New oral antibiotic from Glaxo cephalexin

in acute urinary tract infections, including pyelonephritis, gives a clinical success rate of over 80%*

Summary

Ceporex (cephalexin), the new cephalosporin antibiotic from Glaxo, is rapidly and almost completely absorbed, and gives very high tissue and urine levels within an hour of administration. In addition Ceporex has other advantages. It kills the gram-negative bacteria responsible for the majority of urinary tract infections, and this, together with its low toxicity, makes it ideally suited to the treatment of acute cystitis, pyelonephritis and other urinary tract infections. Although Ceporex should be used with caution when there is a history of allergy, it is usually well tolerated by patients hypersensitive to the penicillins.

Indications

Gram-positive and gram-negative bacterial infections of the urinary tract, respiratory tract, soft tissues and skin due to susceptible organisms.

Acute and chronic pyelonephritis, cystitis, prostatitis and asymptomatic bacteriuria.

Upper respiratory tract infections such as bacterial tonsillitis and pharyngitis. Otitis media and externa, sinusitis and other infections of the ear, nose and throat.

Pneumonia, bronchopneumonia and post-operative chest infections. Bronchitis and bronchiectasis. Furunculosis, erysipelas, cellulitis, abscess, lymphangitis, pyoderma and other skin, wound or soft tissue infections.

Gonorrhoea (when penicillin is unsuitable).

Bone and joint infections including osteomyelitis and septic arthritis. Gynaecological and obstetric infections.

Temporary replacement of penicillin prophylaxis in patients with rheumatic heart disease whilst undergoing dental treatment.

Administration and Dosage Ceporex is administered orally. The adult dosage in most urinary tract infections: 250 to 500 mg 6-hourly.

Adverse reactions and precautions

A small proportion of patients receiving cephalexin may experience gastro-intestinal disturbances such as nausea, vomiting, anorexia and general abdominal discomfort. As with all broad-spectrum antibiotics, superinfection can occur (mostly monilial) and sometimes presents as vulvo-vaginitis. Reversible neutropenia has occurred in a few patients, but is very rare. Generalised drug rashes – urticarial or maculopapular – are uncommon. When renal function is very markedly impaired, Ceporex may accumulate in the serum and tissues, unless the dosage is suitably reduced.

Contra-indication Hypersensitivity to cephalosporins.

Outdoor Life...

Some 20,000 people will invest in a touring caravan this year, and this is a conservative figure based only on the new member intake of the Caravan Club—the world's largest. Its total membership this year is 115,000, 17,108 newcomers having enrolled in 1969. The reasons for doing so are many and varied, but the main one is the freedom that this kind of holiday affords. For the majority it used to be because of cost, for after the initial outlay a family could look forward to economic holidays for years to come.

While cost is still important, more and more professional people are buying touring caravans, indicating that freedom is now more important than money; but they want comfort too, and the modern touring caravan assures them of that.

With a caravan seclusion is still possible, even in the rapidly diminishing British countryside, especially if a tour is restricted to the "certificated location" type of site. These are small five-van sites, mainly on farms, whose owners have been issued with a certificate by an exempted organisation which obviates the need for a site licence. The largest network of such sites is controlled by the Caravan Club, which lists over 1,500 of them in an annually revised sites directory published just before Easter. This is over 1,400 more than any other organisation and these, combined with 80 large sites taking from 50 to over 100 caravans, makes the directory invaluable.

There has also been an amazing increase in the number of people taking touring caravans abroad. While it is impossible to give an absolutely accurate figure, inquiries from ferry companies showed that something like 25,000 people holidayed this way in 1969. Two years ago a similar survey revealed that 15,000 did so.

