Penbritin Territory

Penbritin destroys the bacteria which commonly cause upper respiratory infections and otitis media. Its spectrum of activity includes streptococci—now less sensitive to tetracyclines than they were—and Haemophilus influenzae. This pathogen often causes otitis media in the young and is insensitive to oral penicillins V and G.

Penbritin's decisive bacteria-destroying action, so important in treating infections in children, contrasts with the tetracyclines and erythromycins which merely inhibit bacterial growth.

As a penicillin Penbritin has a well-documented record of safety. In contrast it has been suggested that tetracyclines are "absolutely contra-indicated for children aged under 8" because of serious effects on tooth development.

(Brit. med. J. (1970), 4, 509).

Acceptability is important in choosing an antibiotic for children. Penbritin syrup, paediatric tablets and the new paediatric suspension are extremely acceptable to the young. And at the normal children's dosage, Penbritin syrup's N.H.S. cost is just 8½p a day.

Usual children's dosage: 125mg. q.i.d. ½–1 hr a.c.

Contra-indication: Penicillin hypersensitivity.

Side effects: As with other penicillins.

Further information is available on request.

Candida albicans and Aspergillus niger are isolated in over 20 per cent of cases of otitis externa, and if high success rates are to be achieved treatment must take account of this. Otoseptil® ear drops employs a very broad-spectrum attack with efficient anti-inflammatory action.

The new antibiotic ester – neomycin undecylenate – provides potent dual bactericidal and antifungal activity.

Tryothricin (containing gramicidin and tyrocin) effectively eliminates resistant Gram-positive cocci, while Hydrocortisone alcohol exerts its characteristic anti-inflammatory action. Rapid tissue contact is ensured by the penetrant Ethylene oxide polyoxypropylene glycol condensate, which is incorporated in the clear liquid ear drop.

For pain relief, AUDAX® ear drops may be used concomitantly with Otoseptil® ear drops because they are completely miscible and compatible.

Studies of 6,500 cases treated with cephalixin

A further 5,000 patients had been treated with cephalixin and reported in the world literature since a review of more than 1,500 cases was presented to the Sixth International Congress on Chemotherapy.

The infections reported were of the urinary tract (2,238); lower respiratory tract (1,235); ear, nose and throat (892); skin and soft tissue (610); genitals (959); septicaemia (28); endocarditis (4); osteo-articular infections (87); biliary tract infections (13); peritonitis (11); and intestinal infections (45). Satisfactory responses included (a) clinical and bacteriological cure and, (b) clinical cure or marked clinical improvement without full bacteriological clearance. A summary of the results obtained with infections of urinary and lower respiratory tracts, is given in the tables below:

Urinary tract infections treated with cephalixin

Infection	Number	Per cent satisfactory response
Cystitis, acute or simple	216	92
Cystitis, chronic or complicated	105	57
Pyelonephritis, acute or simple	222	88
Pyelonephritis, chronic or complicated	440	77
Unspecified	1,255	87

*Summary of papers presented at the VIIth International Congress of Chemotherapy, Prague, August 1971.

Lower respiratory infections treated with cephalixin

Infection	Number	Per cent satisfactory response
Pneumonia/bronchopneumonia	345	91
Bronchitis, acute	134	94
Chronic bronchitis/bronchiectasis	326	87
Lung abscess/empyema	32	81
Unspecified	416	87

The presenters of the survey emphasised the need for the dosage to be adequate — particularly in lower respiratory infections. A statistically significant difference had been shown in favour of using 3 G to 4 G a day compared with 2 G a day for the treatment of these infections.

In most of the acute infections treated cephalixin had given excellent results. In certain chronic infections, particularly of the lung and bone, the response was not so rapid, but when treatment had been prolonged, clinical results had been very good. The adoption of higher doses, 4 G to 6 G or more daily, had widened the scope of cephalixin in the field of severe infections such as septicaemia and endocarditis. The results so far obtained with such infections had been encouraging although the number of cases treated was relatively small.

