was not seen. Side-effects were rare. Tolerance was not a problem. Postural side-effects could usually be overcome by adjusting the dosage, timing of administration or by use of a diuretic.

The team with its wide experience in treating hypertension concluded that 'Esbatal' compares favourably with other established drugs. It comments that 'Esbatal' "has advantages which outweigh relative disadvantages in comparison with guanethidine or methyldopa". The incidence of side-effects, toxic effects and feelings of malaise were less with 'Esbatal' than with these two drugs.

To quote again from the report: "There would now seem to be no case for beginning treatment with guanethidine or methyldopa in any new patient, but either may be useful in any patient in whom treatment with one of the newer preparations is unsatisfactory."

For a full account of the trial which covered 82 patients and extended over 2½ years see the British Medical Journal 2nd December, 1967, pp. 519-521. Full information about 'Esbatal' brand Bethanidine Sulphate is available on request.

One THEO-NAR tablet gives double support

...8 hour relief of bronchospasm and irritant cough

Theo-nar is a special immediate-plus-delayed release tablet presentation which greatly enhances the therapeutic action of its two constituents – theophylline to relieve bronchospasm and noscapine to suppress exhausting, unproductive cough. In particular Theo-nar allows administration of a really effective dose of theophylline – giving profound bronchodilation without the high incidence of gastro-intestinal side effects sometimes associated with oral theophylline therapy.*

With Theo-nar there is no peak-and-valley effect in blood levels of the medicaments. Two or three tablets are thus sufficient to keep the patient symptom-free throughout the night and day – and the need for steroid therapy is reduced or eliminated.*

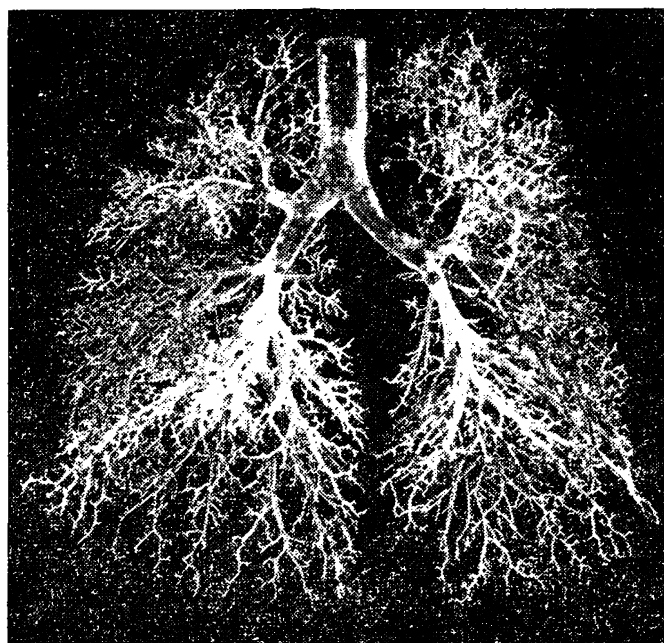

* Clinical Trials Journal, 1966, 4 : 51.

Presentation Each Theo-nar tablet contains 200 mg theophylline and 30 mg noscapine processed to provide immediate release of 100 mg theophylline and 15 mg noscapine, and delayed release after four hours of 100 mg theophylline and 15 mg noscapine.

Why Penbritin[®] is so powerful against bronchitis

Because many organisms can cause the different types of bronchitis, it is imperative to use an antibiotic which is active against all of them . . . for in General Practice treatment often has to begin before the causative organism can be identified. Penbritin's activity covers all penicillin-sensitive organisms, and Gram-negative organisms as well. Penbritin is bactericidal. Unlike most other broad-spectrum antibiotics which merely inhibit bacterial growth, Penbritin kills bacteria. This is an advantage in the treatment of any patient—and virtually essential when treating children, the old and others whose natural defences are inadequate.

Penbritin has the safety of a penicillin. It is free from dangerous or permanent side-effects* . . . of special interest in the treatment of children.

