Diseases of the Joints

Arthritis and rheumatism are common complaints, even if patients are often vague about the exact meaning of the terms they use. In the last few years the diagnosis of joint disorders has become more exact, while the introduction of local and systemic steroid therapy and the powerful non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drugs has revolutionized treatment. In an attempt to bring doctors up to date in this field, the B.M.J. published in 1969 a series of short articles giving practical advice on the common disorders of the joints. The articles have now been revised by their authors and collected together to form this handbook on the management of arthritis.

Magnified section of skin on ichthyotic forearm.

Love at first sight...

The hyperkeratotic skin presents the physician with a dermatological problem with very high and pressing psychological and social overtones. Not the least of the merits of Calmurid is the speed with which it controls dry, rough, scaly skin.

The difficulty of combining sufficiently high concentrations of urea in a suitable base and still maintaining its stability under normal conditions has been overcome by exclusive manufacturing and formulation techniques perfected by Pharmacia. Now for the first time, urea in a stable emulsified form is available for the effective treatment of dominant and sex-linked ichthyosis, and other hyperkeratotic conditions.

Besides having exceptionally good keratolytic properties, Calmurid is designed to retain moisture in the skin by increasing the concentration of the water binding substances, urea and betaine. The direct result is that the skin becomes softer and assumes a natural appearance.¹ The acidity of Calmurid, together with the bactericidal and fungicidal properties of urea protect against infection. Calmurid is non-toxic, non-allergenic and causes no sensitivity problems.

...but not at second

Composition

Carbamide (urea) B.P. 10%.
Stabilising emulsified basis to 100g.

Indications

Dry and hyperkeratotic skin conditions, especially ichthyosis vulgaris and sex-linked ichthyosis; as adjunct therapy in atopic eczema.

Contraindications

None. The cream contains substances natural to the body. No adverse reaction has ever been reported.

Unwanted effects

Possibly a mild burning sensation immediately after the first application, if the skin surface is raw. Local anaesthetic properties of carbamide makes this of short duration. It is not likely to occur with subsequent applications.

Application

Apply a thick layer twice daily to the affected areas. Leave for 3 to 5 minutes to allow penetration before smoothing. The application must be after washing or bathing. Calmurid is non-greasy and disappears quickly on application. Once the skin responds to treatment the frequency of application may be reduced.

REST AND RELAX

The time is fast approaching when you will be thinking expectantly of those happy days to come when you can relax and mentally, if not physically, "get away from it all." Some people's idea of relaxing is to climb mountains, water-ski or play golf or tennis. Others prefer going for a cruise or else to just sit quietly in the sun thinking.

The introduction some years ago of "package tours" with their great advantage of being inexpensive and having everything arranged from flight to accommodation has made many people lazy. There are, though, many independent people who still prefer to control completely their own arrangements and particularly in regard to hotels. With the growth of overseas tourism new hotels are being built and established hotels re-planned or re-styled in all the most popular resorts particularly in Spain, Portugal and the countries surrounding the Mediterranean. Majorca, Minorca, Malta and Cyprus have all, in particular, been subject to considerable expansion in this respect.

Many of the more distinguished hotels have agents in this country which does help considerably as they can personally handle all reservations. Possibly the best known is R. M. Brooker Limited who have specialised in this service for some years. One of their finest hotels is the Golden Mariana in Famagusta Cyprus which, according to their brochure, offers the "discerning traveller the hospitality of the Old Village Manor matched with the air-conditioned comforts of the 20th century."

The Mediterranean has always been a great attraction and the number of good hotels, particularly in towns on the North African coast, has increased considerably. Names like Sousse, Gabes, Monastir, Hammamet which were only a few years ago more familiar to soldiers of the 8th Army than holidaymakers are now becoming popular tourist centres.

Further westwards the choice is greater as the centres have long been established and the Hotel Rif of Tangier for example has made for itself a name that is internationally famous.

Hotel life does not agree with everybody and the hiring of villas is now quite a feature of modern holidays. There are many advantages particularly for a family man as children have so much more liberty. Maid-service, baby sitters and even cooks can usually be arranged for, easily and cheaply. It is doubtful whether there are many, if any, resorts where this type of holiday cannot be obtained and once again there are agents in this country who can make the necessary reservations.