The reason for the quite appreciable jump was undoubtedly because of the reduced travel allowance. People accustomed to spending their holiday abroad found it impossible to do so on £50, so they bought or hired a touring caravan solely for this reason. The ironic thing is that having tasted caravanning and found that their new holiday home on wheels afforded a reasonable degree of comfort and enabled them to see

If the loudspeaker system at the Boat Show at Olympia last month had announced 'Is there a doctor in the house', the response should have been considerable, as the popularity of boating and sailing are so high with the profession. Sailing is, of course, first rate exercise, not too dependent upon the weather, entails considerable concentration, and most certainly gives one plenty of fresh air away from the crowds. Dinghy sailing is very widely in favour and considered ideal for weekends, but for the more adventurous the chartering of yachts with auxiliary engines offers so much more. Apart from ranging up and down the coastline of the British Isles one can comfortably cross to the Continent and the Channel Isles. The accommodation on board varies according to the size of the boat, and so of course does the charter price. A 4 or 5 berth yacht costs from about £30 to £70 a week depending on the season. Some companies have special weekend charters which provides the opportunity of testing whether living on a boat agrees with the family. Holidays of this nature can be great fun and an exciting experience. Cruising on the inland waterways of Ireland is well worth considering. There are over 250 miles of canal and river through some very beautiful and historic countryside. The canal is now used solely for pleasure boats and the waters are clean enough for bathing. Motor cruisers can be hired and prices range from £40 to £80 a week for 4 or 6 berthers according to season

Another 'Outdoor Life' alternative is pony trekking. The therapeutic value of the exercise of riding need not be emphasised in this journal but the pleasure and educational value, particularly to young people, cannot be over-emphasised anywhere. Riders are encouraged to look after their own mounts, saddle, groom, feed and water them and this, apart from giving pleasure to the rider, does much to establish a relationship and understanding that is so important.

£10 net

Twenty authors engaged in smooth muscle research have been brought together to present a comprehensive account of the activity in this field. Although much progress has been made in recent years the diversity of approaches and theories currently applied underlines the opportunities available for future development. This volume will serve as a useful review for workers in the field as well as a stimulus for future investigators.

Patterns of Acute Head Injury REGINALD HOOPER

The large number of head injuries sustained in accidents impose increasing medical, economic and social problems throughout the world. Knowledge of their basic patterns enables recognition of themes and variations, thus more rational management and earlier control of complications become possible. Amply illustrated, this book will appeal to senior medical students, recent graduates, surgical registrars and house surgeons—especially those seeking post graduate qualifications—neurosurgical trainees and the general surgeons who treat the traffic accident cases daily admitted to hospitals.

dramatic disappearance of bronchitis pathogens

a combination of trimethoprim and sulphamethoxazole provided effective prophylaxis in chronic bronchitis. It dramatically diminished sputum volume, rendered it mucoid and abolished pathogens.'

This combination, available as SEPTRIN*, swiftly eradicates a wide range of organisms including the pathogens common in bronchitis-H. influenzae, Pneumococci and Klebsiella sp.

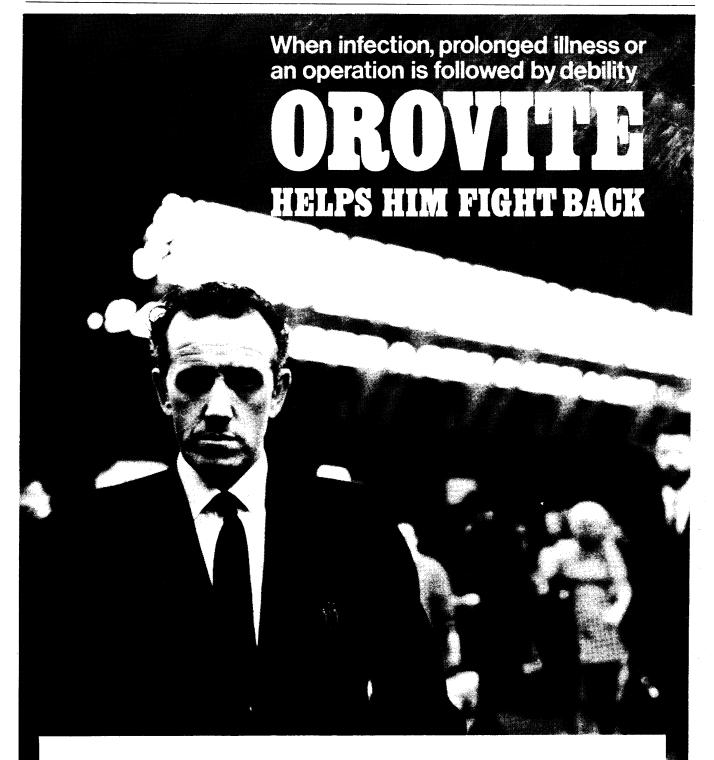

SEPTRIN has been compared in a trial with ampicillin in treating exacerbations of chronic bronchitis. SEPTRIN produced a significantly greater reduction in sputum volume and of sputum purulence and the trial also showed that SEPTRIN produced a better overall clinical response in the bronchitic patients.2

a little knowledge is not enough . . . give teen-agers the facts about menstruation