Penbritin's broad spectrum, bactericidal action and comparative safety, endorsed by many world references, establish it as a powerful force against bronchitis.

Penbritin is also highly effective in other respiratory tract infections including: Sinusitis · Pharyngitis · Laryngitis · Tonsillitis · Pneumonia.

Contra-indication: Penicillin allergy.
Side-effects: As with other penicillins.

Brinaldix K is a new diuretic preparation with an efficient but not precipitate diuretic action, and containing a potassium supplement.

Brinaldix K is presented as an effervescent tablet to be dissolved in water and taken as a palatable sparkling drink. Presentation of the potassium supplement in solution obviates the risk of intestinal ulceration.

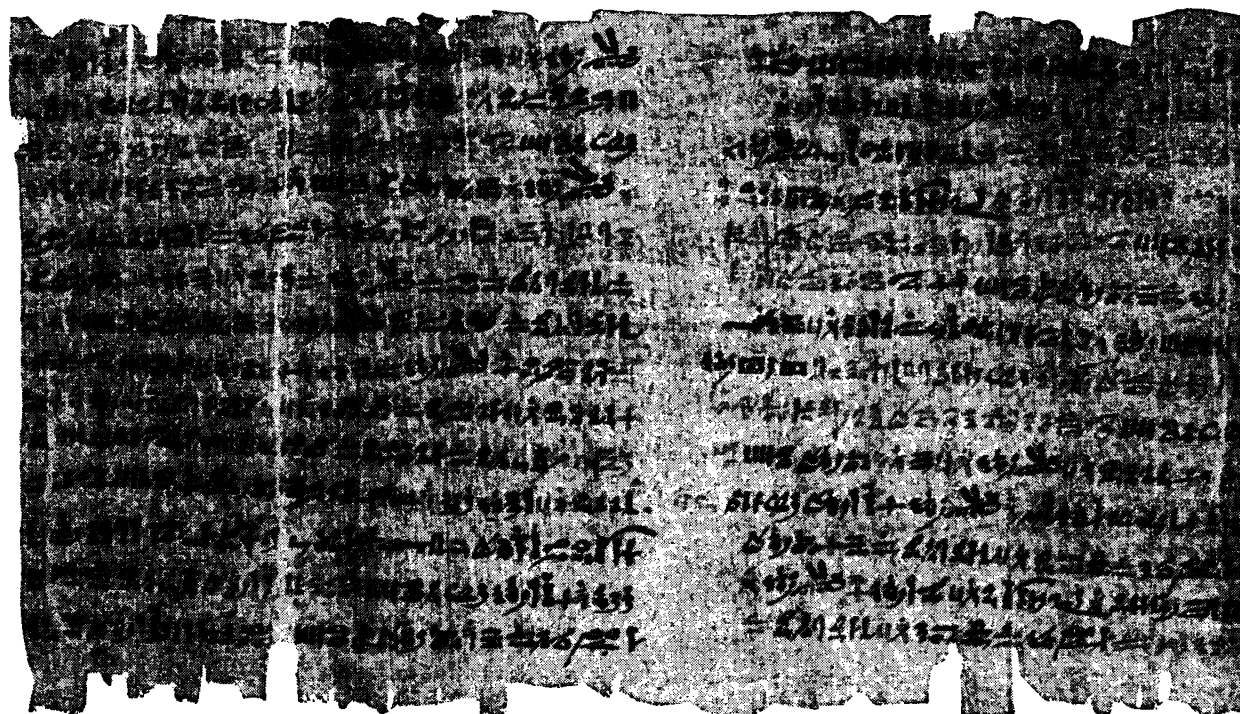

Brinaldix K has greater maximum effect than bendrofluazide or chlorothiazide. But its action is spread over several hours and the patient is not distressed by precipitate diuresis.

the Egyptians had a recipe for it...

CHESTER BEATTY MEDICAL PAPYRUS Illustrated is a medical treatise in which 41 disorders are mentioned for each of which a remedy is prescribed. Among the ingredients mentioned, are dried carob beans, fresh dates, castor oil, honey and water, doses of this medicine to be taken at intervals of four hours. This treatise has been copied as one of a series and makes a handsome print which we would be delighted to send you, at your request. By kind permission of the Trustees of the British Museum.

