New oral antibiotic from Glaxo

Ceporex

cephalexin

in acute urinary tract infections, including pyelonephritis,
gives a clinical success rate of over 80%*

Summary

Ceporex (cephalexin), the new cephalosporin antibiotic from Glaxo, is rapidly and almost completely absorbed, and gives very high tissue and urine levels within an hour of administration. In addition Ceporex has other advantages. It kills the gram-negative bacteria responsible for the majority of urinary tract infections, and this, together with its low toxicity, makes it ideally suited to the treatment of acute cystitis, pyelonephritis and other urinary tract infections. Although Ceporex should be used with caution when there is a history of allergy, it is usually well tolerated by patients hypersensitive to the penicillins.

Indications

Gram-positive and gram-negative bacterial infections of the urinary tract, respiratory tract, soft tissues and skin due to susceptible organisms.

Acute and chronic pyelonephritis, cystitis, prostatitis and asymptomatic bacteriuria.

Upper respiratory tract infections such as bacterial tonsillitis and pharyngitis. Otitis media and externa, sinusitis and other infections of the ear, nose and throat.

Pneumonia, bronchopneumonia and post-operative chest infections. Bronchitis and bronchiectasis.

Furunculosis, erysipelas, cellulitis, abscess, lymphangitis, pyoderma and other skin, wound or soft tissue infections.

Gonorrhoea (when penicillin is unsuitable).

Bone and joint infections including osteomyelitis and septic arthritis.

Gynaecological and obstetric infections.

Temporary replacement of penicillin prophylaxis in patients with rheumatic heart disease whilst undergoing dental treatment.

Administration and Dosage

Ceporex is administered orally. The adult dosage in most urinary tract infections: 250 to 500 mg 6-hourly.

Adverse reactions and precautions

A small proportion of patients receiving cephalexin may experience gastro-intestinal disturbances such as nausea, vomiting, anorexia and general abdominal discomfort. As with all broad-spectrum antibiotics, superinfection can occur (mostly monilial) and sometimes presents as vulvo-vaginitis. Reversible neutropenia has occurred in a few patients, but is very rare. Generalised drug rashes – urticarial or maculopapular – are uncommon. When renal function is very markedly impaired, Ceporex may accumulate in the serum and tissues, unless the dosage is suitably reduced.

Contra-indication

Hypersensitivity to cephalosporins.

suppositories in arthritis? Yes...

'Indocid'

Indomethacin

Suppositories

to treat rheumatoid arthritis and osteoarthritis
at night

'Indocid' Suppositories provide for most patients:

- rapid relief of pain—the patient can move more easily in bed
- long-lasting relief of pain—from bedtime, quite often till the following afternoon
- a better night's sleep—hypnotics are frequently unnecessary
- less stiffness in the morning—the patient can usually start his routine with greater mobility

Of course, the capsules are the more widely used form of 'Indocid'—nevertheless, "... those taking their ['Indocid'] capsules religiously every day will sometimes complain that they still have their 'early morning' stiffness in the affected joints. It is here that I think the Indocid suppository inserted at night will usually be of great value ..."

"... even the most cynical patients will quite often ask for a repeat prescription, to have in reserve for future use."

Ampiclox

Ideally, bacteriological samples should be taken and results known before antibiotic treatment is started. Often the patient's condition demands antibiotic therapy immediately. In this difficult situation, Ampiclox meets the following criteria:

- Active against a broad range of bacteria, Gram-negative and Gram-positive, including 'resistant' staphylococci.
- Bactericidal rather than bacteriostatic in action, particularly important where a septicaemic state threatens or the patient's resistance is low.
- The well established safety of penicillin therapy. Increasing dosage as necessary is not limited by a low 'toxicity ceiling'.

Ampiclox† is a special injectable formulation of the antibiotics Penbritin* and Orbenin*. It is ideal for use in emergencies, and well suited to continuation therapy when the need for this very broad spectrum is confirmed. Where sensitivity tests indicate, either Penbritin or Orbenin may be prescribed. Ampiclox in appropriate dosage is recommended for adults and children over the age of 4 weeks.

During the first weeks of a baby's life, resistance to infection is very limited. And it may be difficult, or even impossible, to obtain satisfactory pathological specimens. Ampiclox Neonatal may be used for the treatment of confirmed or suspected infection in premature babies and other neonates. Also to forestall infection where a difficult delivery, clinical procedures or other circumstances present an infection hazard.

Ampiclox Neonatal is a specific formulation of Penbritin and Orbenin designed for the safer, more effective treatment of neonates. It has the following advantages:

- Active against a broad range of bacteria, Gram-negative and Gram-positive, including 'resistant' staphylococci.
- A well proven record of safety for neonates. Toxicity is not a limiting factor in determining dosage.
- Bactericidal action is particularly important for neonates, who have not had time to develop their own natural resistance.
- Available in oral and injectable presentations.

Women Doctors

Thinking of returning to practise?

Hospital work can offer you special advantages.

You may not have been in active practice for a while for family or other reasons. You may be thinking of taking up professional work again, either now or within a year or so.

The hospital service can offer you very real advantages besides providing refresher training for doctors intending to take up or return to hospital posts. Hospitals realise that women doctors with personal or family commitments will wish to undertake part-time rather than full-time work, and will try their best to arrange this. Some hospitals can provide married accommodation and day-care for young children.

If you are interested, now or for the future, please write to the Senior Administrative Medical Officer at the Regional Hospital Board, who would like to know what sort of work you would like to do and your qualifications. You can get the address from the Secretary of your local hospital.

Issued by the Department of Health and Social Security.

ANTIBIOTICS AND THE INTESTINAL FLORA

Treatment with broad spectrum antibiotics suppresses the normal flora, which may be replaced by abnormal resistant organisms causing diarrhoea.

This change can be prevented or reversed by the implantation of Lactobacillus acidophilus which has been rendered antibiotic-resistant, and is thus able to multiply freely under these abnormal conditions. The products of growth of the organism are inimical to that of many other bacteria^{1 2} and thus contribute to its rapid preponderance over other species.

Oral treatment with antibiotic-resistant L. acidophilus in the form of ENPAC has been shown to eliminate Candida from the faeces of infants with antibiotic-induced diarrhoea, with relief of symptoms succeeded by rapid gain in weight^{3 4} and greatly to reduce the numbers of staphylococci in the faeces of patients treated with tetracyclines.⁵

fractional dose of ephedrine

Tests show that 2-Diethylaminoethyl- α -phenylbutyrate Citrate has a more pronounced bronchodilatory effect than ephedrine. Three parts of 2-Diethylaminoethyl- α -phenylbutyrate Citrate producing the same effect as 5 parts of ephedrine. It acts more rapidly than ephedrine, reaches maximum effect somewhat later and falls away at a slightly slower rate. With a mixture of the substances the curve of bronchial dilatation showed that the effect produced was considerably greater than when double the quantity of each substance was administered separately. 4 mg OF THE MIXED SUBSTANCES (CONTAINING 2 mg OF EPHEDRINE) has the BRONCHODILATORY EFFECT OF 8 mg. EPHEDRINE. Whilst a full bronchodilatory effect is produced with this mixture, side-effects, such as nausea, restlessness, sweating, etc., due to over-dosage or idiosyncrasy to ephedrine are avoided.