ANTIBIOTICS AND THE INTESTINAL FLORA

Treatment with broad spectrum antibiotics suppresses the normal flora, which may be replaced by abnormal resistant organisms causing diarrhoea.

This change can be prevented or reversed by the implantation of Lactobacillus acidophilus which has been rendered antibiotic-resistant, and is thus able to multiply freely under these abnormal conditions. The products of growth of the organism are inimical to that of many other bacteria^{1,2} and thus contribute to its rapid preponderance over other species.

Oral treatment with antibiotic-resistant L. acidophilus in the form of ENPAC has been shown to eliminate Candida from the faeces of infants with antibiotic-induced diarrhoea, with relief of symptoms succeeded by rapid gain in weight^{3,4} and greatly to reduce the numbers of staphylococci in the faeces of patients treated with tetracyclines.⁵

Floxapen simplifies antibiotic treatment especially in difficult cases

Floxapen simplifies antibiotic treatment in several ways that are important in general practice.

Floxapen is effective against streptococci, pneumococci and staphylococci, irrespective of their sensitivity to other antibiotics. It is also effective against resistant staphylococci, an increasing problem in general practice and a potential cause of treatment failure.

Floxapen dosage is simple, too. 250 mg. q.i.d. orally or by injection. Both methods of administration achieve similar blood levels.

Floxapen offers the traditional penicillin advantages of low toxicity and bactericidal action which destroys organisms rather than merely inhibiting growth. This eases the burden on the patient's own body defences.

It is these advantages which make Floxapen of special value when treating difficult cases—the young; the elderly; patients with underlying debilitating conditions such as diabetes or asthma; patients with severe or recurrent infections; patients with a history of treatment failure; patients undergoing steroid therapy.

Indications: Infections due to Gram-positive organisms: cellulitis, abscesses, boils and carbuncles, furunculosis, infected wounds and burns, infected ulcers and other skin infections, pharyngitis, tonsillitis, otitis media, sinusitis, pneumonia (especially post-influenza), empyema, osteomyelitis.

Availability: Capsules (black/caramel) and Vials, each containing 250 mg. flucloxacillin.

Dosage: Oral and Intramuscular:
Adults: 250 mg. q.i.d.
Children: 2-10 years—half adult dose.
Under 2 years—quarter adult dose.

Oral doses should be taken one hour before meals. In severe infections dosages may be increased if required.

Contra-indications: Penicillin hypersensitivity. Subconjunctival injection.

Side-effects: Rare and mild, as with other penicillins.
Further information is available on request.

in bronchitis more effective than ampicillin or tetracycline

Compared with ampicillin

In a controlled single-blind trial involving 50 patients with chronic bronchitis SEPTRIN* was shown to be more effective than ampicillin, with reference to reduction of sputum volume and purulence.

Sputum volume reduction

There was a significantly greater reduction in mean sputum volume after treatment with SEPTRIN than after treatment with ampicillin.

Sputum purulence reduction

23 out of 24 cases with purulent sputum receiving SEPTRIN improved (using MRC sputum grading) as compared with 16 cases out of 22 cases with purulent sputum receiving ampicillin who improved in this respect. The success rate for SEPTRIN was significantly higher than for ampicillin.

Clinical improvement

Clinically, 24 out of 25 cases receiving SEPTRIN responded as compared with 19 out of 25 receiving ampicillin.

Reference: Postgrad med J, (1969) 45, Supplement (November) 86.

Compared with tetracycline

In a trial designed to compare the effect of SEPTRIN with that of tetracycline in the treatment of chronic bronchitis, it was found that a week's course with SEPTRIN was more beneficial than a week's course of tetracycline.

24 patients received SEPTRIN and 22 received tetracycline, and objective data was collected from the two groups at the beginning and at the end of treatment.

Sputum volume

The decrease in mean sputum volume after treatment, as a fraction of the initial measurements, was significantly larger for the SEPTRIN group.

Sputum purulence

Objective grading of reduction in purulence of the sputum showed better results with SEPTRIN than with tetracycline at the end of treatment.

In obesity

It's simple-it's logical
the fatter they are - the higher the dose

'The effective dose range for most patients is 60-120mg/day and side effects can be minimised by beginning with the low dose and gradually increasing medication to the most effective level for that patient'.