Even when cephalixin had been used in high dosage or for long periods, the tolerance had been good. Only rarely had treatment been discontinued because of side effects. When side effects had occurred they usually had been mild, many disappearing during treatment. Changes in haematological and biological parameters had been infrequent. There had been no evidence of nephrotoxicity. Cephalixin had been used successfully and safely in patients with impaired renal function, although accumulation of the antibiotic might occur in such patients unless dosage were decreased according to the creatinine clearance.

94% success rate with cephalixin in acute bronchitis

New clinical evidence* shows that cephalixin has achieved a 94% success rate in acute bronchitis. 87% clinical success rate was also noted in chronic bronchitis and bronchiectasis. The total number of bronchitic patients treated with cephalixin was 460.

These excellent results in bronchitis were achieved with a remarkably low incidence of side effects such as diarrhoea and sensitivity rashes. And it was noted that "No cross sensitivity was seen with cephalixin in the eight patients with a history of penicillin hypersensitivity."

Cephalexin in lower respiratory infections

Research workers from Royal Northern Hospital, London, expressed the opinion, on the basis of trials they described, that cephalexin was a suitable antibiotic for lower respiratory infections requiring treatment in hospital, and for urinary infections. For the respiratory infections, daily dosages of 3 G or 4 G produced a significantly quicker response as shown by X-ray, than G — without increased incidence of side effects.

Nineteen men and 16 women (aged 21 to 85 years) with chronic urinary tract infection were treated with cephalexin 500 mg six hourly for 10 days. Twenty-eight of these had abnormal excretion pyelograms. Sixty-one per cent of Escherichia coli infections; 80 per cent of Proteus mirabilis infections, and both cases of Klebsiella aerogenes infection were cleared at 10 days. Overall eradication of pathogenic organisms was obtained in 68 per cent of the cases. The lapse rate after 14 days was 23 per cent.

Fifty in-patients with lower respiratory infections were given orally 2 G cephalexin per day (group A); a further 60 in-patients were given a dosage of 3 G or 4 G daily (group B). The groups received treatment for seven to ten days, they were matched for age.

Eighty of the patients had bronchopneumonia, 58 with chronic airways obstruction. Nine patients had lobar pneumonia, and 15 chronic bronchitis with airways obstruction, in whom the superimposed infection was the primary reason for hospital admission. All received physiotherapy, and 21 with airways obstruction were given a bronchodilator. Every patient with pneumonia was treated for 10 days. Forty-nine per cent of the pneumonia patients in group A showed complete resolution of radiological signs on day seven, compared with 72 per cent of those in group B — a significant difference. On the tenth day, however, no significant difference in radiological signs was detectable between the two groups. Clinical cure (clear X-ray, sterile sputum, no fever, no leucocytosis) at 10 days was obtained in 68 per cent of the patients on group A and in 81.5 per cent in group B, the difference not being significant. Bacteriological eradication was obtained in 73 per cent of group A and 91 per cent of group B patients, the difference being significant.

No cross sensitivity was seen with cephalexin in the eight patients with a history of penicillin hypersensitivity. The antibiotic was discontinued in five patients; in one for diarrhoea and four for vomiting, but in two cases the drug was not wholly to blame since vomiting continued after its withdrawal. Generally cephalexin was well tolerated.

For your detailed reading
Ceporex cephalexin

Contra-indication
Ceporex is contra-indicated in persons who have shown hypersensitivity to cephalosporins.

Precautions

In patients treated with Ceporex, a false-positive reaction for glucose in the urine may occur with Benedict's or Fehling's solutions, or with 'Clinitest' tablets, but not with enzyme-based tests such as 'Clinistix'.

Ceporex is usually tolerated well by patients allergic to penicillin, but cross-reaction can occur occasionally.

As with other antibiotics, Ceporex should be administered with caution in patients with a history of allergy, especially to drugs. When renal function is markedly reduced, Ceporex will accumulate in the serum and tissues unless dosage is suitably reduced.

Laboratory experiments with animals and clinical experience show no evidence of teratogenicity, but as with all drugs, caution is needed during pregnancy.

