Penbritin the right-first-time antibiotic

Penbritin is a unique antibiotic. It combines the rapid decisive action of penicillin with broad-spectrum activity, a powerful combination which makes Penbritin a first-choice treatment for many infections seen in general practice.

Penbritin retains the safety of penicillin, an advantage no other broad-spectrum antibiotic can share. Where safety is particularly important, during pregnancy or in paediatrics for example, Penbritin may be prescribed with confidence.

Penbritin provides an appropriate presentation for all of your patients. There are capsules, scored paediatric tablets and fruit-flavoured syrup in two strengths. Penbritin can also be given by injection if the patient's condition demands it.

Penbritin is the preferred antibiotic for good reasons. The experience of nine years' extensive usage in hospitals and in general practice endorses Penbritin as the right-first-time antibiotic.

The Surgical Scrub was selected for use in the decontamination procedures following lunar missions. All the Betadine germicidal preparations, contain povidone iodine conforming to the specification of the USNF.

Betadine germicides rapidly destroy all major classes of pathogens, but do not sting, stain or irritate the skin or open wounds. Betadine germicides are lethal to Gram-positive and Gram-negative bacteria (including antibiotic resistant strains), viruses, protozoa and fungi in 15-30 seconds. Betadine formulations even kill resistant spores within 60 minutes of contact. Living dangerously...

HOW DANGEROUS?

Obesity can lead to high blood pressure, diabetes, heart disease and anxiety states. It can also worsen many other degenerative disorders. Obesity, in fact, can be a killer.

HOW WIDESPREAD?

It has been estimated that 22,500,000 people in the U.K. alone are overweight to a lesser or greater degree. In the Western world as a whole, obesity is the largest single nutritional disorder. The cost in absenteeism and ill-health is incalculable. The cost to Britain alone, in financial terms, is probably of the order of tens of million pounds per annum.

IS DIETING THE ANSWER ?

Dieting alone is not often effective – except under controlled conditions which rarely occur. Normally weight loss through diet alone is usually only temporary and is often accompanied by psychological disturbances of varying severity. Another complicating factor is that defective glucose metabolism can defeat the efforts of the most diet-conscious and co-operative of patients.

ARE STIMULANTS A RISK ?

The risks involved in prescribing simple appetite depressants of the stimulant variety are well recognised. Not only are most of these drugs relatively ineffective but they can also produce dependence of a serious nature. This view is reinforced by the BMA Working Party's recommendation that amphetamines should no longer be prescribed in the treatment of obesity. Plus the fact that legislation is now being proposed to curtail their use.