Some teen-agers have heard they shouldn't bathe or wash their hair during their menstrual periods. Some think unmarried girls shouldn't use tampons. Others say exercise brings on "cramps". No wonder they call it the "curse".

Give them the facts...with the help of the illustrations in charts like the one above prepared by R. L. Dickinson, M. D. and available to you free from Tampax Limited. These 11"x8½" coloured charts are laminated in plastic for permanence and are suitable for marking with grease pencil. Social myths can be exploded, too, by giving teen-agers either of the two booklets we will be glad to send you in quantity for distribution. One booklet is written for the young girl just beginning menstruation and the other for the older teen-ager. The booklets tell them what menstruation is, how it will affect them, and how easily they can adjust to it normally and naturally.

Unmarried girls, of course, can use tampons. And they have many good reasons to do so. Tampax tampons are easy to insert—comfortable to wear. Because they're worn internally there's no irritation or chafing; no menstrual odour.

Tampax tampons are available in Regular and Super absorbencies, with explicit directions for insertion enclosed in each package.

Simply write to the address below for your free set of charts and sample booklets. These booklets may then be reordered in any quantity you need for your patients' personal use.

New oral antibiotic from Glaxo cephalexin

for respiratory tract infections gives a clinical success rate over 85% in pneumonia*

Summary

Ceporex (cephalexin), the new cephalosporin antibiotic from Glaxo, is rapidly and almost completely absorbed, and gives very high blood and tissue levels within an hour of administration. In addition Ceporex has other advantages. Its wide range of activity includes most gram-positive organisms, (including penicillinresistant staphylococci) and most of the gram-negative organisms which can be responsible for respiratory tract disease. Its good absorption, killing of common respiratory pathogens and low toxicity make Ceporex ideally suited to the treatment of pneumonia and other respiratory tract infections. Although Ceporex should be used with caution when there is a history of allergy, it is usually well tolerated by patients hypersensitive to the penicillins.

Indications

Gram-positive and gram-negative bacterial infections of the urinary tract, respiratory tract, soft tissues and skin due to susceptible organisms. Acute and chronic pyelonephritis, cystitis, prostatitis, and asymptomatic bacteriuria. Upper respiratory tract infections such as bacterial tonsillitis and pharyngitis.

Otitis media and externa, sinusitis and other infections of the ear, nose and throat.

Pneumonia, bronchopneumonia and post-operative chest infections. Bronchitis and bronchiectasis. Furunculosis, erysipelas, cellulitis, abscess, lymphangitis, pyoderma and other skin, wound or soft tissue infections.

Gonorrhoea (when penicillin is unsuitable).

Bone and joint infections including osteomyelitis and septic arthritis. Gynaecological and obstetric infections.

Temporary replacement of penicillin prophylaxis in patients with rheumatic heart disease whilst undergoing dental treatment.

Administration and Dosage

Ceporex is administered orally. The adult dosage in Pneumonias and bronchopneumonias: 500 mg to 1 g, Upper respiratory tract infections: 250 mg 6-hourly.

Adverse reactions and precautions

A small proportion of patients receiving cephalexin may experience gastro-intestinal disturbances such as nausea, vomiting, anorexia and general abdominal discomfort. As with all broad-spectrum antibiotics, superinfection can occur (mostly monilial) and sometimes presents as vulvo-vaginitis. Reversible neutropenia has occurred in a few patients, but is very rare. Generalised drug rashes – urticarial or maculopapular are uncommon. When renal function is very markedly impaired, Ceporex may accumulate in the serum and tissues, unless the dosage is

Contra-indication

*Now prescribable on the NHS except in Northern Ireland

Indications

All steroid-responsive dermatoses including psoriasis. Betnovate-N or Betnovate-A preparations should be used if bacterial infection is present or suspected. As an alternative, or when there is fungal infection, Betnovate-C preparations may be used.