Nowadays a more convenient 'recipe' might be Parentrovite or Orovite; mental confusion in the elderly, for example, may benefit from a course of such ideal formulations.

Confusion is merely a symptom characterised by a failure of communication, in some degree or other, between the patient and his environment and may be common to a number of seemingly unrelated causes. An immediate one may be an interference with the normal, enzymatically-mediated energy reactions of the Krebs' cycle by drugs, by stress, by anoxia or by absence or relative insufficiency of those vitamins intimately related to such enzymes.

Confusion in the elderly patient may therefore be symptomatic of many underlying pathological conditions but in many cases may be corrected, temporarily at any rate, by attention to certain physiological essentials—maintenance of a familiar and stable environment, correction of dehydration, perhaps mild sedation (but never with barbiturates) and large doses of water-soluble vitamins preferably by the intravenous route, when glucose should be included. Such treatment with high potency vitamins '... cannot harm and may be of help'.*

powerful · bactericidal · antistaphylococcal

Whether in acute 'post-virus' pneumonia or more localized infection such as empyema, the potential severity of staphylococcal infection demands prompt and specific antibacterial therapy. FUCIDIN is rapidly and easily absorbed, gives serum and tissue levels which are bactericidal against almost all pathogenic staphylococcal strains; FUCIDIN exhibits remarkable ability to reach the nidus of infection despite poverty of blood supply or presence of pus. For early control of these difficult infections FUCIDIN has proved a reliable and economical choice—in over five years of clinical use.

In the treatment of psoriasis, triacetoxanthracene has been shown to exhibit the healing properties of dithranol while displaying none of the side effects of burning or staining the skin. It therefore may be used by the patient in his own home without the fear that any harm will result if it accidentally comes in contact with normal skin.

"Dithranol (trihydroxyanthracene) is one of the most effective drugs in the treatment of psoriasis. Unfortunately it has two disadvantages — it may irritate the skin and even cause blistering and it stains both the skin and the patient's under-clothes and bed linen. Within the last few months a modification of dithranol — 1,8,9-triacetoxanthracene — has been developed which neither burns the skin nor stains clothes. It is now being marketed as Exolan paste"

Pharmaceutical Journal (1966) 2, 175

"Exolan is a recently developed synthetic derivation of dithranol. The active ingredient is preferentially liberated by hydrolysis on the surface of the psoriatic plaques. The molecule is so adapted that the staining and much of the irritant properties of dithranol are avoided with loss of only some of its potency . . . It may also be tolerated in cases where the psoriasis is too inflamed or acute for dithranol, or where staining makes it cosmetically unacceptable."

British Medical Journal (1966) 2, 993

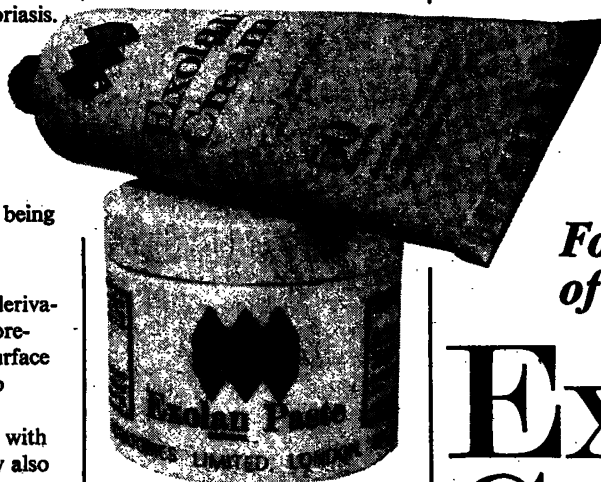

"Patients known to be sensitive to dithranol were not treated with the new drug, but in one case such a patient was given triacetoxanthracene without any adverse reaction occurring"

British Medical Journal (1967) 1, 682

"After three weeks treatment with triacetoxanthracene paste there was an amazing clearance and he was able to roll up his sleeves for the first time for 25 years. After a further 3 weeks he was practically clear and better than he had been for 30 years."