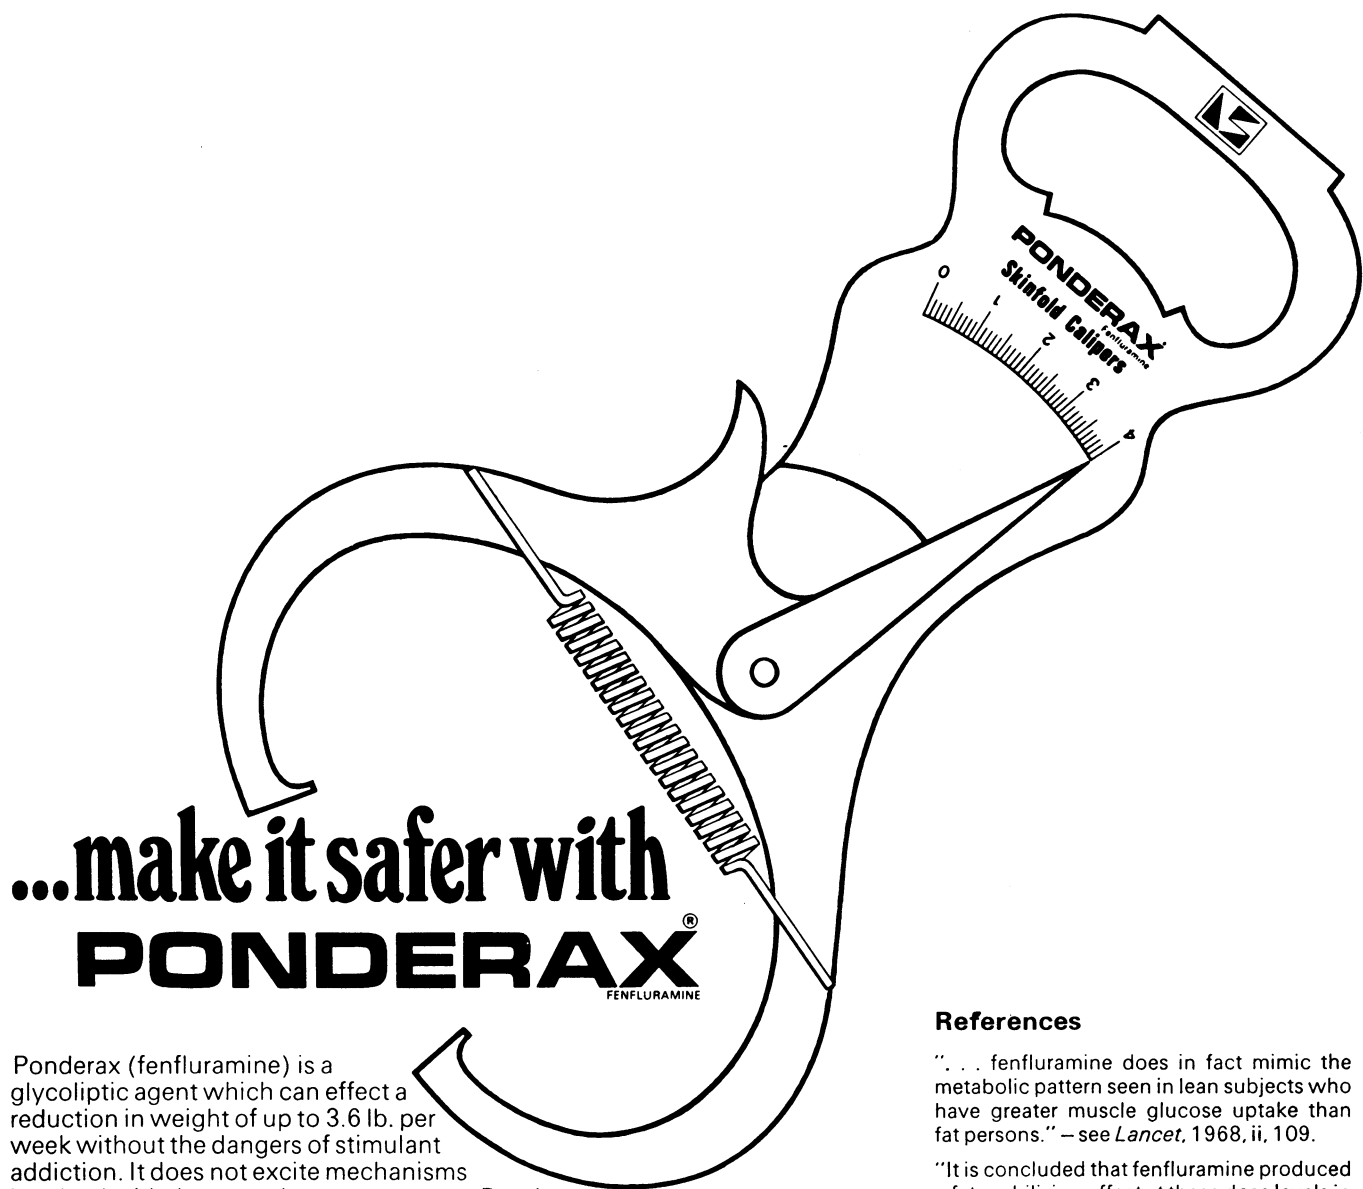

CAN DIAGNOSIS BE ACCURATE?

Yes, it can. But to determine the severity of obesity it is necessary to measure the amount of fat in the body. Weighing machines and weight tables are virtually useless as a precise measurement of body fat. Other methods are more complicated and call for expensive equipment. A simple but highly accurate method is now provided by new and freely available skinfold calipers.

IS THERE A SOLUTION ?

There is. A non-stimulant, metabolic regulator that causes muscles to increase their glucose uptake to levels seen in the lean person. A therapy which reduces weight naturally. And with it a more up-to-date, direct and effective method of obesity measurement.