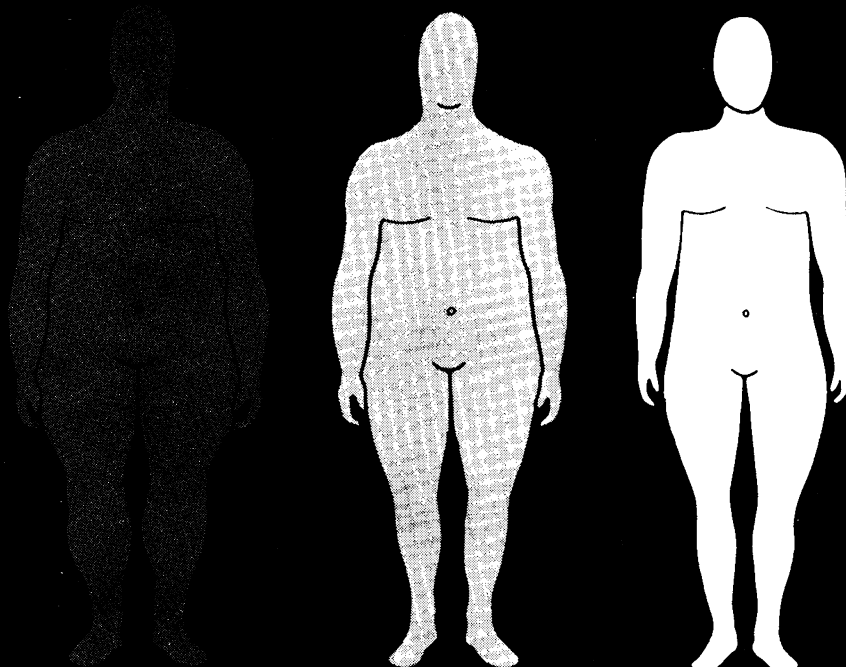

*International Symposium on Amphetamines and Related Compounds.
Raven Press (1970), 691.*

FENFLURAMINE

Dosage is the same for all obese patients for the first two weeks

then it is of the obesity

| | SEVERE Tabs. per day | MODERATE Tabs. per day | MILD Tabs. per day |
|-----------------------------|--------------------------------|---------------------------|------------------------|
| 1st Week | 1 + 1 | 1 + 1 | 1 + 1 |
| 2nd Week | 1 + 2 | 1 + 2 | 1 + 2 |
| 3rd Week | 2 + 2 | 2 + 2 | 1 + 2 |
| 4th Week and maintenance | 2 + 2 + 2 | 2 + 2 | 1 + 2 |
| Percentage overweight | > 20% | 15-20% | 10-15% |
| Skinfold thickness | Men > 25 mm Women (> 30 mm) | 20-25 mm (25-30 mm) | 15-20 mm (20-25 mm) |

Where twice a day dosage is shown, tablets are taken morning and evening. If three times a day, the third dose is taken at lunchtime

When weight has been stabilised the dosage should be reduced in reverse to starting treatment, to two tablets daily before stopping

Note: Weight loss will not usually be apparent during the first two or three weeks of treatment.

Contra Indications:

Although both human and animal studies have demonstrated that there is no harmful effect on the foetus, it is not recommended that PONDERAX be administered during the first trimester of pregnancy, unless the physician considers the benefit outweighs any possible risk.

Precautions:

Do not administer concurrently with MAOI's, or to depressive patients. PONDERAX may potentiate the action of some anti-hypertensive, anti-diabetic and sedative drugs. The dosage of these drugs should be re-assessed when the patient is taking PONDERAX.

Secondary Effects:

Principally mild sedation and increased bowel frequency. Very occasionally gastric upset, nausea, dizziness and headache have been reported. All these effects are reversible by reduction or cessation of dosage.

Ponderax produces sustained, substantial weight loss through its unique glycoliptic action without stimulation.

This product can save lives - but it can't save money!

Let's face it. We're a commercial organisation which has to make a profit in order to survive. But that doesn't mean that profit is our god.

Take our most recently introduced product for instance.

Sulfamylon cream can be life-saving in cases of Ps. pyocyanea-infected burns.

Fortunately this potentially lethal situation doesn't occur too often – but then neither will the need for Sulfamylon.