WHAT'S BEHIND THE MOUNTING CLINICAL EVIDENCE FOR INTAL CO?

...a happier life for the asthmatic

Reduced chest tightness, cough, sputum production, reduced incidence of acute asthmatic attacks, and improved exercise tolerance—all factors which make for a happier and more normal life—these are the benefits that INTAL COMPOUND brings to many asthmatic patients.

Essentially a prophylactic, INTAL COMPOUND is based on disodium cromoglycate—a drug that differs in mode of action from bronchodilators, corticosteroids, and antihistamines. As well as providing both objective and subjective improvement, INTAL COMPOUND often allows significant reduction in bronchodilator and steroid dosages.

INTAL COMPOUND — Supplied in SPINCAPS (each containing 20 mg disodium cromoglycate, and 0.1 mg Isoprenaline Sulphate BP in a powder form, together with an inert carrier). For use in a special insufflator — SPINHALER.

New oral antibiotic from Glaxo

cephalexin

for respiratory tract infections gives a clinical success rate over 85% in pneumonia*

Summary

Ceporex (cephalexin), the new cephalosporin antibiotic from Glaxo, is rapidly and almost completely absorbed, and gives very high blood and tissue levels within an hour of administration. In addition Ceporex has other advantages. Its wide range of activity includes most gram-positive organisms, (including penicillin-resistant staphylococci) and most of the gram-negative organisms which can be responsible for respiratory tract disease. Its good absorption, killing of common respiratory pathogens and low toxicity make Ceporex ideally suited to the treatment of pneumonia and other respiratory tract infections. Although Ceporex should be used with caution when there is a history of allergy, it is usually well tolerated by patients hypersensitive to the penicillins.

Indications

Gram-positive and gram-negative bacterial infections of the urinary tract, respiratory tract, soft tissues and skin due to susceptible organisms. Acute and chronic pyelonephritis, cystitis, prostatitis, and asymptomatic bacteriuria. Upper respiratory tract infections such as bacterial tonsillitis and pharyngitis. Otitis media and externa, sinusitis and other infections of the ear, nose and throat. Pneumonia, bronchopneumonia and post-operative chest infections. Bronchitis and bronchiectasis. Furunculosis, erysipelas, cellulitis, abscess, lymphangitis, pyoderma and other skin, wound or soft tissue infections. Gonorrhoea (when penicillin is unsuitable). Bone and joint infections including osteomyelitis and septic arthritis. Gynaecological and obstetric infections. Temporary replacement of penicillin prophylaxis in patients with rheumatic heart disease whilst undergoing dental treatment.

Administration and Dosage

Ceporex is administered orally. The adult dosage in Pneumonias and bronchopneumonias: 500 mg to 1 g, 6-hourly.
Upper respiratory tract infections: 250 mg 6-hourly.

Adverse reactions and precautions

A small proportion of patients receiving cephalexin may experience gastro-intestinal disturbances such as nausea, vomiting, anorexia and general abdominal discomfort. As with all broad-spectrum antibiotics, superinfection can occur (mostly monilial) and sometimes presents as vulvo-vaginitis. Reversible neutropenia has occurred in a few patients, but is very rare. Dorbanex

avoids the
of conventional laxative
treatment

With a faecal softener to prepare the way, and just a small dose of peristaltic stimulant completing evacuation, Dorbanex avoids the problems of conventional laxative treatment. What difference does the faecal softener make to treatment?

A soft but formed stool; the restoration of faecal bulk to normal; non-oily lubrication of the gut contents. By this comprehensive approach, Dorbanex provides easier and more predictable evacuation than conventional laxatives, reduces the need for enemas and suppositories, minimises the risk of straining at stool or faecal impaction, lessens apprehension about answering the call to stool, helps to break the laxative habit, gently restores neuromuscular sensitivity, and simplifies patient management.

Available in three forms to treat constipation in any patient of any age, Dorbanex provides the prospect of successful treatment that avoids the problems of conventional laxative therapy.

Dorbanex Capsules:

each capsule contains 1:8-dihydroxyanthraquinone 25 mg., poloxalkol 200 mg. Dosage: Adults, one or two capsules. Children, one capsule. Before or after surgery: two to four capsules. Treatment should be taken at bedtime.

Dorbanex Forte:

each 5 ml. teaspoonful contains 1:8-dihydroxyanthraquinone, 75 mg., poloxalkol 1000 mg. Dosage: One teaspoonful or as directed by the physician. Treatment should be taken at bedtime.

Dorbanex Liquid:

each 5 ml. teaspoonful contains 1:8-dihydroxyanthraquinone 25 mg., poloxalkol 200 mg. Dosage: Adults, one or two teaspoonfuls. Children, half to one teaspoonful, as required. Before or after surgery two to four teaspoonfuls. Treatment should be taken at bedtime.

Contra-indications In common with other gastro-intestinal evacuants, Dorbanex should not be given when acute, painful conditions of the abdomen are present, or the cause of constipation is suspected to be obstruction of the small or large intestine. Side-effects Dihydroxyanthraquinone may cause a temporary harmless, pink or red colouring of the urine and, in prolonged use or high dosage, of the mucosa of the large intestine. Doses larger than two teaspoonfuls may cause slight gastro-intestinal discomfort in a few patients. Basic NHS Prices Dorbanex Capsules: bottles of 30 capsules 8/8; bottles of 300 capsules 78/-; Dorbanex Liquid: bottles of 60 ml. 4/-; bottles of 500 ml. 30/-; Dorbanex Forte: bottles of 60 ml. 6/-; bottles of 500 ml. 45/-.

cephalexin monohydrate

Keflex[®] multi

cephalexin monohydrate

A broad spectrum for UTI

Clinical reports show that a satisfactory clinical response is obtained in 93% of patients with acute infections and 80% of patients with chronic infections due to frequently encountered urinary pathogens such as E. coli, Proteus mirabilis, and Klebsiella.

K Dosage

The usual adult dose is 250 mg every six hours. For more severe infections or those caused by less susceptible organisms, 500 mg every six hours may be needed. In appropriate cases up to 4G per day may be given.

Precautions Any patient who has demonstrated some form of allergy, particularly to drugs, should receive antibiotics, including cephalexin, cautiously and then only when necessary. If severe reaction, individual idiosyncrasy, or allergy should occur, treatment should be discontinued.

The safety of cephalexin for use in pregnancy has not been established.

In patients being treated with cephalexin, false positive reaction for glucose in the urine may occur with Benedict's or Fehling's solutions or with copper sulphate test tablets.