The name of the therapy is Ponderax – the No. 1 obesity therapy.

...make it safer with PONDERAX FENFLURAMINE

Ponderax (fenfluramine) is a glycoliptic agent which can effect a reduction in weight of up to 3.6 lb. per week without the dangers of stimulant addiction. It does not excite mechanisms involved with the central nervous system. Ponderax works by reducing the amount of glucose available for conversion to lipid, by mobilising fat and reducing lipid synthesis.

The fact that Ponderax represents a major breakthrough in the treatment of obesity is supported by over 150 published papers and several long-term clinical trials. They confirm its glycoliptic (fat mobilisation) action; its proven weight-reducing properties; its mild hypotensive effect and its importance in the treatment of diabetic obesity. It is also important to note that after eight years widespread international use no case of dependence of any kind has occurred with Ponderax.

Ponderax, in fact, has been specifically excluded from prohibitive legislation on amphetamines in the Irish Republic and Australia and in new proposals recently announced in the U.K.

Diagnosis with Ponderax skinfold calipers is more effective than by weighing machine. A new spring-loaded version is now available. These new calipers are even more accurate and are useful as an effective guide to dosage. Evaluation of fat density from skinfold thickness measurements correlate well with values obtained from more elaborate methods.

cause for confidence in Ventolin Therapy.

DOCTORS RECOGNISE THE EFFECTIVENESS OF VENTOLIN THERAPY.

Over 30 published references in 18 months confirm the effectiveness of Ventolin (salbutamol), and the weight of favourable comment continues to grow.

"... it seems clear, therefore, that because of its effectiveness in producing bronchodilatation, its long duration of action, its lack of cardiovascular stimulant action, and its lack of tendency to produce falls in PaO_2 , salbutamol is the most effective drug at present available by aerosol inhalation for the relief of asthmatic airway obstruction."

Brit. med. J. (1970), 2, 23.

PATIENTS PREFER VENTOLIN THERAPY.

Following a double-blind, cross-over sequential trial in general practice, comparing salbutamol (100mcg per puff) with isoprenaline sulphate (100mcg per puff), the author concluded: "My trial has shown unequivocally that patients prefer salbutamol to isoprenaline."

Practitioner, (1970) 205, 213.

"... In the double-blind subjective assessment it (Ventolin) was rated as the best of four treatments (placebo, isoprenaline 100mcg, orciprenaline 1,500mcg and Ventolin 200mcg) by 13 patients, while only three preferred orciprenaline."

SUNSHINE ISLANDS

Whether or not there is some deep psychological reason for the Englishman's love of islands does not come within the scope of this article. There is no doubt though that such is the case and holiday times give ample proof of it. The English-speaking islands are the most popular and have the most to offer. Those in the Mediterranean such as Cyprus, Malta and Gibraltar are now enjoying great popularity and are worth considering.

Malta G.C.

Malta and its sister islands of Gozo and Comino are now well-established as holiday resorts that offer a wide variety of interests, sports and entertainments for people of all ages. There are many archaeological sites, historic monuments and picturesque buildings. The Walled City of Mdina is a joy to photographers and artists and contains one of the most famous restaurants on the island. The Maltese people are very friendly and, of course, speak English. The climate is usually very reliable and the mild winter is quickly followed by warm spring, hot summer and warm autumn. Sporting activities abound—swimming, water polo, skin diving, water skiing and sailing. There are many cabaret shows and discotheques for evening amusement, and the Dragonara Casino.

Cyprus

Cyprus is a mixture of ancient Greece, Turkey and Italy and has miles of glorious beaches. There are two mountain ranges inland—the Troodos Mountains and the Kyrenia Range—which rise sheer out from the fertile plains. The former is snow capped in the winter and is much used for ski-ing; the lower slopes are thick with woods. The Kyrenian range is very rocky and rugged. The surrounding plains are a mass of colour with orange and lemon groves, oleander and juniper trees and many wild flowers. There are a number of well preserved temples, ancient theatres and tombs of Kings. The most popular resorts are Famagusta, Kyrenia, Nicosia and Limassol and the mountain centre of Platres. There is a fair amount of night life and most of the bigger hotels have cabaret shows and dances nightly.