Adverse reactions

A small proportion of patients receiving Ceporex may experience gastrointestinal disturbances such as nausea, vomiting, diarrhoea, anorexia and general abdominal discomfort. As with all broad-spectrum antibiotics, superinfection (sometimes monilial) can occur, and may present as vulvo-vaginitis.

Reversible neutropenia has occurred in a few patients, but is very rare. Generalised drug rashes — urticarial or maculopapular — are uncommon.

Administration and dosage

Ceporex is administered orally. Treatment should continue for at least two days after the temperature has returned to normal and symptoms have subsided. However, in chronic, recurrent or complicated upper urinary tract infections a course of at least two weeks' duration may be necessary.

When renal function is considerably impaired, the dosage should be reduced. If the creatinine clearance is 20 to 50 ml/minute, the adult dosage of Ceporex should not exceed 3 grams/day; if between 5 and 20 ml/minute, not more than 1.5 grams daily; if the clearance is below 5 ml/minute, dosage should not exceed 500 mg/day.

Patients receiving intermittent dialysis should be given an additional 500 mg of Ceporex after each dialysis, i.e., a total dosage of up to 1 gram on that day.

New facts about oral Ceporex confirm very low incidence of side effects

New clinical data on cephalexin confirms the extremely low incidence of side effects accompanying the high clinical success rate.

"Even when cephalexin had been used in high dosage or for long periods, the tolerance had been good. Only rarely had treatment been discontinued because of side effects. When side effects had occurred they usually had been mild, many disappearing during treatment."*

It all adds up to the simple fact that in acute bronchitis, you can trust Ceporex to reduce the risks and improve the results.

The case for treating chronic urinary tract infection with new Hiprex

Hiprex can eliminate urinary infection in eight out of ten patients

Hiprex is effective against the organisms which most commonly cause urinary tract infection. Success rates of more than 80 per cent have been reported in clinical trials.

Hiprex can end the frustration of treatment failure

Unlike other agents, notably antibiotics, sulphonamides and nalidixic acid, Hiprex is unlikely to produce bacterial resistance – a major cause of treatment failure. Hiprex has proved effective even when other treatment has failed.

Hiprex is especially suitable when long-term treatment is indicated

Hiprex does not lose its effect during prolonged use and for this reason is of particular value in persistent and recurrent urinary infections. Minor side-effects have been reported in fewer than four per cent of patients, and no serious adverse reactions have been reported. Treatment costs are kept low – as little as 4p a day.

Hiprex improves the prospects of co-operation in long-term use

Published reports stress that Hiprex can overcome the major difficulty of ensuring uninterrupted therapy. All but refractory cases respond to a simple twice-daily dosage, normally without need for special measures to acidify the urine.

Composition Each tablet contains hexamine hippurate 1 g. Indications The treatment of urinary tract infections, such as pyelitis, cystitis and urethritis, but excluding acute pyelonephritis. The treatment of chronic pyelonephritis, and as maintenance therapy after successful antibiotic treatment of acute pyelonephritis. The treatment of asymptomatic bacteriuria, including that occurring during pregnancy. Prophylaxis before and after urological surgery. Dosage Adults: 1 tablet twice daily. Children: 6-12 years: ½ tablet twice daily. In refractory cases, the dosage may be increased to: 1 tablet three or four times daily in adults. ½ tablet three or four times daily in children aged 6-12 years. Doses in excess of those recommended may cause severe bladder irritation, haematuria, albuminuria or painful micturition. Alkalinuria Some patients may have an alkaline urine as a result of a predominantly vegetarian diet or occasionally due to Proteus or Pseudomonas infection. In these cases, additional acidification may be necessary to lower the urinary pH to the level required to degrade the hexamine moiety. Administration of ascorbic acid 1 g. four times daily is recommended in these cases. Side-effects Occasionally, rashes, gastric irritation, or irritation of the bladder may occur. With prolonged administration at high dosage, the latter may lead to haematuria.