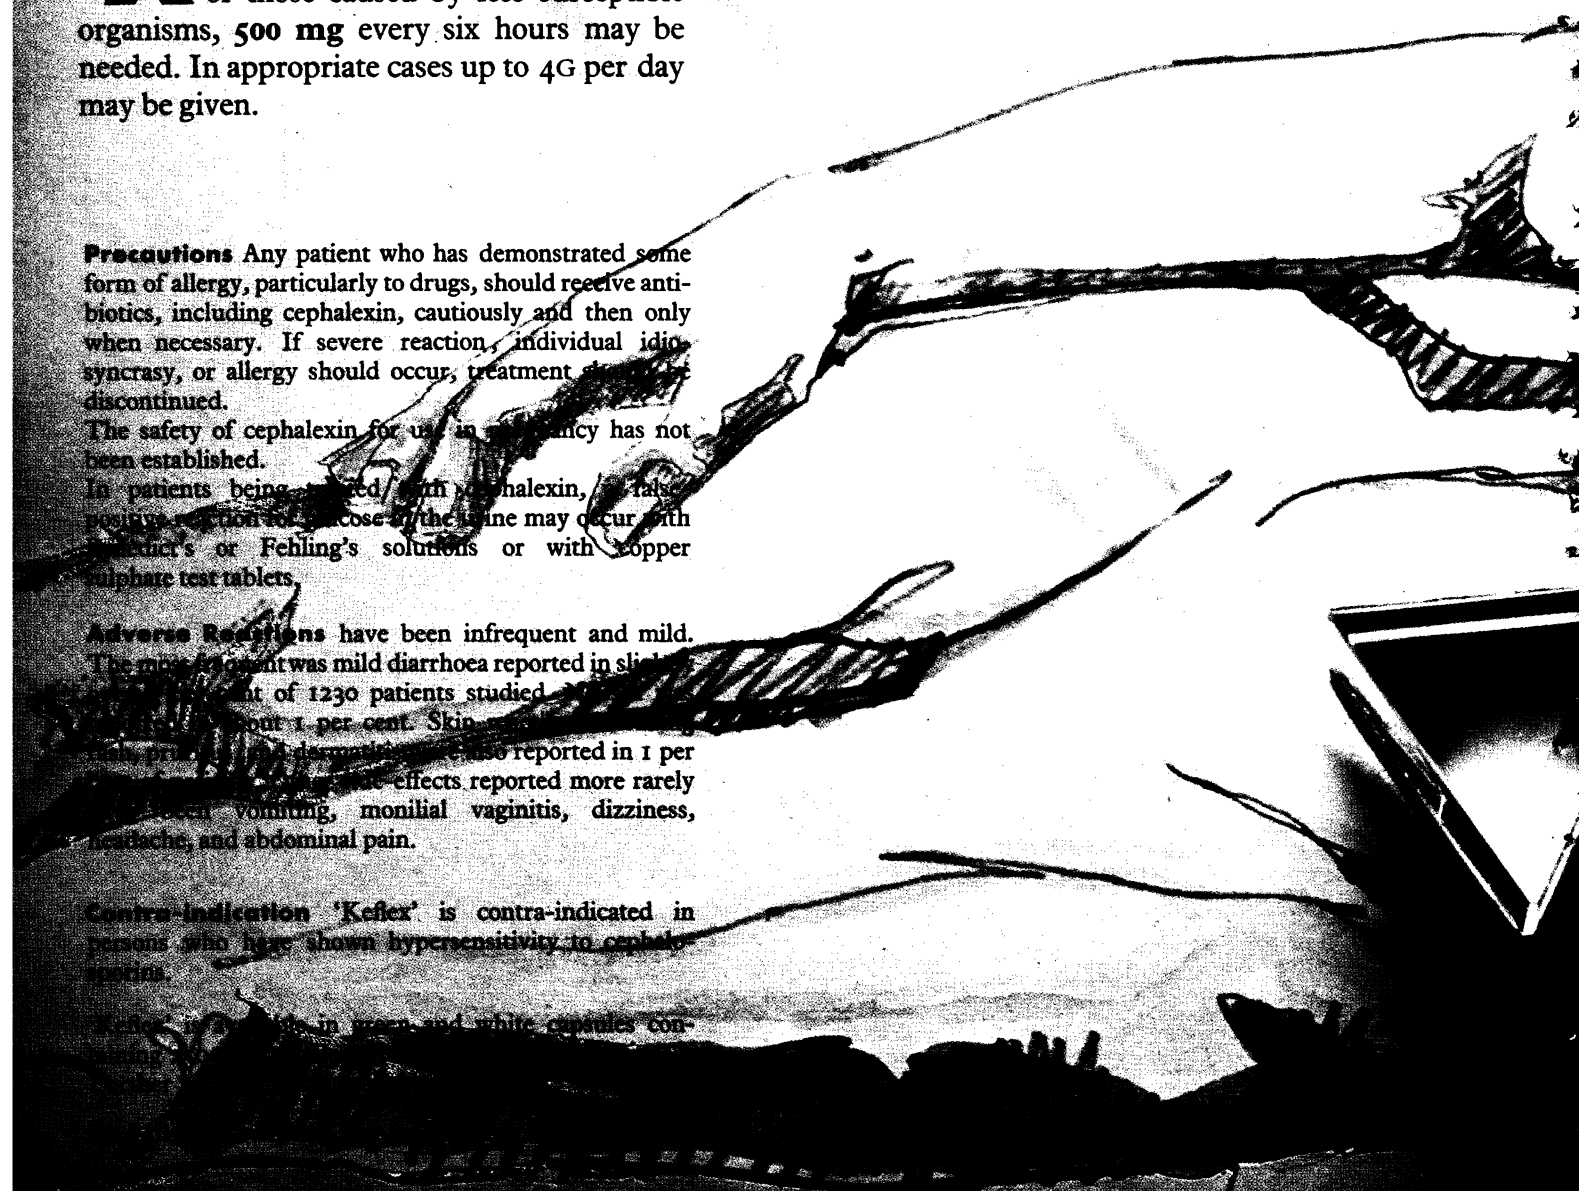

Adverse Reactions have been infrequent and mild. The most frequent was mild diarrhoea reported in slightly more than 1 per cent of 1230 patients studied. Skin rash, pruritus, and dermatitis were also reported in 1 per cent of patients. Other side effects reported more rarely have been vomiting, monilial vaginitis, dizziness, headache, and abdominal pain.

Contra-indication 'Keflex' is contra-indicated in persons who have shown hypersensitivity to cephalosporins.

'Keflex' is available in green and white capsules containing 250 mg and 500 mg respectively.

A broad spectrum for bronchitis

In this condition where the infection is frequently of mixed aetiology, 'Keflex' clears purulent sputum and clinical improvement has been shown in over 90% of patients studied. Susceptible organisms include Haemophilus influenzae, Streptococcus pneumoniae, and Staphylococcus aureus.