Gibraltar

Gibraltar is an astonishing island considering that it only occupies 2½ square miles. It has an ideal summer temperature that averages about 70° and the conditions for swimming, skin diving and sailing could not be bettered. The beaches are sandy and there is much of interest to occupy one's time, apart from a tour to see the famous Apes. As a shopping centre it is very popular. Main Street is full of boutiques and shops selling practically everything at nearly tax free prices. There is a casino with a night club and cabaret, many restaurants and bars, a theatre and cinemas.

Diseases of the Joints

Arthritis and rheumatism are common complaints, even if patients are often vague about the exact meaning of the terms they use. In the last few years the diagnosis of joint disorders has become more exact, while the introduction of local and systemic steroid therapy and the powerful non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drugs has revolutionized treatment. In an attempt to bring doctors up to date in this field, the B.M.J. published in 1969 a series of short articles giving practical advice on the common disorders of the joints. The articles have now been revised by their authors and collected together to form this handbook on the management of arthritis.

natural movement at night denied to the arthritic

"To get through the day is a hard enough fight for the patient with crippling osteoarthritis or severe rheumatoid arthritis, but when nights have been sleepless and pain-wracked, the next day is started with physical and psychological stores depleted and the patient already exhausted at the starting-post."

Lancet, 1970, i, 881 (25 Apr)

For many patients afflicted by arthritis, 'Indocid' Suppositories can bring about a noticeable improvement during the night. Many will enjoy a better night's sleep, less interrupted by pain and stiffness, and find it easier to get started in the morning. We're in the precision tool business

At Winthrop we believe that a medicine is a tool for the physician in exactly the same way that a scalpel is a tool for the surgeon. And what's more, we believe that there's as much room for a substandard medicine as there is for a blunt scalpel.

That's why we only make precision tools.

Take an everyday product like Franol for instance.

Before we let it leave our factory it is subjected to no less than 61 different quality control procedures to ensure that it will perform smoothly, predictably and consistently in the hands of the physician.

Some people may think this is excessive. We don't.

We believe that you have the right to expect complete dependability from whichever agents you prescribe.

So we make sure all our products are precision tools.

We don't want to put a blunt scalpel into your hands.

Magnified section of skin on ichthyotic forearm.

Love at first sight...

The hyperkeratotic skin presents the physician with a dermatological problem with very high and pressing psychological and social overtones. Not the least of the merits of Calmurid is the speed with which it controls dry, rough, scaly skin.

The difficulty of combining sufficiently high concentrations of urea in a suitable base and still maintaining its stability under normal conditions has been overcome by exclusive manufacturing and formulation techniques perfected by Pharmacia. Now for the first time, urea in a stable emulsified form is available for the effective treatment of dominant and sex-linked ichthyosis, and other hyperkeratotic conditions.

Besides having exceptionally good keratolytic properties, Calmurid is designed to retain moisture in the skin by increasing the concentration of the water binding substances, urea and betaine. The direct result is that the skin becomes softer and assumes a natural appearance.¹ The acidity of Calmurid, together with the bactericidal and fungicidal properties of urea protect against infection. Calmurid is non-toxic, non-allergenic and causes no sensitivity problems.

...but not at second

Composition

Carbamide (urea) B.P. 10%.
Stabilising emulsified basis to 100g.

Indications

Dry and hyperkeratotic skin conditions, especially ichthyosis vulgaris and sex-linked ichthyosis; as adjunct therapy in atopic eczema.

Contraindications

None. The cream contains substances natural to the body. No adverse reaction has ever been reported.

Unwanted effects

Possibly a mild burning sensation immediately after the first application, if the skin surface is raw. Local anaesthetic properties of carbamide makes this of short duration. It is not likely to occur with subsequent applications.

Application

Apply a thick layer twice daily to the affected areas. Leave for 3 to 5 minutes to allow penetration before smoothing. The application must be after washing or bathing. Calmurid is non-greasy and disappears quickly on application. Once the skin responds to treatment the frequency of application may be reduced.

ACTH/CMC is ACTH with a difference. The difference is convenience. ACTH/CMC is a clear, mobile liquid, even under storage conditions. It is highly purified, has a prolonged storage life and is virtually painless on injection.