British Journal of Dermatology (1967) 79, 491

Psoriasis case history. Male patient aged 72 years with widespread chronic psoriasis admitted to hospital 18th October, 1966. Exolan Cream prescribed for application twice daily. Psoriasis practically clear; patient discharged 1st November, 1966.

Exolan is the only specific treatment for Psoriasis which has been given an A.2. classification by the Standing Joint Committee on the Classification of Proprietary Preparations. (A.2.: "A preparation of a single therapeutically active drug which has been shown to the Committee's satisfaction to have an acceptable degree of efficacy in relation to its toxicity and therapeutic indications and which in the light of alternative available preparations can be recommended for use.") PORPHYRIA— A ROYAL MALADY

Published January 1968

The last 400 years of British history will now have to be reassessed. Every schoolboy knows that George III was mad, that James I of England and VI of Scotland was the "wisest fool in Christendom," and that there were attempts to poison Mary Queen of Scots. "Facts" as widely known as these have now been shown to be based on the inadequate medical knowledge of the times. Each of these, and other royal personages, are now shown in this booklet to have been suffering from a rare disease—porphyria—and, in contrast to previous speculations on the nature of their illness, this diagnosis has now been substantiated not only by an investigation of contemporary records but by studies of two living collaterals of George III.

The booklet contains two articles by Dr. Ida Macalpine and her colleagues on porphyria in the Royal Houses of Stuart, Hanover and Prussia; a historical reassessment by Dr. John Brooke and an introduction to the disease by Professor Abe Goldberg.

As Dr. Macalpine and her colleagues conclude in their second article:

"Porphyria may justly be called a royal malady. It caused directly two major national disasters: The Regency Crisis in 1788 when George III had his severest attack, and the catastrophe of 1817 when Princess Charlotte died in childbirth with her infant. This tragedy threatened the Hanoverian succession with extinction and left the nation without an heir apparent until the birth in 1819 of Victoria."

Ovulen , the most widely prescribed oral contraceptive in Britain today.

Doctor experience The physician finds Ovulen 1 mg. not only an effective contraceptive, but also one which is very well tolerated. More prescriptions are written for Ovulen 1 mg. than for any other oral contraceptive in Britain.

Clinical experience Ovulen 1 mg. was subjected to extensive clinical trials in 2,500 women before it was made commercially available. Today, more than 16,000 women have been involved in clinical trials for over 190,000 cycles of experience.

Patient experience The acceptability of Ovulen 1 mg. is, of course, an important reason for its wide usage. Today millions of women in Britain and overseas use this low dose oral contraceptive.

Company experience Searle's experience in oral contraception is well known. In the 14 years since Searle developed the first oral contraceptive, its products have been used by many millions of women. Ovulen 1 mg is widely used in national family planning programmes throughout the world and in routine clinical practice.

What has apparently received little publicity and certainly very much less than it deserves is the potential of the method (oral contraception) for the production of highly desirable and pleasant side-effects, such as the heartening degree of personal happiness that seems to come to the patient, presumably from the confidence in the future that the method affords. I have also been favourably impressed by how readily and effectively this sense of happiness and confidence extends to other members of the family, husband and existing children . . .

SAFE SIMPLE EFFECTIVE NULACIN

EFFECTIVE, because Nulacin achieves continuous neutralisation of hyperacidity. As peptic ulcers arise and recur only in the presence of free acid, Nulacin not only relieves symptoms but is the ideal long-term medical treatment.

SIMPLE, because Nulacin is specially designed to dissolve slowly in the mouth and produce a continuous intragastric milk-alkali drip in the ambulant patient. One tablet provides up to 30 minutes' relief from excess acid.

SAFE, because clinical experience has shown that Nulacin produces no electrolyte disturbances and can be used in all patients with peptic ulcers.

NULACIN is a unique combination of whole milk protein and fats with dextrans, maltose and suitable antacids and provides economical, long-term medical treatment for peptic ulcer.