It's a fact. Alphosyl is the most widely prescribed product used specifically for the treatment of psoriasis.

Alphosyl Lotion. Alphosyl Cream. Alphosyl Shampoo.

The Cream and the Shampoo are recent additions. Alphosyl Cream is particularly effective in the intertriginous areas. Even in the most resistant cases.

The Shampoo removes scales from the scalp preparing the head for treatment with the Lotion.

Alphosyl Therapy (Lotion, Cream and Shampoo) can be adjusted to suit the patient's individual needs . . . or preferences.

Alphosyl is available as a 5% refined alcoholic extract of coal tar and allantoin (2%) in a Cream and Lotion. Alphosyl Shampoo is a unique combination of coal tar extract (5%) and hexachlorophene (1%).

dramatic disappearance of bronchitis pathogens

... a combination of trimethoprim and sulphamethoxazole provided effective prophylaxis in chronic bronchitis. It dramatically diminished sputum volume, rendered it mucoid and abolished pathogens.¹

This combination, available as SEPRIN*, swiftly eradicates a wide range of organisms including the pathogens common in bronchitis—H. influenzae, Pneumococci and Klebsiella sp.

SEPRIN has been compared in a trial with ampicillin in treating exacerbations of chronic bronchitis. SEPRIN produced a significantly greater reduction in sputum volume and of sputum purulence and the trial also showed that SEPRIN produced a better overall clinical response in the bronchitic patients.²

"The most effective and probably the safest way to administer potassium chloride is in a solution suitably flavoured, administered after meals with a large amount of fluid."

"Tablets of potassium chloride (B.P., B.N.F.), dissolved in water are unpalatable and so irritating to the stomach that epigastric pain, nausea and vomiting preclude their use."²

"Enteric-coated tablets of potassium chloride may not disintegrate in the intestinal tract and may appear unchanged in the stool."³

"Enteric-coated tablets may cause intestinal ulceration and strictures."⁴

"Unfortunately most chloride preparations are unpalatable."⁵

Solid-dose potassium chloride, whether in special coatings or other time-release mechanisms, would still seem to suffer from certain disadvantages and risks, therefore it appears desirable to avoid solid-dose potassium chloride. Instead potassium and chloride can be given in a reasonably palatable, effervescent solution prepared from a tablet that does not contain solid potassium chloride. Klore is unique in this respect.

"The best one (potassium supplement) however may be an effervescent potassium chloride tablet (Klore). The preparation is quite palatable."⁶

the new oral antibiotic from Glaxo

Glaxo brief

Ceporex means a success rate of over 80% in pyelonephritis

Ceporex is the new oral antibiotic from Glaxo which gives outstanding results in the treatment of urinary tract infections. Ceporex gives extremely high blood and tissue levels within an hour of administration. Ceporex is bactericidal against most gram-positive organisms (including penicillin-resistant staphylococci) and many gram-negative organisms. Ceporex is the successful choice in urinary tract therapy.

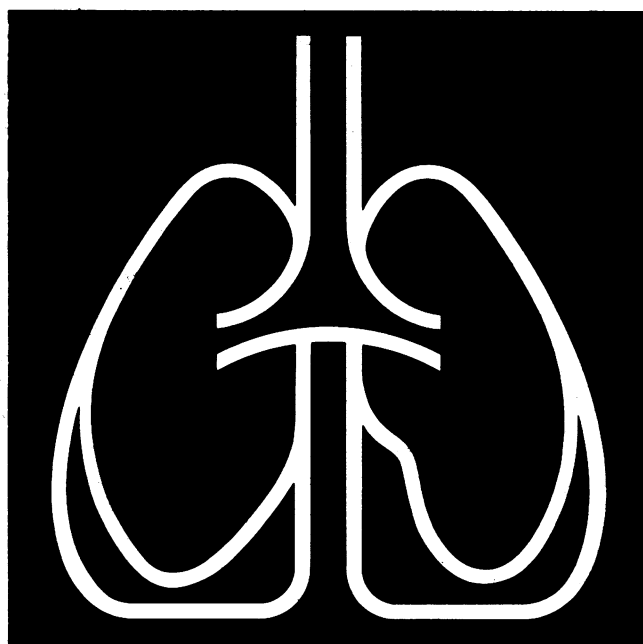

Ceporex means a success rate of over 80% in soft tissue infections

The new antibiotic Ceporex (cephalexin) is rapidly and almost completely absorbed and gives outstanding results in the treatment of soft tissue infections. Within an hour of administration, Ceporex gives high blood and tissue levels. Ceporex is bactericidal against most gram-positive organisms (including penicillin-resistant staphylococci) and many gram-negative organisms. Ceporex is the successful choice in soft tissue therapy.

These once-daily iron tablets are well remembered

Patients frequently forget to take iron tablets, but they don't forget Fersaday and Pregaday, firstly they only have to remember to take them once a day. And secondly, the specially designed packs identify each tablet with the day of the week, so patients can see at a glance whether or not they've taken their daily tablet. Each pop-out pack contains 28 tablets so it's easy for you too – simply prescribe Fersaday or Pregaday once a month. Fersaday and Pregaday are among the least expensive of the once-a-day iron and iron plus folic acid tablets – another good reason for prescribing them whenever extra iron is needed.

Here's the evidence for Crystapen G in strep. throats

"Streptococci are often resistant to tetracycline and sulphonamides, while ampicillin is less active than penicillin against streptococci, far more expensive, and much more likely to produce hypersensitivity rashes."¹ Penicillin is still the treatment of choice in strep. throats. If used for ten days, there should be no complications such as bacteriological relapse, rheumatic fever or acute nephritis.¹ And penicillin G is as effective clinically as penicillin V. "... the trial demonstrated equal effects from the two penicillins."²

During convalescence a cup of Complan a day helps speed recovery

During illness or convalescence nutritional needs are increased yet appetite is nearly always poor. The patient cannot face large, bulky meals. This is why a cup of Complan at least once a day is so valuable. Complan contains all the essential nutrients, vitamins and minerals needed for complete health. And yet it can be taken as a light, easily digestible drink that is acceptable to even the most fastidious patient. Your patient should have at least one cup of Complan a day – it helps speed recovery.

A week ago
his problem was his skin

He first noticed the itching at work. Then his hands started to redden. The skin cracked and became scaly. He soon found difficulty in operating his lathe and the irritation affected his sleep. He realised that something must be done; and done quickly. His doctor told him it was contact dermatitis and prescribed Propaderm Cream.

Propaderm relieves skin problems

Propaderm can be used for all conditions responsive to topical steroid therapy. Propaderm is beclomethasone dipropionate—a powerful topical steroid. So powerful that in a recent trial 94% of 252 patients with eczema or psoriasis showed good results when treated with Propaderm (cream, ointment and ointment with 3% aureomycin BP). Propaderm is fast acting. In the same trial the majority of patients who responded to Propaderm did so in the first week of treatment.