So, obviously, it will take many years (if ever!) before we can hope to recoup the very considerable research investment that was needed to make this product available.

That's okay with us. After all, some things are more important than profit.

And like you, we'd rather risk losing money than risk losing lives.

"It's the same doctor"

Michael's had asthma since he was three. Every winter it's the same old story – he gets a cold which quickly sets up the familiar pattern of bronchitis and severe asthma causing anxiety for Michael, his mother and his doctor.

Now Ceporex (cephalexin) is the effective answer to the bacterial infection because it kills most of the pathogens, including penicillin-resistant staphylococci, which commonly cause acute respiratory infections. The absorption of Ceporex is rapid and virtually complete, giving high serum levels within an hour of administration. Ceporex has very low toxicity, is well tolerated and can be considered the logical alternative for patients hypersensitive to the penicillins.

At the International Conference on Cephalosporins, 1970, twenty papers were presented on cephalexin. These reported on the treatment of 2,000 patients with a wide variety of conditions.

During a trial conducted in adults and children by General Practitioners, *341 infections were treated, including those of the ear, nose, throat and soft tissue, as well as those of the urinary and respiratory tracts. An over-all success rate of 91% was achieved with Ceporex at a dosage of 20 mg/kg per day or over. Confirmation that Ceporex really works. Make it your first choice in bronchitis.

"And I've found Ceporex just as successful in cystitis and otitis media"

Ceporex is fast becoming acknowledged as a highly effective treatment for urinary and ENT infections as well as those of the respiratory tract. And recent trials* on an international scale have proved this growing and increasingly widespread confidence to be completely justified.

“Now that satisfactory and safe alternative hypnotics such as nitrazepam are available it would seem high time that prescribing of barbiturates, at any rate to outpatients, be restricted or better still abandoned”²

In one year 1,857 people died of barbiturate poisoning, including 1,260 suicides.³ ☐ Is there really any excuse for such a high figure any more? ☐ With Mogadon, the safe hypnotic, comes the possibility of safe sleep. ☐ To date it has resulted in no authenticated deaths or suicides. Indeed as many as 80 tablets have produced no harmful effects¹ and clinical and animal experiments lead us to believe that the amount necessary to produce death could probably not be consumed in tablet form. ☐ When such a drug exists (and a recent trial in the British Medical Journal showed it to be comparable in effectiveness to butobarbitone)¹ is one any longer justified in using anything else?

Halt at the flashing light

Flashing lights and visual disturbances, classically early warnings of migraine, are signals for arresting all manifestations of an attack—at onset.

MIGRIL* acts in the minutes between initial warning and the otherwise inevitable full-blown attack. As well as containing an effective dose of ergotamine (2 mg in each tablet), enhanced by caffeine, MIGRIL contains the anti-emetic, cyclizine. Nausea and vomiting, due to migraine itself or to ergotamine, are very effectively relieved.

MIGRIL, taken at the first warning of an attack, provides a specific treatment that the patient will learn to rely on. Full information is available on request.

Otitis media can flare so quickly in practice

The child came home from school complaining of a sore throat. Perhaps the mother would have brought him round to your surgery in the morning. But he wakes in the night crying with pain in the left ear. You diagnose otitis media. You look for a treatment that is reliable and as rapid as possible.

You prescribe Broxil Syrup. Broxil is absorbed extremely quickly. It's pleasant to take. And easier for the mother to get him to complete the full course.

Broxil works. In practice patients do seem to get better quicker with Broxil. It has the excellent safety record of a well-tried penicillin.

For otitis media, other ENT, upper respiratory, skin and soft tissue infections, no other antibiotic treatment can match up to Broxil's record of safety and effectiveness over ten years of practice.

is it gout?