Ointment, cream, lotion and scalp application Apply a small quantity once or twice daily

Rectal Ointment

Apply a small quantity two or three times daily Compound suppositories

Insert a suppository night and morning

Apply direct to the lesion and cover with an absorbent dressing if Betnovate preparations are usually tolerated well, but if signs of hypersensitivity appear, application should be stopped immediately. When used with occlusive dressings on extensive areas, or for prolonged periods, as with all topical steroids the possibility of systemic absorption should be considered. Absorption is more likely in infants and children and may occur even in the absence of occlusion. Prolonged corticosteroid therapy may cause local atrophy.

DOCTOR, WILL PROBABLY SUFFER FROM URINARY FREQUENCY...

It is a statistical fact that urinary frequency, the bane of old age, awaits the majority of us.

"Nocturnal frequency of micturition is present in 64% of the total elderly population (70% of males and 61% of females of 65 years and over)."

The results of a recent double-blind crossover trial of Cetiprin suggest that "the drug may alter the established habit of rising at night to pass urine". Cetiprin blocks the innervation and increases bladder capacity but as frequency of urination may have become established as a habit as well as a physiological weakness, it is wise to persist with treatment for at least 14 to 21 days. Improvement in the patient's condition is manifested by the enjoyment of uninterrupted sleep and a new feeling of physical and mental well-being.

Dosage:

Adults and Geriatric patients:

- Nightly tenesmus: 100 mg at bedtime. In chronic cases it may be necessary to use 200 mg and reduce the dose when control is established.
- 2. Urinary frequency and severe incontinence in old people: 100-200 mg three times daily.

Contraindications:

Large residual urine retention; glaucoma; gastric retention. Rarely, dryness of the mouth is an unwanted effect.

Are doctors immortal?

Some patients seem to think that doctors never die. Or become ill. Or have accidents.

But as a doctor you know that your chances of falling sick, or breaking a leg tomorrow are the same as everyone else's. And the effect on your life and family is much graver.

Your practice, for instance, must be kept going. So your income plunges overnight. And your life becomes stifled by financial worries: how to keep your family, meet school fees, pay the mortgage. To a sick man worry is a poisonous enemy.

That's why it's so wise to insure against sickness or early death. Wiser still to insure with the company run exclusively for doctors and dentists: the Medical Sickness Society.

You know that one day you may need this insurance. So write today. Together we'll find the policy which will work hardest for you.

Do it now.

Product Safety Manager Salary between £2,000—£2,500

We are an international company and leaders in the fields of medical supplies, baby products and non-woven fabrics.

The Product Safety Manager will ensure the total control of all matters relating to the safety of our products thus establishing that no product we market represents any health hazard. The job also entails the registration of new products and the responsibility of selecting and consulting with appropriate research organisations. This is a newly-created position within our Medical Division offering considerable scope for individual growth. The successful applicant, ideally aged around 30 and preferably with at least two years' industrial or hospital experience, will be a qualified pharmacist.

In short, this position calls for not only professional qualifications but also the ability to liaise closely with relevant departments of our organisation throughout the U.K. and where applicable abroad. If you have the necessary qualifications and personality for this challenging post—then please write giving brief details to:

medical advisers

A highly important aspect of this Company's growth plans is a programme for increased participation in the international field of therapeutics. To meet this it is necessary to make a further expansion in the Medical Department. Applications are therefore invited from medical practitioners to fill appointments as Medical Advisers to the Company.

As they will be expected to initiate and progress clinical trials on a world-wide basis in clinics of international repute, candidates must have a sound clinical background, and be capable of discussing the medical aspects of the Company's products with leaders of the medical profession.

As well as being responsible for clinical trials they will participate in the medical training of representatives, attend national and international medical meetings and symposia and fully contribute to the efficient daily running of the Medical Department.

The Company is based in Loughborough, Leicestershire, a nonindustrial area with good educational facilities and pleasant residential areas. It is a member of the Fisons Group of Companies and group contributory pension and other welfare schemes operate.

A company car will be provided. There will be four weeks' holiday a year and salary will be negotiated according to experience.

Application quoting job reference No. 798 should be addressed to the Divisional Personnel Manager.