"All three preparations of the drug which were tested were found to be superior to previous treatments. No side effects were reported."

A Doctor in the RAMC enjoys the best features of two professions—wide clinical experience and the rewarding life of an Army Officer.

IT TAKES a long, long period of intensive (and expensive) teaching to turn a medical student into a Doctor. Then, as far as Society is concerned, it's up to the Doctor to justify his training.

As far as the Doctor is concerned, of course, it's hardly as simple as that. First of all, he has his medical ambitions to consider. Does he want to be a General Practitioner? Does he want to specialise? What are the chances of his doing what he really wants to do? And second, he has—very reasonably—to consider his private life. Will he be able to afford to get married? To have children? To have a decent house to live in, and decent holidays to recharge his batteries?

Good medicine—and a good life
If he answers these questions in the context of service in the RAMC, he will discover some good reasons for considering practising his medicine in the Army. To serve for three or five years will give him varied clinical experience, and the chance to make up his mind if he wants to make his career in the Army.

Among the medical reasons is the close integration of all aspects of medical care—preventive medicine, general and hospital practice—with surgeries organised by groups, and supported by hospitals. Medical Officers can personally follow up the cases of patients admitted to hospital. Surgeries are very well equipped—and are, of course, financed by the Army, not by the Doctor. The Army also provides a trained staff for each surgery; an RAMC Medical Officer's wife does not have to do any secretarial chores.

Then, take the personal reasons. The Army helps Medical Officers with families in many ways. Most are provided with furnished houses at low rents. There are all sorts of allowances: for marriage; for educating children at boarding school in Britain (not taxable while the parents are stationed abroad); for moving house; for living abroad, and others. There is the companionship and community spirit of Army life. And there is six weeks' paid annual leave with no need to provide a locum.

£3,000 tax-free after 5 years

The RAMC needs both Regular and Short Service Officers. Normally, to be a specialist, a Doctor has to become a Regular Officer; the Army pays for all his post-graduate training, and though it's no easier to rise to a Consultancy in the RAMC than in civilian life, RAMC specialists tend to do very well. Approximately 36% of all Officers do in fact specialise. GPs can be Regular or Short Service; and 3 or 5 years as a Short Service GP in the Army is something every young Doctor should consider seriously. In that time, he will have a good chance of travel; be well paid and housed; and leave with a useful tax-free gratuity (£1,500 after 3 years—£3,000 after 5) to help start him off in his civilian practice.

For doctors who prefer, there is now a Special Regular Commission to complete 16 years' service (which may be extended or lead to a Permanent Commission). Some former service may be reckonable. Promotion, pay and allowances are the same as for Permanent Officers, as is retired pay and terminal grant for Officers of equivalent rank and service. Specialist training will be according to Service requirements in the specialty applied for.

For further information about Regular or Short Service Commissions in the RAMC, or to arrange a visit to see RAMC Officers at work, write to: Colonel E. L. O. Hood, MB, Ministry of Defence (AMD2), Dept. 347, Lansdowne House, Berkeley Square, London, W1X 6AA

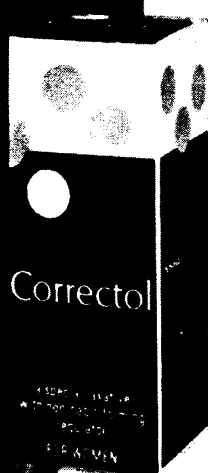

A new treatment for constipation in the Pre- and Postpartum Patient

Correctol

CORRECTOL is a combination of dioctyl sodium sulfosuccinate, a wetting agent which is non-laxative, non-irritating to the bowel and non-interfering with normal bowel function; and a small quantity of phenolphthalein.

A study of the effect of a formulation identical with CORRECTOL on pregnant women at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, Los Angeles (General Practice 21:11 (August) 1958) showed it to be an effective and altogether satisfactory preparation for the treatment of constipation in both pre- and post-natal patients. After initial promotion of normal defecation on an individualised dosage of two or three tablets daily, one tablet a day was found to be sufficient to produce one or two normal bowel movements in 24 hours.

The formulation was well tolerated, most effective and free from any untoward effects on the patient or on the course of her pregnancy.

CORRECTOL is now promoted in Great Britain to consumers and marketed for over-the-counter sales in chemists. For samples and further details please write to White Laboratories Ltd., (Dept.B) Penarth Street, London S.E.15.

MARKET RESEARCH OPPORTUNITY FOR YOUNG DOCTOR

(Male or Female)

Leading London based, international, independent Market Research Company has a vacancy for a young British registered medical practitioner. The company already employs one doctor working on international projects.

The successful applicant will be required to assist and advise on the medical aspect both at the conceptual stage and with the analysis and interpretation of the results of studies carried out in the United Kingdom. The salary will be commensurate with the applicant's qualifications, potential ability and the degree of responsibility he/she proves able to accept.

Applications, which should include a full curriculum vitae, should be addressed to Mr. K. M. H. Coleman, Market Investigations (P. & A.) Ltd., 1/2 Berners Street, London, W.1.

head of toxicology department

Applications or enquiries are invited from experienced toxicologists for the post of Head of Toxicology Department at this Division's Chesterford Park Research Station. This key Department carries out all the complex toxicological research programmes required on new candidate pesticides for their international clearance, and has a well-established reputation in such studies.

The appointment is suitable for either a medically or non-medically qualified toxicologist. A medical toxicologist would be encouraged also to undertake the occupational medicine work for the Division, in itself a valuable form of applied toxicology.

The post is thought most suitable for applicants in the age range 30-45, already actively engaged in experimental toxicology in the pesticide, drug, food additive or industrial field, with a desire and the ability to become authoritative on pesticide toxicology, and to lead a small but experienced team in such work. The Research Station, 12 miles south of Cambridge, with a total of 270 staff, provides an excellent scientific and administrative environment for this in all respects.

Salary and final details of the appointment will all be by personal negotiation. Requests for further information, preferably with a brief summary of qualifications, experience and previous career, should be made initially to the:

Administrative Officer (Ref. 298-2)

Roussel announces the introduction of new single daily oral

During the 15 years since tolbutamide was introduced, the search for improved oral anti-diabetic agents has continued. The investigation of more than 8,000 sulphonylurea compounds showed Euglucon to be the most potent yet best tolerated oral anti-diabetic agent so far available.

International clinical experience with more than 5,000 patients has shown that the majority of maturity-onset diabetics can be effectively controlled on a daily dosage of 10 mg or less of Euglucon, usually in a single administration.

At the same time, Euglucon is well tolerated even in prolonged therapeutic dosage, being in this respect at least comparable to tolbutamide. Because of its potency, Euglucon may be suitable for the management of patients who have failed to respond to other oral anti-diabetic agents.