Which all adds up to easier therapy in bronchial asthma, Bell's palsy and rheumatoid arthritis. Even with long courses there are no dangers of withdrawal symptoms. Gout does not always present in the classical manner, with an inflamed big toe. It can present as pain in almost any joint. Colicky pain due to urate stones is sometimes a precursor of gout.

In circumstances like these it is worth remembering gout and having the serum uric acid level checked.

If the diagnosis is gout, ZYLORIC* is there to provide effective prophylactic treatment. ZYLORIC provides the rational way of treating gout by controlling uric acid formation and so preventing the acute attacks and the degenerative changes associated with the history of the disease.

"It's the same
every winter,
doctor"

Michael's had asthma since he was three. Every winter it's the same old story – he gets a cold which quickly sets up the familiar pattern of bronchitis and severe asthma causing anxiety for Michael, his mother and his doctor.

Now Ceporex (cephalexin) is the effective answer to the bacterial infection because it kills most of the pathogens, including penicillin-resistant staphylococci, which commonly cause acute respiratory infections. The absorption of Ceporex is rapid and virtually complete, giving high serum levels within an hour of administration. Ceporex has very low toxicity, is well tolerated and can be considered the logical alternative for patients hypersensitive to the penicillins.

At the International Conference on Cephalosporins, 1970, twenty papers were presented on cephalexin. These reported on the treatment of 2,000 patients with a wide variety of conditions.

During a trial conducted in adults and children by General Practitioners, *341 infections were treated, including those of the ear, nose, throat and soft tissue, as well as those of the urinary and respiratory tracts. An over-all success rate of 91% was achieved with Ceporex at a dosage of 20 mg/kg per day or over. Confirmation that Ceporex really works. Make it your first choice in bronchitis.

 *Medihaler-duo...
"may have an additional margin of safety"

British Medical Journal 5th December 1970

"The present results suggest that the changes in blood gases represent an improvement in the physiological state of the patients studied.

The combination aerosol* has a satisfactory bronchodilator effect, and may have an additional margin of safety if used by a severely hypoxic patient unaware of the seriousness of his condition."

This new evidence confirms that Medihaler-duo is significantly different from other bronchodilator inhalers in preventing adverse changes in the blood gas picture in most patients.

In this latest paper the significant improvement following Medihaler-duo is contrasted with "well documented evidence" of falls in blood oxygenation caused by inhaled isoprenaline, orciprenaline and salbutamol.

for insignificant effect on the heart improved gas exchange and the prospect of improving the patient's physiological state

Composition Medihaler-duo contains a suspension of isoprenaline hydrochloride 8 mg./ml., phenylephrine bitartrate 12 mg./ml., and each puff delivers to the patient a measured dose containing 0.16 mg. isoprenaline hydrochloride and 0.24 mg. phenylephrine bitartrate. Contra-indications There are no absolute contra-indications, but Medihaler-duo should be used with caution in the presence of cardiac disease, hypertension or hyperthyroidism. Side-effects Over-dosage may cause dry mouth, palpitations, or nervousness. Dosage One to three puffs should be sufficient to provide relief in most cases. It should not be necessary for the patient to take further treatment for at least thirty minutes, or more than eight treatments a day. Children Medihaler-duo should be administered to children only under the supervision of a responsible adult. Basic NHS price Standard pack (complete 400-dose unit) 17/-. Full information is available on request.

‘The ideal potassium preparation has not yet been found.’

Brit. Heart J., 1970, 32, 267 (May)

BUT NOW
the diuretic that entirely obviates the need for potassium supplements

‘Moduretic’ is a completely new diuretic from Merck Sharp & Dohme that induces a highly effective diuresis as well as helping the body to conserve its natural balance of potassium.

‘Moduretic’ offers the physician the means of treating patients with a diuretic while avoiding the limitations imposed by potassium supplements. Indeed, ‘Moduretic’ conserves body potassium so effectively that potassium supplements are contra-indicated.

‘Moduretic’ is available as peach-coloured, diamond-shaped tablets containing 5 mg amiloride hydrochloride/MSD and 50 mg hydrochlorothiazide/MSD.

Detailed information is available to physicians on request.
‘Moduretic’ is a registered trademark.