Children, acceptability and Penbritin.

Penbritin syrup is formulated with children in mind. Its pleasant fruit flavour encourages them to take it happily until the prescribed course of treatment is completed.

Penbritin syrup forte offers the same benefits but is a double strength syrup, making it ideal for more severe infections.

Penbritin scored paediatric tablets are available for the child who is reluctant to take a spoonful of medicine. They are easily swallowed or may be crushed to mix with something he likes.

Penbritin is an ideal children's antibiotic whichever presentation you prescribe.

Full information is available on request.

New oral antibiotic from Glaxo cephalexin

in soft tissue infections like cellulitis gives a clinical success rate of over 85%*

Summary

Ceporex (cephalexin), the new cephalosporin antibiotic from Glaxo, is rapidly and almost completely absorbed, and gives very high blood and tissue levels within an hour of administration. In addition Ceporex has other advantages. It is highly effective in skin and soft tissue infections, being equally active against penicillin-sensitive and penicillin-resistant staphylococci and more active against Strep. pyogenes. Gram-negative organisms which may be encountered are also likely to be sensitive. Its good absorption, killing of common soft tissue and skin pathogens and low toxicity make Ceporex ideally suited to the treatment of skin and soft tissue infections. Although Ceporex should be used with caution when there is a history of allergy, it is usually well tolerated by patients hypersensitive to the penicillins.

Indications

Gram-positive and gram-negative bacterial infections of the urinary tract, respiratory tract, soft tissues and skin due to susceptible organisms.

Acute and chronic pyelonephritis, cystitis, prostatitis and asymptomatic bacteriuria.

Upper respiratory tract infections such as bacterial tonsillitis and pharyngitis.

Otitis media and externa, sinusitis and other infections of the ear, nose and throat.

Pneumonia, bronchopneumonia and post-operative chest infections. Bronchitis and bronchiectasis. Furunculosis, erysipelas, cellulitis, abscess, lymphangitis, pyoderma and other skin, wound or soft tissue infections.

Gonorrhoea (when penicillin is unsuitable).

Bone and joint infections including osteomyelitis and septic arthritis. Gynaecological and obstetric infections.

Temporary replacement of penicillin prophylaxis in patients with rheumatic heart disease whilst undergoing dental treatment.

Administration and Dosage Ceporex is administered orally. The adult dosage in skin and superficial soft tissue infections 250 to 500 mg 6-hourly.

Adverse reactions and precautions

A small proportion of patients receiving cephalexin may experience gastro-intestinal disturbances such as nausea, vomiting, anorexia and general abdominal discomfort. As with all broad-spectrum antibiotics, superinfection can occur (mostly monilial) and sometimes presents as vulvo-vaginitis. Reversible neutropenia has occurred in a few patients, but is very rare. Generalised drug rashes – urticarial or maculopapular – are uncommon. When renal function is very markedly impaired, Ceporex may accumulate in the serum and tissues, unless the dosage is suitably reduced.

Contra-indication Hypersensitivity to cephalosporins.

ST. ANDREW'S HOSPITAL

ST. ANDREW'S HOSPITAL NORTHAMPTON
Medical Director;
James Harper, M.B., F.R.C.P.(Edin.), D.P.M.
St. Andrew's Hospital is a private psychiatric hospital situated in 130 acres of parkland in the county town of Northampton. In general, patients are admitted to Wantage House, a reception unit in the grounds, which is equipped for the investigation and treatment of all forms of mental and nervous illness. In addition, there is accommodation, mainly in private rooms, both in the main hospital and in various villas, for longer stay patients and geriatric patients.
The hospital's amenities include Gloucester House, which comprises an occupational therapy department, a swimming-pool, as squash court and library, while in the grounds there are tennis courts, a nine-hole golf course, etc.

grounds there are tennis courts, a nine-hole golf course, etc.

Fees range from 25 guineas per week, and subscribers to private medical insurance schemes, such as British United Provident Association and Private Patients Plan, may claim benefit in respect of these charges.

Further particulars may be obtained from the Medical Director, St. Andrew's Hospital, Northampton (Tel.: Northampton 34354), who can be seen in consultation by appointment, either at the hospital or at 55 Harley Street, London W.1.