1,000 mg of tolbutamide or 250 mg of chlorpropamide is approximately equivalent to 5 mg of Euglucon's active principle glibenclamide.

dosage hypoglycaemic agent

First British publication on Euglucon

Euglucon has been made the subject of extensive clinical trials in this country. The first published report* reviews full metabolic studies carried out with healthy adults and diabetic patients. It also describes the results of a clinical trial involving 135 patients with maturity-onset diabetes. The trial included both new and old patients and treatment was continued for up to 7 months. The authors conclude:-

“Glibenclamide was found to be an effective agent for the treatment of maturity-onset diabetes and compared favourably in this trial with other sulphonylureas. The potency of the drug was such that some patients could be maintained on as little as 2.5 mg glibenclamide compared with 500 mg chlorpropamide. No gastro-intestinal or other side-effects were observed in patients treated with the drug over 7 months.”

control of maturity-onset diabetes.

your questions answered about

glibenclamide

the new power in control of maturity-onset diabetes

How does Euglucon differ from previous oral anti-diabetic agents?

Chiefly, in the potency of the active ingredient, glibenclamide. The 5 mg Euglucon tablet is approximately equivalent in hypoglycaemic activity to 250 mg chlorpropamide or 1000 mg tolbutamide. At the same time Euglucon is well tolerated, being at least comparable in this respect to tolbutamide.

Can Euglucon be given to patients who were previously taking other hypoglycaemic agents?

The changeover to Euglucon from another sulphonylurea can be effected from one day to the next. When transferring from chlorpropamide the slow elimination of this drug should be borne in mind, but a break in treatment is not usually necessary.

Can Euglucon be given in combination with other oral hypoglycaemic agents?

If a patient is inadequately controlled by a regime of strict diet together with more than three tablets of Euglucon daily, good results may be obtained by combining Euglucon with a biguanide. It is possible for some patients who display a relative resistance to insulin to be more satisfactorily controlled by giving Euglucon and insulin together.

What is the usual stabilising dose of Euglucon?

In maturity-onset diabetes of mild to moderate severity the treatment should be started with one tablet daily. If this dosage is not sufficient for proper control it should be increased by half a tablet (2.5 mg) daily at intervals of one week, or as directed by the clinician. In some cases of mild diabetes, control can be achieved with as little as half a tablet (2.5 mg) daily. Most patients will respond adequately to daily dosages of 2 tablets (10 mg) or less. Some patients, however, may require up to four tablets (20 mg) per day. Increasing dosage beyond this level is unlikely to produce further response. When more than two tablets per day are required it may be desirable that these be given in divided doses.

What side-effects have been reported with Euglucon?

Side-effects serious enough to necessitate withdrawal of Euglucon are uncommon, even during long-term treatment. Gastro-intestinal symptoms (nausea, anorexia, diarrhoea) are uncommon and allergic skin reactions are seldom encountered.

Leucopenia and thrombocytopenia have been reported but are rare and transient. As with other agents, hypoglycaemia can occur with Euglucon, but it is not usually prolonged and responds to appropriate therapeutic measures.

When is Euglucon contra-indicated?

In juvenile or unstable diabetes; patients who exhibit serious decompensation with ketosis, and in particular, diabetic pre-coma and coma; in cases of severe impairment of renal function; when patients are exposed to undue stress, e.g. operations, infections, accidents; in pregnancy or suspected pregnancy.

What precautions should be taken during Euglucon therapy?

In view of its highly potent effect, Euglucon should preferably be taken with or immediately after a meal.

In what form is Euglucon made available?

Euglucon is available as white oblong, scored tablets, each containing 5 mg of glibenclamide, in bottles of 100 and 500 tablets.

SERVICES

What's in the R.A.F. for a young doctor?

Interesting out-of-the-rut medicine

The typical R.A.F. station doctor is a G.P. — with probably a lot of experience in pediatrics! He also has important responsibilities in aviation medicine, public health and industrial health. He does much more preventive work than most civilian doctors are able to do. There are wide opportunities for hospital practice — 47% of R.A.F. doctors are now working in specialist departments.

The chance to travel

You could live and work abroad, in many different conditions and climates, treating not only R.A.F. personnel and their families, but local populations. Your gain in clinical experience would be marked.

... a fair crack of the whip for the Doctor's wife

A Doctor's wife is a Doctor's wife. She should not also have to be his telephone-answerer, appointment-maker, dispenser and general auxiliary! In the R.A.F., these things are done by professionals: the typical R.A.F. doctor, on a typical R.A.F. station, works in a fully equipped Medical Centre, which he shares with another doctor; between them they would probably have about 12 staff—secretarial as well as nursing.

£3,000 (tax free) after 5 years

In the first case, you would probably join the R.A.F. for 5 years. If you decide to go back to civil life at the end of this time, you would take with you a tax-free honorarium of £3,000. (You might of course wish to stay on: you can apply after the first year.) Now for income: suppose you are a married man of 25, fully registered. If you were in the R.A.F., your income would be at least £2,522 p.a. The R.A.F. would probably provide you with a house, furnished right down to the last coffee-cup; for this, the rent would be £16 a month.

To find out more please write, giving your age, nationality, qualifications and date of full registration with General Medical Council, to The Directorate General of Medical Services, RAF (MA1 (RAF)), Ministry of Defence (724QS7), 1-6 Tavistock Square, London W.C.1.

Medical Officers

Good one-year contracts with Anglo American in Zambia

Your Anglo American experience will always pay-off

Vacancies on a contract basis exist on the copper and base metal mines managed by the Anglo American Corporation Group in Zambia. These are the Rhokana Corporation Limited at Kitwe, Nchanga Consolidated Copper Mines Limited at Chingola, Bancroft Mines Limited at Chililabombwe and the Zambia Broken Hill Development Company Limited at Kabwe.

A Medical Officer is responsible to the Chief Medical Officer of the mine. His duties are of a general practice nature including hospital care of patients, obstetrics, anaesthetics and surgery. Salaries shown for these appointments are the minima and due regard will be given to qualifications and experience.

The work is varied and interesting. There is the opportunity for an active community life and outstanding sporting and recreational facilities.

Hospitals of the Group provide a comprehensive health service for employees and their dependants (both expatriate and local members of the community). The Anglo American Corporation Group in Zambia employs over thirty medical officers working in diversified units of group practice including preventive and curative medicine. Company hospitals are modern and well equipped.

Rhokana Corporation Limited at Kitwe has a 70 bed contributory fee paying hospital and a 325 bed free hospital. There is a general diagnostic radiological service and pathological laboratory. There are 15 doctors, including a Chief Medical Officer, Specialist Surgeon, Physician, Anaesthetist and Pathologist.

Bancroft Mines Limited at Chililabombwe has a 200 bed hospital. There is an operating theatre, dispensary, X-ray and physiotherapy departments. There are six medical officers including a Chief Medical Officer. A Consulting Physician, Surgeon and Orthopaedic Surgeon visit the hospital at regular intervals.