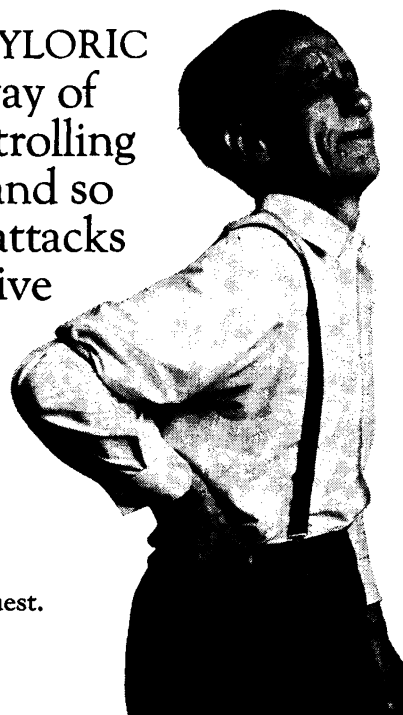

Gout does not always present in the classical manner, with an inflamed big toe. It can present as pain in almost any joint. Colicky pain due to urate stones is sometimes a precursor of gout.

In circumstances like these it is worth remembering gout and having the serum uric acid level checked.

If the diagnosis is gout, ZYLORIC* is there to provide effective prophylactic treatment. ZYLORIC provides the rational way of treating gout by controlling uric acid formation and so preventing the acute attacks and the degenerative changes associated with the history of the disease.

When you diagnose Tonsillitis, you're in Penbritin Territory

The right-first-time antibiotic for Upper Respiratory Infections

Penbritin is right because it destroys penicillin-sensitive bacteria as effectively as penicillin V or G, and also kills other respiratory pathogens sensitive to broad-spectrum antibiotics only.

Penbritin is right because the sensitivity of respiratory pathogens is unchanged after 9 years' extensive use. In contrast, some bacteria, especially streptococci, now show a much reduced sensitivity to tetracyclines.

Penbritin retains the safety of penicillin which makes it an ideal treatment for children's infections and other situations where safety is a prime consideration. This is an advantage not shared by any other broad-spectrum antibiotic.

Two syrups, capsules and tablets enable you to prescribe Penbritin in the right form for each patient. Twenty papers involving 400 patients and showing an overall success rate of 95% confirm Penbritin as the right-first-time antibiotic in upper respiratory infections.

Dosage: Adults and children over 10 yrs. 250 mg q.i.d. a.c.
Children under 10 yrs. 125 mg q.i.d. a.c.

Contra-indication: Penicillin allergy.

Side-effects: As with other penicillins.

COMPANY MEDICAL OFFICERS

The challenge
(and the reward)

In Zambia, the world's third largest copper producer, Nchanga Consolidated Mines Limited operate three developed and three developing mines, responsible for 60% of the nation's output. The engineering complexes on the Copperbelt are among the most modern in the world.

The company is responsible for providing full medical care to its employees and their families. Nchanga has three divisions, in Kitwe, Chingola and Chililabombwe respectively. Its employees number 27,000, with their dependents the total number to be looked after exceeds 150,000. Zambia is one of the most prosperous and rapidly developing of the new countries, but it still has to turn to the older countries for its medical staff (mostly to U.K.) and there is still a lot to be done medically for its people, especially the children.

Where YOU fit in. N.C.C.M. Ltd. employs a staff of over 30 doctors and specialists, and approximately 140 fully qualified nurses. There are 5 well-equipped hospitals.

General Duty Medical Officers will be involved in preventive and curative medicine, surgery, anaesthetics, gynaecology/obstetrics, public health and nutrition; and although the mines have a strict safety code, an amount of accident work can be expected.

Contracts may be negotiated for periods of one to four years. Locums can also often be arranged.

There will be time to enjoy the almost unique facilities for recreation and social activity in an interesting African country.

Salaries depend on experience but the minimum is K7,600 (£4,400 +) per annum. In addition there is a settling-in allowance: a detached, furnished house with garden is provided for 30/- per week; and children receiving secondary education overseas are granted up to £500 per child per year towards school fees and two free return passages to visit their parents during holidays.

What happens if CMC is added to ACTH?

CROOKES ACTH/CMC

ACTH/CMC is ACTH with a difference. The difference is convenience. ACTH/CMC is a clear, mobile liquid, even under storage conditions. It is highly purified, has a prolonged storage life and is virtually painless on injection.

Which all adds up to easier therapy in bronchial asthma, Bell's palsy and rheumatoid arthritis. Even with long courses there are no dangers of withdrawal symptoms. ACTH/CMC stimulates natural corticosteroid production. And so it removes the risk of adrenal atrophy so common with synthetic corticosteroid treatment.

ACTH/CMC is the modern form of ACTH

Corticotrophin complexed with carboxymethylcellulose