Nchanga Consolidated Copper Mines Limited at Chingola has a 36 bed contributory fee paying hospital and a 262 bed free hospital. Each hospital has an operating theatre, dispensary, X-ray, physiotherapy and pathological laboratory facilities. The staff consists of a Chief Medical Officer, Resident Surgeon, Resident Physician, Obstetrician/Gynaecologist and seven Medical Officers. Regular visits are made by a visiting Physician, Radiologist and Anaesthetist.

Zambia Broken Hill Development Company Limited at Kabwe operate three clinics for employees and their dependants and has facilities at the Government Hospital for the hospitalisation of Mine patients under the care of the Mine's Medical Officers who number three including the Chief Medical Officer.

GENERAL DUTIES MEDICAL OFFICERS

These appointments, on a contract basis from one to three years, carry a minimum starting salary of K6,400 (£3,733 Sterling). In addition, there is a car allowance with an initial interest-free loan for the purchase of a car, a 5% Christmas bonus, a terminal gratuity and generous education allowances for children at school outside Zambia. Attractive Company housing is available at a nominal rental.

HOUSE OFFICERS

Vacancies exist for newly registered doctors who will act as housemen in the non fee paying hospitals of the Group's Mines. Posts are available in medicine, surgery, obstetrics and gynaecology, and in the children's wards. Rotation can be arranged but although most of the work required will be in the speciality chosen, some work in other departments will be necessary when on call.

In addition to the above there is a full pathological service under a Consultant Pathologist and other work is carried out under the direction of Specialist Physicians, Surgeons and Obstetrician/Gynaecologists. There are, in addition, good radiological services.

Contracts are for a period of one year, with fully furnished accommodation at a sub-economic rental being provided. Transport will be provided for use within the Mine township, and salaries will be from K5,000 (£2,916 Sterling) for a first year post registration doctor, rising by K250 a year to K5,500 (£3,208 Sterling) for a three year post registration doctor. In addition there is a terminal gratuity of 5%, rising by 1% per year, and a Christmas bonus paid annually also at 5% of salary. Leave is at the rate of 55 days per annum.

The experience gained will give considerable scope for individuality and whilst at the same time providing an essential service to the local community will give successful applicants a more varied and interesting post registration period than would be possible in the United Kingdom.

Locum Appointment

Locum appointments occur from time to time in the specialist and general duties medical officer grades. All-in salaries are from K700 to K900 per month (£408 - £525 Sterling).

Applications should be addressed to:

SOUTHLAND HOSPITAL BOARD INVERCARGILL NEW ZEALAND PSYCHIATRIST

A newly created post for a practitioner with 5 years' psychiatric experience and D.P.M. Appointee will have his own team alongside the present Psychiatrist, who opened the Department of Psychiatry in November 1969. A purpose-built Psychiatric Unit will shortly open to serve a mixed urban-rural population of 110,000, the team to include 2 registrars and a psychologist. The nearest public psychiatric hospital is 165 miles away.

The Department of Psychiatry is an integral part of a progressive and rapidly expanding General Hospital; a neurosurgeon visits regularly from Otago Medical School, and an E.E.G. Department is being provided. Invercargill is a prosperous city of 50,000, within easy reach of coast, mountains and bush.

Appointee may be either full-time and eligible for travelling expenses for self and family, or 7/10 part-time with ample scope for private practice.

Salary scale at present $6090/$8100, but is being revised upwards.
Conditions of Appointment and application form may be obtained from the High Commissioner for New Zealand, Haymarket, London, S.W.1., or from the Secretary, Southland Hospital Board, P.O. Box 39, Invercargill, who will be glad to supply further particulars.

Medical Officer/ Physician

£5,000 p.a.

Roan Selection Trust has a vacancy for a Medical Officer/Physician on the Copperbelt of Zambia and applications are invited from Medical Practitioners with adequate experience and a higher qualification in medicine, notably membership.

The successful applicant will be employed at Mufulira, one of four mines on the Copperbelt managed by RST and owned in partnership with the Zambian Government's Industrial Development Corporation. Mufulira has medical facilities catering for a population of approximately 50,000 and which centre round two well-equipped hospitals with a total of 430 beds. The present establishment of medical officers is 12 including those with higher qualifications. An additional medical officer is now required who will serve primarily as a Consultant Physician. In common with the other medical officers employed, his duties will include a certain amount of general medical work which in this instance will be minimal. In addition a limited amount of student nurse teaching will be involved associated with a training school for registered nurses which is to be established at the larger hospital.

Employment will be on a 4 year contract renewable by agreement, starting salary will depend on experience and qualifications but total annual emoluments will not be less than the equivalent of £5,000. Leave will accrue at 55 days per annum and a car is provided for professional use.

Additional benefits include: Paid return contract passages and mid contract leave passages for applicant and family, Baggage allowance, Furnished house at sub-economical rental, Free life assurance, Children's education allowances up to the equivalent of £500 per child per annum with two holiday fares per annum.

At 4,000 ft. A.S.L. the Copperbelt enjoys an ideal climate with sunshine all year round. Excellent facilities exist for practically all sports and leisure activities including television.

NOTICES

INDUSTRIAL INJURIES ADVISORY COUNCIL

The Industrial Injuries Advisory Council has been asked to consider whether there are degrees of hearing loss attributable to exposure to noise in the course of employment which satisfy the conditions for prescription as an industrial disease laid down by Section 56(2) of the National Insurance (Industrial Injuries) Act 1965. The Council has also been asked to consider what arrangements would need to be made in the event of prescription to deal with claims for benefit and what, if any, special conditions should be placed on eligibility for benefit under the Act. These questions were referred to the Council by the Secretary of State for Social Services, the Rt. Hon. Richard Crossman, M.P.

The Council are prepared to receive evidence from any interested persons or organizations who should communicate with the Secretary to the Council, Mr. A. C. Palmer, at 10 John Adam Street, London, W.C.2, as soon as possible and in any event not later than June 1, 1970. An explanatory memorandum will be supplied on request.

EXACERBATIONS OF BRONCHITIS

offer broad spectrum
antibiotic activity

PLUS

the benefits of uninterrupted Bisolvon therapy during the bronchitic's acute
infected phases

Bisolvon disrupts the feltwork of AMPS (acid mucopolysaccharide) fibres responsible for the viscosity of mucoïd sputum, but takes about ten days of continuous treatment to reach its full effect. The patient should then be producing thinner and less sputum than originally. This beneficial effect of Bisolvon is maintained for as long as treatment continues.

During an infective exacerbation bacterial action causes the breakdown of cells and cell nuclei, producing DNA (desoxyribonucleic acid) fibres and fragmentation of existing AMPS fibres. DNA fibres therefore predominate in purulent sputum.

At this stage it is very important to maintain Bisolvon therapy, together with an effective antibacterial. This ensures that once the infection is brought under control (therefore eliminating DNA fibres) AMPS fibres do not re-form to raise sputum viscosity.

Bisolvomycin capsules, containing Bisolvon with oxytetracycline, have been developed to enable Bisolvon therapy to be conveniently maintained during the bronchitic's infective exacerbations.

Turquoise blue/grey capsules printed with the Company symbol.

Each capsule contains:

Bisolvon (bromhexine hydrochloride) 8mg.
oxytetracycline hydrochloride B.P. 250mg.

Boehringer Ingelheim

Further information on Bisolvomycin can be obtained from:
Boehringer Ingelheim Limited Isleworth Middlesex

Contra-indications

Bisolvon: There are no absolute contra-indications, but observe caution in patients with gastric ulcer.

Oxytetracycline: Known tetracycline allergy; should not be given in pregnancy or in presence of renal or hepatic dysfunction. The concurrent administration of antacids should be avoided.

Precaution

Bisolvon: When patients under treatment for tuberculosis are also receiving Bisolvon, continue sputum cultures for tubercle bacilli for at least 3 months before assuming a negative result.

Oxytetracycline: Teeth staining may occur in children.

Side-effects

Bisolvon: Mild gastro-intestinal side-effects may occasionally be caused. A transient rise in serum transaminase levels may be observed in a few patients. These should fall again with continuation of Bisolvon treatment.

Oxytetracycline: May cause nausea, diarrhoea and symptoms resulting from the overgrowth of resistant organisms; in particular, overgrowth of Candida albicans may cause irritation of mouth, anus or vagina. Drug fever or rashes rarely occur.

the new key

● maximum efficacy ● minimum dosage ● optimum tolerance

Extensive chemical and pharmacological research involving examination of over 8,000 compounds revealed one which has proved to be the most active and least toxic antidiabetic agent so far produced. Its name is DAONIL.

Maximum efficacy

The hypoglycaemic activity of DAONIL was first shown in animal experiments where a dose of only 0.28 mg/kg reduced blood sugar levels by nearly 30%. In subsequent world-wide clinical trials on over 5,000 patients DAONIL provided satisfactory control of blood sugar in 80%. Control was classified as excellent or good in 70% of cases.

Excellent 37.4%
Good 32.2%
Adequate 18.7%

A single daily dose proved sufficient.

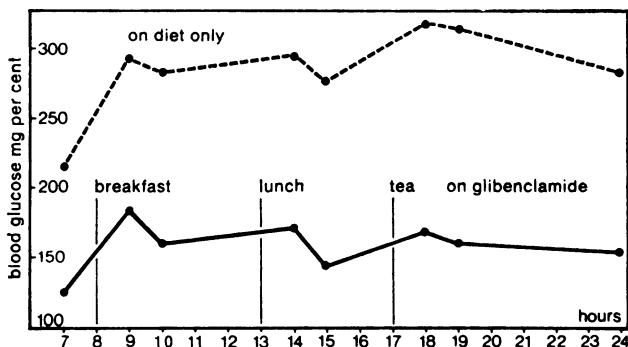

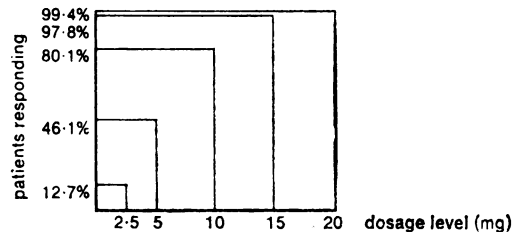

Fig 1 Blood glucose profiles throughout the day in 25 patients on diet only and then following therapy with glibenclamide at breakfast.

Thirty-six investigators compared DAONIL with chlorpropamide. Eighteen considered the two drugs to be equally effective but fourteen found DAONIL to be superior in lowering blood sugar.

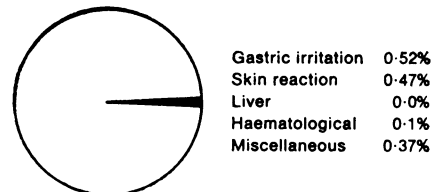

Minimum dosage

Very small amounts of DAONIL bring about the required degree of blood sugar control. Over 90% of suitable patients could be stabilised using a dosage range of 2.5–20 mg. confirming DAONIL as the most active antidiabetic agent available.

Optimum tolerance

In a chronic condition such as diabetes any treatment must be well-tolerated by the patient. In extensive clinical trials side-effects sufficiently severe to warrant withdrawal of therapy occurred in only 1.46% of patients.

New oral antibiotic from Glaxo

cephalexin

in soft tissue infections like cellulitis
gives a clinical success rate of over 85%*

Summary

Ceporex (cephalexin), the new cephalosporin antibiotic from Glaxo, is rapidly and almost completely absorbed, and gives very high blood and tissue levels within an hour of administration. In addition Ceporex has other advantages. It is highly effective in skin and soft tissue infections, being equally active against penicillin-sensitive and penicillin-resistant staphylococci and more active against Strep. pyogenes. Gram-negative organisms which may be encountered are also likely to be sensitive. Its good absorption, killing of common soft tissue and skin pathogens and low toxicity make Ceporex ideally suited to the treatment of skin and soft tissue infections. Although Ceporex should be used with caution when there is a history of allergy, it is usually well tolerated by patients hypersensitive to the penicillins.

Indications

Gram-positive and gram-negative bacterial infections of the urinary tract, respiratory tract, soft tissues and skin due to susceptible organisms.

Acute and chronic pyelonephritis, cystitis, prostatitis and asymptomatic bacteriuria.

Upper respiratory tract infections such as bacterial tonsillitis and pharyngitis.

Otitis media and externa, sinusitis and other infections of the ear, nose and throat.

Pneumonia, bronchopneumonia and post-operative chest infections. Bronchitis and bronchiectasis.

Furunculosis, erysipelas, cellulitis, abscess, lymphangitis, pyoderma and other skin, wound or soft tissue infections.

Gonorrhoea (when penicillin is unsuitable).

Bone and joint infections including osteomyelitis and septic arthritis.

Gynaecological and obstetric infections.

Temporary replacement of penicillin prophylaxis in patients with rheumatic heart disease whilst undergoing dental treatment.

Administration and Dosage

Ceporex is administered orally. The adult dosage in skin and superficial soft tissue infections: 250 to 500 mg 6-hourly.

Adverse reactions and precautions

A small proportion of patients receiving cephalexin may experience gastro-intestinal disturbances such as nausea, vomiting, anorexia and general abdominal discomfort. As with all broad-spectrum antibiotics, superinfection can occur (mostly monilial) and sometimes presents as vulvo-vaginitis. Reversible neutropenia has occurred in a few patients, but is very rare. Generalised drug rashes – urticarial or maculopapular – are uncommon. When renal function is very markedly impaired, Ceporex may accumulate in the serum and tissues, unless the dosage is suitably reduced.

Contra-indication

Hypersensitivity to cephalosporins.
